The Hokies are coming off an outstanding year in which the team claimed the Atlantic Coast Conference Championship and Drew Weaver won the British Amateur.

Defending ACC Champion Hokies Continue Building on Success

The 2007-08 season is one of the most anticipated in the history of Virginia Tech Golf, as the team that shocked the golf world and gave a much needed lift to the "Hokie Nation" just days after the tragedy on April 16th, returns all but one starter from last year. Combined with an influx of highly accomplished freshmen, the outlook is indeed bright for the Hokies.

Virginia Tech's fall schedule was once again one of the best in the country, and the team continued to build upon their winning tradition. The Hokies played in four events, winning twice, never finishing outside the top five, and returned to the top 25 in the national rankings. The Hokies look to defend two more titles this spring, including the ACC Championship, along their way to challenging for the national championship.

The first event of the fall was contested close to home, in Richmond at the VCU Shootout. The Hokies, with two freshmen in the line-up, had seven individual rounds of par or better during the event and the team posted a fifth place finish. After an outstanding summer, including a win at the British Amateur and a strong showing at the British Open, junior Drew Weaver led the Hokies with a ninth place finish. Freshman Marshall Bailey also had a solid performance, finishing 23rd in his first collegiate start.

The annual trip to Durham for the Coca-Cola Duke Golf Classic saw the Hokies finish fourth against strong competition. Weaver finished ninth individually for the second straight event, but was not low this time for the Hokies. Bailey led the team with the best showing of his young career, finishing in seventh place with a three-round total of 211.

Traditionally, one of the best fields in collegiate golf comes together for The Bank of Tennessee Intercollegiate at The Ridges, and this fall was no exception. Eight teams in the field had advanced to the 2007 NCAA Championship, three of which had won conference titles in the spring. The Hokies responded to the challenge as the only team to post three consecutive sub-par rounds, finishing at 12 under, and took home the championship trophy. Weaver once again led the way with a seventh place finish, as another freshman, Aaron Eckstein, had his best performance of the fall, finishing in 13th place.

The fall season concluded at the Landfall Tradition, where the Hokies trailed by 11 shots entering the final round. Still very confident from their performance at The Ridges, the players made quite a run the last day, posting seven birdies and an eagle in the final three holes make it two wins in a row. Seniors Nick MacDonald and Jurrian van der Vaart both recorded top 10 finishes, with Weaver and Bailey also inside the top 20. Tech came away with not only their second consecutive victory of the fall, but also a lot of momentum going into the spring campaign.

"Balanced" is a good word to describe this year's team, with a roster that is comprised of three seniors, two juniors, a sophomore and three freshmen. Each has now seen meaningful playing time for Virginia Tech, and on any given week the Hokies can contend with a good mix of youth and experience.

MacDonald and van der Vaart, starters from last season's ACC Championship team, are both in the top 10 in career scoring at Virginia Tech. With their international experience, they provide invaluable leadership and maturity that all successful teams must possess. Fellow senior Chad Fultz has also played in more than 10 tournaments in his collegiate career and will challenge to return to the lineup in the spring.

Weaver captured the hearts of the nation and Hokies around the world when he dedicated his 2007 British Amateur title to the victims of the Virginia Tech tragedy. He has now established himself as one of the top competitors in the Coach Jay Hardwick and assistant Brian Sharp on the site of the future clubhouse at the Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech.

ACC and a player to be reckoned with in every tournament. Weaver's ability will once again be on display to a worldwide audience this spring, as he will not only compete in Tech's challenging schedule, but will also play in the Georgia Cup and the Masters Tournament in April.

The other junior is team captain Will Oldham, who returns for his third season of competition and has been a solid player for the Hokies in the past. The only sophomore on this year's team, Matt Boyd redshirted his first season in Blacksburg then stepped right into a starting role for the 2006-07 season, quickly becoming one of the team's top performers. He played in all but one event, which was due to illness, finished fourth in scoring average, and contributed greatly to the team's success.

One of the most talented group of players ever to enter Virginia Tech, this season's freshmen have had success at both the state and national levels of junior competition. Along with Bailey and Eckstein's solid play throughout the fall, Garland Green made the starting lineup for the first event, shooting under par in his inaugural collegiate round. Each of these three players will have a tremendous impact for the Hokies, now and in the years to come.

Recently inducted in the Golf Coaches Association of America Hall of Fame, Head Coach Jay Hardwick is widely regarded as an outstanding instructor who pays particular attention to the smallest of details. This group indeed has all of the ingredients necessary to climb even higher in the national rankings, and the future holds the promise of many more memorable moments for Virginia Tech golf.

Virginia Tech's official tribute ribbon logo remembering the victims of the April 16, 2007 tragedy appears on the golf team's apparel as an inspiration and celebration of the victims' lives and the unforgettable mark they left on the Virginia Tech community, the nation and the world.

The logo, a student-inspired design, consists of the well-known maroon VT athletic logo that symbolizes the innovative and dynamic nature of Virginia Tech, over an orange ribbon that is a recognition of the lives lost on April 16 and is a symbol of the prevailing Hokie spirit.

HEAD COACH JAY HARDWICK

Jay Hardwick with his wife, Celia, and Daisy.

Over the past 25 years Jay Hardwick has built the Hokies into an elite collegiate golf program. Just like the Hokie Stone that dominates the Virginia Tech campus, the program that Hardwick has established at his alma mater is rock solid. With his attention to detail and the support of an outstanding group of boosters, he has brought Hokie golf into national prominence.

