BY THE WAY WHAT IS A HOKIE?

That's the most often-asked question in Virginia Tech athletics. The answer leads all the way back to 1896 when Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College changed its name to Virginia Polytechnic Institute. With the change came the necessity for writing a new cheer and a contest for such a purpose was held by the student body. Senior O.M. Stull won first prize for his "Hokie" yell, which still is used today. Later, when asked if "Hokie" had any special meaning, Stull explained the word was solely the product of his imagination and was used only as an attention-getter for his yell. It soon became a nickname for all Tech teams and for those people loyal to Tech athletics. The official school colors - Chicago maroon and burnt orange - also were introduced in 1896. They were chosen because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.

The 2010-2011 Virginia Tech women's basketball guide has been designed to aid the media in its coverage of Hokie basketball. Additional information, news releases and photographs are available to accredited members of the media. All requests should be directed to the Athletics Communications Office. Please contact us by writing to the Virginia Tech Athletics Communications, 460 Jamerson Athletic Center, Blacksburg, VA 24061. If you would like to call, please phone (540) 231-6726. The Athletics Communications fax number is (540) 231-6984.

PRESS CREDENTIALS

Requests for press credentials are screened with care to ensure a working press row. Children and other non-workers are not allowed in compliance with the working code of The Basketball Writers Association of America. Credentials will be granted to Virginia Tech's official Web site, the visiting team's official Web site and the Atlantic Coast Conference's official Web site.

Requests for media credentials should be made in writing on appropriate letterhead at least one week prior to the game. Requests should be directed to Torye Hurst. You are urged to submit your request as early as possible. A reminder - no cheering is allowed in the working press area or on press row.

BROADCAST SERVICE

Radio space for broadcasts of women's basketball games is located on press row at courtside across from the team benches. Lines are available on a reciprocal basis. Please contact the Virginia Tech Athletics Communications Office as your local contact for broadcast location at Cassell Coliseum.

MEDIA SERVICES

A flip card, game notes, updated statistics and media guides will be available before the game. Complete NCAA statistics will be available as soon as possible after the game, and will be distributed at halftime.

INTERVIEWS

All Virginia Tech players and coaches will be available throughout the season for interviews. All interviews with coach Beth Dunkenberger and players must be arranged through the Athletics Communications Office.

POSTGAME POLICY

Coach Beth Dunkenberger and players will be available to the media after each home game. After a 10-minute cooling-off period, coach Dunkenberger and requested players will speak to the media in Room 207 in Cassell Coliseum.

LISTENING TO THE HOKIES

For the 14th straight year, the Hokies will have a commercial radio package. All Virginia Tech women's basketball games can be heard throughout the Blacksburg-Christiansburg-Radford market on SuperSports (101.7 FM). Jerry Massey will handle the play-by-play duties in his sixth season with the team. Webcasts of all women's basketball games can be heard by accessing Tech's official Web site - hokiesports.com.

ACC ONTHE WEB

The Atlantic Coast Conference official Web site can be accessed on the Internet by visiting www. theacc.com.

Information is updated with new material daily. Links to each of the ACC schools' official athletic Web sites are also located on this site.

TheACC.com will have an updated basketball release each afternoon following the day of a game. The ACC Player and Rookie of the Week will be posted on Monday afternoons.

COACHES'TELECONFERENCE

The ACC women's basketball coaches teleconference will take place on Tuesday, March 1, 2011, the week of the ACC Championship. The teleconference will start at 10 a.m., and each coach will have approximately 10 minutes to make an opening statement and answer questions. There will be an instant replay of the teleconference on the conference Web site, www.theACC.com. The media telephone number is (913) 312-6672.

POSTSEASON REGULARS

Postseason appearances and large crowds are mainstays of the Virginia Tech women's basketball program. The Hokies have played in postseason tournaments 12 times in the past 17 years, including 10 of the last 13 seasons. Tech's greatest success came in 1999, when the Hokies went 28-3, including 15-0 at home. Tech hosted and won first and second round games against St. Peter's and Auburn to advance to the Sweet 16, played in Greensboro, N.C., where it lost to defending national champion Tennessee (above, left). The Hokies won their first-round 2003 NCAA Tournament game over Georgia Tech at Purdue University (above, right) on this Carrie Mason runner in the final seconds. In 2004, Virginia Tech and Cassell Coliseum again served as the host for first and second round NCAA Tournament games (below).

WORLD TRAVELERS

THE VIRGINIA TECH WOMEN'S BASKETBALL PROGRAM SPANS THE GLOBE

In 2004, Virginia Tech traveled across the country to fabulous Las Vegas, where the Hokies enjoyed their stay at the New York, New York Resort while winning the Duel in the Desert Tournament.

U.S. VIRGIN ISLANDS • 2003

The Virginia Tech women's basketball team played in the Paradise Jam in the U.S. Virgin Islands (left) over the Thanksgiving holiday in 2003. On the six-day trip, the Hokies won the event, beating lowa State and Mississippi State, as well as taking advantage of the beautiful Caribbean scenery and climate. The team members took a boat tour, snorkeled, rode jet-skis and spent plenty of time on the beach.

BAHAMAS • 2007
The Hokies traveled to the Bahamas in 2007 to participate in the Junkanoo Jam.

CANCUN, MEXICO - 2005, 2010

The Hokies will return to beautiful Cancun this season after spening five days there in 2005 where they won both games in the Caribbean Classic against Western Michigan and Texas Tech. The team will once again stay at the world-class Adventura Spa resort.

NEW YORK • 2009

In December of 2009, the Hokies visited New York City and took in a Broadway Show.

GREECE/ITALY • 2008

The Virginia Tech basketball team traveled to Greece and Italy where they visited some of the world's most famous landmarks during the 12-day tour.

"Cassell Coliseum and the Virginia Tech fans combine to make an electric atmosphere. From the moment our team rushes through the fog to take the court until the final buzzer sounds, there's no energy quite like what you'll find in The Cassell. Our fans make the difference at Virginia Tech ... it's what NCAA basketball is all about!"

Cassell Coliseum, celebrating its 50th Anniversary, has always proven to be a tough arena for women's basketball opponents, especially over the past 13 seasons in which the Hokies are 152-50 (.752) at home.

The 1998-99 home season gave Hokie fans plenty of drama and excitement, as Tech roared to a 15-0 mark in the friendly confines of Cassell. Going back two games into the 1997-98 season and extending through the 1999-00 opener, Tech won 18 -straight at home.

Over the past nine seasons, the Hokies have posted a 103-38 record in Cassell, with 27 of the losses coming against teams which advanced to the postseason. Tech has been especially tough at home versus non-conference foes defeating 68 of the last 73 and 74 of the last 80 . Two of the non-conference losses ironically both occurred on March 23, a 7772 overtime defeat in 2002 against Houston in the WNIT semifinals and a 61-48 loss to Penn State in the 2004 NCAA Tournament Second Round.

Equally as impressive as the Hokies' play at home has been the tremendous number of people who have come to watch them play. Averaging 5,221 fans per game in 1998-99 and having a sellout at the 10,052-seat arena, Tech shattered its women's basketball attendance marks. In the last 12 years, Tech has played before 587,642 fans at home, an average of 3,093 per game. Last season, the Hokies averaged 2,381 for 17 home contests, which ranked 62 nd in the nation.

Cassell Coliseum was the site of a sub-regional in the 1999 NCAA Tournament. In that marquee event, the Hokies played in front of packed houses and picked up wins over St. Peter's and Auburn to advance to the NCAA Sweet 16. Tech also played host to the 2004 NCAA women's basketball first and second rounds, with the Hokies defeating Iowa 89-76 in the first round before falling 61-48 to Penn State in the second round in front of 7,128 fans, the eighth-largest crowd for a women's game in Blacksburg.
In the past 18 years, Virginia Tech has posted a 203-67 (.752) mark in home games. Overall, the Hokies have compiled a 322-135 record in Cassell Coliseum for a winning percentage of 70.4 in the 34 years they have played in the campus arena.

On Sept. 17, 1977, Virginia Tech officials and friends dedicated the Coliseum in honor of the late Stuart K. Cassell. Cassell became a member of the university administration in 1945 after 17 years as a student and teacher at Tech. He successfully convinced the Board of Visitors of the need for a modern basketball facility.

Construction for the main portion of the Coliseum began in 1961. It was completed in December 1964, at a cost of $$ 2.7$ million. Built by T.C. Brittain and Company of Decatur, Ga., it houses the basketball arena, locker rooms, two auxiliary gymnasiums, offices and other athletic facilities.

The Jamerson Athletic Center, connected to the rear of Cassell Coliseum, was completed in 1982 and dedicated in the fall of 1983. It is named in honor of J.E. Jamerson and his son, William E. Jamerson, owners of the firm that constructed the building.

The complex contains administrative and coaching offices, athletic department accounting and business offices, team and coaches' meeting rooms, a weight room and the Gordon D. Bowman Memorial Club Room on the top floor for Hokie Club members.

Prior to the 1988-89 season, a spring-loaded playing floor was installed in the Coliseum. During 1996-97, the facility was upgraded with a new roof and paint application.

During the 2000-01 season, new video boards were added at both ends of the Coliseum, which are used for live action and video replays during all games.

A seating renovation project was undertaken following the 2001-02 season. All of the seats were dismantled and shipped to a plant in Michigan, where the old paint was stripped off and refinished with a clear wood finish.

Through new projects, renovations and maintenance reserve projects, Cassell Coliseum has undergone approximately $$ 2.5$ million in improvements over the past six years.

Prior to the 2003-04 season, the ambulatory was renovated and now features more accessible concession areas, new flooring, video monitors which allow fans to watch the action when not in the arena and the addition of Hokie Stone to many of the entrances to the seating area.

The court was stripped and received a new coat and paint design in 2009 along with a complete rewiring of electrical and video cables under the floor.

OUTLOOK

2010-11 SEASON OUTLOOK

UNDERCLASSMEN KEY TO HOKIES SUCCESS

The success of the 2010-11 Virginia Tech women's basketball team will rely on the development of ten underclassmen in support of three returning starters. The Hokies will look to return to the postseason which would be their 11th appearance in the last 14 years. The 2010-11 team returns nine players from last year's $15-15$ squad, along with five newcomers from a recruiting class ranked 28th nationally by hoopgurlz.com.

Last season's team was led by All-ACC Honorable Mention Utahya Drye who was the top scorer and rebounder on the team. The Hokies have advanced to postseason play in 12 of the last 17 years, advancing to the NCAA Second Round on five occasions and to the "Sweet 16" once. Last season's schedule featured eight NCAA tournament teams and six WNIT teams. This year's schedule promises to be just as challenging as Tech faces a possible 17 opponents that advanced to postseason play last year.
"This is one of the most athletic and talented groups of players to suit up for the Hokies," said head coach Beth Dunkenberger. "This team has a good mix of veterans and youth, including three seniors along with 10 freshmen and sophomores."

The Hokies are now in their second year in the spacious Hahn Hurst Basketball Practice Facilty. The $$ 21$ million, 49,000 square-foot facility includes practice courts, locker and video rooms, strength and conditioning facilities and a training room. The building is already proving to be a great recruiting tool.
"The new facility has made a definite impact on recruiting," said Dunkenberger. "We promote it on our mailouts to future Hokie hopefuls and once they actually see the building in person on visits to Blacksburg, it definitely provides that 'wow' factor."

This year's edition of the Hokies will feature three seniors, one junior, five sophomores and five freshmen. With just three of the starting-five returning, Tech will be looking to underclassmen to develop quickly as the Hokies face the tough ACC schedule.

Alyssa Fenyn (6-0, So., G, Newark, N.Y.) is the returning leading scorer following a solid freshman season. Fenyn was among the top 10 freshmen in the ACC in both scoring and rebounding while starting 22 games.

Brittany Gordon (6-4, Sr., C, Howard County, Md.) continued to improve in the paint, averaging 6.4 points and 5.1 rebounds with 20 blocks. Gordon had her best game of the year in Tech's 79-64 upset of North Carolina with career-high 17 points and seven rebounds.

Nikki Davis (5-7, tr.-Sr., G, Lexington, Ky.) will be directing the offense again this season from the point guard position. Davis, a transfer from Alabama two years ago, led the team with 116 assists while averaging 6.4 points. Davis erupted for 29 points, the seventh-most in a single game by a Tech player, at Miami including a Hokie record of 14 free throws made in an ACC contest.

Shanel Harrison (6-0, Jr., G, Washington, D.C.) continued to show improvement during her sophomore season and was fourth in scoring (7.3), second in rebounding (5.2) and led the team with 31 blocks. Harrison recorded a double-double against Boston College and averaged 12.4 points, 5.7 rebounds and 1.0 blocks in the final seven games of the season.

Five outstanding freshman, Kyani White (#11), Latorri Hines-Allen (#43), Brittni Montgomery (#21), Nia Evans (#20) and Monet Tellier (#31) will join nine returnees as the Hokies enter their seventh ACC season.

Porschia Hadley (6-3, So., F/C, Montezuma, Ga.) had a solid transition to the college game seeing action in 28 contests while averaging 4.4 points and 3.0 rebounds. Hadley was credited with a career-high four blocks against No. 10 North Carolina.

Abby Redick (6-1, So., F, Roanoke, Va.), Aerial Wilson (5-8, So., G, Cocoa, Fla.) and Taylor Ayers ( $6-2$, So., C, Augusta, Ga.) all saw playing time last year and will be counted on to provide depth. Redick returns following a solid freshman season which saw her appear in all 30 games and set career highs with seven rebounds and four assists versus North Carolina Central. Wilson was the back-up at the point for Davis and saw action in 25 games. Ayers appeared in 19 games and gained valuable experience while battling in the paint against ACC competition. Elizabeth Basham (6-2, Sr., F, Abingdon, Va.) missed the season due to a shoulder surgery and her return is questionable for this year.

Five newcomers from the highly-touted recruiting class will provide depth for Tech this season. Nia Evans ( $6-0$, Fr., F, Lexington, Ky.), Latorri Hines-Allen ( $6-1$, Fr., F, Montclair, N.J.), Brittni Montgomery (6-3, Fr., F, Ft. Pierce, Fla.), Monet Tellier (5-11, Fr., G, Charlotte, N.C.) and Kyani White (5-6, Fr., G, Manassas, Va.) should all see action this season.

Evans was a McDonald's All-America nominee and rated as the No. 97 prospect in the nation after averaging 13.8 points and 9.8 rebounds a game. Hines-Allen was ranked as the No. 88 prospect in the nation and led her team to the North Jersey Section 1 State Championship. Montgomery was rated No. 31 nationally among power forwards as a junior and averaged 15 points and 14 rebounds as a senior. Tellier was rated as the No. 54 overall prospect nationally and No. 14 at the shooting guard position. White averaged 18.4 points while handing out 8.8 assists per game.

Dunkenberger's coaching staff returns intact from last season. Shellie Greenman, the Hokies' recruiting coordinator, assistant coaches Stacy Cantley and Angela Crosby along with Director of Basketball Operations Jill Jameson all return to the Hokies for another campaign.

Greenman was on the Tech staff previously as an assistant coach (1988-93) under Carol Alfano along with Dunkenberger, who was also an assistant coach. Cantley was a top-10 rebounder and fouryear letter winner at UNC Wilmington. Crosby joined the staff two years ago after collegiate coaching stops at Appalachian State, Chattanooga and Memphis. Jameson, a Tech assistant from 1993-97, was the recruiting coordinator at Marquette prior to assuming her current position in Blacksburg.

Abby Boggs will serve as the graduate assistant after concluding her undergraduate work at Virginia Tech.

GUARDS

Nikki Davis returns to run the Tech offense for the second-consecutive season. Davis handed out a career-high 11 assists in the upset of No. 10 North Carolina. She missed two games after suffering a knee strain in practice midway through the ACC schedule. Davis underwent surgery on the knee in the offseason and is expected to be ready for preseason practice.
"Nikki is a veteran point guard who has been a starter since she arrived in Blacksburg," said Dunkenberger. "She emerged as a big scoring threat as the season progressed last year."

Alyssa Fenyn, member of the ACC Women's Basketball All-Academic team, made an immediate impact as a freshman. Fenyn was third on the team in scoring and fourth in rebounds. She scored in double figures 10 times and grabbed five or more rebounds in 14 contests.
"Alyssa gained invaluable experience as a freshman and worked extremely hard in the offseason to round out her game," said Dunkenberger. "She has now added a consistent outside shot in her arsenal."

Shanel Harrison returns for her third season after making great strides last year. Harrison exploded for a career-high 20 points against Clemson and pulled down 11 rebounds in two contests.
"Shanel led us in scoring during the month of February last season as she earned her way into the starting lineup," said Dunkenberger. "Her confidence continues to grow as she improves throughout each season and she figures to be an impact player this year."

Aerial Wilson provided depth at the guard position and will be counted on to be even more productive this season. Wilson stepped in when Davis was injured and tossed in eight points at No. 25 Georgia Tech.
"Aerial is extremely quick off the dribble with a nice outside touch," said Dunkenberger. "She is a playmaker who knows how to put the ball in the basket. Aerial's confidence has come with experience and she's ready to compete."

Freshman Monet Tellier was the North Carolina Basketball Coaches Association 2010 State Player of the Year and was the highest rated member of the Hokies' recruiting class. Tellier was a member of the National Adidas Candace Parker team that traveled to Japan in the Summer of 2008.

"Monet is an explosive and extremely talented athlete who flat out plays hard all the time," said Dunkenberger. "Her energy on the court will help ignite our fans and the team this season."

Kyani White is another freshman who will be counted on to provide outside scoring this season. White connected on 239 three-point shots in her high school career en route to scoring 1,556 career points.
"Kyani is one of the best ball-handling point guards to ever wear a Hokie uniform," said Dunkenberger. "She is an extremely hard worker who has a knack for finding the open player as well as being very tenacious on the defensive end."

FORWARDS

The Hokies will have to find a replacement for leading scorer and rebounder Utahya Drye who was an ACC Honorable Mention selection last season.

Elizabeth Basham missed the entire 200910 season following shoulder surgery and she continues to rehab in preparation for the upcoming season.
"Elizabeth is returning to full strength after rehabing her shoulder injury," said Dunkenberger. "She is extremely deadly from three-point range and she can stretch the other team's defense."

Abby Redick played in all 30 games after missing most of her senior season in high school following knee surgery. Redick is a versatile player who can play inside and outside with the ability to score from behind the arc.
"Abby banked major time in the gym this summer working on her perimeter skills," said Dunkenberger. "She will be one of the more versatile players on the team and can consistently shoot the perimeter jumper."

Latorri Hines-Allen averaged 14 points and 12 rebounds during her junior season, guiding her high school team to the North Jersey Section 1 State Championship. Hines-Allen suffered a knee injury playing for her AAU team in the summer of 2009 and missed her senior season. She is expected to be fully recovered for preseason practice.

"Latorri is one of the team's most athletic players who can rebound, run and defend," said Dunkenberger. "She can score on the blocks as well as facing the basket."

Freshman Nia Evans will be looked upon to provide support on both ends of the floor off the Tech bench. Evans led her team to a combined 58-1 record in her last two years and to the 2009 Georgia 5A championship.
"Nia brings a championship mentality to the program and will vie for playing time immediately," said Dunkenberger. "She makes up for her size with skill, quickness and a knack for finding the basket on the offensive end."

POSTS

Brittany Gordon has seen improvement in each of her three seasons with the Hokies. Gordon started all 30 games last year and finished second on the team in blocks (20) and third in rebounds (5.1). She had two double-doubles last season and pulled down a career-high 14 rebounds against Boston College.
"Brittany is a veteran post player who knows how to get the job done in the paint," said Dunkenberger. "She can run, rebound and defend as well as score in the paint."

Sophomore Taylor Ayers played in 19 games as a freshman and her continued development on the inside will be counted on to provide more depth at the position.
"Taylor is one of the team's best low block players," said Dunkenberger. "She worked all summer in Blacksburg to improve her conditioning and it's paid off."

2010-11 VIRGINIA TECH WOMEN'S BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

Porschia Hadley stepped in as a freshman last year and saw action in 28 games, while gaining valuable experience against some of the best inside players in the nation. Hadley played big in two games last year, scoring a career-high 15 points at No. 10 Florida State and being credited with a career-high four blocks in the upset of No. 10 North Carolina.
"Porschia emerged as a serious threat in the paint last season," said Dunkenberger. "She has gained strength in the weight room and can attack the basket and finish."

