

VIRGINIA TECH

Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University is a public institution with a world-renowned reputation in high-technology fields, such as engineering, architecture and the sciences. The university teaches more than 28,000 students, including 2,000 international students representing 110 countries. Virginia Tech, as the university is popularly known, offers more than 70 undergraduate majors and nearly 110 graduate degree programs taught by nationally and internationally recognized scholars.

Virginia Tech is organized into eight colleges — Agriculture and Life Sciences, Architecture and Urban Studies, Science, Pamplin College of Business, Engineering, Liberal Arts and Human Sciences, Natural Resources and Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine.

RESEARCH: With 3,700 ongoing research projects, Virginia Tech is the state's top research university and one of the top in the nation.

TECHNOLOGY: At Virginia Tech, technology is part of every student's daily vocabulary. Students learn better and faster, keep in touch with home and with the world, generate working relationships with teachers, and ready themselves for success in tomorrow's workplace.

RESIDENTIAL & DINING PROGRAMS: Each year, more than 8,700 students live on campus, 4,000 of whom are upperclassmen. The on-campus experience includes a wide variety of activities such as study skills sessions, movie nights and intramural sport teams.

Each residence hall room is equipped with high-tech communications systems that provide voice mail and Ethernet access. Rooms are also equipped with a cable TV outlet that provides a wide variety of instructional, entertainment, news and foreign language programs.

Dining centers include specialty dining areas, all-you-care-to-eat buffets and a 12-station food court.

STUDENT LIFE: More than 500 student organizations on campus serve academic, athletic, service, religious, arts and special interests, among others.

Tennis, golf, hiking, camping, cycling, jogging, canoeing and kayaking, swimming and horseback riding are favorite activities which can be enjoyed on or near campus year-round.

HOKIE SPORTS: Virginia Tech athletics teams compete at the NCAA Division I level in 21 men's and women's sports. Tech became a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference for all sports on July 1, 2004.

Facilities

The Virginia Tech volleyball team plays and trains in some of the finest facilities in the country.

Cassell Coliseum, the 10,052-seat residence of the Virginia Tech volleyball team, is home to a winning tradition. Rivals have had little success playing the Hokies in Cassell, winning only 101 of 235 visits.

Construction of the main portion of Cassell Coliseum began in 1961. It was completed in December 1964, at a cost of $2.7 million. Built by T.C. Brittain and Company of Decatur, Ga., it houses an arena, locker rooms, two auxiliary gymnasiums, offices and other athletic facilities.

Cassell Coliseum has undergone extensive renovations to both the exterior and interior of the building, as well as the structural systems. Prior to the 1988-89 season, a spring-loaded playing floor was installed. During 1996-97, the facility was given a new roof and paint application. Recently, the playing floor was resurfaced and given a new look and the seats were refinished and replaced two years ago.

The Hokies train in the Merryman Center. The sparkling $10.6 million facility contains 17,000 square feet of strength and conditioning

The Merryman Center was dedicated Sept., 26, 1998, and is named for the F.W. (Sonny) Merryman family of Rustburg, Va., which presented the university with a major gift to kick off a fund-raising campaign.

Virginia Tech volleyball coach Greg Smith has high expectations for this season knowing he returns five starters and four additional letterwinners from last season's squad that finished 13-14 overall, 7-5 in its final season in the BIG EAST. The team begins the 2004 season ready for a new change in tempo as it enters the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Smith knows the season will be not without challenges and looks to build upon the team's record from last season. Most importantly, Smith needs his team to distinguish itself as a unit not to be underestimated in the tough ACC.

"We need to continue to move forward and build on what we accomplished in 2003," Smith said. "Going into the 2004 season, we will be a more mature team than the previous year with five starters returning."

Smith returns three All-BIG EAST honorees from 2003, including senior Annie Spicer who led the team with 439 kills and 311 digs as a junior.

She and fellow seniors Kaitlin McPeak and Emily Smith will provide muchneeded veteran leadership to a team dominated by sophomores and freshmen.

Here is a position-by-position breakdown of the 2004 Virginia Tech squad:

MIDDLE HITTERS

With junior Liz Kapp and sophomores Katie Esbrook and Allie Kupec returning, the middle hitters look to be one of the youngest, yet talented, positions on the Tech roster.

As a true freshman, Esbrook started in all but one match for the Hokies last season and was an All-BIG EAST honorable mention and an American Volleyball Coaches Association All-Northeast Region honorable mention honoree. Esbrook was both the best defensive threat for Tech, recording a team-high 118 blocks, and serving specialist, totaling a team-high 41 service aces.

"Katie had a good freshman year and we expect a lot out of her," Smith said about Esbrook. "I look for her to step up to the challenge of playing in a tough conference and take on more of a leadership role in 2004."

Complementing Esbrook at the middle hitter position will be Kapp. The Aurora, Colo., native appeared in 30 games as a sophomore, registering 44 kills and 13 blocks.

"Liz had a great spring and I am looking forward to see if she can transition that hard work to the 2004 season," Smith said. "She is stronger now and has a better understanding of what it entails to take this team and herself to the next level."

