- A 50-meter competition pool to promote and support competitive swimming at all age levels within the region
- Separate Virginia Tech swimming & diving team entrance, parking area and locker rooms
- Spectator seating for competitive swimming and diving events including second-level seating was recently added, allowing the facility to be capable of hosting Atlantic Coast Conference championships and other national-caliber meets
- A therapy pool for physical therapy, injuries, arthritic persons and rehabilitation
- A family/leisure pool with a two-story slide, water walking lanes, zero depth entrance, water jets and other recreational features
- After the initial plans were completed, full diving amenities, including 5-, 7.5- and 10-meter platforms were added

War Memorial Pool

War Memorial Pool, located just off the campus Drillfield in War Memorial Gym, is Virginia Tech's swimming and diving facility. The complex includes a 25-yard pool with eight lanes and a diving well. The movable bulkhead which separates the pool from the diving well can be adjusted to lengthen the pool to 25 meters.

Complete with underwater windows and sound system, the facility also is equipped with the Colorado Electronic Timing System and scoreboard. Seven years ago, a 12-line readout scoreboard was installed for swimming, as well as a three-line scoreboard for diving.

Three years ago, the team moved into state of the art locker rooms with a team lounge adjacent. The program also enjoys a team room, located just off the men's locker room.

The diving well is made up of two 1-meter boards, a 3-meter board and a 5-meter platform. The diving team also utilizes a hot tub and trampoline located on the pool deck. The diving well can be fully converted to a six-lane, 20-yard sprint tank, complete with lane lines, flags and starting blocks.

The pool has served as the site for two Virginia state championship meets and one Metro conference championship.

War Memorial Gym itself houses numerous other facilities including saunas, weight rooms, racquetball courts and basketball courts. The Hokies also have the use of other equipment such as power-racks for strength swimming and VASA trainers, VASA climbers and bicycles for dry land.

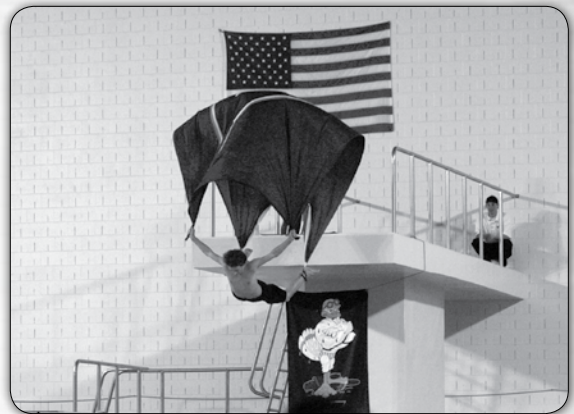

Located in War Memorial Hall, Virginia Tech's swimming pool and diving area provide an outstanding venue for competition.

Men's Outlook

The H₂Okie men and head coach Ned Skinner had their best finish yet in the ACC Championships last season. With three champions and 12 top-five finishes, Virginia Tech finished fourth after having a strong dual-meet season with 10 wins and just two losses. Returning for their fourth season in the ACC with an experienced squad, the team's goals will only continue to grow.

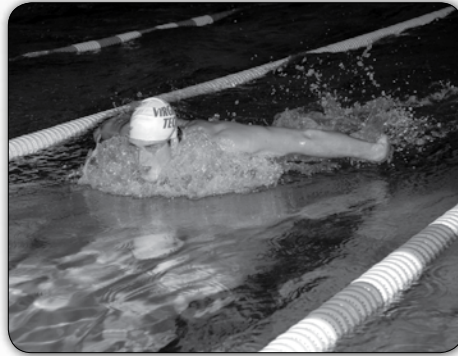

SPRINT

The sprint crew will be the most experienced bunch on the team with four returning seniors and one junior. Current 100-yard freestyle Tech record holder Kaan Tayla placed second in both the 50 and 100 free at the ACC Championships, also helping Jake Bova, Ian deToll and Scott Beard set a school record in the 200 free relay at the ACCs for the title. Zac Czaplicki substituted for deToll in the 400 free relay, and the team set a record for another ACC title. Seniors Beard and Bova finished sixth and 10th, respectively, in the 50 free with junior deToll placing eighth. Showing the depth of the crew, senior Pete Cancila won the 50 free's bonus consolation final.

Richard Ulatowski, who set a Connecticut state record in the 50 free last year, and Virginia AA 50 and 100 free state champion Stephen Hawkins will be expected to learn from the upperclassman and provide more speed to this strong contingent.