Brittni Montgomery is another freshman who should see playing time in the paint. Montgomery was a three-time Palm Beach (Fla.) All-Area selection who concluded her high school career with over 1,000 points and 1,000 rebounds.
"Brittni is one of the team's longest defenders with the ability to block and alter shots," said Dunkenberger. "She also possesses a very nice shooting touch."

THE SCHEDULE

Tech's schedule was again one of the most difficult in the nation last season. The Hokies faced NCAA Elite Eight participant Duke and played a total of eight NCAA tournament teams (Duke, Florida State, Georgia Tech, James Madison, North Carolina, NC State, St. John's, Virginia) along with six WNIT participants (Charlotte, Maryland, Miami, Michigan, Virginia Commonwealth, Wake Forest). Tech's opponents had a .547 winning percentage and 14 of the Hokies' 26 opponents advanced to postseason play. Last season, 11 opponents won 20 or more games, with 16 posting winning records.

The 2010-11 schedule will be another challenging one, as the Hokies face 2010 Elite Eight participant Duke along with seven other teams (Florida State, Georgia Tech, Iowa, North Carolina, NC State, Vanderbilt, Virginia) that made the 2010 NCAA Tournament field and eight teams (Charlotte, Delaware, Florida Gulf Coast, Maryland, Miami, Robert Morris, Virginia Commonwealth and Wake Forest) that participated in the WNIT. In addition, the schedule includes three teams (No. 6 Duke, No. 9 Florida State and No. 24 Vanderbilt) that ended the year in the ESPN/USA Today Top 25.

The non-conference schedule presents the Hokies with many challenges, including home contests against Presbyterian, Wofford, Elon, Virginia Commonwealth, Winthrop, Robert Morris, Radford and Longwood. Tech will also host its annual holiday tournament, the Hilton Garden Classic, featuring Alcorn State, Delaware (WNIT participant) and Vanderbilt (NCAA participant).

The non-conference away schedule has Tech traveling to Cancun, Mexico, for the Caribbean Challenge, where the Hokies will face Florida Gulf Coast in the opening round and Iowa on the second day. Additionally, the Hokies will travel to Minneapolis, Minn., to play Minnesota in the ACC/Big Ten Challenge. The remaining away nonconference contests are against William & Mary and Charlotte.
"The non-conference slate features a mix of all styles of play and includes teams from the Big Ten, SEC, A-10 and Colonial conferences to name a few," said Dunkenberger. "We will face in-state rivals as well as we prepare for ACC competition."

The ACC schedule will once again present a tremendous challenge as the Hokies battle in one of the toughest leagues in the nation. The ACC sent six teams to the NCAA Tournament for the fourth-consecutive season, including one Elite Eight team. With Maryland, Miami and Wake Forest being selected to the WNIT, the ACC had two-thirds of its team in the postseason.

The women play a 14 -game regular-season conference schedule, with each team playing member teams at least once a year. Primary partners will be utilized, meaning certain teams are guaranteed to play twice - home and away every year. The primary partners can be changed after a minimum of two seasons of play. Tech's primary partners this year are Duke, Virginia and Wake Forest. The Hokies will play Boston College, Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia and Wake Forest on the road. The conference home slate includes contests with Duke, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Miami, NC State, Virginia and Wake Forest.
"The ACC continues to rank as one of the most challenging and powerful leagues in the nation," said Dunkenberger. "Speed, athleticism and skill define the ACC and the Hokies are excited to see how we stack up against the best."
"We will face a challenging schedule this year including 18 games against teams that competed in postseason play last year. For us to reach the Big Dance, we need to play and beat teams that participated in it last year. We'll have several opportunities to do that this year."

The 2010-11 Virginia Tech Women's Basketball Team:

THIS IS VIRGINIA TECH

ONE OF THE NATION'S OUTSTANDING UNIVERSITIES, VIRGINIA TECH IS PUTTING KNOWLEDGE TO WORK WHILE ADAPTING TO THE CHALLENGES OF THE FUTURE.

WE ARE VIRGINIA TECH

A PROUD UNIVERSITY INVENTING THE FUTURE

From its humble beginning in 1872 with 132 students and two programs of study, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, popularly known as Virginia Tech, has evolved into a comprehensive university of national and international prominence. With nearly 28,450 students in Blacksburg and about 2,500 other students statewide, the university produces world-class scholarship in a challenging academic environment. University tradition is firmly rooted in its motto, Ut Prosim (That I May Serve), and its historic land-grant mission is brought to life through learning, discovery and engagement.

More degree programs - approximately 210 graduate and undergraduate - are available through the university's nine colleges (Agriculture & Life Sciences, Architecture & Urban Studies, Engineering, Liberal Arts & Human Sciences, Natural Resources, Pamplin Business, Science, The Virginia Tech Carilion School of Medicine, and Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine) and Graduate School than at any other university in the commonwealth. Some 93 percent of all departments offer e-learning courses, which have attracted more than 130,000 enrollments since 1999.

With annual research expenditures exceeding $396 million, Virginia Tech ranks in the top 50 research universities in the United States.

For more information about Virginia Tech, visit the university's Web site - www.vt.edu.

INTERESTING FACTS & FIGURES

- The university's annual budget is about $$ 1.05$ billion.
- Virginia Tech has approximately 212,000 living alumni from every state and about 100 countries.
- All campus facilities, including residence halls, have high-speed connections to voice, data, and video communications.
- Virginia Tech is one of three public universities in the country that offers the combined advantages of a military-style leadership development program - here it is through the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets - and a traditional academic and social life.
- U.S. News & World Report ranks Virginia Tech's overall undergraduate programs 30th among national public universities. Of all universities public or private - it ranks Tech 71st.
- Kiplinger Personal Finance magazine ranks Virginia Tech' 16th among public colleges and universities that offer a first-class educational experience at a bargain price.
- The National Science Foundation ranks Virginia Tech sixth in the nation for its agricultural and natural resources research expenditures.
- The Princeton Review ranks Virginia Tech eighth among public universities in its "best-value colleges" for 2010.
- The university's undergraduate engineering program is 14 th among the nation's engineering schools and seventh among public universities, according to U.S. News & World Report. Nine of the college's undergraduate programs rank in the top 25.
- U.S. News & World Report ranks the College of Engineering's graduate program 25th nationally, with four individual undergraduate programs in the top 10.
- The Pamplin College of Business undergraduate program was ranked 42nd in the nation and 24th among public schools by U.S. News & World Report. - Virginia Tech consistently ranks among the top 15 schools in the nation in number of patents received.
- DesignIntelligence ranks Virginia Tech's undergraduate architecture program as one of America's World-Class Schools of Architecture with highest distinction. In addition, it ranks the graduate architecture program sixth in the nation and the graduate interior design program sixth. The graduate landscape architecture program has been ranked No. 2.
- The university's forestry program is top-ranked in North America, according to a study conducted by Auburn University.

AT A GLANCE

- Located in Blacksburg, Virginia
- Nine colleges and Graduate School
- Approximately 65 bachelor's degree programs
- Approximately 145 master's and doctoral degree programs
- Nearly 30,900 students, most full-time
- 16:1 student-faculty ratio
- Main campus includes more than 125
buildings, 2,600 acres, and an airport
- Computing and communications complex for worldwide information access
- Ranks 46th in university research expenditures in the United States
- Adjacent Corporate Research Center
- Medical school located in Roanoke, Virginia

Now in his eleventh year as President of Virginia Tech, Dr. Charles Steger is pursuing the course he laid out to establish Virginia Tech among the nation's premier research institutions. Steger has provided visionary leadership in the creation and implementation of a bold vision and strategic plan, with a demand for quality across all aspects of the academic enterprise. Among the highlights of his presidency to date are the university's adoption of the Principles of Community (2005) and the Virginia Tech Climate Action Commitment (2009). In the minds of many, Steger will best be remembered for making the impossible a reality. He will be forever credited with negotiating Virginia Tech's entrance into the Atlantic Coast Conference in 2004 - a 50year dream-come-true for Hokie fans.

One of the most exciting new initiatives to become reality is the Virginia Tech Carilion School of Medicine and Research Institute, which is housed in a new 152,000-square-foot building in Roanoke. This is a partnership of Virginia Tech and Carilion Clinic. The medical school admitted its inaugural class in August 2010.

Another initiative on the horizon is the new Center for the Arts that will open in the fall of 2013. This 130,000-square-foot facility will feature a 1,300-seat performance hall, visual art galleries, and innovative creative technology lab spaces. At the intersection of North Main Street and Alumni Mall, its location symbolizes the university's commitment to the arts and its importance to the university and the broader community.

Since Steger became president, the university's annual research expenditures have increased 300 percent, now topping $$ 390$ million. According to the National Science Foundation (NSF), Virginia Tech ranks 46th out of 679 universities in the nation in sponsored research, the only Virginia university in the top 50. Shortly after Steger took office, the university launched the Virginia Bioinformatics Institute, which has already secured well over $$ 100$ million in external research funding. Virginia Tech has also partnered with a number of other universities to further leverage its research strengths and resources, including Johns Hopkins University, Wake Forest University, the University of Virginia, the University of Maryland, and Georgetown University. Early in 2011, construction will be completed on Virginia Tech's new 144,000-square-foot research facility in Arlington, Virginia, to enhance the university's presence in the National Capital Region and ability to compete for major research grants and contracts.

CHARLES STEGER UNIVERSTY PRESIDENT

Concurrent with the expanding research agenda, the university has expanded its outreach efforts like never before. For example, Virginia Tech has partnered in numerous initiatives in Southside Virginia, including the renowned Institute for Advanced Learning and Research (IALR), which are advancing both educational and economic development opportunities.

A hallmark of Steger's administration is his commitment to the students. With his leadership, the university has reaffirmed its core mission of undergraduate education. The university is dedicated to fostering a research-intensive environment that offers students an opportunity to learn the scientific process while enhancing their criticalthinking skills. Recognizing that graduates will be entering a global economy, Virginia Tech initiated a comprehensive International Strategic Plan and has doubled the number of students participating in international education opportunities.

Earlier this year, Steger was selected as a recipient of the 2010 Michael P. Malone International Leadership Award, sponsored by the Association of Public and Land-grant Universities. During his presidency, five international centers have been established around the globe, and another is being developed in India. While dean of CAUS, Steger was the driving force behind the establishment of Virginia Tech's Center for European Studies and Architecture in Switzerland, which has hosted hundreds of study abroad students from departments across the university.

Another of the most memorable contributions of Steger's administration was his role in the Higher Education Restructuring Act, which took effect in July 2006. Steger was one of the leaders among university presidents to help define a ground-breaking new relationship between the commonwealth of Virginia and its colleges and universities, which enables greater institutional flexibility and potential for growth. This legislation allows Virginia Tech to perform long-range planning, ensure a stable and predictable revenue stream, and ultimately ensure a quality education for its students.

The university is in the midst of an aggressive $1 billion fundraising campaign to "invent the future." With more than $$ 920$ million raised, the university is well on its way to acquiring the funds to provide the university with a margin of excellence for its academic agenda. Today, private support from Virginia Tech's alumni and friends continues to play an essential role in this university community.

Virginia Tech remains one of the most competitive institutions in the state. The university received more than 20,000 applications for the class entering in the fall of 2010. Students offered admission posted an average math and critical reading SAT score of 1250 and an average high school GPA of 3.96. Nearly 6,000 of those offered admission had a GPA of 4.0 or higher. The number of students from underrepresented groups who accepted admission is up slightly over last year.

Steger received his Bachelor of Architecture degree, Master of Architecture degree, and Ph.D. in Environmental Science and Engineering from Virginia Tech. His passion for teaching led him to leave a career in the private sector as a professional architect and planner to return to Virginia Tech to teach in the College of Architecture and Urban Studies (CAUS). When he became Dean in 1981 at the age of 33, he was the youngest architecture dean in the nation. After 12 years in that role, he was appointed Vice President for Development and University Relations (1993-2000) before being named President in 2000.

Dr. Steger is President of the Council of Presidents of the Southeastern Universities Research Association (SURA). He is a member of the National Council on Competitiveness, the Association of Governing Boards, the Economic Club of Washington, D.C., the Senior Advisory Group of the Northern Virginia Technology Council Board of Directors, and the Board of the Innovative Technology Authority that oversees Virginia's Center for Innovative Technology. He is past-Chairman of the Virginia Council of Presidents and chair of the Virginia Space Grant Consortium. He serves on the Council of Higher Education's General and Professional Advisory Committee and the Virginia Business Higher Education Council. He has been appointed by five Governors of Virginia to serve on various entities including the Steering Committee of the Governor's Higher Education Summit, Virginia Institute for Defense and Homeland Security, and the Secure Virginia Initiative. In May 2010, he was named to the Governor's Commission on Higher Education Reform, Innovation, and Investment. His most recent publications include book chapters on the topics of the business of education and the university presidency.

Steger is a Fellow in the American Institute of Architects (AIA) and holds the William C. Noland Award and the Distinguished Achievement Award from the Virginia Society AIA. The New Century Technology Council awarded him its 2004 Compass Award for visionary thinking and leadership in the field of information technology.

Credited with calm leadership during a very difficult period, President Steger led the university through an extended recovery period in the aftermath of the April 2007 tragedy.

In 2009, President Steger received the Chief Executive Leadership Award from the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) District III for outstanding leadership and service in support of education.

University President Dr. Charles Steger congratulates Tech head coach Beth Dunkenberger following the Hokies' opening-round victory over Wake Forest in the 2006 ACC Tournament.

Torgersen Hall, home to Virginia Tech's Advanced Communications and Information Technology Center, provides a high-tech environment in which researchers, teachers and students can interact in innovative and effective ways. The building includes high-tech auditoriums, observational booths for watching and taping experimental teaching techniques, the CAVE - Tech's sophisticated virtual reality environment for advanced research and learning, and an electronic reading room occupying the arch that spans Alumni Mall.

The focus of student campus activity and the hub of much of the performing and visual arts at the university, Squires Student Center contains theatres, the Perspective Art Gallery, the Black Cultural Center, pool tables, bowling lanes, restaurants, ballrooms and administrative offices for many student organizations. The original student center, built in 1937, has undergone several major renovations, but the facade of the original building is visible in the second-floor lobby area.

Col. William B. Preston established the Smithfield estate - named for his wife, Susanna Smith - in 1772 after an earlier settlement known as Draper's Meadow was wiped out in an Indian massacre. The oldest part of the existing house was built in 1790. A state historic landmark, Smithfield is open for tours April through November. Call (540) 951-2060 for details.

James C. Weaver, whose innovative ideas and work as a reformer have made him one of college athletics' most popular administrators, is the director of athletics at Virginia Tech.

Weaver, 65, was appointed on Sept. 24, 1997, and has been a tireless leader on behalf of Tech athletics. His efforts were recognized in 2009 when he accepted the prestigious John L. Toner Award, which is presented annually by the National Football Foundation & College Hall of Fame. The award is given to a director of athletics who has demonstrated superior administrative abilities and shown outstanding dedication to college athletics and particularly college football.

In his 13 years on the job at Tech, Weaver has taken steps to place increased emphasis on projects benefiting student-athletes. Under his leadership, the athletics department entered into a comprehensive agreement with NIKE beginning in 2007-08 which provides uniforms, clothing and equipment for all Virginia Tech varsity teams over an eight-year period. He created a comprehensive awards program for letterwinners and has initiated and funded an annual awards banquet. The Monogram Club was revitalized in 1998 and provides several benefits to former Hokie athletes, trainers and managers.

A top personal priority for Weaver is the continuing improvement of Tech's facilities. Progress is evident in a number of new facilities now in use or currently under construction.

A new football locker room and lounge has been constructed adjacent to Jamerson Athletic Center. The three-story building was completed in August and features a spacious locker room for players and coaches, as well as a lounge on the second floor and a wrestling facility on the third floor. The vacated space in Jamerson is being renovated to provide expanded weight training, sports medicine and locker room facilities for Olympic sport teams.

The remodeling of Lane Stadium's west side was completed in time for Tech's 2006 home opener. It involved the construction of additional new luxury suites, a new President's area, four private club seating areas, a ticket office, athletic fund offices, a memorabilia area and a new student academic services area.

Tech's basketball staffs and teams moved into their new practice facility last August. The $20 million building boasts two practice gyms, a 3,000 square-foot basketball weight room, coaches' offices, film rooms and locker rooms.

JIMI WEAVER

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Weaver presided over Tech's move into the Atlantic Coast Conference in 2004-05, when Virginia Tech and Miami were officially introduced as the 10th and 11th members of the ACC, effective July 1, 2004.

Weaver renegotiated Tech's multimedia rights contract with ISP Sports, creating an agreement which went into effect in 2008-09 and extends for 10 years to provide enhanced revenue for the athletics department. In the Fall of 2000, Weaver arranged a joint venture with ISP to commit $$ 2$ million to purchase new scoreboards, upgrade sound systems, install an LED video display screen at Lane Stadium (which was enlarged for the 2005 season) and place two wall-mount LED video screens in Cassell Coliseum.

Weaver came to Tech from Western Michigan University where he was director of athletics from January 1996 until he came to Blacksburg. Prior to that, he was AD for three and a half years at UNLV, where he reconstructed a troubled athletic department.

Weaver brings a "Penn State mentality" to the position. He says that various schools' interest in him as a reformer through the years can be traced to Penn State and its reputation for how it conducts business in intercollegiate athletics.

It was with the Nittany Lions' football team that Weaver first made a name for himself in athletics. He was a center and linebacker on Penn State teams coached by the legendary Rip Engle and Joe Paterno.

A native of Harrisburg, Pa., Weaver was recruited to Penn State by Engle. He played three seasons under Engle and one under Paterno, who is still the coach of the Nittany Lions.
"I learned a lot from Joe Paterno," Weaver says. "One thing he said certainly has stuck with me. 'You either get better or you get worse. You never stay the same.' "

Weaver graduated from Penn State in 1967 with a bachelor's in psychology and rehabilitation education. He received a master's in college counselor education, also from Penn State, in 1968.

Weaver started a coaching career as an assistant at Penn State for six seasons. During that time, the Nittany Lions played in five bowl games - the Cotton, Gator, Sugar and Orange (twice).

He later was the offensive coordinator at Iowa State and head coach for one season at Villanova in 1974. He also spent five years as an assistant professor at Clarion State and three years as director of franchise sales at Athletic Attic.

Prior to landing the athletic director's job at UNLV, Weaver spent nine years at the University of Florida. He was a strong force at Florida in the field of compliance and concluded his time there as associate athletics director.

Weaver drew rave reviews at UNLV for his fundraising expertise. He generated nearly $$ 15$ million in his time there and built a new athletic complex.

While at Western Michigan, Weaver announced creation of a $$ 7$ million football center, stabilized fluctuating revenues and installed a CHAMPS Life Skills program.

Weaver and his wife Traci have four sons - Josh, Paul, Cole and Craig.

BUILDING BOOMI

VIRGINIA TECH CONTINUES TO MOVE AHEAD WITH FACILITIES

When it comes to athletic facilities, Virginia Tech Director of Athletics Jim Weaver has a simple philosophy - "as soon as you sit still in terms of facilities, you have taken a step backward."

It has become clear that Virginia Tech has no intention of sitting still on the facilities front. There is a continuous stream of improvements underway or in the planning process in the athletics complex. A number of large projects have recently been completed, while several other projects are in the process of being completed or will begin in the near future.

The Virginia Tech athletics department is living up to Jim Weaver's challenge to constantly enhance its facilities. Here are a few examples:

- The new football locker room and lounge building was completed in August 2010. The three-story building features a spacious locker room for players and coaches, as well as a lounge on the second floor and a wrestling facility on the third floor. With this new locker room comes spacious lockers for the players. They are among the largest in the country with a width of 42 inches. The wrestling facility on the third floor features 11,384 square feet with 6,000 of that being mat space. There are also detailed Virginia Tech graphics that are being installed to give the facility a first-class look. There is also a new equipment room to serve the 100 -plus members of the program.
- With the completion of the new locker room building, a domino effect has started to take place as every team will benefit from the project. A new Olympic Sports weight room will go where the wrestling room is currently located. The old Olympic Sports weight room will be converted to more space for athletic training, and the old football locker room will be converted to three men's sports locker rooms - track, soccer, and baseball. That, in turn, will allow all teams to benefit from locker room upgrades and rearrangement. All of this movement will take place over the next 18 months as teams get settled into their new spaces.
- The $$ 21$ million Hahn Hurst basketball practice facility was completed fall 2009 next to Cassell Coliseum. It boasts two practice gyms, a 3,000 squarefoot basketball weight room, a training room, lounges, coaches' offices, film rooms and locker rooms.