If needed, Kupec will move from the right side to middle hitter. Last year Kupec saw some action in the middle, but Smith believes her true fit is on the right side.

"Allie will be a back-up at the middle hitter spot," Smith said. "The right side hitter position is a more natural fit, but she is such a versatile player that she has the ability to play in either position."

The outside hitter position has the most depth for the Hokies. Coming off one of her best seasons, Spicer anchors the group in her final season wearing the maroon and orange. She will be counted on to set the standard for others to follow as she continues to improve throughout the season.

"Annie will be a four-year starter for us on the outside and one of the best leaders on the team," Smith said about Spicer. "She has been a solid player and each year improves in a different aspect of the game, whether it be defense, passing or hitting."

Spicer registered 10 or more kills in every match for Tech in 2003 and was named All-BIG EAST second team. She had 17 double-doubles and finished third in the BIG EAST with 4.26 kills per game.

"I am looking for Annie to step up and be the leader of this team in the fall," Smith said. "She is the glue that will hold everything together. We will go as far as Annie can take us."

After an ankle sprain sidelined her during the last nine games of the year, senior Emily Smith looks to make a comeback in 2004.

"Emily really improved in the spring and still has room to grow,"

Smith said. "She has good ball control and has become a smarter player. She now knows what she needs to do to become one of the top hitters on the team."

After Smith's injury, sophomore Colette Ramirez stepped up and delivered some impressive numbers. Ramirez was named the BIG EAST Rookie of the Week for Nov. 3, after totaling 15 kills with only two errors and a .361 hitting percentage during wins against Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

"Colette is coming around after she struggled with a back and knee injury in the spring," Smith said about Ramirez. "She has an abundance of athletic potential and look for her to improve tremendously this coming year. She gained experience during the past season, which will help her make a bigger contribution this year."

The freshman duo of Jen Albrecht and Amanda Cloyd should challenge the veterans for playing time on the outside this season.

"Jen is a good athlete who loves to play the game," Smith said. "She is a very versatile player who has good all-around game instincts. She adds instant depth to the outsider hitter position, with her ball control and her hitting ability. She is a hard worker who will learn our system quickly.

"Amanda was an all-state high school player in Indiana. She is very athletic and controls the ball well," Smith said. "She will add to our program at the outside hitter position or possibly libero and defensive specialist."

Due to the graduation of four-year letterwinner Jenny Hill, Smith's staff has a hole to fill on the right side of the net. To fill the void, Erin Brugger and Kupec will make the move to the right side in 2004.

"Both Allie and Erin are new to the right side in college, but played there in club and in high school," Smith said about the sophomores. "It's a big toss-up as to who will start there this fall, I am confident though in their ability to adjust to playing the right side."

Last season, Kupec played in 94 games and ranked second on the team in total blocks with 98. After a strong debut for Tech in the Hokie Classic, Kupec was named to her first collegiate all-tournament team and garnered BIG EAST Rookie of the Week accolades.

"Allie is a good, versatile hitter who can run different sets," Smith said. "She is a hard worker and we look for her to be a presence offensively and defensively. She adds consistency at the net when she is in the game."

Brugger, a Virginia native, registered 97 kills in 52 games last season and added 15 total blocks after redshirting in 2002. "Erin has matured as a player in the last two years and I feel that she is ready to step into a bigger role," Smith said.

First-year assistant coach April Yantis will be working with the right side, and the rest of the outside hitters.

"April has six years experience as an assistant coach and understands the process of how a successful program is run," Smith said about Yantis. "She is familiar with the ACC style of play, having coached at Duke and Miami. She will also assist with the recruiting process and development of the outside hitters."

Ramirez and Albrecht can be moved over to the right as well if needed.

SETTERS

The setter position looks to be another veteran group for the Hokies. allconference Melissa Markowski returns for her third season as the court guarterback for Smith. In 2003, she tallied 1,195 assists and was an All-BIG EAST honorable mention honoree.

"Melissa comes back after a good year in 2003," Smith said about his junior setter. "A lot is expected of her this year after starting the last two years. She made great strides to become a team leader this past spring. Melissa is a competitor and I expect her to adjust to the new conference level of play quite well."

Backing up Markowski will be freshmen Rachel Dulla and Erika Gerstmyer.

"Rachel was a setter on her high school team and will be a good addition to the setter position," Smith said about the incoming class. "Erika has a solid background as a setter and will contribute to the program's success."

Guiding the setters this season will be first-year assistant coach

Lindsay Wischmeier, who was a standout at Nebraska. Smith believes Wischmeier's talent and experience on and off the court will be a positive influence for the Tech setters.

"As a former player and now a coach, Lindsay brings a great element to the team," Smith said. "Lindsay sees the bigger picture and will show the girls what they need to do in order to achieve the success she did as a player. She has a setter mentality and will push Melissa, Erika and Rachel to a different level."

DEFENSIVE SPECIALISTS & LIBERO

With the addition of versatile players like freshmen Cloyd and Dulla to the Hokies' roster, the defensive specialist and libero positions have more depth than previous seasons.

