The Atlantic Coast Conference

The Tradition

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 53rd year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

The conference had an immediate impact on the national college football scene in the fall of 1953 when the University of Maryland captured the first of what would eventually be five national football titles for the ACC. Clemson laid claim to the league's second national title in 1981 while Georgia Tech followed suit in 1990. Florida State pocketed national titles Nos. 4 and 5 in 1994 and 1999, respectively.

In addition, Miami has laid claim to five national gridiron titles over the past 22 seasons. Four of the Hurricanes' five national titles (1983, 1987, 1989, 2001) were unanimous with both the sportswriters and coaches polls in agreement, while in 1991 Miami (AP) shared the national title with Washington (coaches).

The 12 institutions that take to the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 497 first- or second-team gridiron All-Americas. The current 12 ACC schools have had 2,125 players selected in the annual professional football draft, including five first-round selections and 36 overall selections a year ago.

If success is best measured in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC over the years has proved itself to be among the elite in Division I-A football. The ACC is the nation's winningest bowl conference as the 12 current league teams are a combined 132-115-5 (.534) in post-season play.

Virginia Tech AD Jim Weaver and ACC Commissioner John Swofford at the announcement that the Hokies would be joining the ACC.

Over the past four years, the ACC is 16-9 in post-season play and has the best bowl winning percentage (.640) among all BCS conferences.

In 2003, the ACC set an NCAA record when seven of its nine teams (78 percent) received bowl bids.

Georgia Tech is the winningest bowl team in Division I-A history. Following its 51-14 win over Syracuse in last year's Champs Sports Bowl, the Yellow Jackets are 22-11 (.667) while USC (.651) is second.

For the first time ever, the Atlantic Coast Conference surpassed the 3.5 million mark in total attendance and for the fifthstraight year the league set a new per game average record averaging 55,955 per contest.

Virginia Tech, which claimed the 2004 ACC title, headed up a group of four ACC teams ranked in the final BCS standings last year. The Hokies were ranked eighth, followed by Miami (14th), Florida State (16th) and Virginia (18th).

The Atlantic Coast Conference

A History

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members — Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest — drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 to pay for conference expenses.

On Dec. 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami and Virginia Tech. On Oct. 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member and starts play as a full member this academic year.