Hardwick, never one to prize individual honors, nonetheless continues to acquire them. In January of 2008, Hardwick was inducted into the Golf Coaches Association of America's Hall of Fame. The honor is a further testament to the mark Hardwick has left on collegiate golf and the golf world as a whole. He received the award at the association's annual banquet in Orlando and, sharing the dais with Hardwick and the two other inductees was golf legend Arnold Palmer, who received the Lifetime Achievement Award from the GCAA.

He was named the 2005 recipient of the Bill Strausbaugh Award presented by the Middle Atlantic PGA. This award bestows special recognition on a PGA member who has made significant contributions through mentoring of PGA Professionals and through involvement in community and charitable activities. The award was presented at the Middle Atlantic PGA Hall of Fame Awards Banquet on November 12, 2005, in Richmond.

Hardwick also received the inaugural Labron Harris Sr. Award, given by E-Z-GO Textron, in association with the PGA of America. The award is presented to the college or high school coach and PGA Professional whose support of the game through teaching, coaching and involvement in the community has helped ensure the continued growth of the game and represent the finest qualities the game has to offer. Hardwick received that award at the Golf Coaches Association of America Honor Awards Banquet on January 12, 2005 in New Orleans.

The Hokies embarked on a new era in 2004, when the school joined the Atlantic Coast Conference, the top golf conference in the country. Hardwick jumped right in with hard work, and with the continued support of loyal friends and alumni, began a program to improve facilities and continue their quest to remain among the elite programs in collegiate golf.

When the Virginia Tech community was rocked by the tragedy of April 16, Hardwick mourned with his players and then went about helping the community in the best way he knew how: he and his team of achievers captured one of the most improbable, but well-earned, ACC titles in any sport. His group of players, with tears in their eyes and a strong will, tied Georgia Tech for the 2007 ACC Golf Championship six days after the tragedy.

Upon entering the BIG EAST Conference in 2001, Hardwick and the Hokies established their place among the best in collegiate golf. Tech had a streak of four consecutive trips to the NCAA Division I Golf Regionals from 2001-04, including two appearances in the finals.

In the Spring of 2001, Hardwick led the Hokies to the BIG EAST Conference Golf Championship and an eighth-place finish at the NCAA Golf Championship. Hardwick was named the 2001 BIG EAST Conference Golf Coach of the Year and the Virginia Collegiate Golf Coach of the Year. In the Spring of 2002, the Hokies and Hardwick repeated their BIG EAST accomplishments and accolades. In 2003, the Hokies made it a BIG EAST three-peat, while Hardwick picked up his third consecutive coach of the year award. Tech's final year in the BIG EAST saw the Hokies finish second in the league.

A tireless worker, Hardwick has taken on even more duties and responsibilities over the past five years. In January 2003, he was named Director of Golf Operations at Virginia Tech, a position that not only continues his stewardship over the Virginia Tech Golf Course, but also the Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech. "The River" underwent a major renovation under renowned golf course architect Pete Dye. The renovation included a new state-of-the-art practice facility for the golf team and other amenities that afford Hokie golfers one of the finest team-oriented practice complexes in the nation.

With Virginia Tech's move to the Atlantic Coast Conference and the new course and practice facilities at the Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech, Hardwick's Hokie program has moved even higher in the world of collegiate golf.

Recruiting is an international process and every year Hardwick draws top young golfers to play at Tech. He also has built a solid financial foundation for the program, receiving 24 endowed scholarships over the past 21 years. These scholarships will allow numerous student-athletes to continue their careers at the collegiate level.

A true professional and proven recruiter who emphasizes the ideal of the student-athlete, Hardwick has built the Tech golf program around players who are standouts in the classroom as well as on the golf course. During Hardwick's years, the graduation rate for golfers who have completed their eligibility at Tech is 99 percent. Virginia Tech placed different players on consecutive Academic All-America squads. The Hokies' Jake Allison was named to the 1985 Golf Coaches Association Academic All-America team and Mark Teachey claimed the same honor in 1986. In 2006 Carl Wakely received this same prestigious recognition, now referred to as an All-American Scholar.

Two members of the Hokies' BIG EAST Conference championship teams, Johnson Wagner and Brendon de Jonge, have graduated from successful stints on the Nationwide Tour and competed on the PGA Tour last season. Wagner finished 98th on the money list with earnings of slightly over $1 million and is exempt for 2008. De Jonge finished 155th with winnings of $447,000, but did not retain his card; however, he is fully exempt for the Nationwide Tour this year.

A look at Hardwick's accomplishments the past 24 years shows just how successful he and his Hokies have been. His teams have finished in the top 10 of 198 tournaments and have won 30 tournaments, including eight conference championships in four different conferences. With the 2007 ACC title, Hardwick becomes the only coach in history to have captured conference titles in four separate leagues with the same school.

Since 1992, Hardwick's teams have won the conference championship eight times and have placed second four times. In 2001, Virginia Tech claimed the BIG EAST Conference Championship in just its first season of competition in the league, duplicated the feat in 2002 and made it a three-peat in 2003, staging a dramatic come-from-behind victory over Notre Dame on the Irish's home course. His team captured the Atlantic 10 Championship in 1996 and 1997, and in 1993 and 1994 won back-to-back Metro Conference Championships. This past spring, he added the 2007 ACC Championship to his resume. In the past 10 seasons, 11 Tech players were named to the A-10 All-Conference team and 10 more have earned All-BIG EAST honors. Hardwick has had 38 players named to the all-state team, 31 to all-conference teams, six to the GCAA All-Region teams and has produced six All-Americans.