This season however, the libero position is changing again. The original intent of the libero position was to create a defensive ballhandling specialist. By allowing the libero to serve, a team will be able to put their best six players on the court for a larger percentage of the game, and individual players are given another opportunity to play. This rule change will allow the libero player to serve in one position designated for the game. Coaches can designate the rotation the libero will serve in at any time during the game.

Senior Kaitlin McPeak will be the returning starter at either defensive specialist or libero, while Cloyd and Dulla will compete for playing time in the rotation at the remaining spot at libero or defensive specialist.

"Kaitlin has been a starter at the defensive specialist position and has the most collegiate experience there," Smith said. "Rachel and Amanda played the defensive specialist and libero positions at the club level. They will add depth to the position, which was one of our weakest spots on the court last year."

McPeak was one of only two Hokies to play in every game last year and split the season at either defensive specialist or libero. She registered 190 digs and 12 service aces when not used as the libero.

THE SCHEDULE

With the move into the ACC this year, Tech's conference schedule will look more like a who's-who of college volleyball more so than in past seasons. Tech will play four teams that qualified for the NCAA Championships in Georgia Tech, Maryland, Michigan and Ohio > University. Three out of the four matches against these teams will be on the road. The Hokies will also face off against three teams nationally ranked in the 2003 AVCA/USA Today polls.

In all, 14 out of 22 opponents this season were ranked in the top 100 in the national 2003 RPI.

Tech will begin its schedule with a trip to Athens, Ohio, to face Ohio University, the 2003 Mid-American Conference Champions. The opener will also be the first time Emily Smith will square off against her twin sister, Katie, a senior at OU, on a collegiate volleyball court.

"Ohio University will be a great start to our season," coach Smith said about the Bobcats. "They are a strong team and have recently been at the top of the MAC and in the NCAA Tournament. This match will show where we are as a team and where we need to go."

Three tournaments highlight Tech's 29-match schedule, with the first one held in Blacksburg on Sept. 3-4. Teams from Appalachian State, Lehigh and Towson will participate in the two-day Hokie Fall Invitational.

Tech will participate in the Georgia Outback Tournament hosted by the Bulldogs in Athens, Ga. During the tourney, Tech will face Louisiana-Monroe, Elon and host Georgia.

The Hokies then head to Ann Arbor, Mich., for the Nike Challenge featuring host Michigan, as well as Tennessee and Western Michigan.

With the move to the ACC in 2004, the Hokies will face a more difficult conference schedule. Of the 11 teams in the ACC, Tech will face Duke, Florida State, Miami, North Carolina, North Carolina State and Wake Forest twice, while playing Clemson, Georgia Tech, Maryland and Virginia once. All 11 teams will qualify for the conference tournament, hosted by Virginia in Charlottesville the weekend of Nov. 18-21.

"My coaching staff and I are extremely excited to be in the ACC," Smith said about the move to the new league. "The ACC is consistently one of the top four or five conferences in the NCAA every year. We need to show up with our best game each night in order to compete and win. Our team is ready and up for the challenge."

Greg Smith

HEAD VOLLEYBALL COACH

A young and energetic coach, Greg Smith enters his fifth season as a collegiate head coach with the Virginia Tech volleyball program.

Last year, Smith led the Hokies to a 13-14 overall record, 7-5 in the BIG EAST, to finish tied for fourth in the conference standings. Smith's career record now stands at 55-60 overall, 22-15 in conference play.

Three of his players received all-conference accolades in 2003, including Annie Spicer who was named second-team All-BIG EAST as a junior and Katie Esbrook who was named honorable mention All-Northeast Region and All-BIG EAST as a freshman.

In 2002, Smith led the Hokies in an amazing turnaround as Tech qualified for the BIG EAST Championship in the team's second season in the conference.

For the team's play, Smith was named the 2002 BIG EAST Coach of the Year. Tech more than doubled its win total from the previous season and won twice as many conference matches as it did during the 2001 season. Smith had two players receive conference honors, as senior Cheryl Stinson was named first-team All-BIG EAST and Ana Lang was named to the second team.

During the 2001 season, Smith led the Hokies into a new conference as Tech entered the BIG EAST and finished the year with a 9-19 record, 5-7 in the league. Two Hokies received conference honors as Stinson was named second-team All-BIG EAST and Annie Spicer was an honorable-mention selection.

In 2000, his first year as a head coach, Smith led a young group to a 13-16 record and had three players receive honors for their performances. Lang was named player of the year in the Independent Volleyball Conference, while Stinson and Kelli O'Dell were named to the all-conference team.

Smith came to Virginia Tech from Ohio State, where he served as an assistant coach for three seasons. Smith was successful as an assistant at OSU, helping coach the Buckeyes to the NCAA Tournament each year. His duties included assisting in recruiting and training the team, both on the court and in its physical conditioning.

Prior to his stint in Columbus, Smith spent two seasons as an assistant coach at Hofstra University. While at Hofstra, he helped lead the team to two consecutive American East Conference tournament championships and two NCAA Tournament appearances. In all, Smith has coached in the NCAA Tournament five of the last nine seasons.

Before his coaching duties at Hofstra, he was an assistant coach at the University of Indianapolis in 1994. During that time he also served as one of the head volleyball coaches for the Circle City Volleyball Club.