FREESTYLE

Czaplicki finished fourth in the 200 free and 10th in the 500 free at the ACCs and will be helped again this year by sophomore Chip Hughes, who finished 15th and 16th in those respective events. In the long distance free, a young group including Hughes will continue to develop and become more consistent point-scorers. Sophomore Griffin Lutterbein missed out on a point in the 1,650 free by just one second at the ACCs, finishing 17th, while Hughes and rising junior Ben Miller finished 17th and 24th, respectively. Juniors John Riley and Andrew Rogers along with sophomore Scott Harkins and newcomers Ryne Francis and Cameron Gledhill will provide depth in the middle and long distance events.

Pete Cancila

INDIVIDUAL MEDLEY

Though not competing in these events at last year's ACCs, Harkins finished sixth in the 400 IM and 17th in the 200 IM at the Nike Cup, with Lutterbein and Miller at 19th and 20th, respectively, in the 400 IM. Czaplicki placed seventh in the 200 IM, and rising sophomore Jimmy McLaughlin finished 15th. James Aitken, Beard and Hughes, along with newcomers Zach Holmes, Trey Stewart and Gledhill may also be called upon to contribute.

BACKSTROKE

2008 U.S. Olympic Trials qualifier Beard (100 backstroke) is a key returner along with McLaughlin, who finished 16th in the 100 backstroke at the ACCs. Sophomore Kevin Koehr will be relied on to be a strong performer this year for the Hokies after finishing 19th in both the 100 and 200 backstroke. Holmes and Rogers will provide depth.

BUTTERFLY

Two-time 100 butterfly ACC champion Beard finished 20th in the event at the 2007 NCAA Championships and will be looking to capture his third consecutive ACC title. McLaughlin and deToll placed 10th and 15th, respectively, in the event at the ACCs, and Czaplicki finished eighth in the 200 butterfly. The two men along with Cancila and Stewart will have to help replace the strong points output of Gus Calado, who finished second in last year's 200 butterfly as a senior.

BREASTSTROKE

Newcomer Gledhill finished as a high-school All-American in the 100 and 200 breaststroke and finished third in the 50 breaststroke at the NCSA Junior Nationals. Aitken and Harkins, who won the bonus consolation final at the ACCs in the 100 breaststroke, will also contribute in the events. Sophomore Jonathan Huss placed 14th in the 200 breaststroke at the Nike Cup.

DIVING

ACC 1-meter and 3-meter diving finalist Mikey McDonald made an immediate impact as a freshman, breaking both of Tech's diving records. McDonald finished 11th overall at the 2007 National Diving Championships after reaching the finals in three events at the Zone B Regional Championships last spring. Fellow Zone B qualifiers Chris Waldheim and Pat Graves, along with 2007 AAA Virginia state and regional champion Daniel Martin, will be expected to help elevate Tech's diving program.

Women's Outlook

The Tech women return 20 letterwinners, including the ACC Swimmer of the Year, from the 2006-07 season's second consecutive fourth-place finish in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Head coach Ned Skinner and the team plan to rely on the veterans for leadership, while also expecting the newcomers to step up and make an impact.

SPRINT

2007 All-American (50-yard freestyle) Sara Smith, Becky Horning, Allison Luttermoser, Jordan McHorney, Megan Newell and Courtney Walsh will anchor the sprint crew. Breaking three school records during the year, Smith finished seventh in the 100 free and 10th overall in the 50 free at the NCAA Championships after placing fourth in the 100 free at the ACC championships. Horning, Luttermoser, McHorney and Walsh scored numerous points for the H₂Ogies in the sprint events last season, as did Newell. Sophomores Sarah Ameen, Katie Suhr and Julie Sablik also contributed in the events and will continue to improve this season. Newcomers Morgan Allen, Steffi Drechsel and Kaleigh Ghomes will provide even more depth.

FREESTYLE

Smith, Luttermoser, Beth Byrum, Stephanie Jones, Millie Campbell, Sara Shapiro, Kelly deMarrais and Megan Newell will be key freestyleers in multiple distances. Jones had her strongest year yet, finishing the 1,650 free 12th at the ACC Championships, while also recording a 13th spot in the 200 and 500 free. Byrum and Shapiro took 11th and 16th in the 1,650 free, respectively, and Byrum also finished 19th in the 500 free. Freshmen Lauren Ritter and Emily Tipton will be relied on to contribute this year as well.