- Another benefit of this project is new, spacious offices for the football coaching staff. With the basketball coaches moving to their new facility, the football staff now enjoys larger offices and a renovated conference room.
- The football practice field surface was replaced in April and the game field on Worsham Field was also re-sodded down the middle to replace worn-out sections.
- The Christiansburg Aquatic Center, the new home of the Hokie swimming and diving squads. opened in July, 2010. A joint effort between Tech and the town allowed a 50 -meter pool, locker rooms and diving platforms to be built to promote and support competitive swimming at all levels within the region.
- New features at Lane Stadium were added for the start of the 2010 football season. Restrooms have been renovated and new handrails were added to the middle aisles. The out of town scoreboard was also replaced.
- A new full-length LED ribbon board was installed along the South End Zone façade prior to the 2008 season, enhancing the fans' experience at Lane Stadium. The board serves as a scoreboard and play clock, in addition to showing commercials during the games.
- Some other changes that have taken place recently around the athletic facilities are: a resurfaced track at the Johnson/Miller Track Complex and a new roof on the Burrows-Burleson Tennis Center. The golf clubhouse was completed at the River Course, and the Virginia Tech golf team will host an NCAA Regional tournament next summer.
- Plans for a new field house are approved and in the works for the future. The new field house will be wider and longer than Rector Field House and will be used primarily for football, but other sports as well. With this new field house in place, Rector Field House will become a permanent indoor facility for the track and field teams.

ATHLETIC COMPLEX

Located just behind Rector Field House and adjacent to the Johnson-Miller Outdoor Track is English Field (right), home of the Hokies' baseball team, which hosted the New York Yankees in an exhibition on March 18, 2008.

One of the benefits of the Virginia Tech athletics complex is its centrality - all the facilities are near one another while still being on campus. Situated just across the street from Lane Stadium/Worsham Field, Tech Softball Park (left) is the home of the Hokie softball team; which was ACC champions in 2007 and 2008 and advanced to the Women's College World Series in 2008.

The Burrows-Burleson Tennis Center offers six indoor courts and six hard outdoor courts for the use of the Virginia Tech men's and women's tennis teams and features new scoreboards.

The Pete Dye River Course of Virginia Tech offers a challenging course design, a spectacular new clubhouse and the pristine beauty of a riverfront setting.

Rector Field House boasts one of the most impressive indoor tracks in the country. With six lanes, eight dash lanes and various other areas for jumping and throwing, the facility plays host to exciting meets for Virginia Tech's indoor track and field team. The field house also serves as the indoor practice facility for football.

The outdoor oval track at the Johnson-Miller Outdoor Track Complex has eight 42 -inch lanes and is identical to the track used in Atlanta's Olympic games.

In recent years, Virginia Tech's athletic programs have grown immensely and are on an escalating path to success. For the ever-growing legion of Tech fans, the most exciting part is that the future looks even brighter.

On July 1, 2004, Virginia Tech officially became a member of the prestigious Atlantic Coast Conference - a move that has already helped the Hokie athletics program grow even stronger. Tech competes at the Division I level of the NCAA, and with a total of 21 varsity sports, 11 for men and 10 for women, Virginia Tech provides generous opportunities for athletes (and fans) to get in the Hokie huddle. Prior to joining the ACC, Virginia Tech was a charter member of the BIG EAST Football Conference starting in 1991, and a member of the BIG EAST in all other sports except wrestling from 2001 to 2004.

Tech's nationally known football program has had unprecedented success for nearly two decades, recently participating in its 17th-straight bowl game. In 2009, the Hokies won 10 games for the sixth-consecutive season, including a 37-14 victory over Tennessee in the Chick-fil-A Bowl. The Tech football team captured the ACC Championship in back-to-back seasons in 2007 and 2008 after taking the title in 2004, its inaugural season in the league. The Hokies also won BIG EAST Championships in 1995, 1996 and 1999, and played for the National Championship in the 2000 Nokia Sugar Bowl.

The Hokie baseball program broke out a record season in 2010, earning national top-25 rankings for the first time since 1992 and posting seven wins over top-10 teams. The Hokies' season ended with a loss to South Carolina in the NCAA Regional at Columbia, S.C. Subsequently, a school-record seven Hokies were chosen in the 2010 Major League Baseball First-Year Player Draft.

During the 2009-2010 season, the men's basketball team advanced to the quarterfinals of the NIT for the second-straight year, after a huge victory over UConn at Cassell Coliseum. Led by AP All-American Malcolm Delaney, the Hokies finished with a 25-9 record and posted a 13-2 start, their strongest start in program history. The women's basketball team has advanced to the postseason 12 times in the past 16 years.

In 2005, Spyridon Jullien won NCAA titles in the indoor weight throw and the outdoor hammer throw, bringing the school its first-ever NCAA championships in any sport. A year later as a senior, Jullien won both titles again, and during the 2009 outdoor season Tech's Marcel Lomnicky won the national title in the hammer. The women's track and field team won back-toback titles in both the 2007 and 2008 Indoor and Outdoor ACC Championships. In 2010, hurdler Queen Harrison, who participated in the 2008 Olympic Games, captured the NCAA Indoor Championship in the 60 -meter hurdles. A large contingent of Hokies from the men's and women' track & field teams participated in the NCAA Outdoor Championships. Harrison made NCAA history when she won both the 100- and 400-meter hurdle events, marking the first time a woman has swept both hurdles events in the same NCAA national meet. Tech's women's and men's squads finished fifth and 10th, respectively, in the team standings.

The men's soccer program advanced to the NCAA College Cup for the first time in history in 2007, while the women's soccer program earned its first Sweet 16 appearance in 2009, collecting its second-consecutive NCAA Tournament bid. The Hokies defeated a program-best, five top- 25 teams, including then-No. 1 North Carolina, to earn their highest-ever conference finish.

In 2001, the Hokie golf team won a nation's best six tournaments, including the BIG EAST Golf Championship, and went on to record an eighth-place finish at the 2001 NCAA Golf Championship. In 2007, the Hokies tied for the ACC tournament title and this spring the Tech squad is competing in an NCAA Regional for the fourth consecutive season. In 2007, the women's softball team advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the third straight year and made its first appearance at the Women's College World Series. Led by National Player of the Year, Angela Tincher, Tech posted back-to-back ACC Tournament titles.

Many individuals have also participated in NCAA postseason competition in recent years, including Hokies from wrestling, tennis, swimming, golf, cross country and track & field. The men's and women's swimming and diving programs sent a combined seven athletes to the NCAA Championships in 2009-2010, coming home with two individual All-Americans and an Honorable Mention All-America Relay Team in the 800 freestyle. The wrestling team finished the 2009-2010 season ranked 14th nationally, with four conference champions and a 17-5 dual meet record, while the men's tennis team made its fourth straight appearance in NCAA postseason competition.

BLACKSBURG, VA.  COLLEGE TOWN, U.S.A. - A GREAT PLACE TO SPEND FOUR YEARS ... OR A LIFETIME!

One of America's best college towns, Blacksburg is a perfect setting for a great university like Virginia Tech.

Located in Southwest Virginia on a plateau between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains, Blacksburg combines the laid-back lifestyle of a small town with the amenities one would expect to find around a major center of higher education. Together, the town and university have worked hard to create a progressive community that ranks among the nation's elite living environments. Virginia Tech and the Town of Blacksburg gained national and international attention by creating the world's first "electronic village." Businesses and industries have been drawn by the potential of the quaint town.

Established in 1798 by John and William Black, the town is surrounded by scenic mountain views that accentuate the area. Since its founding, Blacksburg has grown to become the largest town in Virginia. The nearly 43,000 residents (including students) enjoy a close proximity to a variety of recreation areas such as the Blue Ridge Parkway, Appalachian Trail, Claytor Lake and the New River. The region features a moderate climate and four distinct seasons. Blacksburg's location (adjacent to major interstate highways) provides convenient access to most points in the southern and eastern parts of the country.

More information on Blacksburg can be found on the web site of the Blacksburg Electronic Village, www.bev.net, or the town's web site, www.blacksburg.va.us.

STUDENT-ATHLETE SUPPORT

PROVIDING THE TOOLS NEEDED FOR SUCCESS IN THE CLASSROOM

Expectations placed on Virginia Tech studentathletes are high both in the classroom and on the field. Working together with the Tech Athletics Department, Student-Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS) acts as the backbone for Hokie student-athletes in order to help them achieve their full potential, both inside and outside of athletics. Tutors, study assistance, computer and technology aid and individual skill development programs are just some of the services available.

In addition, SAASS assists students in arranging appointments with various University departments, such as their academic advisors, the Registrar, the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aid, deans offices, Career Services and the Cook Counseling Center for Academic Enrichment and Excellence.
SAASS is committed to providing a comprehensive academic and personal development program with counseling and advising for student-athletes, offering academic counseling to ensure students receive a complete system of support.

Student-athletes have access to the department's spacious facilities, located in the West Side of Lane Stadium. Opened during the 2006-07 academic year, the SAASS suite, located in the Quillen Family Academic Center, features 18 private tutor rooms, a state-of-theart classroom, a 36 -station computer lab with printer access, a conference room, three quiet areas for reading and studying and a reference library. The office is available between classes, after practice and in the evenings. Hours of operation are flexible and may be tailored to maximize the student-athlete's limited time. The collection of SAASS programs housed in Lane Stadium guarantees that all student-athletes achieve success during their time at Virginia Tech.

JERMAINE HOLMES

Director of Student-AthleteAcademic Support Services

Responsibilities: As director, Holmes provides leadership for SAASS, and along with his staff, oversees the development and execution of programs aimed to help Hokie student-athletes balance their academic and athletic demands and achieve success in both areas.
Joined VT Staff: January 2009; second year.
Education: B.S. Virginia Tech, 1996
(business); M.S. Virginia Tech, 1998 (resource management).

Of Note: A former Hokie himself, Holmes was a member of the Tech football squad from 1991-1996.
Before Virginia Tech: Holmes served as director of Student Life at Virginia Tech before taking an athletic academic counselor position at Cal State Fullerton. He then returned to Tech in 2009 after serving as assistant director of Student-Athlete Support Services at The Ohio State University. He started with the Buckeyes in 2004 as an athletic academic counselor and was promoted to assistant director of a support unit that served nearly 1,000 student-athletes. Holmes managed that department's day-to-day activities, office operations, facilities and staff, in addition to overseeing the academic support programs for all studentathletes and serving as the academic counselor for Ohio State's football and track programs.

Family: Holmes and his wife LaTanya reside in Blacksburg with their son Aiden.

GRADUATION IS A PRIORITY

In seven of the past nine years, Virginia Tech has graduated 70 percent or more of its football class using the NCAA's graduation success rate (GSR) formula.

The GSR is based on a six-year graduation window for student-athletes. The GSR was developed by the NCAA as part of its academic reform initiative to more accurately assess the academic success of student-athletes. The GSR holds institutions accountable for transfer students, unlike the federal graduation rate. The GSR also accounts for mid-year enrollees.

Under GSR calculation, institutions are not penalized for outgoing transfer students who leave in good academic standing. These outgoing transfers are passed to the receiving institution's GSR cohort. By counting incoming transfer students and mid-year enrollees, the GSR increases the total number of studentathletes tracked for graduation by more than 37 percent. The NCAA also calculates the federal graduation rate (FGR) for student-athletes because it is the only rate by which to compare student-athletes to the general student body.

Virginia Tech's 2009 rates for football were 71 percent (GSR) and 63 percent (FGR).

ATHLETICS OFFICE OF STUDENT LIFE

At Virginia Tech, student-athletes don't just play sports. With help from the Athletics Office of Student Life, Hokie student-athletes work outside the athletic venue to develop into community assets and responsible adults.

Led by the Virginia Tech Student-Athlete Advisory Committee, Hokie student-athletes volunteered countless hours in the local community last year. In addition, over 300 Virginia Tech student-athletes earned a 3.00 grade point average during one or both semesters, while achieving great success within athletics as well.

The Athletics Office of Student Life creates programs designed to enhance student-athletes in five areas of commitment: athletic excellence, academic excellence, personal and leadership development, community service and career development. The program has been previously honored for its commitment to serving the good of the student-athletes by the Division I-A Athletic Director's Association as a program of excellence.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) is a committee made up of studentathletes assembled to provide insight on the student-athlete experience. They also offer input on the rules, regulations and policies that affect student-athletes' lives on NCAA member institution campuses. Two members of each sports team serve on SAAC each academic year.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

The Office of Student Life aims to help studentathletes lead balanced lifestyles, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills. Each team attends two personal development workshops during the year to educate members in healthy living, service learning, career development, diversity and life skills.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Virginia Tech student-athletes savor their collegiate athletic experiences with the understanding that they will need to secure a job upon graduation. The Office of Student Life works to enhance student-athlete career development by collaborating with the Virginia Tech Career Services Office. Student-athletes also receive assistance in learning about majors and minors, preparing for career fairs, and obtaining scholarships and internships.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The Office of Student Life is also responsible for nominating student-athletes for academic honors and awards. Athletes are nominated for on-campus, Atlantic Coast Conference and national awards. Student-athletes with a 3.0 GPA are rewarded and honored on the Athletic Director's Honor Roll. In 2009-10, 370 studentathletes were named to this prestigious list, an increase of nearly 30 from 2008-09.

Responsibilities: As assistant athletics director for student life, Gilbert-Lowry develops programs geared to enhance student-athletes' personal development, career awareness and community service endeavors. This includes coordinating each team's philanthropic projects, working with the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and nominating student-athletes for academic awards. She also helps plan the yearly Athletics Director Honors Breakfast and the All Sports Banquet. Joined VT Staff: 2008; third year.
Prior to Virginia Tech: Before joining the Hokies, Gilbert-Lowry served as the compliance coordinator and CHAMPS/Life Skills coordinator at Nova Southeastern University in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. In 2005, she was also the coordinator of athletic academic services. Prior to NSU, Gilbert-Lowry served as an academic advisor at the University of Central Florida.

Education: Northern Illinois University, 2001 (psychology), where she lettered four years on the women's gymnastics team and was named MVP her senior year; Ball State University, 2004, earning a master's in sport and exercise psychology, and a minor in counseling.
Personal: A native of Orlando, Fla., Gilbert-Lowry and her husband Spencer currently live in Christiansburg.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

Virginia Tech student-athletes are now involved more than ever in the local community. In conjunction with the mission of the Office of Student Life and the Ut Prosim motto, student-athletes are encouraged to volunteer throughout their college experience. Each team partners with a local community organization and volunteers time at community-wide events. Along with large volunteer efforts, studentathletes engage in community support with visits to local hospitals and elementary and middle schools. Community organizations can also request Tech student-athletes to attend local outreach events. Involvement in this program helps maintain and improve the positive relationship between student-athletes and the surrounding community.

Virginia Tech was recently awarded honors from the National Consortium for Academic and Sports for outstanding Outreach and Community Service for the 2009-2010 academic year.

ATHLETIC PERFORIMANCE

There's much more to athletic performance than weight training. Always striving to stay on the cutting edge, Virginia Tech has combined strength and conditioning with nutrition and sport psychology to benefit its student-athletes. At Tech, these areas are part of the student-athletes' preparation - not just for game day, but also for life after college. Virginia Tech tries to provide the best services, facilities and support staff for all of its student-athletes, to make them better athletes and better people.

DR. MIKE GENTRY

Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Performance

Responsibilities: As assistant athletics director for athletic performance, Gentry's duties include overseeing the strength and conditioning training of athletes in all 21 varsity sports at Virginia Tech. He is directly involved in the training of the football and women's basketball teams and manages programs for nutrition.

Joined VT Staff: 1987; 24th season.
Record at Virginia Tech: Gentry was named the second-annual Samson Strength & Conditioning Coach of the Year in the March 2005 issue of American Football Monthly.

In May 2003, Gentry was honored by the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches when he was named a Master Strength and Conditioning Coach. Gentry is currently one of only 36 coaches in the country to have received the CSCC's highest award.

In 1995 and 1996, Gentry was recognized by the National Strength and Conditioning Association as a finalist for the National Strength and Conditioning Professional of the Year.

Prior to Virginia Tech: Gentry worked as an assistant strength coach at UNC and as the head strength coach at East Carolina University prior to coming to Virginia Tech in February 1987.

Education: Western Carolina, 1979 (physical education); UNC Chapel Hill, 1981 (master's degree); Virginia Tech, 1999 (doctorate; curriculum and instruction with emphasis in motor behavior).

Family: Gentry has a son, Roy Christopher (Bo), 19, a member of the Hokie football team. Gentry is married to the former Wendy Ann Williams.

One of the most important aspects of a successful college women's basketball program is its strength and conditioning program. Before the lights ever come on, before the players run out of the tunnel for the first game and before the first basket is ever scored, the Hokies work on getting themselves physically prepared for the rigors of the season.

Thanks to the direction of Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Performance Mike Gentry, the Virginia Tech strength and conditioning program is among the best in the nation, helping to make the women's basketball program one of the best as well.

One of the main support centers for Tech athletes is the strength and conditioning program. The results of hard work by the staff and the studentathletes have paid huge dividends for Tech's athletic program.

In addition to the new Hahn Hurst practice facility weight room, student-athletes train in the 17,000-square foot training center on the first level of the Merryman Athletic Center. The weight room facility features free-weight equipment, a full line of Hammer Strength equipment, 12 platforms and a 6,000 -square foot, state-of-the-art speed and agility room.

Tech also has the use of a 10-by-40-yard sand pit located outdoors and adjacent to the weight room. This pit is used for resistive running drills to improve speed. The Hokies also have the practice fields for use in running drills.

Tech athletes also train in the Jim "Bulldog" Haren Weight Room. Located in Jamerson Athletic Center, the 5,000-square foot weight room was officially dedicated in September 1985 to Haren, a former Hokie player and long-time supporter of the Virginia Tech Athletics Department. With the three facilities, the Hokies have more than 26,000 -square feet of strength and conditioning training space.

At the end of each summer, the team completes the annual stadium challenge. In previous years, the team has started at the far left side of the Lane Stadium East Stands and run from the bottom to the top, jogging from section to section until they made there way across the entire side. Last year, the team went all the way up and down each flight ten times from the very bottom to the top. This climb included 200 steps so it is estimated the team covered about 4,000 steps during the challenge.

The Women's Strength Challenge, established to push athletes to even higher levels, debuted in 2007. The competition includes all women's sports. The challenge is comprised of six events featuring each athlete's strength, agility and overall fitness. Senior women's basketball player Utahya Drye won the stadium climb in 2007 by running up the Lane Stadium East Side, a total of 111 rows, in 36 seconds. Britney Anderson, a senior on 2007 team, was named a strength and conditioning All-American by the National Strength and Conditioning Association.

David Jackson is in his second season with the women's basketball program as the strength and conditioning coach. Jackson is starting his fourth season as the Assistant Strength & Conditioning Coach for the men's basketball program.

Jackson joined the Hokies following a sucessful career as a personal trainer in Southern California. No stranger to Virginia Tech, Jackson played for the Hokies from 1994-97 under Bill Foster. His twin brother, Jim, also played for the Hokies. Jackson was a member of the 1995 NIT Championship team and the 1996 team that advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

Jackson is a 1997 graduate of Virginia Tech with a degree in health and physical education, and a minor in health education. He earned a master's degree in health education from Virginia Tech in 1999.

David Jackson (above) is the primary strength coach for women's basketball. The Hokies take part in a great variety of strength and conditioning exercises and competitions to work toward their goals and keep their workouts interesting and productive.