Prior to coaching at the University of Indianapolis, Smith was an assistant varsity coach at Rochester (Ind.) High from September 1992 through October 1993. He was also head coach of the freshman squad at Rochester. During his tenure at Rochester, he assisted the varsity team to the regional playoffs in 1992 and state semifinals in 1993.

The Rochester, Ind., native graduated from Westmont College in 1990 with a bachelor's in business and economics. He also received a bachelor's in education from the University of Indianapolis in April of 1995. A letterwinner in tennis at Westmont College, Smith also served as an assistant basketball coach at his alma mater.

Smith, his wife, Erica, and their daughter, Peytan, reside in Christiansburg.

April Yantis

ASSISTANT VOLLEYBALL COACH

April Yantis begins her first year in the Hokie volleyball program as an assistant coach.

Yantis will work directly with the outside hitters and handle recruiting duties and match management responsibilities.

Yantis comes to Tech from the University of Miami where she was an assistant coach for three seasons. In 2002, Yantis helped guide the Hurricanes to a NCAA Sweet Sixteen appearance. She was primarily responsible for coaching the outside hitters, and two of her athletes were selected to the American Volleyball Coaches Association All-Northeast Region team. One was also selected as the BIG EAST Player of the Year.

Prior to her tenure at Miami, Yantis was an assistant at Duke University during the 1999-2001 seasons. At Duke, she coached the outside hitters and helped the Blue Devils to an NCAA Tournament appearance. She planned practices, scouted opponents and assisted with recruiting. She was also a team liaison for the marketing and promotions, sports information and equipment departments.

She also worked youth summer volleyball camps during her time at both Duke and Miami.

Yantis' coaching career began at the University of Pennsylvania where she was an assistant coach from 1998-1999. She was given the Excellence In Service Award for her dedication to the program. While coaching the Quakers, Yantis was the head coach of the Golden Eagles Volleyball Club.

A standout player at Drexel, Yantis recorded 30 kills in a match four times in her career. A member of the team from 1994-1997, she was the first player in conference history to be named all-conference three consecutive years. Yantis earned the Mary Semanki award, which is given to Drexel's most outstanding female athlete. Yantis holds the record for all-time kills and digs, and was named the Dragons' most valuable player for three straight years.

A Hanover, Pa., native, Yantis currently resides in Blacksburg.

Lindsay Wischmeier

ASSISTANT VOLLEYBALL COACH

Lindsay Wischmeier enters her first season as an assistant coach at Virginia Tech.

Wischmeier comes to Tech from perennial national contender the University of Nebraska where she helped guide the Huskers to a national championship in 2000. A four-year starter for the Huskers, she played setter her freshman year and libero her last three seasons in Lincoln.

The Nebraska career dig record holder, Wischmeier played in every match during her career at Nebraska. She was a three-time first-team Academic All-Big XII member, 2001 Junior Student Leadership semifinalist, a nominee for Verizon Academic All-American and a Student-Athlete of the Year finalist in 2003.

While completing her degree in business administration, Wischmeier served as an undergraduate assistant coach for Nebraska during the 2003 season. She assisted with recruiting, game day preparation and various coaching duties. Wischmeier was also an instructor for the Nebraska volleyball camps for four years.

A Burchard, Neb., native, Wischmeier resides in Blacksburg.

Virginia Tech head coach Greg Smith entered the 2003 campaign with holes to fill at libero and middle hitter, but knew he had a solid foundation to build on with junior outside hitter Annie Spicer and sophomore setter Melissa Markowski. Smith also had returning seniors Kelli O'Dell and Jenny Hill to provide the leadership for a team that only returned three starters.

Smith would have to depend heavily on two freshman middle hitters in Katie Esbrook and Allie Kupec to fill the void left by the graduation of firstteam All-BIG EAST honoree Cheryl Stinson.

The freshman duo's baptism by fire would begin in the home and season opener against Miami (Ohio) at the 2003 Hokie Classic. Kupec tallied 13 kills, a game-high five block assists and hit a sparkling .524 with only two errors in 21 attempts in her first collegiate start. Esbrook was equally impressive leading the team with 12 kills on 17 attempts and only three errors for a .529 hitting percentage, but added another dimension to the game with three service aces and five total blocks against Campbell.

The Hokies won the Hokie Classic for the first time in three years led by all-tournament team members Spicer and Kupec. Spicer was also named tournament Most Valuable Player totaling 50 kills, 28 digs and eight block Kupec was also named BIG EAST Rookie of the Week for her efforts in the tournament on Sept. 1.

Tech then hit the road for eight consecutive away matches, including nationally ranked Maryland and arch rival Virginia. The travel took its toll, however, as the Hokies returned to Blacksburg with a 2-6 record to move to 5-6 on the season.

While the veterans struggled, the rookie class continued to impress. Esbrook and Kupec remained a solid blocking and attacking duo in the middle. Redshirt freshmen Erin Brugger at outside hitter and right side Colette Ramirez rotated in the lineup and delivered impressive performances.