Hardwick has received numerous honors during his career. He won the BIG EAST Conference Coach of the Year Award in each of the Hokies' first three seasons in the league. In his first two years in the Atlantic 10, he was chosen that conference's coach of the year. He was named Metro Conference Coach of the Year in 1992 and 1993. Hardwick also received the inaugural 1993 Virginia Collegiate Coach of the Year award and was selected for the same honor again in 1994 and 2001. In January 2001, Hardwick served as an instructor at the Hall of Fame Teaching and Coaching Seminar at Walt Disney World Golf Resort. He was one of six coaches selected to present the two-day seminar prior to the GCAA annual convention and PGA Merchandise Show. In January 2005, he received the Labron Harris Sr. Award, and in November of the same year was selected as the recipient of the Middle Atlantic PGA Bill Strausbaugh Award.

In January 2008, at the Golf Coaches Association of America annual convention, Coach Hardwick was presented with the GCAA Service Award. The award was presented for outstanding service to Virginia Tech and the sport of golf for the last 25 years.

On July 13, 1994, Hardwick received one of his greatest honors when he was selected as the 11th inductee to the Virginia PGA Hall of Fame, making him the youngest member of this elite group. In addition, he was named the NCAA Golf Coach of the Year for District 3-North by the coaching members of the Golf Coaches Association of America for the 1993-94 season.

In the summer of 1992, Hardwick was chosen to coach Team USA at the World Junior Team Championship, held in Izumo City, Japan. It marked the first time the United States had officially sponsored a junior team in international competition. Team USA won the gold medal in the 12-team tournament, with pre-tournament favorite Sweden finishing second, 18 strokes behind. Four of Team USA's players placed in the top 10, including Justin Roof of Conway, S.C., who captured the individual title.

On January 1, 1988, Hardwick was recognized as one of the nation's Outstanding Young Americans by Who's Who in Society for "distinguished accomplishments, which have been demonstrated through unparalleled excellence in professional and civic affairs."

Hardwick has twice been selected by the NCAA to serve as an instructor at the Youth Education through Sports (YES) golf clinic, which is held at the site of the NCAA Golf Championship. He conducted a clinic in 1990 at Innsbrook, Fla., and again in 1996 in Chattanooga, Tenn.

from 1994-97 and was chairman of District 3-North in his last year. In addition, he also was a member of the GCAA Wilson Coaches Top 25 Poll and the Golf Digest Collegiate Poll.

In October of 1991, Norwegian Cruise Lines selected Hardwick to serve as the golf coordinator in their NFL/PGA Instruction Program. He conducted golf clinics on the five southern Caribbean Islands of Barbados, Martinique, St. Marteen, Antigua and St. Thomas.

Coach Hardwick has been an instructor at the Championship Coaches Golf School since 1986. During that time he has taught at 65 golf schools.

Hardwick was elected president of the BIG EAST Golf Coaches Association for the 2003-04 season. He also serves as a liaison between the GCAA and the PGA of America.

Coach Hardwick has compiled an impressive list of playing accomplishments. He won the 1981 Spalding International Professional Championship in Castle Harbour, Bermuda, and was low pro in the Virginia PGA State Open in 1976. He qualified for the National PGA Club Professional Championship in 1978, 1988 and 1992 and was selected by the PGA as a member of the Yamaha Cup team in 1988.

In both 1989 and 1992, Hardwick compiled a 72.5 competitive stroke average and was a member of the 1989 winning team in the PGA/VSGA team matches.

Hardwick's biggest victory came in 1995 when he won the Middle Atlantic PGA Head Professional Championship after he birdied the last five holes to win by one stroke. That year, he also won the Bobby Jones/Homestead Invitational at the Lower and Upper Cascades with rounds of 68-65 for a seven-shot victory. In addition, he was named a member of the PGA Challenge Cup Team for 1995, 1996 and 1997. Hardwick also holds five course records, two tournament records and has twice shot 29 in competition.

An excellent player and teacher of the game, Hardwick became Director of Golf at Virginia Tech in the spring of 1983. On January 1, 2003, Hardwick was promoted to the position of Director of Golf Operations. In addition to serving as head golf coach, he is responsible for the staffs and overall operation of both the Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech and the Virginia Tech Golf Course.

A Narrows, Va., native, Hardwick is a past vice president of the Virginia chapter of the Middle Atlantic PGA. He has also served on the tournament rules and regulations committee, the membership committee, and the employment and club relations committee. He has been a head professional for 35 years and is a Class "A" Member, Quarter Century Club Member and Life Member of the PGA of America.

Hardwick played collegiate golf for the same team he now coaches. During his four-year playing career at Tech, the Hokies posted a 64-9 match play record and won three-straight state intercollegiate championships. Hardwick was a four-year letterman for Tech and captain of the 1971 squad that claimed the state crown.

After graduating in 1971 with a degree in business administration, Hardwick turned pro and played for a year on the Florida winter tour. In 1973 he became the head professional at Giles Country Club in Pearisburg, Va., where he developed an outstanding junior golf program. He held that position for 10 years before returning to his alma mater. Upon his departure, the club members presented him and his family with a lifetime membership.

Hardwick, who officiated high school and college basketball for 25 years, retired from the sport in 1997 after working more than 1,000 games.

He is married to the former Celia Martin of Pembroke, Va. The couple has a son Cris, daughter-in-law Melissa and grandsons Jacob Dylan and Aiden Thomas, who reside in Fredericksburg.

ASSISTANT COACH BRIAN SHARP

Brian Sharp is in his fifth season as assistant coach at Virginia Tech. He graduated from Virginia Tech in 1995 with a degree in finance and received his MBA from the Pamplin College of Business in 2006. During his career with the Hokies, he was a four-year member of the golf team.