SPORT PSYCHOLOGY

HELPING STUDENT-ATHLETES IN ALL ASPECTS OF THEIR LIVES

Virginia Tech offers another important service to all of its student-athletes - sport psychology. Dr. Gary Bennett coordinates the sport psychology department, which offers psychological and performance enhancement services for student-athletes. Bennett and counselor Kellie Moran-Miller, Ph.D., work together to serve the needs of Tech studentathletes. Both are also employed at the Cook Counseling Center on campus.

The sport psychology department offers an injury group to afford injured athletes the opportunity to meet with a sport psychologist and other injured athletes and talk about the recovery process. On average, Bennett conducts 30 individual sessions per week and meets weekly with teams as the need arises.

The response to the sport psychology program has been positive. The student-athletes are very receptive to the services offered by the doctors. The sport psychology office reaches out to athletes who may not have considered going to the counseling service that is offered to all students at Virginia Tech.

DR. GARY BENNETT

Sport Psychologist

Responsibilities: Bennett meets with studentathletes on an individual basis for personal counseling and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. He also works on team buliding, communication and performance enhacement. Bennett has taught and supervised pre-doctoral level interns.
Joined VT Staff: 2000 (Full time since 2007); 11th year.

Record at Virginia Tech: Bennett began working at Virginia Tech in 1995 at the Cook Counseling Center. Now, as the sport psychologist, he also serves on the committees for nutrition, performance and substance abuse; and the planning committee for the "Summit for Student-Athlete Success" events. He also works with various teams in the area of performance enhancement.
Education: Centre (Ky.) College, 1981, B.A. English, where he played baseball; University of Kentucky, 1988, master's in rehabilitation counseling; UK, 1995, Ph.D. in counseling psychology.
Of Note: Bennett is licensed as a clinical psychologist and has additional training in sport psychology. He is a member of the Association of Applied Sport Psychology, as well as the American Psychological Association's Division 47 (Exercise and Sport Psychology).
Personal: Bennett lives in Blacksburg and enjoys playing golf and basketball, as well as hiking and skiing, in his spare time.

SPORTS NUTRITION

EDUCATING STUDENT-ATHLETES ABOUT THE BEST FOOD CHOICES

Eating healthy and choosing nutritious diets are important aspects of a Virginia Tech student-athlete's life and that's why in July 2002, the athletics department implemented the sports nutrition program. Amy Freel serves as the director. Freel, who is one of 16 full-time college dietitians in the country, also serves on the nutrition and performance committee with Dr. Gary Bennett.
"It is extremely beneficial for our studentathletes to have nutrition education and counseling available to them in order for them to remain successful in their sports and outside of athletics," Freel said. "The individualized nutrition education allows the athletes and me to get very specific on their nutritional, personal and sport-specific goals."

The Sports Nutrition Program has helped countless Tech athletes maximize their athletic performance. Freel will be aided by Jennie Schafer, who is a graduate assistant.

AMY FREEL

Sports Nutritionist

Responsibilities: Freel works with student-athletes to provide them with information they need on their diets. She provides individual players with diet counseling on issues such as gaining lean muscle mass, losing body fat, and eating choices to improve performance. Freel designs preseason menus, snacks and training table menus for teams.

Joined VT Staff: 1999; 11th year.
Record at Virginia Tech: Freel served as the coordinator of student life for a little more than two years before taking charge of Tech's nutrition program in 2002. In 2005, she was named the Young Dietitian of the Year by the Virginia Dietetic Association for her work as the nutritionist in the Tech athletics department.

Prior to Virginia Tech: Freel served as a clinical dietitian at the Lewis-Gale Medical Center for a year-and-a-half before coming to Tech in September of 1999.
Education: Ball State University, 1996 (dietetics) while competing in gymnastics for four years; Ball State, 1998, master's in dietetics.
Of Note: Freel became a registered dietitian in 1997.
Family: Freel and her husband Mike, who live in Blacksburg, have four children: Ben (9), Matt (8), Ashley (4) and Luke (3).

PROVIDING THE HOKIES WITH EXPERIENCED, PROFESSIONAL CARE

MIKE GOFORTH

Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Training

Responsibilities: As assistant athletics director for athletic training, Goforth oversees healthcare needs of all student-athletes and organizes all trainers and doctors while supervising all other services Tech offers.

Joined VT Staff: 1998; 12th year.
Prior to Virginia Tech: Goforth came to Tech from the Hamilton Medical Center/Bradley Wellness Center in Dalton, Ga., where he was the director of wellness and sports medicine. He has an extensive background in sports medicine, working at East Tennessee State University, William Fleming High School, Tusculum College, Greene County Sports Medicine/Industrial Cooperative and Pioneer Sports Medicine/Physical Therapy Clinic. He also has numerous opportunities to consult on program development throughout the country.

Education: East Tennessee State University, 1991, physical education; Virginia Tech, 1995, master's in sport management.

Family: Goforth and his wife, Tracy, a teacher at Blacksburg Middle School, have two sons - Ethan,
13, and Luke, 9.

The Sports Medicine Department at Virginia Tech is constantly evolving to incorporate new ideas utilizing state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of all Hokie student-athletes. Under the leadership of Assistant Athletics Director for Athletic Training Mike Goforth, the department is constantly improving and developing new strategies to provide the most current and comprehensive care.

Their team of certified athletic trainers, orthopaedic surgeons, Board Certified primary care physicians, chiropractors, physical therapists, sport psychologists, nutritionists, massage therapists and orthotists are available on site to manage the health care needs of Tech athletes. The staff continually looks for ways to enhance the services provided for their athletes as evidenced by its participation in local and national projects pertaining to related topics such as concussion management, prevention of antibiotic resistant types of staph infection (MRSA), high ankle sprains and collegiate health care management strategies. Research is considered instrumental to the sports medicine department. The department has participated in several projects with the engineering department and school of education, respectively.

Tech is entering its ninth full year in the 4,300-square-foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room, which consolidated the training rooms that existed in the Merryman Center and Cassell Coliseum. The facility gives the training staff a centralized area to care for the needs of all Virginia Tech student-athletes. There is top-of-the-line equipment and a unique style of architecture, developed by Glenn Reynolds, AIA and Larry Perry as the consulting engineer. In 2010, Reynolds again helped Tech spearhead another 3,000-square-foot expansion of the training room to encompass the weight room.

The Ferrell Training Room nearly doubled the size of the former Merryman Center facility. Tech now has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing it in the top five percent nationally. The $$ 10$ million Merryman Center includes 2,400 square feet of medical space and a physician's suite. The suite is equipped with a new state-of-the-art X-ray system, a fluoroscopy unit and a minor procedure room. The training room also has offices for the staff, dozens of training tables, two cold tubs, whirlpools, an underwater treadmill, a Biodex System 3 and various other pieces of rehabilitation equipment and treatment modalities.

In addition, a training room has been constructed in Rector Field House to serve the football team when it practices indoors, and the Gordon Family Mobile Sports Medicine Unit is a portable training room that can be transported to various venues.

Athletes have many options to help prevent or protect them from injuries. The sports medicine staff takes great pride in treating athletes year-round. Special attention is paid to off-season activity. The staff will analyze past injury data from each participant and construct a preventative program that is followed over a nine-week period between the end of the season and the beginning of spring practice. This same procedure is followed during the summer.

A vital part of student-athlete medical services is access to the Montgomery Regional Hospital's SWVA Center for Orthopaedics and various specialty services offered through HCA Southwest Virginia and its affiliated hospitals.
"We are privileged to have access to the finest physicians and services that HCA has at its disposal," said Goforth. "It is comforting knowing that our local hospital has the best care available in this region of the country for our studentathletes."
If physical therapy is needed, studentathletes can be seen in the Ferrell Training Room by physical therapists Chris Rogers and Katie Burns who play a large role in the overall program developed to return an injured athlete to 100 percent. Team chiropractor, Dr. Greg Tilley, provides Tech athletes with specialized treatment for spine-related conditions and plays a huge role in performance enhancement through various chiropractic techniques.
"As certified athletic trainers, for us to have the resources of folks like Katie Burns, Chris Rogers, Greg Tilley and Gary Bennett is a tremendous asset," Goforth said. "The knowledge and skill that they bring is invaluable."

Team orthopaedic surgeons Dr. Marc Siegel and Dr. James Farmer bring a wealth of experience and skill to assist when athletes need orthopaedic consultation for certain types of sports-related injuries.

Over the past 11 years, Tech has developed the reputation for producing top-level certified athletic trainers. Graduates are now employed in positions across the country at various levels of the profession. This year, the staff will consist of three graduate assistant athletic trainers: Freddy Purvell, Jake Naas and Chris Deneault.

THE OFFICIAL SOURCE FOR INFORMATION ON VIRGINIA TECH SPORTS

Virginia Tech sports fans have the luxury of getting up-to-date information on their favorite Tech sports or athletes on a daily basis, regardless of location. Hokiesports.com is every Tech fan's source for fast, accurate and official coverage of all Hokie sports teams and events.

On the main site, one can find an array of information on Tech athletics. Through the efforts of the athletics communications staff, Hokiesports.com provides the fastest, most complete source for Hokie news on the web. Pregame releases, game stories and individual features, as well as up-to-date statistics and results for all 21 athletic teams are posted. In 2008, a notebook was added to provide readers with behind the scenes news and notes. Other offerings include individual home pages for each Tech sport, featuring breaking news and archived releases along with media guides containing player and coaching staff profiles, schedules, records, historical information and other pertinent facts for every sport.
Also accessible on each sport's home page are rosters with links to player bios, schedules, results and conference standings. With fast "live stats," fans have access to stats from home football, men's and women's basketball, baseball, softball, lacrosse, men's and women's tennis, men's and women's soccer, volleyball and wrestling as they happen via the web.
The in-house site was first launched on July 1, 1996. This past year, hokiesports.com averaged more than 25 million page views and over 800,000 visitors per month. In a 2008 survey of BCS school official websites, hokiesports.com ranked seventh in total traffic and first within the Atlantic Coast Conference.
The site is managed and designed by director and webmaster Damian Salas. Salas is assisted by graphic designer Allison Jarnagin.

Hokiesports.com is the lead site of five official Tech athletics auxiliary sites, including hokiephotos.com, hokietickets.com and hokieshop.com. The site is managed and designed by director and webmaster Damian Salas. Salas is assisted by graphic designer Allison Jarnagin.

Hokietickets.com contains links and updates about tickets for Hokie athletics events including seating charts of Lane Stadium and Cassell Coliseum.

Hokiephotos.com allows fans to purchase select athletics department photos of some of the most memorable athletes and moments in Virginia Tech history.

Hokies All-Access provides streaming video clips that are exclusive to the site, along with one-of-a-kind coach and player interviews as well as video and audio coverage of events.

Hokieshop.com allows fans to purchase official Hokie gear and gameday apparel.

INSIDE HOKIE SPORTS

the Official publication of virginia tech athletics

The Virginia Tech athletics department made a bold switch in 2008, converting its in-house newspaper of more than 20 years into a full-color, glossy magazine with nearly 50 pages worth of content and a new name.

The debut of Inside Hokie Sports drew overwhelmingly positive reviews, and now, for a third season, the magazine returns to continue providing information on all of the Hokies' 21 varsity sports.

SUBSCRIBE TO

 INSIDE HOKIE SPORTS$$ 37.95$ for one-year subscription - $$ 69.95$ for two-year subscription

- additional $$ 12$ per year for access to online version
$25 annually for just access to online version (no printed copy)

Magazines will be available on newsstands at certain stores throughout the Blacksburg-Christiansburg area.

For additional subscription information, call the Inside Hokie Sports office at (540) 231-3908, or visit the Web site at inside. hokiesports.com.

THE MAGAZINE FEATURES:

- Roth Report & monthly columns
- Hokie Club's monthly news
- In-depth feature articles on student-athletes, coaches and administrators
- Extended coverage on Olympic sports
- Season previews and reviews
- Features on former Virginia Tech athletes - Updates on Hokies in the professional ranks

The publication is printed 11 times a year, with a month off in the summer.
"We'll continue to write in-depth stories not just on student-athletes, but also on a wide array of people and topics surrounding Tech athletics that traditional media outlets tend to ignore," said Jimmy Robertson, the editor of Inside Hokie Sports." I thought that made us a unique entity among the groups covering the Hokies.
"At the same time, we kept some of the things from the newspaper that were popular - things like columns and our football recruiting profiles. I thought we had a nice blend of ways to present information, and now, our objective is to expand and improve to make our publication even better."

The staff is headed by Robertson, a 1994 graduate of Roanoke College who has won six national awards since starting as the editor of Tech's in-house publication in 1996. He is aided by a talented staff including Allison Jarnagin, a 2007 Virginia Tech graduate with a degree in visual communications, who is in her third year as the publication's layout designer; David Knachel, who serves as the staff photographer, has held his role for more than 20 years; and Bill Roth, the Voice of the Hokies, who continues to provide his monthly column.

THE ATHLETIC FUND

HOKIE CLUB WORKS TO KEEP BUILDING TECH'S MOMENTUM

Virginia Tech's sixth season in the ACC was successful, both in competition and fundraising results. Thanks to the hard work of the Hokie Club, donors continue to support the athletics program with their gifts to the annual fund and for new facilities. The Hokie Club is charged with raising funds to support the scholarship, capital and programmatic needs of the Athletics Department.
"Virginia Tech's high national profile in football continues to motivate our fans in their support of the program. They are proud that their football team has been to bowl games in each of the last 17 years, including six BCS games. Winning three ACC championships in football in five years added momentum to our fund raising efforts," said Lu Merritt, who has served as director of the Athletic Fund since 1994.

Donors make gifts in outright forms such as cash and real estate, or through planned or deferred gifts such as a will or retirement plan.

The Athletic Fund is proud of its staff and its volunteers who help ensure that the 65 Hokie Clubs throughout the region continue their active efforts to support and promote athletics at Virginia Tech.
0.A. Spady of Smithfield, Va., is the current president of the Athletic Fund and Glenn Reynolds of Blacksburg, Va., is the vice president.

HOKIE HARDWOOD CLUB

The Hokie Hardwood Club, formerly known as the Diamond Club, has been in existence for more than 20 years. The mission of the Hokie Hardwood Club is to increase public awareness of the Virginia Tech women's basketball program, to raise the level of community support for all aspects of the program and to provide the level of spirit and resources required for a program of national prominence. The club conducts fundraisers during the year in support of the women's basketball program. Fundraising efforts helped with some of the team's expenses on its summer trip to Europe in 2000, as well as the trip to Australia the summer of 2004 and the 2008 trip to Greece and Italy. Members of the Hokie Hardwood Club travel to several away games each season.

BETH DUNKENBERGER

HEAD COACH

Beth Dunkenberger begins her seventh season as the head coach of the Virginia Tech women's basketball team after guiding the Hokies to postseason appearances in three of her first six seasons. Dunkenberger has compiled a 99-85 record at Tech and is 164 -135 in her 10 -season career as a head coach.

Dunkenberger's 2009-10 squad battled its way through the always challenging ACC schedule, led by seniors Utahya Drye, an Honorable Mention AllACC performer, and Lindsay Biggs. The highlight of the year was Tech's 79-64 domination of No. 10 North Carolina in Cassel Coliseum.

In her tenure as head coach, several of Dunkenberger's players have gone on to professional careers. Kerri Gardin became the first Tech player to see action in a WNBA game with the Connecticut Sun, while former players Kirby Copeland, Nara Diawara and Dawn Chriss have all played in Europe. Additionally, Diawara was selected to the 2008 Beijing Olympic Games team for her native country of Mali.

The program under Dunkenberger has produced four All-ACC performers in Gardin $(2005,2006)$, Copeland (2007), Brittany Cook (2008) and Drye (2009) in addition to one member of the All-ACC Freshman team.

Dunkenberger's commitment to academic excellence is best displayed by the 2008-09 senior class. Cook is a second year-medical student at the Edward Via Virginia College of Osteopathic Medicine. Laura Haskins and A.J. Lemaitre are Master's candidates in the prestigious Pamplin School of Business at Virginia Tech, while Amber Hall is a second-year student at the University of Florida Law School. Additionally, Biggs and freshman Alyssa Fenyn were named this past season to the ACC Women's Basketball All-Academic team.

Not only have her teams been successful, but her student-athletes themselves have garnered several awards and honors during the Dunkenberger era at Virginia Tech. In 2009, Haskins was named to the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America Third Team as well as being selected to the District III First Team. Haskins also was selected as the first recipient of the Kay Yow ACC Women's Basketball Scholar-Athlete of the Year award. Brittany Cook was selected to the 2007 ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America Third Team as well as being named to the District III First Team. In 2005, Erin Gibson and Carrie Mason were named to the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America District III University Division team. Gibson was also selected as one of 29 ACC scholar-athletes to be named as a recipient of the ACC Postgraduate Scholarship, awarded to individuals who have performed with distinction in both the classroom and in their respective sports, while demonstrating exemplary conduct in the community. Mason also received the scholarship following the 2005-06 season.

Dunkenberger was named the fifth head women's basketball coach at Virginia Tech on April 6, 2004.

Dunkenberger has a long association with the Virginia Tech women's basketball program, having served on Carol Alfano's staff for nine years (1988-97). She worked as a graduate assistant for two years before being promoted to a full-time assistant position, and helped lead the Hokies to the 1994 and 1995 NCAA Tournaments, the first two appearances in school history. Dunkenberger not only helped lead Tech to two NCAA Tournaments, but also to the Metro Conference Tournament championship in 1994 and the Metro Conference regular-season championship in 1995. She served three years as recruiting coordinator and was responsible for signing Tere Williams, the first Parade All-American in the school's history. In addition, Dunkenberger assisted in recruiting eight members of the Tech 1,000-point club and four of the top-six scorers in the program's history.

Dunkenberger returned to Blacksburg in 2004 after guiding Western Carolina to a $65-50$ record, including a 14-17 mark in her final season when the sixth-seeded Catamounts won three games to advance to the Southern Conference Tournament finals. The program had only won a total of four tournament games in its previous 20 years in the conference.

The Catamounts came up with huge wins during the 2002-03 season, including a 73-69 victory over Chattanooga on the road to clinch second place in the SoCon and a 64-54 win over UNC

Greensboro heading into the league tournament. Dunkenberger's efforts earned her 2002-03 Southern Conference Coach of the Year honors as the Catamounts finished the season with a 21-7 record, the program's best since beginning NCAA Division I competition in 1981-82. It was the first time a WCU women's basketball coach had received the recognition.

In Dunkenberger's first season (2000-01), the Cats posted a 13-15 record, the most wins for the program in 12 seasons. She backed that up with a 17-11 record in the 2001-02 season. Dunkenberger reached 50 wins faster than any other head coach in the program's history.

In 2003-04 at Western Carolina, Tiffany Hamm was named to the SoCon All-Conference team after being voted the 2002-03 Player of the Year by the SoCon Sports Media Association. Hamm also earned 2002-03 all-conference honors along with teammate Jennifer Gardner, while Erin May graced the All-Freshman team that season. It was the fourth consecutive year a WCU athlete was represented on the All-Rookie list.

In addition to the athletic honors, Yoneko Allen was named to the 2004 Verizon Academic AllAmerica Third Team after being named to the AllDistrict III team for the third consecutive season. She was also a two-time Arthur Ashe, Jr., Sports Scholar along with teammate Christy Blackwell, who received the honor the previous year. Laura Echols racked up quite a number of honors in her last two seasons under Dunkenberger's tutelage. Echols was named to the 2001 and 2002 Verizon Academic All-District III teams, the 2001 and 2002 all-conference teams and the SoCon Player of the Week three times.

Other Catamounts receiving honors under Dunkenberger's guidance included 2001 Conference Freshman of the Year Tiffany Hamm, who was the SoCon leading rookie scorer that year, with 12.0 ppg; Ki-Ki Glass, who was named to the 2002 SoCon All-Freshman team; Jennifer Gardner, who was named a SoCon Player of the Week in 2002; and Yoneko Allen, who was named to the 2002 Verizon Academic All-District III second team, an Arthur Ashe, Jr., Sports Scholar and Western Carolina's 2002 Female Scholar Athlete of the Year.

Dunkenberger's emphasis on the importance of academics is easily recognized. Her 2000-01 squad finished in the top 25 in the nation for women's basketball programs academically, ranking sixth with an overall team GPA of 3.313 .