The Hokies took third place at the 2003 Terrapin Invite hosted by Maryland in the Comcast Center Gymnasium after going 1-2 for the tournament. Spicer was again named to the all-tournament team for the second straight tournament in a row.

Returning to the solace of home court in Cassell Coliseum, the Hokies won their fourth straight home match of the year with a three-game sweep, 30-17, 30-20, 30-18 over Radford.

Unfortunately, the Hokies then fell to both Northern Illinois and Cleveland State in four games. NIU won the tournament going 2-0 against the hosting Hokies and the Vikings from Ohio.

Coach Smith knew that to be successful Tech would have to find a way to win on the road during BIG EAST action. Aside from a neutral site competition, the Hokies had yet to win a match on another team's home

Tech was able to snap its road streak at the right time with a 3-0 sweep of BIG EAST foe Rutgers. Two days later Coach Smith recorded his 50th career victory with a 3-1 win over the Pirates of Seton Hall to move to 2-0 in the BIG EAST. Spicer led the team with 16 kills and 12 digs while

^{% -} Tied for regular season title

Brugger notched a career-high 15 kills and Hill racked up five block assists helping to hold Seton Hall to a .150 hitting percentage for the match.

The Hokies lost their first BIG EAST match-up when they hosted Boston College. The Eagles defeated the Hokies, 3-1, despite three players totaling over 11 kills apiece. Spicer led with 17 kills, Kupec added 14 kills and Hill had a season-high six block assists.

Virginia Tech, unable to rebound, fell to Villanova in a five game heartbreaker (30-27, 30-23, 20-30, 27-30, 8-15). Esbrook had her best defensive game of the year against the Wildcats, recording eight total blocks to complement 14 kills. Markowski had one of her most complete matches of the season with 21 digs, 51 assists and five block assists.

Tech then got back to its winning ways with a 3-1 BIG EAST win at home victory over Georgetown, led by Spicer's match-high 20 kills and three aces.

After a disappointing 3-1 loss to in-state rival Liberty, despite Spicer's career-high 25 kills, Smith knew his team would have to refocus before it faced its last seven teams, including No. 12-ranked Notre Dame and Miami (Fla.) on the road.

The Hokies first headed to Jamaica, N.Y., to face-off with St. John's and were unable to stop the Red Storm who upended the Hokies, 3-0. This was only the second time in the season Tech fell in three games.

Tech's next stop was Storrs, Conn., where it would face a motivated Huskies team that finished second in the 2002 BIG EAST Tournament. The Hokies did not let Connecticut's experience intimate them, winning 3-2. Spicer (24), Esbrook (18), Kupec (14), Ramirez (13) and Hill (12) all finished the match with double-digit kills.

After turning in one of her best two-match performances of the year against St. John's and Connecticut, Esbrook was named the BIG EAST Rookie of the Week.

Esbrook and the Hokies kept the momentum going against Pittsburgh, and handed the Panthers their first conference loss of the year. The 30-27, 30-17, 30-26 sweep stopped a 12-match winning streak by Pittsburgh.

Prior to the match, the Panthers were ranked 28th in the NCAA in hitting percentage, but the Hokies held them to a jaw-dropping .062 hitting percentage. It was also the second consecutive win against an opponent with a winning record as the Panthers suffered only their fourth loss of the season.

After the sweet victory over Pittsburgh, the Hokies finished their home season with a 3-0 dismissing of visiting West Virginia for their third consecutive conference win.

Seniors Hill and O'Dell were both honored before the match for their dedication and leadership. In return, Hill tallied nine kills and an impressive .600 hitting percentage, while O'Dell had three kills, 15 assists and five digs in their last home match.

Also honored were Markowski and Ramirez, who were named Co-Players of the Week in the BIG EAST for their performances against Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

After winning three straight conference matches, the Hokies had all pistons firing as they headed to South Bend to take on BIG EAST rival and No. 12-ranked Notre Dame.

In front of over 8,000 screaming fans, the Hokies nearly upset the vaunted Irish on their home court. The Hokies went the distance with the No. 1-ranked blockers in the country for five games (22-30, 30-25, 31-29, 24-30, 13-15), but fell short in their upset bid.

With only two matches left in the season, Coach Smith wanted to see how his team would come back after falling to the Irish. His answer was another grueling five-game (16-30, 25-30, 30-24, 30-26, 17-15) match at Syracuse. The Hokies battled back from two games down to win 3-2.

Tech's final match of the season was on the road in Miami. A win over the Hurricanes would have given Tech a possible place in the conference tournament for the second straight year. Unfortunately, the Hokies could not muster another come-from-behind win, falling 3-0 to the Hurricanes.

As a team, the Hokies finished the season with a 13-14 overall record and finished tied for fourth in the BIG EAST with a 7-5 record.

Several players received post-season awards for their efforts in 2003. Spicer was named All-BIG EAST second team after finishing the season with 439 kills for a 4.26 per game average, good enough for fourth in the BIG EAST. She hit 10 or more kills in every match and led the team in games played (103), kills (439), kills per game (4.26), digs (311) and digs per game (3.02). She moved into 10th place all-time at Tech for kills in a season with (439), seventh in career kills (1,078), fifth in kills per game in a season (4.26) and ninth in career aces with 114.