"Brian does an excellent job for us," Hardwick said. "He has the innate ability to recognize potential immediately, which makes him extremely valuable as a recruiter. He has a wonderful work ethic and all of the attributes that will make him a successful coach. Brian was very instrumental in helping the players come to grips with the tragedy of April 16 and played a key role in our team winning the ACC Championship that same week.

"He is not only one of the top players in Tech history, but also one of the most respected. A four-time MVP and three-time Most Dedicated Player award recipient during his career, it is no surprise that he has continued to have the same success as a coach that he had as a collegiate player and as a professional."

Sharp came to Virginia Tech from the Buy.com Tour (currently the Nationwide Tour), where he played in 2002. Sharp turned professional in 1995 and played on various developmental tours before joining the Buy.com Tour. He won his first professional event in 1995 on the Powerbilt Tour at the Neuse Golf Club in Raleigh, N.C.

Sharp's duties with the Hokies include recruiting, running the off-season conditioning program, instruction and player academic progress, as well as managing the Virginia Tech Golf Team Complex.

During Sharp's playing career at Virginia Tech, he won four collegiate events, including the 1995 Metro Conference Golf Championship as a senior. He left Virginia Tech as the all-time leader in career scoring for the Hokies, with a four-year average of 74.14. He currently is fifth on that all-time list. He also finished his Tech career with the most rounds played, and started in the number-one position in every tournament during that time. Sharp is the only Tech golfer to be both four-time all-conference and first team all state. In addition, he was named to the NCAA All-District 3-North team twice. He is one of only three players in the history of the league to be a four-time All-Metro Conference selection. He was also selected as the 1995 Metro Conference student-athlete of the year and won the Medallion Award for the most outstanding male student-athlete at Virginia Tech in 1995.

"Brian has an excellent understanding of the mechanics of the golf swing and is a very qualified teacher," Hardwick said. "He has all the qualities that any coach would like instilled in his own team — time management, academic prowess, social skills, public speaking ability, attention to detail, high moral character and a dedicated work ethic. We are extremely fortunate to have Brian as a member of our staff. He is an outstanding role model for our players."

A native of Winston-Salem, N.C., Sharp was captain of the 1994 and 1995 Hokie golf teams. He is married to the former Margaret Blackburn of Midlothian, Va. The couple resides in Blacksburg with daughter Meredith.

THE ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

Virginia Tech is in its fourth season as a proud member of the Atlantic Coast Conference. Arguably the best conference in collegiate golf, the ACC offers the Hokies a grand platform in their quest to become one of the nation's elite programs. The Hokies won the 2007 ACC Golf Championship, their first since joining the league in 2004.

The Tradition

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 55th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture — the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 106 national championships, including 57 in women's competition and 49 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 130 times in men's competition and 71 times in women's action.

The Atlantic Coast Conference will hold its annual Men's Golf Championship April 18-20 at the Old North State Club at Uwharrie Point in New London, N.C. The winner of the event will earn an automatic bid into the NCAA Division I Golf Championship.

THIS IS VIRGINIA TECH

Burruss Hall on the beautiful Virginia Tech campus

Outstanding University Has One of the Nation's Best Athletic Complexes

Nestled in the rolling mountains of Southwest Virginia, the campus of Virginia Tech has that rare quality — a major, thriving modern institute of higher learning, living in harmony with its beautiful surroundings.

The keystones of the Hokies' athletic complex are Lane Stadium and Cassell Coliseum. The ever-expanding 66,233-seat Lane Stadium/Worsham Field is the home of Tech's nationally ranked football team that has appeared in 15 consecutive bowl games and played in the 2000 Nokia Sugar Bowl for the national championship. Cassell Coliseum houses a 9,847-seat arena as well as athletic offices, locker rooms and training facilities. Other facilities include Rector Field House, site of an indoor astroturf football field and Mondo track; English Field, the home of the baseball team; the Johnson-Miller Track Complex, a women's softball field, soccer and lacrosse fields, the Virginia Tech Golf Course and the Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech, site of the new Virginia Tech Golf Team Complex.

The Tech baseball team plays at English Field

Lane Stadium, home of the Hokies' nationally ranked football program, seats 66,233 fans and is known as one of the top venues in collegiate sports.

The Merryman Center is the centerpiece of Virginia Tech's athletic compound.

The Merryman Center is a two-story building on the west side of the Jamerson Athletic Center in the heart of the athletic complex. It is a 40,000-square foot all-purpose facility. The second floor houses an entranceway to the athletic complex, the women's basketball offices, a classroom area and a 130-seat auditorium. The first floor includes a conditioning and weightlifting complex, a multipurpose gymnasium and an expanded area for sports medicine and training.

Nearby Cochrane Hall houses many of Tech's student-athletes. Also in Cochrane is a state-of-the-art dining facility.

Golfers also have access to the Merryman Weight Room, located adjacent to Cassell Coliseum in the Merryman Center. Here athletes train with free weights and modern Nautilus equipment while receiving expert instruction under the direction of assistant athletics director for athletic performance Mike Gentry.

Also on the Virginia Tech campus is the Burrows-Burleson indoor and outdoor tennis facility and the War Memorial Gym, which has an Olympic-sized pool and facilities for gymnastics, volleyball, handball, racquetball and basketball.

A student recreational facility, McComas Hall, is also located on the Tech campus. This facility houses the student health center, an indoor pool, gyms, a jogging track and various other exercise equipment for Tech students.