During Dunkenberger's three-year tenure as an assistant coach, the last as recruiting coordinator at the University of Florida, she helped the Gators to a $63-36$ overall record. The Lady Gators advanced to postseason play all three years with the 1997-98 team making an appearance in the Sweet 16. While in Gainesville, Dunkenberger had the opportunity to help coach five players who are currently, or were previously, on rosters in the WNBA.

Dunkenberger was valedictorian at Shawsville High School and graduated cum laude from Randolph-Macon College with a Bachelor of Science degree in mathematics in 1988. She was named academic all-district as well as all-conference. She continued her education by earning a Master of Science degree in education at Virginia Tech in 1990 and served as the commencement speaker at both her high school and undergraduate graduation ceremonies. A native of Shawsville, Va., she is the daughter of Tom and Rebecca Dunkenberger.

TECH PLAYERS POST COLLEGE HOOPS CAREERS:

Kerri Gardin (2002-06) became the first Virginia Tech player to participate in the WNBA regular season in 2008. Nare Diawara (2003-07, Mali) and Ieva Kublina (2000-04, Latvia) were selected to their respective national teams for the 2008 Bejing Olympic Games.

GETTING TO KNOW SHELLIE

Best vacation you've taken: I've had so many great ones, it's hard to pick just one. But I would have to say going to Emerald Isle with my family every year growing up.
Best basketball memory: Without a doubt, Brittany Cook's stick back to beat Virginia in Charlottesville. The No. 2 play of the night on SportsCenter!

Best birthday memory: 30 was good... 40 was great! Just glad I keep having them!

Hobbies & interests: I love to play golf! Enjoy vacationing with friends, going to the movies, and spending time with my nephews, Austin and Jake, and my niece, Emma. Oh yeah and my mom, dad and brother, Travis and sister-inlaw, Bobbie!

Favorite movies: Pretty Woman, Meet the Parents and Halloween (the original)

SHELLIE GREENIMAN

ASSISTANT WOMEN'S BASKETBALL COACH

Recruiting coordinator Shellie Greenman is in her seventh year on the Virginia Tech staff after serving on Beth Dunkenberger's staff as associate head coach and recruiting coordinator at Western Carolina. Greenman previously served on Carol Alfano's Virginia Tech staff from 1988-93.

As the recruiting coordinator for Western Carolina, Greenman organized all recruiting efforts. She continues those duties at Tech, and is also responsible for coaching the guards and working with the offense.
"Shellie has been instrumental in finding the right players to help us build a championship program," Dunkenberger said. "It takes more than just talented athletes to win. We need players who are dedicated and hard working, who are competitive, who put our team first and who are also good people. Shellie searches far and wide to find those special people."

Greenman has been coaching at the Division I level for 15 years. She worked previously at Western Carolina under head coach Gary Peters from 199396. Greenman has also completed stints at Miami University (Ohio) and Tennessee-Chattanooga. She has the impressive distinction of having recruited a player who was named the Conference Rookie of the Year at each of the three schools.

Greenman earned her bachelor's degree in 1988 from Emory and Henry College and went on to earn her master's in 1990 at Virginia Tech. At the start of her career, Greenman worked as an assistant coach with Dunkenberger for five years at Virginia Tech. A four-year letterwinner in basketball at Emory & Henry, Greenman led her team to the ODAC Conference championship in 1988, as she was named to the All-Tournament team. The daughter of Bill and Joan Greenman, she originally hails from Blacksburg, Va. In her spare time, she enjoys playing golf and spending time with her nephews, Austin and Jake, and her niece, Emma.

STACY CANTLEY

ASSISTANT WOMEN'S BASKETBALL COACH

Stacy Cantley begins her 12th season as a collegiate coach and 10th on head coach Beth Dunkenberger's staff.

Prior to joining Dunkenberger's staff at Western Carolina, Cantley was an assistant coach at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington for three seasons. While at Wilmington, Cantley scouted, produced highlight tapes and coordinated scheduling for the team while developing the perimeter and post players. Cantley has been a member of the Women's Basketball Coaches Association since 1999.
"We are very excited to have someone with Stacy's experience on our staff," stated Dunkenberger. "She is a tireless worker who is a huge asset to our program."

Cantley earned her bachelor's degree in physical education in 1999 from UNC Wilmington, where she was a four-year letterwinner in basketball. Cantley finished her career at Wilmington on the school's top 10 all-time list in rebounds.

Born in Beckley, W.Va., Stacy is the daughter of Larry and Patricia Cantley.

JILL
DIRECTOR OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

Jill Jameson begins her seventh season with the women's basketball staff as the director of basketball operations.

Jameson earned a Master of Science degree in education from Virginia Tech in 1995 and returned to Blacksburg, Va., in 2004 after serving as assistant women's basketball coach at Marquette University for three years. At Marquette, Jameson served as recruiting coordinator, assisted with on-court coaching, specializing in the development of the guards, assisted in film evaluation and scouting and organized the marketing and promotions for the women's basketball program.

Prior to her time at Marquette, Jameson was an assistant at Tennessee-Chattanooga (1998-2001), where she helped the program capture two Southern Conference regular-season championships (2000-01), the 2001 SoCon Tournament title, an appearance in the 2001

NCAA Tournament, as well as the 2000 WNIT Second Round.

Jameson was assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Francis Marion (1997-98), which won the 1998 Peach Belt Athletic Conference Tournament title and advanced to the NCAA Division II Final Four. She began her coaching career at Virginia Tech (1993-97) as an assistant coach after receiving a Bachelor of Science degree from Northern Iowa. While on the Tech staff, Jameson assisted with all aspects of the program both on and off the court.

In the Director of Basketball Operations position at Virginia Tech, Jameson coordinates team travel, budget, equipment, serves as a liaison with the Hardwood Club including organization of the Annual Women's Basketball Auction, coordinates community service work for the team and is the director of women's basketball summer camps. Born in Tell City, Ind., Jill is the daughter of John and Joyce Jameson.

SUPPORT STAFF

ABBY BOGGS

Graduate Assistant
Abby Boggs will serve as a graduate assistant with the women's basketball program this season. Boggs is responsible for film exchange as well as the team's student managers. She also assists with recruiting in the preparation of mailouts, on-campus visits and tracking recruit's playing schedules. Boggs will also assist with all phases of the summer camps.

Boggs completed her undergraduate degree in three years this spring and is a Magna Cum Laude graduate of Virginia Tech with a degree in Business, Hospitality and Tourism Management. As a student, Boggs was very involved in the promotion of Tech athletics serving as the director of Hokies on Fire last year. She was instrumental in the 'Maroon Monsoon' game as well as the creation of the 'Generals', a group of 15 dedicated students who attended all women's and men's basketball home games.

Boggs, a Roanoke, Va., native, was a senior captain on the Hidden Valley High School women's basketball AA state championship team.

She is enrolled in graduate school majoring in urban and regional planning with a concentration in environmental planning.

AMY KUNIGONIS  Certified Athletic Trainer

Amy Kunigonis is in her fourth year as the athletic trainer working directly with the women's basketball team. Kunigonis comes to Virginia Tech after working the past seven years at Canisius College where she served as the athletic trainer for the women's basketball and women's soccer programs. She was also an approved instructor at the College, where she taught Nutrition for the Athletic Trainer.

Kunigonis earned her bachelor's degree in athletic training from the University of Charleston in West Virginia. Upon graduation, she received the Thomas S. Templeton Memorial Athletic Training Fellowship from the Center of Sports Medicine and Orthopedics in Chattanooga, Tenn. As an athletic training fellow, she served as an athletic trainer at Notre Dame High School and the McCallie School, both located in Chattanooga. From there, Kunigonis attended the University of Kentucky, where she earned her master's degee while serving as a graduate assistant athletic trainer for the Wildcats' swimming and diving programs.

The Pittsburgh native served as the site coordinator for the NCAA and Canisius College Drug Testing programs and was the alumni relations representative within the athletic training department.

Kunigonis has contributed research to the profession and has presented at both the national and state levels.

TORYE HURST

Associate Director, Athletics Communications

Torye Hurst, associate director of athletics communication, is in his 11th year working with the women's basketball program. Hurst is responsible for the day-to-day promotion of the women's basketball and men's and women's tennis programs.
During his tenure at Virginia Tech, Hurst served as the media coordinator for the 2004 NCAA Women's Basketball first and second rounds in Blacksburg, Va. Additionally, Hurst has handled the play-by-play duties for the Tech baseball program for the past six years as well as serving in the same capacity on webcasts for the ACC at the 2005 and 2006 baseball championships.

Prior to arriving in Blacksburg, Hurst was the director of marketing and media relations for the Peach Belt Conference in Augusta, Ga., for eight years. At the Peach Belt, he was responsible for the publicity of the 12 -member Division II conference. While in Augusta, he also served as the public address announcer for the Augusta GreenJackets Class A minor league baseball team.

Hurst completed a bachelor's of science degree in radio, television and film in 1982 from the University of Southern Mississippi and worked for the university for eight years as the program manager of WUSM-FM. While at USM, he received the "Best Sports Story Award" in 1991 from both the Mississippi Associated Press Broadcasters Association and the Mississippi Broadcaster's Association. Hurst completed a master's degree in sports administration from USM in 1992.

JERRY MASSEY

Play-by-Play Announcer

Jerry Massey is in his seventh season as the play-by-play announcer for the Virginia Tech women's basketball program on the Virginia Tech ISP Sports Network. Massey also handles play-by-play duties for most of Virginia Tech's Olympic sports on hokiesports. com. He also served as the lead softball play-by-play broadcaster for the 2006 and 2007 ACC Softball Championships on theacc.com.

A graduate of Radford University, Massey served as the Assistant Director of Radio Operations for two years at his alma mater before coming to Virginia Tech. He was the play-by-play announcer for the Radford women's basketball program and served as the primary back-up play-by-play announcer for the Highlanders' men's basketball program. In addition to his play-by-play responsibilities, Massey was the public address announcer for many of Radford's Olympic sports.

The Spotsylvania, Va., native worked for two years in Radford's sports information department and began his collegiate broadcasting career during that time. He served as a play-by-play announcer and color commentator for the Highlanders' limited number of women's basketball and baseball broadcasts alongside now-current Oklahoma State broadcaster Dave Hunziker. In addition, Massey was a regular fixture on the campus radio station, WVRU, and handled duties as the sports director and anchor of Radford's weekly television show, NRV News.
In 2003, Massey was called upon at Radford to become their women's basketball play-by-play announcer. He would stay in that capacity until September 2005 when he accepted the same position at Virginia Tech.

In addition to his play-by-play duties for the Virginia Tech women's basketball program and for many of the Hokies' Olympic sports programs, Massey provides live, nationwide updates for all Virginia Tech home football games for multiple national sports media services. He began this part of his career in 2000 when he was called upon to give updates for the championship game of the Big South Men's Basketball Tournament.

Before he became a sports broadcaster, Massey was a varsity football and baseball official for the Virginia High School League. He is a graduate of Spotsylvania High School where he lettered in football and baseball. Massey holds a bachelor of science degree in media studies.

REVIEW

THE HONORABLE UTAHYA DRYE

Utahya Drye, a senior guard from Durham, NC., was named as an Honorable Mention selection to the 2010 All-Atlantic Coast Conference women's basketball team. Since entering the ACC, the Tech women's basketball team has been represented on the elite team by Kerri Gardin (2005, Honorable Mention; 2006, Third team), Kirby Copeland (2007, Honorable Mention) and Brittany Cook (2008, Second team).

Last season, Drye became the 22nd member of the Virginia Tech 1,000-point club with her 16-point effort in the Hokies, 79-64, upset of No. 10 North Carolina. Drye is only the 11th player in school history to have scored 1,000 points with over 600 rebounds in her career. She became only the second player in the program's 34 -year history to have 1,000 points, 600 rebounds and 200 assists. Kerri Gardin (2002-06) ended her career with 1,061 points, 784 rebounds and 259 assists. Drye concluded her career with 1,166 points (10th Tech career scoring list), 645 rebounds (8th career rebounding) and 222 assists. Drye ended the season ranked 19th in ACC scoring and 13th in rebounding.

MORE DRYE NOTES

Utahya Drye was named to the Hilton Garden Classic All-tournament team after averaging 12.5 points and 9.0 rebounds. Last season, Drye led the team in scoring (11.3) and rebounding (6.6) while averaging 2.8 assists and 1.3 steals per game. In 2008-09, Drye led the Hokies in scoring (14.3), rebounding (6.5), field goal percentage (.467) and free throw percentage (.735). She set career highs of 30 points, 16 rebounds and seven steals in the overtime victory versus USC Upstate. Drye scored in double figures 17 times last season after scoring in double digits 24 times as a junior and 16 times during her 2007-08 sophomore campaign.

BIGGS FALLS JUST SHORT OF 1,000 POINTS

Senior Lindsay Biggs, who set a Virginia Tech single-season record in 2008-09 with 71 threepoint field goals, fell six points shy of becoming the 23 rd member of the Tech 1,000 -point club. Biggs was named the Most Valuable Player of Tech's Hilton Garden Classic after leading the Hokies to the title with 19 points against Charlotte in the championship game.

Biggs ended the year second on the team in scoring (11.2) and was $22 n d$ in ACC scoring, while ranking sixth in the ACC in 3 -point field goals per game (1.9). In her junior season, Biggs was second in the ACC in 3pt. field goals made and ranked 25th in ACC scoring (12.1). Biggs had an outstanding shooting game in 2008-09 at No. 12/16 Maryland by tossing in a career-high 25 points; including a career-best seven three-point baskets. The seven treys were the most by a Tech player in an ACC contest and the second-most in the history of program. Biggs ended her career with 188 treys, which is second all-time in threepoint field goals made in a career behind Carrie Mason's 200 baskets outside the arc.

A BIGGS HONOR

Lindsay Biggs earned the Atlantic Coast Conference Women's Basketball Player of the Week honors last season for the period ending Jan. 17. The honor was the first time a Virginia Tech women's basketball player has received the weekly award since the Hokies entered the ACC in 2004. Biggs led the Hokies to an impressive 79-64 victory over 10th-ranked North Carolina in the school's conference home opener at Cassell Coliseum.

Biggs led four Virginia Tech players in double figures in the upset win as the veteran from Midlothian, Va., keyed an early 9-0 run with two treys and a two-point basket, which turned a 17-10 deficit into a 19-17 lead. Biggs finished the game with 8 -of-16 shooting, including 3 -of8 from beyond the arc.

DAVIS DEPRESSES HURRICANES

Point-guard Nikki Davis, who missed the Maryland and Georgia Tech games last season with a left knee strain, erupted for a career-high 29 points, including a career-best five treys, in Tech's 73-69 win at Miami. The 29-point effort tied for the seventh-most points in a single game by a Tech player. In fact, on the Hokies' last visit to Miami, a 81-73 overtime win on Feb. 11, 2008, the Hokies' Brittany Cook set the single-game scoring mark with 36 points against the Hurricanes. Davis also set the new Tech standard for most free throw attempts (18) and free throws made (14) in an ACC contest.

DAVIS LENDS

A HELPING HAND

Nikki Davis, a 5-7 junior guard, was in giving mood last season. Davis handed out a career-high 11 assists in the upset of No. 10 North Carolina. Prior to her injury in practice following the Miami game, Davis dished out 47 assists in nine games for an average of 5.2 assists per game. She ended the year fifth in the ACC in assist/turnover ratio (1.3) and seventh in assists (4.1). Davis had a career-high nine rebounds and tied a then-career-high by handing out eight assists against UMBC. She originally set her assist mark against NJIT in the Hilton Garden Classic. In the 28 games she played in last year, Davis averaged 6.4 points, 2.8 rebounds, 4.1 assists and 1.6 steals per contest. Davis transferred to Tech in the Spring semester of 2008 from the University of Alabama and made her Virginia Tech debut at the South Padre Island Shootout where she scored 10 points, including three treys in only her second game.

A native of Lexington, Ky., Davis played in all 30 games of the 2006-07 season for the Crimson Tide making 19 starts. She averaged 5.1 points, 3.7 rebounds, 3.1 assists and 1.6 steals during her freshman season.

OH, WHAT A NIGHT!

The 79-64 upset win on Jan.14, 2010, over No. 10 North Carolina was an evening full of highlights for the Virginia Tech women's basketball program. The victory was Tech's first win over a nationally-ranked opponent since a Jan. 8, 2006, home victory over No. 19 Boston College. The win also marked the first triumph over a top-10 opponent since Tech pulled off a 72-70 win on Nov. 15, 1998, at No. 6 Duke. Additionally, the victory was only the second-ever in Cassell Coliseum against a top-10 team with the other occurring on Jan. 13, 1995, in a 69-62 win over No. 9 Virginia. In addition to the UNC, Duke and Virginia games, Tech's only other win versus top-10 opposition was on Nov. 30, 1985, in a 73-72 victory at No. 5 Old Dominion.

GORDON SHINES AGAINST UNC

Junior center Brittany Gordon picked the perfect time to have a career game. Gordon scored a careerhigh 17 points with seven rebounds in only 21 minutes against the taller North Carolina front line. Two games later, she was the only Hokie in double figures with 14 points at No. 6 Duke. Earlier last season, Gordon recorded the third double-double of her career with 11 points and 10 rebounds against UAB in the St. John'sChartwells Holiday Classic. She scored a career-high 15 points versus NC Central last season while scoring 14 points at Radford, including 12 of the Hokies' first 19 points in the second half. Gordon continued her rapid development in the middle at the start of the 2009-10 season with eight rebounds, one block and one steal against Longwood and had eight points, six rebounds and two assists at VCU.

HARRISON ON THE MOVE

Sophomore Shanel Harrison (Washington, D.C.) stepped up her play last season, both offensively and defensively. In her last seven games of the year, Harrison averaged 12.4 points and 5.7 rebounds per contest. She led the Hokies in the 70-69 win over Clemson with a career-high 20 points on 8-of-11 shooting and was 3-of-4 at the free throw line. She also was credited with a career-tying four blocks against Savannah State while scoring 18 points with four assists and two steals. Harrison recorded her third career double-double and first of the year with 14 points and 10 rebounds against No. 8/7 Duke. She played in all of the Hokies' 60 games during her twoyear career with 14 starts, including 12 last season.

A FENYN FRESHMAN SEASON

Freshman guard Alyssa Fenyn had a solid season at the outset of her college career. Fenyn tied a career-high with 15 points at St. John's, while pulling down a career-high nine rebounds, and was named to the St. John's-Chartwells Classic All-Tournament team. She started 22 of 30 games and was third on the team in scoring (7.5) and fourth in rebounding (5.2). The freshman scored in double figures nine times and pulled down five or more rebounds 14 times this season. Fenyn ranked in the top ten among ACC freshmen in both scoring and rebounding. She was rated as the No. 103 prospect nationally by Blue Star Basketball and was a three-time All-State firstteam performer for coach Diane Kirney at Newark High School. She was named the state tournament Most Valuable Player after scoring 29 points with 10 rebounds and four steals in the title game. Fenyn holds the Newark school record for scoring with 2,499 points and broke the 1,000-point mark her sophomore season.

GAME 1  Virginia Tech 77, Longwood 55 Blacksburg, Va. • Nov. 13, 2009

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Last year, it took the Virginia Tech women's basketball team 27 games before it had five players tally double-figure scoring in the same game. This year, it took just one.

Five Hokies, including two freshmen, scored at least 10 points as Tech rolled to a 77-55 victory over visiting Longwood in the 2009-10 season opener in Cassell Coliseum.

Senior Utahya Drye and freshman Alyssa Fenyn each netted 15 points to pace Tech, while sophomore Shanel Harrison (13), junior Nikki Davis (11) and freshman Abby Redick (10) joined them in double digits

All said, Tech's five freshmen combined to score 32 points (Aerial Wilson added six and Porschia Hadley had one) and eased the load off of Drye and Biggs.

Though Fenyn hit just 6-of-14 from the floor, 10 of her 15 points came during a pair of big Hokie runs - one in the first half and one in the second half.

The first 10 minutes were a back-and-forth affair, but Tech then embarked on a $21-4$ run - one that included a 5:03 scoreless drought by Longwood - to end the half and enter the break up 34-19.