Both Markowski and Esbrook were recognized as honorable mention All-BIG EAST. Markowski finished 2003 third in the BIG EAST with 11.72 assists per game and 1,195 total assists. She moved into the all-time Tech record book and now sits fourth all-time for season hitting percentage with .305 and fourth in career assists with 2,618. Markowski was also named to the Academic All-District III third team.

Esbrook was one of only two freshmen to be honored by the BIG EAST in 2003. She led Tech in hitting percentage (.333), aces (41), block solos (21), block assists (97), total blocks (118) and blocks per game (1.18). After her first season, she is third all-time at Virginia Tech with a .333 hitting percentage and ninth for blocks in a season with 118.

The Virginia Tech Sports Medicine Department is an everchanging and developing unit that strives to provide the most current and comprehensive care to all student-athletes. The department, under the leadership of Gunnar Brolinson, D.O., Delmas Bolin, M.D., and Mike Goforth, director of athletic training, is constantly evolving to incorporate new ideas and state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of student-athletes.

A professional staff — including primary care physicians who are Board certified in family medicine and sports medicine, orthopaedic surgeons, certified athletic trainers, physical therapists, chiropractors, massage therapists, sports psychologists, nutritionists and orthotists — is available to manage the health care of athletes.

As part of the evolution, Tech recently completed its second full year in the new 4,300-square-foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room. This area consolidated the training rooms that existed in the Merryman Center and Cassell Coliseum. The new facility gives the training staff a centralized area to care for the needs of all Virginia Tech student-athletes. There is state-of-the-art equipment and a unique style of architecture, developed by Glenn Reynolds, AIA and Larry Perry as the consulting engineer.

The new room, which nearly doubles the size of the former Merryman Center facility, also allows the staff to utilize that room for physical therapy, chiropractic care and massage therapy. With its completion, Virginia Tech now has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing Tech in the top five percent nationally. In addition, the $10 million Merryman Center, a state-ofthe-art facility which includes 2,400 square feet of medical space, will supplement the new training room. This treatment room has numerous treatment modalities, including portable X-ray, electric stimulation, ultrasound, hot and cold packs and a lumbar/cervical traction unit. It also has offices for the staff, dozens of training tables, two cold tubs, whirlpools, an underwater treadmill, a Biodex System 3 and various other pieces of rehabilitation equipment.

After the sports medicine staff diagnoses and treats an ill or injured athlete, the staff then starts collaborative work with the strength and conditioning staff to give the best injury prevention and performance enhancing programs possible. The training, medical, and strength and conditioning staffs each have a role in bringing the athlete back quickly and ready to play. After an injury, an athlete will go through rehabilitation and physical therapy. Athletes are then moved to weight training, as they become able. The strength and conditioning staff uses specific programs for each injury in an effort to get the athlete back auickly.

The range of benefits athletes have access to include custom orthotics, custom mouth guards, specialized DonJoy prophylactic bracing and many other options to help prevent or protect them from injuries. The sports medicine staff also takes great pride in treating the athlete year-round. Special attention is paid to offseason activity. During this time, the staff will analyze past injury data from each participant and construct a preventative program for the athlete to follow. If physical therapy is needed, student-athletes can be seen by therapist Mark Piechoski in the Ferrell Training Room. Piechoski, who is a certified athletic trainer, physical therapist and strength and conditioning specialist, plays a large role in the overall program developed to return the injured athlete back to 100 percent. In addition, staff sport psychologist Gary Bennett is available to all student-athletes for personal and performance issues. Virginia Tech also has the services of Dr. Greg Tilley, team chiropractor. Dr. Tilley provides Tech athletes with specialized treatment for spine related conditions and also plays a huge role in performance enhancement through various chiropractic techniques.

Tech also maintains a special relationship with Montgomery Regional Hospital. Montgomery Regional Hospital is the choice for state-of-the-art equipment to perform surgeries, diagnostic imaging and processing of laboratory requests.

Ricky Dooley begins his first year as a athletic trainer with the Hokie volleyball team.

Student Athlete Academic Sup

The success of Virginia Tech's volleyball program rests largely on the academic progress of each student-athlete. The academic performance of Tech student-athletes has improved each year due in part to the Student Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS).

The Virginia Tech graduation rate for student-athletes has risen significantly in recent years and reached 70 percent in 2003 as compared to the national average of 62 percent. The 70 percent studentathlete graduation rate marks the second straight year and five in the last 10 years that Tech has reached that level.

In addition to posting impressive graduation figures, Virginia Tech's student-athletes continue to excel in the classroom. During the 2003 calendar year, 482 3.0 GPA's were earned by student-athletes, student trainers, student managers, cheerleaders and HighTechs.

Student-athletes are the most visible student component of a university. They entertain thousands of fans, students and alumni. Their athletic ability and achievement is the primary focus for national media attention. Athletic events bring back not only faithful alumni, but are a welcome mat for potential new students.

Student-athletes devote many hours to practice, conditioning and training that are not required of all students. Due to their time commitment and their high visibility, it is an obligation and in the best interest of the university to supply these students with services which will allow them to maximize their academic potential.