Virginia Tech's overall athletic complex is, without question, one of the finest in the United States.

Members of the Tech golf team work out in the state-of-the-art Merryman Weight Room.

9,847-seat Cassell Coliseum hosts basketball games and other sporting events.

Finding a balance between academic accomplishments and athletic success is the focus for Coach Jay Hardwick's golf program at Virginia Tech, and Student Athlete Academic Support Services takes a very personal role in the supervision and support of all student-athletes. The advising office continuously engages with other campus agencies to help student-athletes in their continuing pursuit of academic achievement.

Student Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS) provides programming for student-athletes from their freshman year through graduation. This includes a comprehensive orientation to Tech, study hall, mentoring, tutoring, academic monitoring, academic recognition and eligibility education.

The Virginia Tech graduation rate for student-athletes has risen significantly in recent years and was a school best 76 percent in 2007. This marks the fourth time in the last six years that Virginia Tech's student athlete graduation rate has been 70 percent or better. Additionally, more than 85 percent of Tech's student-athletes who have completed their eligibility have graduated.

The SAASS office has been especially beneficial to the golf team, which consistently posts grade point averages among the best of any athletic team at Tech. During Hardwick's years, the graduation rate for golfers who have completed their eligibility at Tech is 99 percent.

In addition to posting impressive graduation figures, Virginia Tech's student-athletes continue to excel in the classroom. For the 2006 calendar year, 449 3.0 GPAs were earned by student-athletes, student trainers, student managers, cheerleaders and HighTechs. These student athletes and students from support areas were recognized at the Athletic Director's Honors Breakfast last spring.

In the summer of 2006, SAASS moved its offices to the new expansion of the West Side of Lane Stadium. Here, student-athletes have access to state-of-the-art technology, quiet study facilities, individualized tutorial rooms, and direct access to the SAASS staff. This complex is the focal point for the Athletics Department, both aesthetically and pragmatically, and provides a centralized place for student athlete services.

The new 18,000-square-foot facility features 10 staff offices, 18 private tutor rooms, a state-of-the-art classroom, a 45-station computer lab, three reading/study rooms, a conference room and a reference library.

Together, these spaces provide the student athlete with a variety of study environments conducive to their success. Athletes can use these facilities between classes, after practice or in the evenings, with flexible hours tailored to make the most of a student athlete's limited time.

The Student Athlete Academic Support Services office is comprised of a team of thirteen professionals directed by Chris Helms. Helms is in his ninth year at Tech and works directly with the golf team. He is responsible for the overall development and leadership of the SAASS program. Helms came to Tech from Michigan State, where he served as the assistant director of the Student Athlete Support Services office. Prior to that, he served as the coordinator of academic affairs for the Florida State football program and was an academic advisor at Central Connecticut State. Helms earned a bachelor's degree in psychology at Wake Forest and a Master's in athletic counseling from Springfield College.

The golf team is leading the way with excellence. With the guidance and support of the SAASS, it is not difficult to see why.

College Town, U.S.A. – Home of Virginia Tech

One of America's best college towns, Blacksburg is a perfect setting for a great university like Virginia Tech.

Located in Southwest Virginia on a plateau between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains, Blacksburg combines the laid-back lifestyle of a small town with the amenities one would expect to find around a major center of higher education. Together, the town and university have worked hard to create a progressive community that ranks among the nation's elite living environments.

Virginia Tech and the town of Blacksburg gained national and international attention by creating the world's first "electronic village." Businesses and industries have been drawn by the potential of the quaint town.

Established in 1798 by John and William Black, the town is surrounded by scenic mountain views that accentuate the area. Since its founding, Blacksburg has grown to become the largest town in Virginia.

The nearly 42,000 residents (including students) enjoy a close proximity to a variety of recreation areas such as the Blue Ridge Parkway, Appalachian Trail, Claytor Lake and the New River. The region features a moderate climate and four distinct seasons.

Blacksburg's location (adjacent to major interstate highways) provides convenient access to most points in the southern and eastern parts of the country.

More information on Blacksburg can be found on the web site of the Blacksburg Electronic Village, www.bev.net or the town's web site, www.blacksburg.va.us.

PETE DYE RIVER COURSE OF VIRGINIA TECH

World-Class Facility is Home to Hokie Golf

Renowned golf architect Pete Dye began a renovation of The River Course of Virginia Tech in 2004. With the facility's completion, the Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech has become a beautiful reality. Opening in August 2005, the course was selected by Golf Digest as one of the Top 5 "Best Newly Remodeled Courses in America" for 2006.

In addition to this renovation, a turf care center was constructed, as well as the VT Golf Team Complex, which houses an indoor teaching center that opens to the outside range and is equipped with the latest video swing analysis system. This facility also includes locker rooms, club repair room, players' lounge, a recruit welcome area and team meeting room for the Virginia Tech golf team. A covered tee area, which is enclosed on three sides, is located at the back of the practice range and is equipped with fans, radiant heaters and lights.

These improvements were made possible by support from Bill and Alice Goodwin of Richmond, Va. Mr. Goodwin, a Virginia Tech alumnus, is an avid golfer and wanted to provide the Virginia Tech golf team and the university community an opportunity to play on a world-caliber championship course. The gift covered all costs of design and construction.