INDIVIDUAL MEDLEY

ACC IM finalists Smith, Luttermoser and Jessica Botzum along with Claire Dickey and Campbell will look to continue to be at the forefront of the ACC. Botzum captured the 200 IM ACC individual title, while Smith finished third after winning the same event in 2006. Luttermoser had a strong performance in both the 200 and 400 IM events, finishing 12th and eighth, respectively. Campbell was 15th in the 200 IM at the conference meet. Sophomores Abby Barney and Katie Suhr look to add even more strength in the IM as they are joined by newcomers Sarah Losinger and Marianne Flynn.

BACKSTROKE

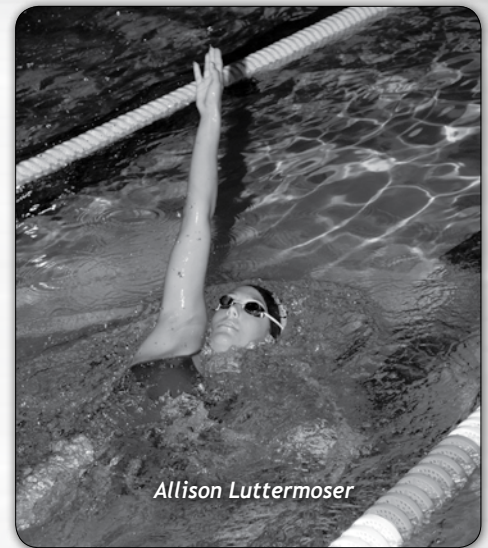

Last season's standouts deMarrais and Shapiro along with returners Ameen, Dickey, Luttermoser, McHorney and Suhr will be the foundation of this stroke, while newcomer Lauren Haley will help provide depth after winning the 100 and 200 backstroke at the Virginia Senior Championships. Shapiro finished fifth in the 100 backstroke and 11th in the 200 at the ACCs, while deMarrais took sixth in the 200 and 13th in the 100.

BUTTERFLY

Upperclassmen Horning, Newell and Sablik all had strong showings at the ACCs last season. Newell finished fifth in the 100 butterfly and 12th in the 200, while Horning took eighth in the 100. Sablik finished 13th in the 100 and 15th in the 200. Barney, Suhr and Gomes will provide depth to this always improving group of swimmers.

BREASTSTROKE

All-American Botzum and Campbell look to once again dominate the 100 and 200 breaststroke at the ACCs. Botzum finished fourth in the 200 and eighth in the 100 breaststroke at the NCAA championships, after having already earned All-American honors in the 200 as a freshman. She captured the 200 breaststroke title and finished second in the 100 breaststroke, while Campbell was third and fourth in the 100- and 200-yard breaststroke events, respectively, at the ACCs. Sophomores Mary Teresa Boland and Jessica Earl look to build on their times from last season, and they will be joined by freshmen Flynn, Sarah Losinger and Abby Meyer.

DIVING

This group is still the most inexperienced on the squad but is full of potential. Sophomore Heather Fulton was close to scoring points at the ACCs, finishing 17th and 18th in the 3-meter and 1m diving events. Bradford had two top-30 placements. Upperclassmen Blaire Buegler and Michele White along with high school All-Americans Sarah Milton and Natalie West will help continue building the foundation for a strong Tech diving squad.

Coach Ned Skinner

Ned Skinner, who led the Hokies to a top 25 finish at the NCAA women's championships last season, opens his tenth year at the helm of the Virginia Tech men's and women's swimming and diving teams with a talented team that has continued to improve by leaps and bounds during three years in the ACC.

In 2007, his teams continued their assault on the ACC, with both the men and women garnering fourth-place finishes at the conference championships. He has coached Tech's only three first-team All-Americans in Jessica Botzum (2005, 2007), Sara Smith (2007) and Gus Calado (2006). Last season, Skinner coached Tech's first ACC Swimmer of the Year in two-time All American Botzum. Several other swimmers at Tech have earned honorable mention All-Americans the past four seasons.

Skinner also has coached a handful of ACC individual and relay champions in the schools' first three seasons in the conference. This includes Jessica Botzum, Sara Smith, Scott Beard and the two freestyle relays teams who all swam to conference titles last February in Chapel Hill, N.C. Mason Walsh, Smith, Beard and Gus Calado also have captured a title in the Hokies' first two seasons in the league.

In his first season in the ACC, Skinner led the women's and men's teams to fifth and seventh place finishes, respectively. Botzum scored a fifth-place finish in that year's NCAA championships to become Tech's first true All-American.