The Lancers began the second half with six quick points, but Tech responded with a 25-10 run over a span of seven minutes to rebuild the lead. The run was fueled by Tech's youngsters - Fenyn, Wilson and Harrison combined for 19 of the points - and the Hokies coasted the rest of the way to record their 17th home-opening win in the past 18 tries.

In addition to her 11 points, Davis tied Tech careerhighs with seven rebounds and six assists. She also made three steals and pushed the pace for Tech all night long.

Though the Hokies won handily in this one - they out-rebounded Longwood by 21, scored 20 more points in the paint and dominated in both second-chance and fast-break points - there are still things to work on. Tech shot just 40 percent from the floor and 50 percent from the free-throw line, and gave up 36 second-half points.

GAME 2  VCU 72, Virginia Tech 58 Richmond, Va. • Nov. 16, 2009

RICHCMOND, Va. - Virginia Tech took great care of the basketball in the season-opening, 77-55, win against Longwood, committing only 13 turnovers. However, at Virginia Commonwealth the complete opposite was true as the Hokies committed 24 turnovers in a 72-58 defeat at Verizon Wireless Arena.

The teams battled evenly through the first nine minutes with VCU leading by as many as five points only to see Tech tie the game at 20-20 at the 10:39 mark on a layup by Abby Redick. Little did the Hokies know that they would only connect on one more field goal for the remainder of the half. During the drought, the Tech offense committed 10 turnovers and was only 1-of-8 from the field. Fortunately for the Hokies, the Rams also had scoring difficulties and led only 30-24 at the intermission.

Starters Utahya Drye and Lindsay Biggs found themselves in early foul trouble and Drye managed only three points while Biggs was held scoreless. Another starter, Nikki Davis was limited to only two points in the opening frame.

While only down by six, the Hokies quickly found themselves in a deep hole in the second half as the Rams exploded out of the locker room and produced a 13-2 run to build their biggest lead of the night at 43-26. Tech made a run at the Rams midway through the half and closed to within six, 50-44, on a Shanel Harrison layup with 8:32 remaining.

VCU's La'Tavia Rorie nailed a trey to stop the Hokie surge and Tech never drew closer than 10 points the rest of the way.

Drye led Tech with 14 points followed by Alyssa Fenyn with 13 points. Junior Brittany Gordon led the board work with eight rebounds.

GAME 3

Virginia Tech 70, George Mason 41 Blacksburg, Va. • Nov. 19, 2009

BLACKSBURG, Va. - It took her a couple of games, but Lindsay Biggs finally got back to her old self.

After scoring only eight points combined in Virginia Tech's first two contests, the senior guard went off for a game-high 18 in the Hokies' 70-41 win over George Mason on Thursday night at Cassell Coliseum.

She was on indeed, hitting 5-of-9 from the 3-point line and adding three free throws to account for the highest point total any Hokie has had this season.

Four freshmen played at least 15 minutes each in this one, as Dunkenberger continued to tinker with various lineups. Two of those runs came in the first half, which afforded the Hokies some breathing room at the intermission.

The Patriots drilled three treys in the first seven-plus minutes, but a 12-2 Tech run opened a 10-point lead by the 9:06 mark. A quick, 7-0 spurt by Mason nearly nullified that, but the Hokies ended the half on a 16-4 swing that gave them a 39-24 advantage.

Things slowed to a screeching halt in the second half, as the first 12 minutes of play included an 8:41 scoring drought for Mason, and a span of 9:55 (including a 4:34 scoring drought) without a field goal for Tech.

Though the Patriots never threatened in the second half, Tech made sure to put things out of reach by finishing the game with a 15-4 run over the final 5:30 to win going away by 29.

Ashleigh Braxton and Brittany Eley paced Mason with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

GAME 5  Virginia Tech 78, Radford 51 Radford, Va. • Nov. 25, 2009

RADFORD, Va. -- Virginia Tech, behind the longrange shooting of Lindsay Biggs, overcame a sluggish first half to win going away, 78-51, over Radford at the Dedmon Center. Tech improved to 3-2 with its first road victory of the season, while Radford dropped to 0-3. Tech now leads the series, 21-9, and has won nine of the last 10 games in the series, including five in a row on the Highlanders' home floor.

Radford, after trailing only 33-26 at the half, quickly closed to within five on its initial possession of the second half on a Denay Wood lay up. However, from that point on the Hokies totally dominated, connecting on 52.7 percent (29-55) from the floor. The Hokies also made a living on the inside, collecting 44 points in the paint, including 27 second-chance points. The Tech bench again proved to be a major contributor, outscoring the Highlander bench, 25-7.

The Highlanders, after not leading in any portion of their first two games, led three times early in the contest.

Biggs finished the game with 22 points and connected on five treys. After opening the season by going 0 -of-7 in the first two games behind the arc, she has connected on 13 of her last 23 three-point attempts. Gordon added 14 points, while Alyssa Fenyn tied a career-high with eight rebounds and Nikki Davis also tied a career-high with six assists.

Kymesha Alston led the Highlanders with 12 points while Kaylyn Crosier added 11. was only slightly better connecting on only $37.1 \%$ was only slightly better connecting on only $37.1 \%$ (23-62). Tech narrowly won the battle of the boards, 48-44, and each team committed 14 turnovers in the tight affair.

GAME 6

Virginia Tech 82, Elon 46 Blacksburg, Va. • Nov. 28, 2009

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Lindsay Biggs' 18 points paced four Hokies in double figures as the Virginia Tech women's basketball team gained an 82-46 victory over the Elon Phoenix on Saturday afternoon at Cassell Coliseum.

This first ever matchup between Tech and Elon opened a four-game home stand for the Hokies, who improved to 4-2 with the win. Elon dropped to 2-2 on the season.

Biggs continued her hot shooting by draining 6-of-11 from the field, including 4-of-7 from 3-point land, to score at least 18 points for the third time this season. The senior has now hit 17-of-30 3-point attempts over the past four games and is closing in on second place on Tech's all-time list for 3-pointers made in a career.

Joining Biggs in double figures were freshman Alyssa Fenyn (14 points), senior Utahya Drye (12) and freshman Porschia Hadley (career-high 10). Sophomore Shanel Harrison was just shy of double figures with nine points, while Drye added a game-high 10 rebounds to record her sixth-career double-double. Hadley also grabbed a careerhigh eight rebounds.

Sparked by a small but lively fan following, Elon jumped out to a 7-4 lead just over a minute into the game, but Tech took over after that and never slowed down. The Hokies allowed just 17 points the rest of the half, all the while cruising on 54.8 -percent shooting to build a 47-24 intermission advantage. Tech held Elon to a 22.6 field-goal percentage in the first stanza, and the Hokies' 47 points in the opening 20 minutes marked their highest single-half total of the season.

The Hokies didn't let up in the second half, limiting Elon to only 22 points, including a field-goal drought of 6:20 at one point. Virginia Tech dominated the final numbers in rebounding (44-30), field-goal percentage (54.1-29.6) and points in the paint (42-18), but the Hokies did commit 25 turnovers to Elon's 28.

Tech's winning margin of 36 points marked the highest margin of victory since the Hokies defeated North Carolina Central by 36 on Nov. 20 of last year.

GAME 7  Michigan 71, Virginia Tech 51 Blacksburg, Va. • Dec. 3, 2009

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Michigan shot 50.9 percent from the field, while holding Virginia Tech to a rate of 27.9 percent, to cruise to a 71-51 victory on Thursday night at Cassell Coliseum in the Big Ten/ACC Challenge.

Four players scored in the double figures for the Wolverines, who improved to 5-2 in the midst of an eight-game road swing. Meanwhile, the Hokies put up season lows in both points and field-goal percentage and saw their record drop to 4-3. Tech is now 1-2 throughout the first three years of the inter-conference challenge.

Michigan used massive runs at the start of each half to build leads that Tech could never come back from. Though the Hokies out-rebounded the much larger Wolverines 45-32 (including a 21-6 edge on the offensive end), they struggled on both ends of the court all night long.

Michigan's suffocating defense, paired with five 3 -pointers by five different players, helped the Wolverines to a commanding 24-6 advantage 12-and-a-half minutes into the game. The Hokies were able to out-score Michigan 16-9 over the half's final eight minutes to pull within 11, 33-22, but an identical 24-6 run to open the second stanza made it all for naught.

The Hokies endured a field-goal drought of $4: 47$ as Michigan built a 29-point lead midway through the second period. Though Tech managed 20 points over the game's final 10 minutes, the damage was done and the Hokies suffered their worst defeat of the young season.

Junior guard Nikki Davis led the Hokies with 11 points, while senior Lindsay Biggs had an off night with just six points on 2-of-14 shooting.

Veronica Hicks paced the Wolverines with 19 points on 8 -of-9 shooting, while adding six assists. Dayeesha Hollins scored 16 points and dished out a game-high eight assists, and also tallied four steals. Six-foot-six Krista Phillips blocked five shots to go with 12 points and eight boards, while Carmen Reynolds chipped in with 10 points.

Virginia Tech 85, North Carolina Central 44 Blacksburg, Va. • Dec. 6, 2009

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Virginia Tech got career-high point totals from three different players, as well as 41 points off the bench, to cruise to an 85-44 victory over North Carolina Central in the first game of a men's/ women's basketball doubleheader at Cassell Coliseum on Sunday afternoon.

The Hokies, who improved to 5-3 on the season, jumped out to a 23-6 lead in the first half and never looked back, shooting 45.9 percent from the floor and assisting on 23 of the 34 made field goals. The Eagles shot just 31.4 percent from the floor and 60 percent from the free-throw line, and saw their record fall to $0-7$ on the year.

Though the Eagles slowed the Hokies down and managed to out-score Tech 15-14 to close the half, a 15-2 Tech run to open the second period eliminated any doubt about the outcome of the game.

Freshman Porschia Hadley registered her first-career double-double with personal highs in both points (15) and rebounds (10) of 6 -of-12 shooting in only 16 minutes of action. She had help in the post from junior Brittany Gordon, who shot 6-of-10 for a career-best 15 points as well. Freshman Alyssa Fenyn netted 13 points, senior Utahya Drye added 10 to go with nine rebounds, and freshman Aerial Wilson poured in a personal-best nine points. Sophomore Shanel Harrison pulled down a game-high 11 rebounds.

Shanise Blanks hit 8-of-14 from the floor, including 4-of-6 from 3-point land, to tally a career-high 20 points for NC Central, which turned the ball over 29 times.

GAME 9

Virginia Tech 44, Mount St. Mary's 42 Blacksburg, Va. • Dec. 9, 2009

BLACKSBURG, Va. - It was a tale of two halves at Cassell Coliseum on Wednesday evening, as the Virginia Tech women's basketball team overcame a 27-12 halftime deficit to defeat visiting Mount St. Mary's, 4442, in the first game of a men's/women's doubleheader.

After tying a program low for points in a half in the first period, Tech rode Lindsay Biggs' 15 second-half points to eke out the victory and improve to 6-3 on the season. The Mount dropped to 3-6.

The Hokies certainly looked bad in the first half, as they hit on just 22.2 percent ( 6 -of- 27 ) from the field, including 0 -for- 5 from behind the arc. Throughout the half, Tech endured two separate scoring droughts of over four minutes, and scored just four points over the half's final 10:32. After entering the game ranked fourth in the nation in rebounding margin, the Hokies even trailed 21-12 on the boards, and it all led to a point total that hadn't been matched by a Tech team since 1978.

Tech completely turned the tables on The Mount, holding the visitors to a 25 percent ( 5 -of-20) success rate from the field in the second half. Tech regained its rebounding advantage (26-10), hit nearly 45 percent of its own shots and jumped out to a 16-4 run to begin the period. Biggs accounted for 10 of those points and went on to score all of her game-high 15 in the period to secure the win.

Biggs' third trey with 7:34 remaining completed the comeback, tying the score at 35 all, and a layup by fellow senior Utahya Drye gave Tech its first lead at the seven-minute mark.

The teams traded points the rest of the way, and The Mount's Hassanah Oliver had a chance to tie it in the final seconds. But her layup rolled off the rim and Tech freshman Alyssa Fenyn grabbed the rebound. Fenyn was fouled and missed the front end of a one-and-one, but Drye came up with the offensive board to run out the clock.

GAME 10
Virginia Tech 68, UAB 66 OT Queens, N.Y. • Dec. 19, 2009

QUEENS, N.Y. - Virginia Tech got key performances in overtime from freshman Alyssa Fenyn and senior Lindsay Biggs to defeat UAB, 68-66, in the opening round of the St. John's-Chartwells Holiday Classic.

After battling to a 56-56 standstill through regulation, Tech took a 57-56 lead on a Nikki Davis free throw only to see the Blazers take the lead on a Jala Harris layup. The Hokies reclaimed the advantage, 5958, as Fenyn nailed a jumper in the paint. Tamika Dukes made good on one of two charity tosses at the three minute mark to tie the game. On the next possession Biggs drained a three-pointer only to see Amanda Peterson can a deep trey to knot the score again at 62 midway through the extra period.

The Hokies suffered a turnover on their next possession and Dukes made them pay with a jumper with two minutes left. However, Biggs rose to the occasion again with an old-fashioned three-point play to put Tech in front to stay, 65-64. UAB missed a jumper on the following possession and Brittany Gordon was fouled. Gordon calmly stepped to the line and drained both free throws with 27 seconds remaining.

The Hokies were whistled for a foul with 10 seconds left and Dukes converted both free throws to narrow the Tech advantage to $67-66$. Fenyn was fouled three seconds later and made one of two free throws. The Blazers got the rebound, but Harris missed a desperation 30 -footer from the right wing as the final buzzer sounded.

Fenyn led four players in double figures with 15 points, followed by Davis with 12 points off the bench. Gordon registered her third-career double-double with 11 points and 10 rebounds while Biggs also tossed in 11.

GAME 11
St. John's 75, Virginia Tech 62 Queens, N.Y. • Dec. 20, 2009

QUEENS, N.Y. - St. John's free throw shooting proved to be the difference in the Red Storm's 75-62 win over Virginia Tech in the championship game of the St. John's-Chartwells Holiday Classic. The event was played in Carnesecca Arena on the St. John's campus.

The Red Storm led by as many as seven points early in the contest only to see the Hokies briefly take a 21-20 lead just over five minutes remaining in the first half. St. John's outscored Tech, 11-5, the rest of way to build a 31-26 advantage at intermission. Eight of the 11 points in the run came at the free throw line.

The host stormed out of the locker room on an 8-0 run to increase the advantage to 13 points and the Hokies could get no closer than seven points the rest of the way.

The difference in the game was at the charity stripe where the Red Storm connnected on 21-of-30 attempts while the Hokies were 9 -of-13. The game also marked the first time all season Tech had not won the rebound battle as St. John's held a 43-36 edge on the boards.

Lindsey Biggs led the Hokies with 15 points, followed Utahya Drye with nine points. Nikki Davis, Porschia Hadley and Alyssa Fenyn each added eight points. Biggs and Fenyn were named to the All-Tournament team.

GAME 12

Virginia Tech 67, NJIT 51
Blacksburg, Va. • Dec. 29, 2009
BLACKSBURG, Va. - After struggling to begin the game, Virginia Tech made a late second-half run to defeat the New Jersey Institute of Technology, 67-51, on Tuesday night in the 20th annual Hilton Garden Classic at Cassell Coliseum.

Tech missed its first five field-goal attempts and fell behind 9-2 early on, but slowly chipped away and took its first lead, 20-19, at the 6:16 mark of the first half.

NJIT hung around and trailed 46-43 with just under eight minutes to play in the second half, but that's when Tech exploded for 10 unanswered points to pull away for good. The Hokies finished the game on a 21-8 run, improving their season record to 8-4 with the win. NJIT dropped to 3-8 with the loss.

Despite hitting just one of their 14 3-point attempts, the Hokies finished the game 30 -of- 63 for 47.6 percent, including a mark of 55.2 percent in the second half. The lone made 3 -pointer was the 158 th of senior Lindsay Biggs' career, and she now sits alone in second place on Tech's all-time list in that category. She passed Sarah Hicks (1997-2002) and now has her sights set on school leader Carrie Mason's 200 made treys from 2002-06.

Fellow senior Utahya Drye recorded her seventhcareer double-double with 13 points and 10 rebounds, while freshman Porschia Hadley added 10 and six. Redshirt junior Nikki Davis dished out a career-high eight assists.

Taiwo Oyelola paced NJIT with 16 points.

GAME 13

Virginia Tech 56, Charlotte 54 Blacksburg, Va. • Dec. 30, 2009

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Lindsay Biggs' game-high 19 points was enough to lift Virginia Tech to a 56-54 win over Charlotte in a tightly contested Hilton Garden Classic title game at Cassell Coliseum.

Senior Utahya Drye joined Biggs in double figures by scoring 12 points, as the two combined to lead the Hokies to the tournament title for the 11th time in the past 12 years. Last year was the first time Tech had lost a game in its annual holiday tournament, now in its 20th year, since 1997.

Though the 49ers led just once early in the game, they cut the lead to one on four occasions in the second half, and, each time, Biggs or Drye answered with a big shot to cushion the Hokies' lead. The first time was at 13:41 of the second half, when Charlotte's Shannon McCallum made it 35-34 with a put-back, but Drye responded with a jumper. Kendria Holmes then hit a jumper of her own on Charlotte's next possession to make it 37-36, but Biggs fired back with one of her three treys to give Tech a four-point lead.

Charlotte's Aysha Jones hit a 3 at 4:04 to cut Tech's lead to 48-47, but a Biggs jumper a minute and a half later got it back up to three. Two free throws by McCallum at 1:22 made things interesting, but Drye ripped down an offensive rebound and laid it in with 55 ticks left to score arguably the most important bucket of the game.

It's fitting that the key shot came off of an offensive rebound, because Charlotte dominated on the offensive glass all night, grabbing 23 offensive boards to just 20 defensive boards. But Drye made hers count the most.

Tech would sink four more free throws before the end of the game to negate five Charlotte points in the final 13 seconds, and Drye credited that to Tech's aggressiveness.

Biggs was named the MVP of the event, and she was joined on the all-tournament team by Drye, Jones, Charlotte's Ashley Spriggs, NJIT's Taiwo Oyelola and CCSU's Kerrianne Dugan.

GAME 14

Virginia Tech 74, UMBC 44 Blacksburg, Va. • Jan. 3, 2010

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Senior Utahya Drye's 14 points led seven Hokies who scored at least eight points, as the Virginia Tech women's basketball team cruised to a 74-44 victory over the University of Maryland, Baltimore County.

The win was the Hokies' third victory this season by at least 30 points. UMBC dropped to 6-7 with the loss.

The Hokies hit 12 of their first 17 shots (70.6 percent) to jump out to a 13 -point lead. Tech eventually held a 20 -point halftime bulge and then opened the second half on a $9-2$ run to build 50-28 advantage.

Though the Hokies' shooting cooled down in the second half, they kept up the defensive pressure and forced the Retrievers into a field-goal drought of 10:13, building a game-high lead of 32 points in the process.

Joining Drye (who added 10 rebounds for her fourth double-double of the season) and Fenyn in the scoring column were Lakeisha Logan with nine points, and Porschia Hadley, Nikki Davis, Lindsay Biggs and Brittany Gordon, all with eight points each. Davis added careerhighs of nine rebounds and eight assists to flirt with a triple-double.

Logan hit three of the Hokies season-high seven 3 -pointers. Tech also set a season high in team rebounds (55) and rebounding margin (+26).

Michelle Kurowski paced UMBC with 13 points.

Wake Forest 66, Virginia Tech 63 Winston-Salem, N.C. • Jan. 7, 2010

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. - Wake Forest used an 11-1 run in the final $4: 19$ to pull off a come-from-behind 66-63 victory over Virginia Tech at Joel Coliseum in the Atlantic Coast Conference opener for both teams. After a back-and-forth second half, Tech seemed to have taken control when Lindsay Biggs nailed a trey to complete an 8-0 run that gave the Hokies a 62-55 lead. Unfortunately, that was the point where Wake Forest began the comeback.

Demon Deacon freshman center Sandra Garcia, who had a game-high 22 points, keyed the winning charge by scoring seven points down the stretch. Garcia nailed a go-ahead three-pointer from the left wing with 23 seconds left on the clock, giving Wake a 65-63 advantage. Following a Demon Deacon timeout to set up the defense, the Hokies got the ball inside to Alyssa Fenyn, but her layup attempt was blocked by Brittany Waters with only four ticks remaining in the contest. After a Tech foul, Secily Ray made the second of two free throws and the Hokies used their final timeout.