The indoor facility was constructed adjacent to the state-of-the-art golf team practice area, which was made possible through the generosity of long-time golf team supporter and scholarship donor the late C.M. "Buddy" Neviasser and his late wife, Doris. This facility provides Tech players with one of the finest total practice complexes in the nation. The facility was officially dedicated in September 2004. In addition, Virginia Tech supporters Ray and Sallie Edwards, Steve, Kelsea and Phillip Crawford, Jimmy and Allison Turk, Jeff and Kay Howard, Chuck Eaton and family, the McClure family, the Merryman family, Charles and Elizabeth Gordon, Michael and Cheryl Chaney, Hiawatha and Beverly Nicely, the Richmond Hokie Club and the family of Billy Watson have endowed holes, and this will allow for future improvements at the Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech.

Pete Dye is noted as one of the finest golf course architects in the world. The Indiana native has worked with the Goodwins in the past, most notably on the Ocean Course at Kiawah Island, host of the 1994 Ryder Cup. He has also designed The Tournament Players Club at Sawgrass, Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla.; the PGA West Stadium Course in La Quinta, Calif.; Brickyard Crossing Golf Course in Indianapolis, Ind.; Crooked Stick Golf Club in Carmel, Ind.; Harbour Town Golf Links and The Colleton River Dye Course in Hilton Head, S.C., and the Honors Course in Chattanooga, Tenn.

The challenging par-five ninth hole is as intimidating as it is beautiful.

Dye is known for enhancing the existing landscape and working within the natural beauty of the area. He used all of the natural attributes of the previous course, including the New River, with its adjoining rock formations and natural trees and vegetation.

"This is a very exciting opportunity for Virginia Tech, our golf program, the membership and the golfing community," said Jay Hardwick, director of golf operations at Virginia Tech and head coach of the golf team. "We are indeed fortunate to have a Pete Dye signature golf course, named after one of the most renowned and respected golf course architects in the world.

"We hosted the 1997 NCAA East Regional and the 2004 National Championship at the Homestead's famed Cascades Course. We now have a golf course of the caliber required to host such events, right here in the Blacksburg area," Hardwick said.

The project allows for play by all residents of the New River Valley community, as the course is open to the public for daily play. Club members, daily fee golfers, visitors, faculty, staff and students of Virginia Tech and all others are afforded access to one of the finest golf courses in the nation. The renovated course, which complements the natural beauty of the area and the adjacent New River, allows for future economic growth. The course is expected to become a destination for golfers looking to play on the finest courses and a site for future tournaments and championship events. Construction on a new clubhouse will begin in the spring of 2008.

The Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech will do for Hokie golf what Lane Stadium/Worsham Field has done for Virginia Tech football. It will be "The Best."

HOKIES' HOME COURSES

In addition to the Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech, the Hokie golf team also enjoys the use of the Virginia Tech Golf Course and Blacksburg Country Club.

Blacksburg Country Club, former site of the Virginia State Amateur and State Open Championships, hosted the 1988 VSGA Junior Girls Championship. It has also hosted the VSGA Junior Boys Championship in 1986, 1994 and 2003, and the event returns to Blacksburg again this summer.

"We very much appreciate the outstanding support we have received from the staff and members of Blacksburg Country Club in allowing our team the use of their fine golf course," Tech coach Jay Hardwick said.

The nine-hole Virginia Tech Golf Course, known for some of the finest greens in the state, is located on campus. In addition, a short game wedge area complete with a chipping and putting green has been built and its location is a benefit to the Hokies for playing and practicing.

"The opportunity to have the use of many outstanding golf courses is a great asset to our program," Hardwick said. "All three courses are always in superb condition and are well known for their fine bent grass greens."

Virginia Tech's golfing facilities do not stop with those three outstanding layouts. The Hokies are extended playing privileges at nearby Olde Mill Golf Club in Laurel Fork, Draper Valley Golf Club in Pulaski and Hanging Rock Golf Club in Salem. In addition, Tech has an on-campus indoor practice facility located in the War Memorial Gymnasium.

The golfers also go through an off-season conditioning program in the Merryman Weight Room where they train with modern equipment and receive expert instruction from Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Performance Mike Gentry.

The 12th hole at the Blacksburg Country Club (above) is rated one of the top holes in Southwest Virginia. Olde Mill Golf Club at Groundhog Mountain (below) offers golfers a unique challenge of tree-lined mountainous fairways winding through 55 acres of lakes and streams.

The Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech features 2.5 miles of shoreline along the scenic and historic New River.

2006-2007 REVIEW

Life is full of triumph and tragedy. The 2006-07 Virginia Tech golf team learned all too well just how true this is. But throughout all of the events that transpired last year, this team relied on their tremendous resiliency, hard work and class to make it one of the most memorable and remarkable seasons in the annals of Hokie athletics.

During the course of the fall, seven different players competed and gained experience playing one of the nation's toughest ranked schedules. Although the season got off to a slow start, Tech showed the promise of things to come by finishing fourth, ahead of both the No. 1 and No. 5 ranked teams in the country, at the inaugural Aloha Purdue Collegiate Invitational in Hawaii. In the spring, the Hokies returned to their winning ways at a familiar event, taking the team title at the Furman Intercollegiate for the fourth time, more than any other team in the tournament's storied history.

However, no performance was more impressive or important than what this group accomplished at the ACC Championship in New London, NC, just days after the tragic event on April 16th. Trailing second round leader Georgia Tech by five shots, they played an inspired final round to post a 10-under-par total for the tournament and take home a share of the conference title. In the past 15 years, the Hokies have now won an amazing eight championships in four different conferences under head coach Jay Hardwick.

Although winning the ACC title did not guarantee the Hokies an automatic berth in the NCAA Championship, the strength of their performances throughout the season warranted an at-large selection to compete at the East Regional, contested just outside Atlanta. Tech battled to the end and nearly made the cut into the finals, finishing a close 12th as the top 10 teams advanced.