In 2001, his first year in the BIG EAST, Skinner led the women to a second-place finish, while the men placed third. In 2003, the men placed second in the conference and the women fourth. Skinner was named the BIG EAST Men's Coach of the Year while Kevin Furlong was named the Outstanding Men's Swimmer. In 2004, both Tech squads finished third at the BIG EAST championships. Skinner was named Co-Coach of the Year for the men, while Calado was named the Outstanding Men's Swimmer.

In his first two years as head coach of the Hokie swimming and diving squads, Skinner was named the Atlantic 10 Women's Coach of the Year twice and led the women's team to two Atlantic 10 championships, while the men won their first conference title in this conference in 2000.

He has also founded and directs the Fighting Gobbler Swim Camp, a one-week swim camp held at Virginia Tech.

Skinner came to the Hokies after serving four years as the director of competitive swimming at the College of William & Mary. In his last season at W&M, he coached the Tribe women to a second place finish at the ECACs, while the men were fourth of 40 teams. Skinner was named ECAC Coach of the Year. The women's team finished in the top 12 at the ECAC event during each of Skinner's four seasons.

The W&M men's team posted a fourth-place showing at the '98 ECAC championships and finished seventh in 1997. During Skinner's tenure, both the men's and women's squads were named Academic All-America Teams four straight years.

Skinner also coached Kristen Schnittger to four consecutive ECAC titles in the 100 breaststroke at the College of William & Mary.

Before his stint at William & Mary, Skinner was the head coach and aquatics director at Central Connecticut State University for four seasons.

A 1989 graduate of Louisiana State University, Skinner was captain of the 1988 squad that captured the SEC championship. He graduated from LSU with a bachelor of arts in advertising and a split minor in marketing and economics.

Skinner earned his master of science in athletic administration at Ohio University while serving the swim team as a graduate assistant and helping guide the women's team to the 1990 MAC title.

Season in Review

The 2006-07 Virginia Tech swimming and diving program had its most successful season yet in the Atlantic Coast Conference under head coach Ned Skinner as both the men's and women's squads finished fourth at the ACC Championships, capturing a total of six individual and relay squad titles in Raleigh, N.C. Seventeen broken program records and four individuals sent to the NCAA Championships capped what was a strong year for the H₂Ogies.

"The 2006-2007 season was one to remember for the H₂Ogies," Skinner said. "The men moving up two spots at the ACC Championships and the women finishing 22nd at NCAA's have thrust our program onto the national scene. Our win-loss record showed our overall team depth and significant number of school records broken makes us feel very good about our program."

While both the men and women made great strides in just their third year in the ACC, special recognition should be made to the junior Jessica Botzum, who as a freshman alone and became the first ever H₂Ogie man or woman in the program's history to capture All-America honors at the 2005 NCAA Championships. Her overall performance this season was arguably the strongest ever by a swimmer to put on the Tech uniform.

At the ACCs, Botzum won the 200 breaststroke and the 400 IM while also finishing second in the 100 breaststroke, accumulating in those three events alone 57 of Tech's 393.5 points. She followed that performance at the NCAA Championships by placing fourth in the 100 breaststroke and seventh in the 200 breaststroke, earning All-America honors in the two events.

As the only ACC woman to place in multiple events, the conference bestowed on her Swimmer of the Year honors, the first time a H₂Ogie received the top conference honor since Ed Furlong earned the 2003 BIG EAST Most Outstanding Men's Swimmer.

Other women though also made important contributions to the team's success, especially Sara Smith, who after earning All-America honorable mention honors as a freshman, finished seventh in the 100 free and 10th in the 50 free to become a first-time All-American. She alone broke three individual program records (50, 100 and 200 free) during the season and reached the championship heat in the 100 free and 200 IM at the ACCs.

Beth Byrum, Millie Campbell, Claire Dickey, Kelly deMarrais, Stephanie Jones, Allison Luttermoser, Jordan McHorney, Megan Newell, Julie Sablik, Katie Suhr and Sara Shapiro had strong performances at the championships. Campbell earned All-ACC honors by taking third in the 200 breaststroke, while the others earned much needed points in their respective events.

During the regular season, the women had a 9-2 record in dual meets with key wins over Clemson, Georgia Tech and Pittsburgh. Tech's losses came to Virginia and Penn State.

On the men's side, junior Scott Beard led the team to its best finish ever at the ACC Championships by winning the 100 butterfly and finishing in the top-eight for both the 50 and 100 free. Beard was also a part of the 200 and 400 free relay squads that used school record breaking times to win both events.

Kaan Tayla and Jake Bova both swam a leg for the two relay races, while Ian deToll competed in the 200 and Zac Czaplicki in the 400. All four men had strong performances during the ACCs.