Nikki Davis raced up the floor into the frontcourt, but had the ball stolen by freshman Lakevia Boykin as time expired.

The opening half featured big runs by each team as the Demon Deacons jumped out to an 11-2 lead in the first three minutes, forcing the Hokies to take a quick timeout. Tech, behind three-point buckets from Biggs and Davis, responded with a 20-4 run to briefly take a 22-18 lead. The teams battled back and forth, with the Hokies taking a 33-30 lead to the locker room.

Utahya Drye led Tech with 15 points, including 12 in the second half. Davis finished the game with 14 points including two treys, while Fenyn and Biggs added eight points each.

GAME 16
Virginia Tech 79, #10/11 UNC 64,
Blacksburg, Va. • Jan. 14, 2010
BLACKSBURG, Va. - Can a 15 -point blowout victory, one in which the winning team led by as many as 23 with eight minutes to play, be accurately called an upset?

Maybe, maybe not. But for the Virginia Tech women's basketball team, the answer is a resounding yes.

The Hokies, winless against ranked teams since early 2006 and winless against preseason ACC favorite North Carolina since 1984, pulled off one for the memories, toppling the 10th-ranked Tar Heels to record a 7964 victory in the conference home opener at Cassell Coliseum.

The Hokies completed this upset in dominating fashion, outclassing the much taller Tar Heels in every facet of the game aside from rebounding. Though Carolina grabbed 51 rebounds to Tech's 37, 29 of them came on the offensive end as a result of the Hokies' defense limiting Carolina to 33 percent shooting for the game.

Meanwhile, Tech hit 49 percent of its shots, many of which came off of UNC's 24 turnovers. The Hokies tallied 32 points off of turnovers, as well as 50 points in the paint, as they routinely found the open player for the easy bucket.

One of those players was junior Brittany Gordon, who scored a career-high 17 points despite fouling out of the game.

Gordon was joined in double figures by Biggs (19), Drye (16) and freshman Alyssa Fenyn (10).

Freshman Porschia Hadley, who nearly matched her career blocks total of five by sending away four shots, stopped the bleeding with a jumper at $5: 45$. The teams traded points from there on out, as the Hokie faithful prepared to rush the court. But Tech stayed the course until it knew the game was in hand.

GAME 17
#25/24 Virginia 70, Virginia Tech 56 Blacksburg, Va. • Jan. 18, 2010

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Virginia senior Monica Wright's 27 points proved too much to overcome as Virginia Tech lost to the 25th-ranked Cavaliers, 70-56, and fell short in its bid to defeat ranked teams in back-to-back games for the first time in program history.

Though the Virginia defense only forced 10 turnovers (a season-low for Tech), it did hold the Hokies to 36.5 percent shooting, including a mark of 27.8 percent in the first half.

Despite that, Tech trailed by just two (25-23) at the half, and briefly took a 27-25 lead two minutes into the second stanza. An 8-2 spurt by the Cavaliers gave them a 33-29 advantage, but Tech freshman Porschia Hadley's jumper cut it back to a pair at 33-31.

That's when Wright and Virginia took over for good, reeling off an 18-6 run over a five-minute stretch that put the visitors up, 51-37, with 10 minutes to play.

Virginia nailed 18 of its 29 shot attempts ( 62.1 percent) in the second half, with Wright scoring 17 of her points in the half. Wright hit 11-of-17 in the game, and improved upon her scoring average of 20.9 points per game that ranked second in the ACC.

Virginia Tech senior Utahya Drye put on a show of her own, hitting 8-of-14 from the field, and 2-of-3 from the line, to tally a season- and team-high 18 points.

Drye didn't receive much help, however, as the rest of the Hokies combined to shoot 31 percent (15-of-49). Only fellow senior Lindsay Biggs scored more than six, as she went 4-of-11, including 3-of-7 from downtown, for 11 points.

Drye added seven rebounds, six assists and two steals for the Hokies, who have now lost seven straight to Virginia.

For Virginia, Wright was joined in double figures by Whitny Edwards (11 points) and Ariana Moorer (10).

GAME 18  #6 Duke 69, Virginia Tech 38 Durham, N.C. • Jan. 21, 2010

DURHAM, N.C. - After keeping things close in the first half, a second half offensive explosion from sixthranked Duke proved to be too much for Virginia Tech in a 69-38 loss at Cameron Indoor Stadium.

The Blue Devils, whose 23 -game home-winning streak was broken in their previous outing by topranked Connecticut, came out ready to play after the halftime break. After struggling offensively in the first half, the Blue Devils shot an improved 60 percent from the field in the second half, helped along by a 14-2 run to start the half.

Conversely, the Hokies weren't able to get anything going offensively in the second half, as they struggled to shoot only 27.3 percent. Brittany Gordon, who tallied 10 points in the half, was the only Hokie in double figures with 14 points and a team-high eight rebounds. Tech, who had only 26 turnovers combined in its previous two games against North Carolina and Virginia, suffered the same number against Duke, and the Blue Devils converted those turnovers into 28 points.

Both teams struggled offensively in the first half with Duke taking a 22-15 lead to the locker room. The 15 points were the fewest points scored by the Hokies in any half of an ACC game since the Hokies entered the league in 2004. The 38 points also set a new program low for fewest points in an ACC game.

Virginia Tech 73, Miami 69 Miami, Fla. • Jan. 24, 2010

CORAL GABLES, Fla. - Nikki Davis had the game of her college career Sunday afternoon, scoring 29 points to lead Virginia Tech to a 73-69 victory over Miami at BankUnited Center on the University of Miami campus.

Davis set career highs with five three-point field goals and 14 free throws in 18 attempts. The free throws made and attempted were the most by a Tech player in an ACC contest. Also, the 29-point performance ties for the seventh most points in a game in Tech history. Utahya Drye added 20 points and nine rebounds. Brittany Gordon had a game-high 10 rebounds for the Hokies.

Shenise Johnson led three Miami players in double figures with 18 points followed by Riquna Williams and Diane Barnes with 15 and 14 points, respectively. Williams, who entered the game leading the ACC averaging 21.2 points a game, was only 4 -of- 17 from the field and picked up most her points in the waning moments of the contest.

Miami led by six, 35-29, at intermission before the Hokies tied the game at 42-42 six minutes deep into the second half. Miami tied the game at 46 on a Johnson layup with 12:04 left in the game. That would be the Hurricanes last field goal until hit a jumper with only 92 ticks left on the clock. During the span, the Hokies would put together a 19-10 run to build a 65-56 advantage.

Two Davis free throws gave Tech its largest lead, 6756, moments later and the Hokies held on for the win.

Just three days after No. 6 Duke limited the Hokies to only 38 total points, a Tech low for scoring output in an ACC game, the Hokies responded with 44 points in the second half versus the Hurricanes, including 18 points from the charity stripe. Tech entered the game averaging only 3.8 three-point field goals per game, connected on 6-of-11 from behind the arc while Miami, averaging 6.8 treys, made only 2-of-16 attempts.

GAME 20  Maryland 60, Virginia Tech 44  Blacksburg, Va. • Jan. 28, 2010

BLACKSBURG, Va. - A few scoring spurts in each half, with big numbers from Lori Bjork and Lynetta Kizer, lifted the visiting Maryland Terrapins over Virginia Tech, 60-44.

Tech hung with the Terps for the first 15 minutes, but Maryland, sparked by three treys from Bjork, went on a 14-1 run over a 3:20 stretch to take a 29-18 lead. Maryland drilled five treys in the first half, and after four quick points from the Hokies, took a 29-22 lead into the break.

The Hokies then scored the first four points of the second half to pull within three, prompting a timeout by Maryland at the 17:59 mark. The Terps then began pounding it inside to the 6 -foot- 4 Kizer, who netted six points in the middle of a pivotal 11-0 run that gave Maryland a 14 -point lead, $40-26$, with 14:36 to play.

Kizer went on to score 15 of her 18 points in the second half, and Tech never got within 10 points the rest of the way.

Though Tech out-classed the Terps in points off turnovers, fast-break points, blocks, steals and freethrow shooting, Maryland gained big advantages in rebounding and field-goal shooting.

One thing that troubled the Hokies all night was the absence of starting point guard Nikki Davis, who injured her knee in practice and did not play.

The 29 percent success rate was the second lowest mark of the season for Tech, and the Hokies only hit 8 percent (1-for-12) from 3-point range. That low number was because normal sharpshooter Lindsay Biggs spent the game at point guard in place of Davis and never found her stroke.

Utahya Drye led the Hokies with 15 points on 5-of10 shooting, while Alyssa Fenyn added 11 and Shanel Harrison scored 10, with a team-high seven rebounds. Bjork ended up with 22 points on 8 -of- 11 shooting, including 4-of-7 from long distance. Kizer pulled down 16 rebounds to go with her 18 points and four steals.

#25 Georgia Tech 61, Virginia Tech 47 Blacksburg, Va. • Jan. 31, 2010

ATLANTA, Ga. - The combination of cold shooting and turnovers proved costly as Virginia Tech lost, 61-47, to No. 25 Georgia Tech at Alexander Memorial Coliseum on the Georgia Tech campus.

Tech, which suffered two scoring droughts of six and five minutes in the first half, trailed only 31-24 at intermission. However, Georgia Tech slowly pulled away in the second half to extend its lead to as many as 20 points and cruised to the victory.

The Hokies, playing a second straight game without point guard Nikki Davis who suffered a knee strain in practice on Tuesday, struggled from the field the entire afternoon shooting only 30.5 percent (18-59). Utahya Drye was the only Tech player in double figures with 15 points and 11 rebounds. The double-double was the ninth of her career.

While Drye was 6-of-13 from the field, Tech starters Brittany Gordon, Alyssa Fenyn, Lindsay Biggs and Shanel Harrison combined to connect on only 4-of-31 field goal attempts. The Hokies suffered 18 turnovers which Georgia Tech converted into 22 points.

The Hokies did get good production out of freshman Aerial Wilson who contributed eight points, including a three-point field goal. The Tech bench also outscored the Yellow Jacket bench, 22-11.

Georgia Tech placed four players in double figures led by Brigitte Ardossi with 15 points while Alex Montgomery, Sasha Goodlett and Deja Foster each finished with 11 points. Montgomery left the game late in the first half after hitting three treys with a severe sinus infection.

Wake Forest 58, Virginia Tech 51 Blacksburg, Va. • Feb. 5, 2010

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Despite holding an 11-point lead with under eight minutes to play, Virginia Tech fell to visiting Wake Forest, 58-51, at Cassell Coliseum after coming out on the wrong end of an 18-0 run.

The Hokies held their largest lead at the 10:19 mark of the second half after a Shanel Harrison 3-pointer capped a 20-8 run by Tech and made it 45-33. After Wake's Tiffany Roulhac matched Harrison with a trey of her own and Tech's Alyssa Fenyn hit a lay-up with 7:45 remaining to make it 47-36, Tech's lead began to crumble.

In fact, Tech threw the ball away eight times in a span of 4:17, while Wake Forest paired Tech's miscues with 18 unanswered points to take a 54-47 advantage with $1: 47$ remaining. Wake's Secily Ray started the run and ended it, totaling seven of her 13 points - all of which came in the second half - during the gamechanging spurt.

Harrison finally hit a jumper with 53 seconds remaining to stop the bleeding, but the damage was done - Tech had endured a scoring drought of 6:52 and they were left without any timeouts.

The Hokies only turned the ball over once more than Wake did (17-16), but nearly half of the turnovers came during that four-minute stretch to compound the effect.

After shooting only 30 percent in the first half, the Deacs hit on 55.6 percent of their shots in the second half and wound up with three players in double figures. In addition to Ray's 13 points, Sandra Garcia added 17 (and a game-high 12 rebounds) and Brittany Waters netted 10.

Biggs paced the Hokies with 12 points on 5-of-13 shooting, while Drye and Harrison added nine points apiece. Shani Grey scored a season-high eight points.

GAME 23
NC State 70, Virginia Tech 57 Raleigh, N.C. • Feb. 7, 2010

RALEIGH, N.C. - NC State used a 29-9 run to close the first half and coast to a 70-57 win over Virginia Tech Sunday afternoon at Reynolds Coliseum on the NC State campus.

Virginia Tech opened the game on a 14-4 run, including treys by Utahya Drye, Shani Grey and Lindsay Biggs, forcing NC State to take a timeout only six minutes into to contest. The Wolfpack came out of the timeout and promptly went on a 12-0 run to take a lead they would never relinquish.

The Wolfpack also were solid throughout the game at the free throw line, connecting on 22-of-24, and outscored the Hokies $30-20$ in the paint. Tech suffered 25 turnovers, the second most this season.

Lindsay Biggs led the Hokies with a game-high 21 points, followed by Utahya Drye with 12 points and eight rebounds. In the contest Drye joined Kerri Gardin (2002-2006) as the only players in the history of the program to have 1,000 points, 600 rebounds and 200 assists.

NC State placed three players in double figures, led by Marissa Kastanek with 19 points. Amber White and Bonae Holston added 15 and 12 points, respectively.

GAME 24  Virginia Tech 68, Savannah State 41

 Blacksburg, Va. • Feb. 11, 2010BLACKSBURG, Va. - Despite shooting just 18 percent in the first half and trailing by two at the break, the Virginia Tech women's basketball team defeated Savannah State in runaway fashion at Cassell Coliseum, winning 68-41 in its final non-conference game of the season.

Sophomore Shanel Harrison had a career night for the Hokies, scoring a personal-best 18 points on 6-of9 from the floor and 5-of-6 from the free-throw line. She also tied a career-high with four blocked shots, and added eight rebounds, four assists and two steals.

Senior Lindsay Biggs added 15 points, all in the second half, on 7 -of-15 shooting, and also tied a career high with three blocks. Senior Utahya Drye added 11 points to tie Michelle Houseright (1995-99) for 14th on Tech's all-time scoring list. Junior Nikki Davis dished out a game-high eight assists, and freshman Alyssa Fenyn grabbed eight rebounds off the bench.

The Lady Tigers gave Tech a scare in the first half, finishing the period on an 18-5 run that put them up 23-21. The Hokies played the final 12:29 of the half without hitting a field goal and finished the period hitting just 6-of-32 from the field. They also committed eight turnovers to just four assists.

After the intermission, Tech hit eight of its first 10 shots on its way to 21-of-30 for the period. The Hokies outscored Savannah State 47-18 in the game's final 20 minutes, falling one point shy of their highest singlehalf output of the season. They also improved their ball-handling, recording 14 assists to nine turnovers.

Tech finished the game shooting 43.5 percent, while holding Savannah State to 17.4 percent in the second half and 23.5 percent overall. Mattisha Mangum led the Lady Tigers with 10 points.

GAME 25  #8/7 Duke 65, Virginia Tech 53 Blacksburg, Va. • Feb. 14, 2010

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Despite leading the No. 8/7 Duke Blue Devils with under seven minutes to play, Virginia Tech succumbed to a late 10-0 run to fall by a score of 65-53 in Cassell Coliseum.

Things didn't look good for the Hokies at the start, as the Blue Devils took a 20-7 lead less than 10 minutes into the game, thanks to an $18-4$ run that was sparked by three 3-pointers. However, Tech closed the half on an 11-4 run, 30-26.

The Hokies performed well in the second half, slugging it out with Duke until a three-point play by sophomore Shanel Harrison gave Tech its first lead since the opening minutes of the contest. The Washington, D.C., native tied the game at 41 on her shot, getting fouled in the process and sending the season-high crowd of 3,369 fans into a frenzy. She converted the ensuing free throw to put the Hokies up 42-41 with 7:50 left on the clock.

Tech's Brittany Gordon hit two free throws to give the Hokies a 44-43 lead at 6:50, but that was the final lead that Tech would hold. The Blue Devils soon ripped off a 10-0 run by hitting four consecutive shots and a free throw to go up 53-44 by the 3:21 mark.

Harrison ended a Tech field-goal drought of nearly five minutes at 2:52 with another put-back, but the Hokies would get no closer than five points the rest of the way.

The Hokies grabbed 37 rebounds to the larger Blue Devils' 34 , marking just the fourth time this season that Duke has been out-rebounded.

Harrison finished the game with a team-high 14 points and 10 rebounds, earning her third career double-double. She has now grabbed at least seven rebounds in each of her last six games. Biggs finished with 13 points, including three treys.Thomas scored a game-high 22 points and had five assists for Duke.

GAME 26

#10 Florida State 78, Virginia Tech 68 Tallahassee, Fla. • Feb. 18, 2010

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. - Florida State used both a strong inside game and long range shooting to defeat a scrappy Virginia Tech squad, 78-68, at the Donald L. Tucker Civic Center.

Following a slow start by both teams, Florida State opened up a 18-9 lead with eight minutes remaining in the first half. Tech's Shanel Harrison and center Brittany Gordon each picked up early fouls forcing the Hokies to play freshmen Porschia Hadley and Taylor Ayers in the paint.

Tech responded with a 9-0 run to tie the game with Biggs accounting for five points and Hadley the remaining four points. The remainder of the first half was a close affair, however, FSU's Alexa Deluzio nailed a trey with six seconds on the clock to give the Seminoles a 32-27 lead at intermission.

Florida State took control of the game in the opening minutes of the second half. After a Utahya Drye jumper cut the lead to 32-29, the Seminoles went on an 11-0 run to build a 14 -point cushion at 43-29. The Hokies could get no closer than nine points the rest of the way.

The 'Noles connected on nine treys in the game and held a 40-28 advantage on the boards, including 19 offensive rebounds which led to 20 second chance points. Florida State also connected on 15-of-22 free throws while Tech made 7-of-11.

The Hokies were led by Lindsay Biggs with a season-high 23 points, including five treys. along with freshman Porschia Hadley's season-high tying 15-point effort.

Florida State placed four players in double-figures, led by Jacinta Monroe with 20 points, including four treys, and 11 rebounds. Courtney Ward added 14 points followed by Cierra Brevard and Alexa Deluzio with 13 and 11 points, respectively.

GAME 27

Virginia Tech 69, Boston College 64 Blacksburg, Va. • Feb. 21, 2010

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Junior Brittany Gordon poured in 14 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead Virginia Tech to a 69-64 win over Boston College.

Tech dominated the boards against the bigger foe to put away the Eagles. The Hokies out-rebounded BC 37-27, including 17 offensive rebounds marking only the fourth time in ACC play the Hokies have out-rebounded their opponent. Tech also turned 15 turnovers into 21 points.

Along with Gordon's fourth-career double-double, senior Lindsay Biggs tallied 17 points and senior Utahya Drye added 13. The Hokies shot 45 percent, while $B C$ posted a 49 percent shooting from the field.

Boston College opened a 15-9 gap with an 8-0 run early, but the Hokies answered with a 7-0 spurt of their own to take an 18-17 lead with 8:53 left in the first period. The lead exchanged hands three more times in the half, but a jumper by Murphy at the buzzer gave BC the 31-28 advantage.

Tech cut into the halftime advantage and retook the lead 2:22 into the second half. The two squads combined for 13 lead changes and four ties the rest of the way. An 11-2 run pushed the Hokies out to a 55-49 lead, their largest of the game, with 8:18 remaining.

An 11-2 run in BC's favor brought the Eagles back, but the Hokies responded, regaining the advantage, 61-60, behind a Biggs jumper from the baseline. After Boston College again gained the advantage at 64-63, Gordon came up with a huge offensive rebound and drew the fifth foul on the Eagles' big center Carolyn Swords. Gordon made both free throws and the Hokies jumped back out in front 65-64.

The Hokies played defense the rest of the way and made seven consecutive free throws to close out the game. BC's last chance fell short as the Eagles' Brittany Johnson forced an awkward three pointer that ticked harmlessly off the front of the rim, and Drye gathered the rebound.

GAME 28

Virginia Tech 70, Clemson 69 Blacksburg, Va. • Feb. 22, 2009

BLACKSBURG, Va. - Sophomore Shanel Harrison tallied a career-high 20 points and Virginia Tech received some clutch play from its seniors on senior night to hold off Clemson, 70-69, in Cassell Coliseum.