The season included several outstanding individual performances as well. Sophomore Drew Weaver had a notable summer in 2006, including a runner-up finish in the Southern Amateur and advancing to match play in the U.S. Amateur at Hazeltine. He carried this momentum into the fall, highlighted by his performance in Hawaii, where he birdied four of his last five holes to reach a playoff for the individual title. Weaver was named a First Team All-State selection after posting six top-25 finishes for the season, including 16 rounds of par or better. He also moved into third place on Tech's All-Time Career Scoring List with a 74.02 average. Weaver was named the team's Co-Most Valuable Player along with junior Nick MacDonald, who received this award for the second straight year. MacDonald posted five top-25's, highlighted by a career-best third place finish at the Palmetto Intercollegiate with rounds of 73, 68 and 70.

Senior captain Ryan Sypniewski provided leadership throughout the season, posting a team best 73.42 scoring average for the year. His maturity and experience were most evident during the final rounds, known as "crunch time". He also led the team in this category with a 72.57 average, including a career-low 67 in the final round of the ACC Championship to finish third in the event individually. A tireless worker, Sypniewski was selected by his teammates as the Most Dedicated Player for the fourth consecutive year, an award he shared this season with redshirt freshman Matt Boyd.

Boyd, who also qualified for the U.S. Amateur, had a promising start to what should be an outstanding career for the Hokies. He played every event except for the Courtyard by Marriott Intercollegiate, where he became too sick to compete, posting a 74.69 average that included seven rounds of par or better. Along with receiving the Most Dedicated Player Award, Boyd was also named the team's Rookie of the Year, Strength and Conditioning Athlete of the Year and Most Improved Player.

Junior Jurrian van der Vaart also contributed greatly to the team's success with six top-20 finishes during the season, and was named a First Team All-State selection alongside Weaver. An outstanding student, he received the Coach's Award because of his accomplishments both on the golf course and in the classroom.

The team continued their academic success this season, with several players receiving accolades for their work in the classroom. Boyd, redshirt sophomore Will Oldham, Sypniewski, van der Vaart, senior Carl Wakely, and Weaver all made the ACC Academic Honor Roll. Boyd and van der Vaart were also named to the prestigious All-ACC Academic golf team, further illustrating the team's longstanding commitment to academic excellence.

HOKIE GOLF HISTORY

The history of the Virginia Tech golf team dates to 1932-33. Since the beginning, the Techmen have been a prominent force among the collegiate golf elite.

Tech's first victory came on April 23, 1933, when it defeated Roanoke College, 10-2. The Hokies made their first NCAA appearance in 1957 at Colorado Springs, Colo. Several years later, in 1962, Tech returned to the NCAA, and placed 26th at Duke University Golf Course in Durham, N.C.

Tech was a more dominant force in 1965, as the team tied for 11th in the NCAA Championship at Knoxville, Tenn. The next year, the Techmen had an individual, Tim Collins, place 20th in the NCAA.

In 1985, Collins was inducted into the Virginia Tech Sports Hall of Fame, after earning All-America status in 1965 and 1967. Also a standout in the mid-1960s, and a teammate of Collins, was Neff McClary. In 1965, he won the Southern Conference individual championship and helped pace the Hokies to three straight Virginia State Intercollegiate championships in 1965, 1966 and 1967. McClary was inducted in 1994 and Connie Sellers was inducted in 1996.

The Hokies have had six other individual champions in three conferences. Brian Sharp won the 1995 Metro Conference championship and Brad Hyler won the 1997 Atlantic 10 Championship. Tech produced the BIG EAST champion all four years it was a member of the league. Brian Krusoe won the title in 2001, Johnson Wagner in 2002, Brendon de Jonge in 2003 and Ryan Stinnett made it four-for-four in the BIG EAST when he won the 2004 title.

Individually, one of the brightest moments for a Virginia Tech golfer came in the summer of 2007, when Drew Weaver won the British Amateur. With his win in the prestigious event, he played in the 2007 British Open, missing the cut by two strokes and will play in the 2008 Masters Tournament.

The most remarkable achievement for the Hokies came in 1967 when they finished sixth in the NCAA, their best finish ever. From 1968 to 1971, Tech sent four representatives (one each year) to the NCAA Championship. Between 1960 and 1995, Tech won the Virginia State Intercollegiate 17 times.

Tech has won its conference title many times over the years. The Hokies won the Southern Conference Tournament in 1961, '62, '63, and '65. The Techmen received the championship trophy from the Metro Conference in 1993, a feat they repeated in 1994.

After Virginia Tech entered the Atlantic 10 Conference, the Hokies won back-to-back titles in 1996 and 1997. The most recent conference championships came as the Hokies won the 2001 BIG EAST Conference Golf Championship in the first season of competition in the new league and successfully defended the title in 2002 and 2003. The 2001 title was Virginia Tech's first BIG EAST Championship in any sport since the school joined the league at the beginning of the 2000-01 academic year. In 2007, the Hokies claimed the ACC Golf Championship, marking the fourth league in which the Hokies have claimed a conference title.

In addition, the Hokies have numerous runner-up finishes. They placed second in the Metro Conference Championship in 1981, '92, and '95 and the Southern Conference Championship in 1964. Tech was runner-up in the 1998 A 10 championship and the runner-up in the BIG EAST in 2004.

Tech returned to NCAA Championship action in 2001, as the Hokies tied for fifth at the East Regional in Williamsburg, Va., and placed eighth in the NCAA Golf Championship in Durham, N.C.