Tayla finished second in both the 50 and 100 free. Czaplicki placed in the top-eight for the 200 butterfly and 200 free. Bova and deToll both placed in the 50 and 100 free, while deToll also scored in the 100 butterfly. Other point contributors included Chip Hughes, Stephen Jensen, Jimmy McLaughlin and Ben Prue.

Senior captain and All-American Gus Calado finished his great career at Tech by taking second in the 200 butterfly and ninth in the 100 butterfly to earn All-ACC honors. Both Beard and Calado attended the NCAA Championships, where they finished 20th and 30th, respectively, in the 100 butterfly.

Freshman Mikey McDonald had a great start to his diving career, placing fifth in the 3-meter and sixth in the 1-meter diving events at the ACCs. He set team records in both events during the season and reached the finals for the 1m, 3m and platform events at the Zone B Diving Championships. He followed that up by finishing sixth in the 3m at the USA Diving Spring Nationals.

Following losses to Virginia and Clemson, the men won nine consecutive dual meets with key wins over Georgia Tech, Pittsburgh and Penn State to finish the season with a 10-2 record.

Student Life

Led by the Virginia Tech Student Athlete Advisory Committee, Hokie student-athletes volunteered over 1,400 hours in the local community in the past year. In addition, over 400 Virginia Tech student-athletes earned a 3.00 grade point average during one or both semesters in 2006. The accomplishments are even more amazing in the context of the 2006-2007 athletic seasons being some of the most successful in Virginia Tech history.

The programs and services implemented by the Virginia Tech Athletics Office of Student Life are inspired by the NCAA/CHAMPS Life Skills Program. The program was honored for its commitment to serving the good of the student-athletes by the Division I-A Athletic Director's Association as a Program of Excellence.

STUDENT ATHLETE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Two members of each sport team serve on SAAC each academic year. Highlights of the 2006-2007 SAAC include the first student-athlete formal dance in January, a toy drive competition among the sports teams for the Montgomery County Christmas store collecting over 1,200 toys, a canned food drive competition versus University of Virginia's SAAC (donating over 4,000 canned foods to the local food banks) and participating in Virginia Tech's Relay for Life. For the first time in school history, SAAC sponsored two members on Homecoming Court - Bryan Collier (men's soccer) and Jessica Botzum (women's swimming and diving).

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

Virginia Tech student-athletes obtain personal development education through workshops and speakers. Last year, they welcomed Michael Franzese to campus last November. Franzese, the son of a kingpin in New York's Columbo crime family, talked to student-athletes about the downfalls of gambling and the importance of integrity in themselves, their athletics and their community. Topics covered in these presentations include appropriate campus and community conduct, media relations, sport psychology, drug and alcohol education, sports agent relations, gambling and healthy relationships.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Student-athletes are offered workshops on topics such as resumé design, career fair etiquette, interview skills, interview attire and mini-career fairs. Student-athletes are encouraged to participate in on-campus interviewing and eRecruiting along with securing internships and co-ops during their college careers.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Student-athletes with a 3.0 GPA are rewarded each semester by being honored on the Athletic Director's Honor Roll. The 2006 calendar year listed 449 student-athletes with this honor, a 20 percent increase from the 2005 calendar year. Fifty-six Hokie football players were named to the 2006 Athletic Director's Honor Roll.

Andrew Montgomery (men's cross country) and Jessica Botzum (women's swimming and diving) received the Skelton Award for Academic Excellence in Athletics. The award is given to one male and one female student-athlete who demonstrate leadership, outstanding academic excellence and community involvement. The recipients of the award receive a $5,000 scholarship donated by Dr. Bill and Peggy Skelton.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

As stated earlier, the Virginia Tech student-athletes are involved more than ever in the local community. Having volunteered over 1,400 hours in the schools, community groups and hospitals, the student-athletes are setting a high precedent for all involved with the program.

Sports Medicine

The Virginia Tech Sports Medicine Department is an ever-changing and developing unit that strives to provide the most current and comprehensive care to all student-athletes. The department is constantly evolving to incorporate new ideas and state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of student-athletes.

A professional staff — including primary care physicians who are Board certified in family medicine and sports medicine, orthopaedic surgeons, certified athletic trainers, physical therapists, chiropractors, massage therapists, sport psychologists, nutritionists and orthotists — is available to manage the health care of Tech athletes.

FACILITIES

As part of the evolution, Tech recently completed its sixth full year in the 4,300-square-foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room. This area consolidated the training rooms that existed in the Merryman Center and Cassell Coliseum. The facility gives the training staff a centralized area to care for the needs of all Virginia Tech student-athletes.