The Virginia Tech Student Athlete Academic Support Services office is committed to providing fundamental and supplemental programming, consistent with university and NCAA policy, aimed at enhancing each student athlete's educational experience.

Stakeholders of the office's mission include student athletes and their families, the university community, coaches and athletics administrators. SAASS seeks to develop relationships with its stakeholders that are founded on trust and respect, and provides the following services to accommodate their needs:

- Orientation
- Academic assessment
- Appropriate referrals
- Tutorial programs
- State of the art technological learning assistance
- Student Athlete academic performance evaluations

The expectations of the Virginia Tech community are that each student-athlete achieves maximum academic and athletic potential. With the proper assistance, facilities and encouragement, these potentials can become a reality.

Academic facilities for studentathletes include the Monogram Room, a large room used as a study hall area, adjacent to the SAASS office in Cassell Coliseum. The HEAT (Hokies Engaging in Advanced Technology) Lab and its satellite sites house over 40 computers on the second floor and third floors of Cassell Coliseum. Laptop computers are also available for Tech athletes to use when travelling to away contests. The athletic department also provides areas for private, quiet study for the athletes' convenience.

Together, these spaces provide the student-athlete with a variety of study environments conducive to their success.

Chris Helms, in his sixth year at Tech, is the director and is responsible for the development and leadership of the Student Athlete Academic Support Services office.

Drew Scales is in his third year with Student Athlete Academic Support Services as an assistant director. Scales provides academic support for student-athletes in volleyball, lacrosse, men's and women's soccer and wrestling, in addition to overseeing the mentoring program.

Terrie Repass is in her 30th year of service at Virginia Tech. She serves as the office secretary and "first contact" person for the SAASS.

The Athletics Office of Student Life at Virginia Tech is committed to developing the total studentathlete. Megan Armbruster, Director of the Office of Student Life, is dedicated to enhancing the quality of the student-athlete experience through the programs that this office administers.

Last year, each athletic team was encouraged to complete two or more personal development workshops on a variety of different topics. Some subjects included How to Live Off-Campus, Media Relations, Alcohol 101 and Student-Athlete Scrutiny and Community Conduct. In addition, a Women's Sports Summit, attended by seven women's athletics teams, focused on issues such as healthy relationships and healthy body image.

In addition to workshops held by each team, Virginia Tech student-athletes participate in community outreach, with over 500 volunteer opportunities available just last year. The Virginia Tech volleyball program takes great pride in the many projects to which it contributes, including the Hokie Readers program, Special Olympics, hospital visits and a canned food drive.

Tech student-athletes visited local high schools in November for American Education Week, middle schools in March for Read Across America Week and elementary schools in April for Winning Choices Week, impacting over 4,000 students.

A new outreach program, developed by the Office of Student Life, is the team community partners program, where each athletic team selects one local charity on which to focus their philanthropic efforts during the academic year.

Armbruster says, "The goal of our office is to provide students with the total college experience. When athletes graduate, I want them to look back and believe they had full access to a variety of opportunities while at Virginia Tech."

WIT-SIVIG

The Virginia Tech Student Athlete Advisory Committee (VT-SAAC) promotes effective communication between athletic administration and studentathletes. SAAC is comprised of two representatives from each sport team who meet twice a month to discuss issues and concerns regarding their sports and the department of athletics.

The SAAC encourages teammates to get involved both on campus and in the community. The SAAC representatives help to design and provide programs that encourage academic success, health promotion, social responsibility and general awareness.

Upon entering the Atlantic Coast Conference, one member of the VT-SAAC will be chosen to represent Virginia Tech at the ACC-SAAC. This year, the SAAC representatives from the volleyball team are Erin Brugger and Annie Spicer.

DEVELOPMENT

In close collaboration with the Virginia Tech Career Services Center, programs and workshops are designed specifically for studentathletes. Resume design, career fair etiquette, mock interviews, interview attire and mini-career fairs are just a few examples of workshops hosted by the Athletics Office of Student Life. Student-athletes are encouraged to participate in on-campus interviewing and eRecruiting, along with securing internships and coops during their college career. Last year, nearly 100 student-athletes attended the Student-Athlete Career Expo and 65 on-campus interviews were conducted as a result of the expo.

thletic Performa

Thanks to the direction of Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Performance Mike Gentry, the Virginia Tech strength and conditioning program is among the best in the nation.

The volleyball team trains in the beautiful 17,000-square foot training center on the first level of the Merryman Athletic Center.

The weight room facility features new freeweight equipment, a full line of Hammer Strength equipment, 12 platforms and a 6,000-square foot state-of-the-art speed and agility room.

Tech also has the use of a 10-by-40-yard sand pit located outdoors and adjacent to the weight room. This pit is used for resistive running drills to improve speed.

Tech volleyball players used to train in the Jim "Bulldog" Haren Weight Room. Located in Jamerson Athletic Center, the 5,000-square foot weight room was officially dedicated in September 1985 to Haren, a former Hokie football player and long-time supporter of the Virginia Tech Athletic Department.

With the two facilities, the Hokies have over 22,000-square feet of strength and conditioning training space.