Ryan Stinnett earned an at-large NCAA Regional bid in 2004, marking Tech's fourth consecutive appearance in the NAAs. In 2003, the Hokies placed 19th at the East Regional in Auburn, Ala. In 2002, Tech finished eighth in the NCAA Central Regional in Little Rock, Ark., and

Tim Collins

Chris McKeel, Johnson Wagner, Ryan Stinnett, Brian Krusoe, Brendon de Jonge and Coach Jay Hardwick won BIG EAST titles for Tech in 2001 and 2002.

20th at the NCAA Golf Championship in Columbus, Ohio. In 1994 the Hokies placed eighth in the East Regional and 19th in the NCAA Championship. Virginia Tech once again participated in an NCAA Regional in 2007, finishing 12th at the East Regional outside Atlanta.

Sharp received an individual bid to the NCAA Regionals in 1995, finishing eighth.

Tech has had six players named to the All-South Region team, formerly District 3-North. Sharp was named to the team in 1994 and 1995, while Curtis Deal received the honor in 1997. De Jonge and Wagner earned the same honor in 2002 and de Jonge was selected again in 2003. For the first time in history, the Hokies had two players named as All-Americans in the same year, as de Jonge was named a second-team All-American and Wagner was named to the third team in 2002. De Jonge repeated that honor in 2003 as a senior, earning second-team honors and was also named to the Virginia Collegiate Golf Coaches All-State team for the second straight season. In addition, he was named the Virginia Collegiate Player of the Year in 2002 and 2003. Ryan Stinnett earned the same honor in 2004.

Since the beginning, the Tech squad has had 35 winning seasons and 28 consecutive winning seasons.

Winning is the name of the Hokies' game.

2004 BIG EAST Champion Ryan Stinnett ranks sixth on the Hokies' scoring ledger.

Brian Sharp (r) and Curtis Deal rank fifth and seventh on Tech's list of all-time scoring leaders.

Virginia Tech won a nation's-best six tournaments in 2000-2001 and finished eighth in the NCAA Championship.

BRITISH AMATEUR CHAMPION DREW WEAVER

On June 23, 2007, Virginia Tech golfer Drew Weaver defeated Australian Tim Stewart to win the British Amateur Championship at Royal Lytham & St. Annes in Lancashire, England.

Weaver took a two-up lead after the morning 18 holes in the 36-hole final. He played steadily and led by as many as six holes before Stewart, the 2006 Australian Amateur champion, mounted a charge. Weaver eventually made a seven foot putt on the 35th hole to claim the title by a 2 & 1 margin.

The last American to win the event was Jay Sigel in 1979 and the last American to advance into the finals was Jim Holtgrieve in 1983.

Weaver won his first-round match against Luis Garcia of Spain, 4 & 3, on Wednesday. He defeated Simon Ward of Ireland by two holes on Thursday morning and Kevin McAlpine of Scotland 2 & 1 in the fourth round on Thursday afternoon. Both Ward and McAlpine are members of Great Britain and Ireland's Walker Cup team. On Friday he then defeated Englishmen Chris Wood and Jason Shufflebotham, both by a 2 & 1 margin, in the quarterfinals and semifinals, respectively.

The British Amateur Championship featured 288 players competing for 64 spots in match play. Hokie teammate Jurrian van der Vaart also qualified for the event. Tom Glissmeyer of Colorado Springs, Colo., and the University of Southern California, was the only other American to advance to match play. Glissmeyer lost in the fourth round. With the win, Weaver qualified for the 2007 British Open at Carnoustie, the 2008 Masters Tournament, and is exempt into the U.S. Amateur for the next four years.

The youngest team in Tech history, the 1999 Hokies (freshmen Brendon de Jonge, Chris McKeel and Matt Hollerbach, and sophomores Johnson Wagner and Brian Krusoe) captured the first tournament of the season, the G. Gunby Jordan/Callaway Gardens Invitational, and started the run that took Tech to national prominence.

HOKIES ON THE PGA TOUR

Two of Virginia Tech's all-time scoring leaders, All-Americans Brendon de Jonge and Johnson Wagner, with Coach Jay Hardwick. The former Hokies competed on the PGA Tour in 2007. Wagner retained his card for 2008 and de Jonge is exempt on the Nationwide Tour.

THE HACKIN' HOKIES

Twenty-four years ago, a small group of Virginia Tech supporters traveled to the Metro Conference Championship at Wild Dunes Golf Links on the Isle of Palms, S.C., in a show of support for the Tech golf team. A great friendship developed between this group and the players. As a result, these supporters were affectionately tagged the "Hackin' Hokies."

Today, this group, totaling 90 members, travels annually with the team, and has been the major supporter of the Virginia Tech golf program.

The Virginia Tech golf team wishes to express its sincere appreciation to the "Hackin' Hokies" for their loyal support. As a token of its appreciation, the team recognizes a member of the "Hackin' Hokies" each year with the team's Appreciation Award. The winner of the 2007 award was Bob Wolfe. Past winners of the award are: Jeff Howard in 2006; Glenn Reynolds in 2005; O.A. Spady in 2004; Charlie Holden in 2003; Bud Keever in 2002; the late Buddy Neviasser in 2001; Scott Prince in 2000; the late Howard Stanton in 1999; Ellis Monroe in 1998; Bill Sterrett in 1997; Ray Edwards in 1996; Jack Lester in 1995; Danny Hardy in 1994; George Freeman in 1993; the late Shannon Hardwick in 1992; Joe Thomas in 1991; Jack Prater and John Moody in 1990; the late Ken Brugh in 1989; and Jim Mensh in 1988.