Virginia Tech now has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing Tech in the top five percent nationally. In addition, the $10 million Merryman Center, a state-of-the-art facility that includes 2,400 square feet of medical space, will supplement the new training room. This treatment room has numerous treatment modalities, including portable X-ray, electric stimulation, ultrasound, hot and cold packs and a lumbar/cervical traction unit. It also has offices for the staff, dozens of training tables, two cold tubs, whirlpools, an underwater treadmill, a Biodex System 3 and various other pieces of rehabilitation equipment.

PROFESSIONAL STAFF

The range of benefits athletes have access to include custom orthotics, custom mouth guards, specialized DonJoy prophylactic bracing and many other options to help prevent or protect them from injuries. The sports medicine staff also takes great pride in treating the athlete year-round.

A vital part of student-athletes services is the access to the Schiffert Student Health Center in McComas Hall. The center also has a fully operational diagnostic laboratory, X-ray facilities and eight full-time physicians.

If physical therapy is needed, student-athletes can be seen by therapist Mark Piechoski in the Ferrell Training Room. Piechoski, who is a certified athletic trainer, physical therapist, and strength and conditioning specialist plays a large role in the overall program developed to return the injured athlete back to 100 percent. In addition, staff sport psychologist Gary Bennett is available to all student-athletes for personal and performance issues. Virginia Tech also has the services of Dr. Greg Tilley, team chiropractor. Tilley provides Tech athletes with specialized treatment for spine-related conditions and also plays a huge role in performance enhancement through various chiropractic techniques.

Team orthopaedic surgeon Dr. Marc Siegel brings a wealth of experience and skills to assist when athletes need orthopaedic surgery to repair certain types of sports-related injuries.

Tech also maintains a special relationship with Montgomery Regional Hospital. Montgomery Regional Hospital is the choice for state-of-the-art equipment to perform surgeries, diagnostic imaging and processing of laboratory requests.

Erin Cash begins her second year with the Hokie swimming & diving squads as a graduate assistant trainer.

Academic Support

The success of Virginia Tech's soccer program rests largely on the academic progress of each student-athlete. The academic performance of Tech student-athletes has improved each year due in part to the Student Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS).

The Virginia Tech graduation rate for student-athletes has risen significantly in recent years and will be a school-best 76 percent for 2007. This marks the fourth time in the last six years that Virginia Tech's student-athlete graduation rate has been 70 percent or better.

In addition to posting impressive graduation figures, current Virginia Tech student-athletes continue to excel in the classroom. For the 2006 calendar year, 449 3.0 GPA's were earned by student-athletes, student trainers, student managers, cheerleaders and HighTechs. These student-athletes and students from support areas were recognized at the Athletic Director's Honors Breakfast last spring.

The Virginia Tech Student Athlete Academic Support Services office is committed to providing fundamental and supplemental programming, consistent with University and NCAA policy, aimed at enhancing each student athlete's educational experience.

Stakeholders of the office's mission include student athletes and their families, the university community, coaches and athletics administrators. SAASS seeks to develop relationships with its stakeholders that are founded on trust and respect, and provides the following services to accommodate their needs:

- University and NCAA information
- Orientation
- Academic assessment
- The development of an effective student life program
- Appropriate referrals
- Monitored study environments
- Tutorial programs
- State of the art technological learning assistance
- Student Athlete academic performance evaluations

SAASS provides programming for student-athletes from their freshman year through graduation. This includes a comprehensive orientation to Tech, study hall, mentoring, tutoring, academic monitoring, academic recognition and eligibility education. Additionally, student-athletes are referred to and encouraged to take advantage of other campus agencies charged with helping students in their academic pursuits.

In the 2006-07 academic year the SAASS office moved to the West Side of Lane Stadium. Student athletes now have access to state-of-the-art technology, quiet study facilities, individualized tutorial rooms, and direct access to the SAASS staff. This complex is a focal point for the Athletics Department, both aesthetically and pragmatically, and provides a centralized place for student athlete services.

The new facility features more than 18,000 square feet of functional space, 10 staff offices, 18 private tutor rooms, a state-of-the-art classroom, 45 station computer lab, three reading/study rooms, a conference room and a reference library.

Beginning his ninth year at Virginia Tech, Chris Helms is the director and is responsible for the development and leadership of the Student Athlete Academic Support Services office. Helms oversees an office comprised of an associate directors, four assistant directors, two learning specialists, a systems analyst, an intern and a secretary forming a group of professionals serving the needs of all student-athletes.