Gentry is in his 16th season as the Hokies' director of strength and conditioning.

As assistant athletics director for athletic performance, his duties include overseeing the strength and conditioning training of athletes in all 21 varsity sports at Virginia Tech.

A native of Durham, N.C., he received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Western Carolina University in 1979 and received his master's from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1981. He received his doctorate in curriculum and instruction, with an emphasis in motor behavior, from Tech in 1999.

Gentry worked as an assistant strength coach at UNC and as the head strength coach at East Carolina University prior to coming to Virginia Tech in 1987.

In 1995 and 1996, Gentry was recognized by the National Strength and Conditioning Association as a finalist for the National Strength and Conditioning Professional of the Gentry has a son, Roy Christopher, who is 14.

Assisting Gentry in the weight room this year are full-time assistant strength and conditioning coaches Jav Johnson, director of strength and conditioning, and Terry Mitchell, assistant director of strength and conditioning. Gentry will also have the services of four graduate assistants.

SPORTS NUTRITION

In July 2000, the Virginia Tech Athletics Department added another program to better serve the needs of student-athletes — sports nutrition. Amy Freel serves as the Director of Sports Nutrition at Virginia Tech.

Freel graduated from Ball State University with her bachelor's degree in dietetics in 1996 and received her master's in dietetics from Ball State in 1998.

Freel works one-on-one with studentathletes to provide them with information that they need on their diet. She also provides individual players with diet counseling on issues such as gaining lean muscle mass, losing body fat, and how to eat to improve performance.

The sports nutritionist works with the "Training Edge," a dining option for healthconscious students and athletes, to design menus for training tables and daily menu selections.

Also in July 2002, the Virginia Tech Athletics Department purchased the BOD POD body composition system. Tech is one of a handful of college athletic departments using this type of cutting edge technology.

SPORT PSYGHOLOGY

Virginia Tech also offers another important service to all its student-athetes - sport psychology. Dr. Gary Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performance enhancement services for student-athletes. Bennett also works closely with the Cook Counseling Center.

Bennett meets with student-athletes on an individual basis for personal counseling and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. He also works on team building, communication and performance enhancement.

Gentry says, "I've always felt that (sport psychology) was an important element. We want to be a holistic model of an athletics department, and we wanted to and needed to include sport psychology in that model."

"We try to address all the various factors that affect student-athletes' performance on and off the field," Bennett says. "We believe we can help athletes perform better by addressing those concerns."

The sport psychology department also offer an injury group to afford injured athletes the opportunity to meet with other injured athletes and talk about their recovery process. Injured athletes may also meet individually with the sport psychologists if they do not feel comfortable in the group or cannot make the sessions. On average, the psychologists conduct 20 individual sessions per week and also meet weekly with teams as the need arises.

A new addition to the sport psychology resources is the Dynavision 2000, a unique conditioning and training program designed to increase focus and concentration, improve coordination and visuomotor reactions, and increase peripheral awareness. Virginia Tech is privileged to be one of only a handful of schools with this cutting-edge technology.

The response to the sport psychology program has been positive. The student-athletes are very receptive to the services offered by the doctors. The sport psychology office reaches out to athletes who may not have considered going to the counseling service that is offered to all students at Virginia Tech.

"It is a great resource for our coaches and our athletes," Gentry says. "We've improved a lot in areas of strength and conditioning, nutrition and in sport psychology. It's all about becoming a well-rounded athletic program and helping student-athletes. We want to give them all the resources we can, to put them in a position to be successful."

The Virginia Tech volleyball team is one of the teams that trains in the Merryman Center weight room. The facility, which is also used by the Tech football team, is one of the finest around.

he Atlantic Coast Conference

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 52nd year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 91 national championships, including 47 in women's competition and 44 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 116 times in men's competition and 57 times in women's action.

THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The conference will conduct championship competition in 25 sports during the 2004-05 academic year — 12 for men and 13 for women.

The first ACC championship was held in swimming on February 25, 1954.

The 12 current sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse. Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, volleyball, field hockey, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing.

BLACKSBURG, VA.

One of America's best college towns, Blacksburg is a perfect setting for a great university like Virginia Tech.

Located in Southwest Virginia on a plateau between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains, Blacksburg combines the laid-back lifestyle of a small town with the amenities one would expect to find around a major center of higher education. Together, the town and university have worked hard to create a progressive community that ranks among the nation's elite living environments.

Virginia Tech and the Town of Blacksburg gained national and international attention by creating the world's first "electronic village." Businesses and industries have been drawn by the potential of the quaint town.

Established in 1798 by John and William Black, the town is surrounded by scenic mountain views that accentuate the area. Since its founding, Blacksburg has grown to become the largest town in Virginia.

The nearly 36,000 residents (including students) enjoy a close proximity to a variety of recreation areas such as the Blue Ridge Parkway, Appalachian Trail, Claytor Lake and the New River. The region features a moderate climate and four distinct seasons.

Blacksburg was recently named by Outside magazine as one of the top 10 places to live in America.

The town's location (adjacent to major interstate highways) provides convenient access to most points in the southern and eastern parts of the country.