Jess Hegr works specifically with the men's and women's swimming and diving teams. She is an assistant director who is in her third year at Virginia Tech. She also works with baseball, softball, and men's and women's tennis.

Athletic Performance

STRENGTH TRAINING

One of the most important aspects of a successful college swimming & diving program is its strength and conditioning program.

Thanks to the direction of Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Performance Mike Gentry, the Virginia Tech strength and conditioning program is among the best in the nation.

One of the main support centers of the Tech swimming & diving team is the strength and conditioning program. The results of hard work by the staff and the student-athletes are beginning to show as the Hokies prepare for their third season in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Tech swimmers and divers train in the Jim "Bulldog" Haren Weight Room. Located in Jamerson Athletic Center, the 5,000-square foot weight room was officially dedicated in September 1985 to Haren, a former Hokie football player and long-time supporter of the Virginia Tech Athletics Department. The teams also use the state-of-the-art new weight room on the lower level of the Merryman Center. With the two facilities, the Hokies have more than 22,000-square feet of training space.

SPORTS NUTRITION

Eating healthy and choosing nutritious diets are important aspects of a Virginia Tech student-athlete's life, and that's why in July 2002, the athletics department implemented the sports nutrition program. Amy Freel serves as the director.

Freel works individually with student-athletes to provide them with information they need on their diet. She also provides individual players with diet counseling on issues such as gaining lean muscle mass, losing body fat, and eating choices to improve performance.

She also designs preseason menus, snacks and training table menus for the teams.

"It is extremely beneficial for our student-athletes to have nutrition education and counseling available to them in order for them to remain successful in their sports and outside of athletics," Freel said. "The individualized nutrition education allows me and the athletes to get very specific on their nutritional, personal and sport-specific goals."

The sports nutritionist works with the "Training Edge," a dining option for health-conscious students and athletes, to design menus for training tables and daily menu selections.

SPORT PSYCHOLOGY

Virginia Tech also offers another important service to all its student-athletes - sport psychology. Dr. Gary Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performance enhancement services for student-athletes. Bennett also works closely with the Cook Counseling Center.

Bennett meets with student-athletes on an individual basis for personal counseling and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. He also works on team building, communication and performance enhancement.

Mike Gentry, assistant AD for athletic performance, says, "I've always felt that (sport psychology) was an important element. We want to be a holistic model of an athletics department, and we wanted to and needed to include sport psychology in that model."

"We try to address all the various factors that affect student-athletes' performance on and off the field," Bennett says. "We believe we can help athletes perform better by addressing those concerns."

The sport psychology department also offer an injury group to afford injured athletes the opportunity to meet with other injured athletes and talk about their recovery process. Injured athletes may also meet individually with the sport psychologists. On average, the psychologists conduct 20 individual sessions per week and also meet weekly with teams as the need arises.

ACC Swimming & Diving

THE TRADITION

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 55th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 105 national championships, including 56 in women's competition and 49 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 139 times in men's competition and 86 times in women's action.

The success of ACC swimming and diving continues to reach new heights since the league sponsored the sport for men in 1954 and for women in 1979. The 2006-07 season proved to be another storied campaign, as the league produced its most recent NCAA individual champion and had 15 student-athletes named NCAA All-Americans along with 10 others earning All-American Honorable Mention. Florida State's Terry Horner won the men's one-meter diving event at the NCAA, becoming the league's first national diving champion while at an active conference member institution (FSU joined the ACC in 1991).

Last year, the conference sent five schools from each of the men's and women's programs to the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships with three finishing among the Top 25 in each of their respective team standings. It also marked the fourth consecutive year the ACC has had at least five teams selected to compete in the NCAA Championships. Both sports have placed a league-best seven schools in the national postseason event with the men accomplishing the feat twice back-to-back in 2003-04 and 2004-05, while the women hit the mark in 2005-06.

ACC men's swimming and diving have accounted for 218 NCAA All-Americans, 15 national individual champions and one national championship relay team in the 53 years of its storied program. Six of the 12 schools have claimed an ACC championship crown with three of the schools having won 10 or more titles. NC State leads all member schools with 24 total conference championships (21 outright), while North Carolina has clinched 17 (13 outright) and Virginia captured 10.

North Carolina's Phillip Drake and NC State's Bob Mattson became the first ACC pair to be crowned NCAA champions in 1955. Drake won the 200 butterfly, while Mattson took first place in the 200 breaststroke. There would be five more NCAA individual champions from NC State over the years, including two-time NCAA champion Dick Fadgen (200 breaststroke and 200 butterfly) in 1956 and most recently Cullen Jones, the 2006 NCAA champion in the 50 freestyle.

Women's swimming and diving have established its own standard of success over the past 28 years. Approximately 250 student-athletes have been named NCAA All-Americans and five were crowned NCAA individual champions. North Carolina has been a dominating presence in the ACC, winning 16 outright league championships (1981-86, 1991-96, 2000-02 and 2007).

The Tar Heels also boast one of the best all-time swimmers in conference history. Sue Walsh won 10 national collegiate individual championships and never lost a backstroke race in her three years of NCAA competition. Clemson's Mitzi Kremer was also a swimming sensation for the ACC, as she won both the 200 and 500 freestyle events at the NCAA in 1987 and 1989. Virginia's Cara Lane was also an NCAA champion in two different events, winning the 1500 freestyle in 2000 and placing first place the following year in the 1650 freestyle.

Countless numbers from both the ACC men's and women's swimming and diving programs have competed at the international level and continued on to become world champions and Olympians. Among the numerous Olympians who hailed from the league were North Carolina's Thompson Mann and Sue Walsh as the first male and female representatives. Mann picked up a gold medal in the 1964 Olympics, while Walsh was a member of the 1980 U.S. Olympic Team.

In addition, the ACC has had several Olympic medalists including a league-best five from NC State in Steve Rerych (1968), Dan Harrigan and Steve Gregg (1976), Duncan Goodhew (1976 and 1980) and David Fox (1996). North Carolina's Mann became the first Olympic medalist for the ACC men, while Duke's Nancy Hogshead was the conference's first female swimmer to collect an Olympic medal. Mann helped the U.S. 400-meter relay team capture the gold medal as its leadoff swimmer in the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, Japan. He also set a world record at the Tokyo Olympic Games in the 100 backstroke (59.80 seconds), becoming the first person to ever eclipse one minute at that distance.

Hogshead shared the gold medal with fellow American Carrie Steinsiefer after the pair claimed a dead-heat victory in the 100 freestyle at the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles, Calif. She was also a member of the U.S. gold-medal-winning 400-meter freestyle and 400-meter relay teams. Hogshead also won silver in the 200 individual medley.

ACC swimming and diving has also excelled in the classroom, as the men's and women's programs have combined for 23 CSCAA Academic All-Americans and 26 others selected to an All-Academic Team by either the CSCAA, CoSIDA/ESPN The Magazine or both national organizations.

With the additions of Miami and Virginia Tech in 2004-05 and later Boston College in 2005-06, the future success of ACC swimming and diving was solidified for decades to come. The three schools combine for approximately 70 NCAA All-Americans, 20 NCAA individual champions and 20 Olympians between both sports.

The addition of the schools also added more depth and history to an already impressive coaching lineage that ranks among the best in the country. North Carolina's Frank Comfort, who retired after the 2006-07 season, has won a total of 26 ACC Championships and compiled 581 dual-meet victories over the past 30 years. He wrapped up his career as the winningest dual-meet coach in collegiate swimming history.

The league's newest members showcase a group of established coaches with substantial credentials and numerous accolades. Boston College's Tom Groden became the first coach in NCAA history to record 200 wins with both a men's and women's programs at the same school when the school competed in the BIG EAST Conference. Miami diving head coach Ron Ableman was named NCAA Diving Coach of the Year nine times, including six straight from 1995-2000, while Virginia Tech's Ned Skinner has been Coach of the Year in four different leagues during his career.

All told, the ACC boasts over 545 All-Americans, 53 NCAA individual champions, two national championship relay teams and countless numbers of Olympians.

LEARNING

Virginia Tech's challenging academic standards attract high-achieving students. Our eight colleges (Agriculture & Life Sciences, Architecture & Urban Studies, Engineering, Liberal Arts & Human Sciences, Natural Resources, Pamplin Business, Science, and Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine) and Graduate School offer more degree programs than any other university in the state. Virginia Tech is one of the nation's leaders in developing and using instructional technologies. More than 85 percent of our departments offer e-learning courses, which have attracted more than 96,000 enrollments (credit and noncredit) since 1998. During this time, more than 3,500 different courses have been offered by more than 700 different faculty members.

DISCOVERY

The university's groundbreaking research transforms lives and communities. With annual research expenditures of nearly $322 million, Virginia Tech is ranked 56th among research universities in the United States. The university, which has more than 100 research centers, also consistently ranks among the top institutions in industry-supported research and near the top 10 in the number of patents issued each year.