Tech honored seniors Lindsay Biggs, Utahya Drye and Lakeisha Logan before the game, and Biggs and Drye scored the final 10 points for the Hokies down the stretch as a tenacious Clemson squad rallied from an 18-point deficit early in the second half.

Harrison, who had 13 first-half points, continued to pour it on in the second half, scoring five quick points out of the break, and the Hokies extended their lead to as much as 18 but began to turn the ball over, allowing Clemson to cut into the cushion. Utilizing 13 second-half turnovers from the Hokies, Clemson went on a 34-16 run over 14 minutes of action to get back in the game.

Senior Lindsay Biggs hit a bucket to even the game back up and from there the two squads tied again at 62-62 and 64-64. After the Hokies made it a twopossession game at 68-64 behind four points from senior Utahya Drye, Clemson answered with a layup to close within two. Biggs was then fouled crossing half court and made both free throws, but the Tigers drilled a wild three-pointer on the other end to get close the gap the final margin, 70-69.

Harrison totaled 20 points on $8-11$ shooting to pace Tech, while Drye and Biggs added 13 and 10, respectively. Clemson's Lele Hardy led all scorers with 28 points, 22 in the second half, on 11-20 shooting. Hardy's 28 points were the most allowed by the Hokies to one player this season.

GAME 29
No. 21/18 Virginia 55, Virginia Tech 46 Charlottesville, Va. • Feb. 28, 2010

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. - Virginia Tech was able to slow down Monica Wright in the first half, but the ACC Preseason Player of the Year exploded for 18 second half points to lead the 21st-ranked Cavaliers to a 55-46 victory before 6,264 fans on Senior Day at John Paul Jones Arena.

The Hokies used a solid defensive effort in the first half to limit Virginia to 26.9 percent (7-26) from the field, including a 3 -of-10 performance by Wright. Shanel Harrison scored Tech's first five points as the Hokies built a seven-point lead, 19-12, with 5:30 remaining in the opening frame. The Cavaliers managed to close to within two points behind a 5-0 run, but could get no closer as the Hokies took a 25-20 lead into halftime.

Virginia, which picked up its eighth straight win in the series, came out of the locker room and quickly put together a 13-6 spurt to take its first lead, 33-31, on a Chelsea Shine three-point play at the 15:25 mark. The Cavaliers would never trail again in the contest. Wright scored eight of Virginia's points as the Cavaliers took control of the game with a 12-3 run which gave them their largest lead of 11 points at 45-34 with under 10 minutes to go. Virginia Tech was able to get no closer than six points the rest of the way.

Harrison was the only Hokie in double figures with 15 points and tied for the team lead with six rebounds. Nikki Davis added nine points, including three treys, to go along with four assists.

Wright led the Cavaliers with 27 points and 10 rebounds and was joined in double-figures by Lexie Gerson's 11-point effort. Shine had a game-high 12 rebounds as Virginia held a 44-36 advantage on the boards.

GAME 30
Boston College 62, Virginia Tech 49 Greensboro, N.C. • Mar. 4, 2010

GREENSBORO, N.C. - Seventh-seeded Boston College held 10th-seeded Virginia Tech to 30.8 percent shooting and cruised to a $62-49$ victory in the first round of the ACC Women's Basketball Tournament.

The Hokies struggled to get going in the first half, falling behind by as many as 17 points before going into the locker room down 12, 29-17.

Boston College hit six of its first 10 shots, while Tech went one for its first eight, and the Eagles jumped out to a 13-2 lead within the first six minutes. The lead gradually increased to 25-8 at the 6:35 mark, but Boston College's shooting eventually cooled down to the tune of 33 percent at the half.

Nikki Davis scored seven of the Hokies' nine points over the final 6:16 of the first half. Though the Eagles hit just two of their final 14 shots in the period, they were able to maintain the lead because they converted 10 offensive rebounds into nine second-chance points and held the Hokies to 19.4 percent shooting from the floor.

Things heated up in the second half, as BC went 5-of-7 and Tech went 7-of-12 over a back-and-forth first eight minutes of play. The Hokies cut the BC lead to seven on two occasions, including 36-29 at the 14:10 mark, but they would get no closer. BC would go on a 26-13 run from that point on to build a 20-point lead by the 3:09 mark.

The Hokies managed a 7-0 run to close the game, setting the final score at 62-49.

Tech was led by Davis' 10 points on 4-of-9 shooting, including 2-of-5 from 3-point land. Senior Utahya Drye added eight points and a game-high nine rebounds, moving into eighth place on Tech's all-time rebounding list with 645.

WOIMEN'S HOOPS AT ITS BEST THE ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

There's nothing quite like ACC basketball... it's action-packed and thrilling. The Hokies are proud to be a part of the most exciting and most televised conference in the nation. - Head Coach Beth Dunkenberger

The Virginia Tech women's basketball program has been built over the past decade on a sound foundation of success. The Hokies enter the 2010-11 campaign seeking an 11th postseason appearance in the last 15 years. This year's edition will include three seniors along with one junior, five sophomores and five freshmen. Beth Dunkenberger guided the Hokies to a 15-15 record in her sixth season at the helm, as well as the program's sixth in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Dunkenberger was a Tech assistant during the Hokies' first two NCAA tournament appearances, in 1994 and 1995, before becoming an assistant at Florida, and later earning her first head coaching job at Western Carolina. She has been a successful recruiter as well, signing Tech's first Parade All-American, Tere Williams, and coaching five players at Florida and one at Tech (Kerri Gardin) who later played in the WNBA.

The ACC became the fourth conference affiliation for Tech following stints in the Metro, Atlantic-10 and BIG EAST conferences. The Hokies tied for 10th in the ACC with a 4-10 league record last year in one of the toughest conferences in the nation. Tech's schedule was again one of the most difficult in the nation last season. The Hokies faced NCAA Elite Eight participant Duke and played a total of eight NCAA tournament teams (Duke, Florida State, Georgia Tech, James Madison, North Carolina, NC State, St. John's, Virginia) along with six WNIT participants (Charlotte, Maryland, Miami, Michigan, Virginia Commonwealth, Wake Forest). Tech's opponents had a . 547 winning percentage and 14 of the Hokies' 26 opponents advanced to postseason play. Last season, 11 opponents won 20 or more games, with 16 posting winning records.

The 2010-11 schedule will be another challenging one, as the Hokies face 2010 Elite Eight participant Duke along with seven other teams (Florida State, Georgia Tech, Iowa, North Carolina, NC State, Vanderbilt, Virginia) that made the 2010 NCAA Tournament field and eight teams (Charlotte, Delaware, Florida Gulf Coast, Maryland, Miami, Robert Morris, Virginia Commonwealth, Wake Forest) that participated in the WNIT. In addition, the schedule includes three teams (#6 Duke, #9 Florida State and #24 Vanderbilt) that ended the year in the ESPN/USA Today Top 25.

The Hokies will play home ACC contests against Duke, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Miami, NC State and Wake Forest.

The conference away slate includes Boston College, Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia and Wake Forest. With an enthusiastic roster, an energetic coaching staff, a solid fan base and a tradition of success, the Hokies eagerly await another season under Coach Beth Dunkenberger in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

THE TRADITION

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 58th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.
Since its inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 120 national championships, including 64 in women's competition and 56 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 130 times in men's competition and 91 times in women's action.

Since 1977, when the league adopted women's basketball, a tradition of excellence was established. It is that tradition that provides motivation for all 12 member institutions to reach new heights.
The 2005-06 season marked the first time in NCAA history that a conference sent three teams to the same Final Four. The title game pitted an automatic ACC winner as second-seeded Maryland faced No. 1 seed Duke. The Terrapins claimed their first national title in school history and the league's second with a thrilling 78-75 overtime game at the TD Banknorth Garden in Boston, Mass., on April 4, 2006.

Following the 2006-07 season, Duke became the first ACC team and only the 14th in NCAA history to finish a regular season undefeated (29-0), while 34 wins for North Carolina marked the most in program history.

The 2009-10 season was no different in the continuation towards excellence as eight ACC teams earned postseason bids, including six NCAA Tournament berths. It also marked the eighth consecutive year the league sent at least six to the "Big Dance." Duke, which won the school's sixth ACC Women's Basketball Championship and its first since winning five-straight from 200004, earned a No. 2 seed in the Memphis Region. The Blue Devils participated in their league-best 16th-straight NCAA tournament and 17th overall. Joining Duke among the top seeds selected for the 2010 NCAA Tournament was Florida State, which shared the league's regular-season crown with the Blue Devils. Joining Duke and Florida State as ACC representatives in the NCAA Tournament were Georgia Tech, North Carolina, NC State and Virginia. Maryland, Miami and Wake Forest received bids to participate in the 2010 Women's National Invitation Tournament (WNIT), extending the number of ACC postseason teams to nine - the fifth time the league has accomplished that feat and third time in the last seven years.

Duke and Florida State advanced to the NCAA Regional Finals, while Miami made a strong season finale by going 5-1 in the postseason WNIT, falling to California in the championship game. The Blue Devils advanced to the NCAA Regionals for the 12th time in the last 13 years, and made their eighth NCAA regional final appearance over the last 13 years and the first under head coach Joanne P. McCallie. Third-seeded FSU's 74-71 win over No. 7 -seed Mississippi State in the NCAA Tournament Sweet 16 secured the school's first-ever berth in the Elite Eight and gave the Seminoles their schoolrecord 29th victory of the season, breaking the 1982 squad's mark of 28. Miami advanced to play in its first WNIT Final, a tournament that expanded to 64 teams last season from 48 in previous years. The Hurricanes advanced to the championship game after defeating Florida Gulf Coast, Florida, North Carolina A&T, Providence and Michigan. It was the first time in school history that the Hurricanes advanced to a postseason tournament championship, and the nine-win improvement from the previous year was their most since 1992.

The league's women's basketball programs continue to rank among the best in the country in terms of the postseason tournaments, having made 156 NCAA Tournament appearances and winning 206 games in the last 33 years, including 36 wins by a number one seed. In addition to sending three teams to the same Final Four for the first time in NCAA history, the league has boasted such national accomplishments as sending at least one team to the "Sweet 16" for 22 consecutive seasons and at least one to the Final Four in 11 of the last 22 seasons. The conference has also made 14 trips to the Final Four in the last 29 seasons, with three teams finishing second and North Carolina and Maryland capturing National Championships in 1994 and 2006, respectively.

Since 1989, the ACC has placed 14 players on the All-Final Four team, including Maryland's Laura Harper, who in 2006 joined the ranks of Virginia's Dawn Staley and North Carolina's Charlotte Smith as the NCAA Tournament Most Outstanding Player. In all, 67 ACC players have been named to the NCAA Tournament All-Region teams with 10 Most Outstanding Player recognitions.

Over the years, ACC women's basketball teams have gained national recognition through their television exposure. The 2009-10 schedule featured 64 televised games and included 106 television appearances. In addition, ACC teams had six ESPN2 games, five national Fox Sports contests, and made seven appearances on ESPN's Big Monday Presented by Bud Light women's college basketball package, which featured the nation's top teams in action every Monday, primarily at 7 p.m. or 9 p.m. ET from January 11 to March 1. The league also had 23 games on the league's regional sports network, which includes Comcast SportsNet, Fox Sports Net South, SunSports and New England's Sports Network (NESN).

Eight players have garnered National Player of the Year accolades while competing under the ACC banner. Staley was a back-to-back selection in 1991 and 1992, while Smith received the ESPY award in 1995. Duke's Alana Beard was recognized with National Player of the Year honors in both 2003 and 2004, and UNC's Ivory Latta earned ESPN.com National Player of the Year in 2006. In 2007, Duke guard Lindsey Harding was named the Naismith Trophy Women's College Player of the Year presented by AT&T.

Five league coaches have combined to earn 13 National Coach of the Year honors. North Carolina's Sylvia Hatchell, Virginia's Debbie Ryan, former Maryland head coach Chris Weller, former Duke head coach Gail Goestenkors and the late NC State head coach Kay Yow all garnered national recognition.

Seven ACC representatives, including coaches and student-athletes, have participated in the Olympics. Yow, assisted by Hatchell, headed up the 1988 gold medal-winning Olympic team. Maryland's Vicky Bullett was a member of both the 1988 and 1992 Olympic teams. Staley, a three-time Olympian, struck gold in Athens as a member of the 2004 title squad, while Goestenkors served as an assistant coach on the gold medal-winning team in Athens.

Since the inaugural season of the Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) in 1997, the ACC has been a recognizable presence in the league. Eighty-three (83) former ACC stars have played on the hardwood in the WNBA, while six former players have worked the sidelines as coaches. Two ACC players were selected in the first round of the 2010 WNBA Draft, while four players were taken overall. The league's record was set in 2006 and 2007, with nine taken in the respective professional drafts.

In addition, ACC women's basketball players have earned first-team Academic All-America honors 10 times, including Virginia's Val Ackerman - the former President of the WNBA in 1981. In 1997, NC State's Jennifer Howard was tabbed GTE CoSIDA Academic Player of the Year after posting a flawless 4.0 grade point average throughout her career. Thirteen players have earned ACC postgraduate scholarships, while three others were named NCAA Postgraduate Scholars.

2009-10 IN REVIEW

The 2009-10 academic year saw league teams capturing an all-time high eight national team titles and nine individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has now won 50 national team titles over the last 13 years and two or more NCAA titles in 28 of the past 30 years.

The ACC was the only conference in America to place four of its teams in the final Top 10 rankings of the 2009-10 Learfield Director's Cup Standings symbolic of the nation's top overall programs - as Virginia (3rd), Florida State (5th), North Carolina (7th), and Duke (10th) were ranked nationally in the Top 10.

A total of 123 league teams earned a berth in NCAA postseason competition, compiling a 116-64-3 (.637) mark in NCAA championships. The ACC had 96 teams ranked in the final Top 25 polls, including 42 teams ranked in the Top 10, while six teams finished No. 1 in at least one poll in their respective sport. In addition, the ACC had 253 league student-athletes named to All-America teams in 2009-10, 127 men and 126 women, and 108 ACC athletes earned Academic All-America honors. The league produced six national Player of the Year, four national Freshman of the Year, and four national Coach of the Year honorees.

THE CHAMPIONSHIPS

The conference will conduct championship competition in 25 sports during the 2010-11 academic year - 12 for men and 13 for women.

The first ACC championship was held in swimming on February 25, 1954. The conference did not conduct championships in cross country, wrestling or tennis during the first year.
The 12 sports for men include football, cross country, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, wrestling, baseball, tennis, golf and lacrosse. Fencing, which was started in 1971, was discontinued in 1981.

Women's sports were initiated in 1977 with the first championship meet being held in tennis at Wake Forest University.
Championships for women are currently conducted in cross country, field hockey, soccer, basketball, swimming, indoor and outdoor track, tennis, golf, lacrosse, softball and rowing, while volleyball determines its champion in regular season play.

A HISTORY

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members - Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest - drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.
Suggestions from fans for the name of the new conference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to the meeting in Raleigh. Some of the names suggested were: Dixie, Mid South, Mid Atlantic, East Coast, Seaboard, Colonial, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Seven and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the name of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, and the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting concluded with each member institution assessed $$ 200.00$ to pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University.
The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.

THE SCHOOLS

Boston College was founded in 1863 by the Society of Jesus to serve the sons of Boston's Irish immigrants and was the first institution of higher education to be founded in the city of Boston. Originally located on Harrison Avenue in the South End of Boston, the College outgrew its urban setting toward the end of its first 50 years. A new location was selected in Chestnut Hill and ground for the new campus was broken on June 19, 1909. During the 1940s, new purchases doubled the size of the main campus. In 1974, Boston College acquired Newton College of the Sacred Heart, 1.5 miles away. With 15 buildings on 40 acres, it is now the site of the Law School and residence halls. In 2004, BC purchased 43 acres of land from the archdiocese of Boston; this now forms the Brighton campus.

Clemson University is nestled in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains near the Georgia border, and the tiger paws painted on the roads make the return to I-85 easier. The school is built around Fort Hill, the plantation home of John C. Calhoun, Vice President to Andrew Jackson. His son-in-law, Tom Clemson, left the land to be used as an agricultural school, and in 1893 Clemson opened its doors as a land-grant school, thanks to the efforts of Ben Tillman.

Duke University was founded in 1924 by tobacco magnate James B. Duke as a memorial to his father, Washington Duke. Originally the school was called Trinity College, a Methodist institution, started in 1859. In 1892, Trinity moved to west Durham where the east campus with its Georgian architecture now stands. Nearby are Sarah P. Duke gardens, and further west the Gothic spires of Duke chapel overlook the west campus.

Florida State University is one of 11 universities of the State University System of Florida. It was established as the Seminary West of the Suwannee by an act of the Florida Legislature in 1851, and first offered instruction at the post-secondary level in 1857. Its Tallahassee campus has been the site of an institution of higher education longer than any other site in the state. In 1905, the Buckman Act reorganized higher education in the state and designated the Tallahassee school as the Florida Female College. In 1909, it was renamed Florida State College for Women. In 1947, the school returned to a co-educational status, and the name was changed to Florida State University.

Next to I-85 in downtown Atlanta stands Georgia Institute of Technology, founded in 1885. Its first students came to pursue a degree in mechanical engineering, the only one offered at the time. Tech's strength is not only the red clay of Georgia, but a restored gold and white 1930 model A Ford Cabriolet, the official mascot. The old Ford was first used in 1961, but a Ramblin' Wreck had been around for over three decades. The Ramblin' Wreck fight song appeared almost as soon as the school opened, and it is not only American boys that grow up singing its rollicking tune, for Richard Nixon and Nikita Krushchev sang it when they met in Moscow in 1959.

The University of Maryland opened in 1856 as an agricultural school nine miles north of Washington, D.C., on land belonging to Charles Calvert, a descendant of Lord Baltimore, the state's founding father. The school colors are the same as the state flag: black and gold for George Calvert (Lord Baltimore) and red and white for his mother, Alice Crossland. Maryland has been called the school that Curley Byrd built, for he was its quarterback, then football coach, athletic director, assistant to the president, vice-president, and finally its president. Byrd also designed the football stadium and the campus layout, and suggested the nickname

Terrapin, a local turtle known for its bite, when students wanted to replace the nickname Old Liners with a new one for the school.

The University of Miami was chartered in 1925 by a group of citizens who felt an institution of higher learning was needed for the development of their young and growing community. Since the first class of 560 students enrolled in the fall of 1926, the University has expanded to more than 15,000 undergraduate and graduate students from every state and more than 114 nations from around the world. The school's colors, representive of the Florida orange tree, were selected in 1926. Orange symbolizes the fruit of the tree, green represents the leaves and white, the blossoms.

The University of North Carolina, located in Chapel Hill, has been called "the perfect college town," making its tree-lined streets and balmy atmosphere what a college should look and feel like. Its inception in 1795 makes it one of the oldest schools in the nation, and its nickname of Tar Heels stems from the tar pitch and turpentine that were the state's principal industry. The nickname is as old as the school, for it was born during the Revolutionary War when tar was dumped into the streams to impede the advance of British forces.

North Carolina State University is located in the state capital of Raleigh. It opened in 1889 as a land-grant agricultural and mechanical school and was known as A&M or Aggies or Farmers for over a quarter-century. The school's colors of pink and blue were gone by 1895 , brown and white were tried for a year, but the students finally chose red and white to represent the school. An unhappy fan in 1922 said State football players behaved like a pack of wolves, and the term that was coined in derision became a badge of honor.

The University of Virginia was founded in 1819 by Thomas Jefferson and is one of three things on his tombstone for which he wanted to be remembered. James Madison and James Monroe were on the board of governors in the early years. The Rotunda, a halfscale version of the Pantheon which faces the Lawn, is the focal point of the grounds as the campus is called. Jefferson wanted his school to educate leaders in practical affairs and public service, not just to train teachers.
Virginia Tech was established in 1872 as an all-male military school dedicated to the original land-grant mission of teaching agriculture and engineering. The University has grown from a small college of 132 students into the largest institution of higher education in the state during its 132-year history. Located in Southwest Virginia on a plateau between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains, the campus consists of 334 buildings and 20 miles of sidewalks over 2,600 acres. The official school colors - Chicago maroon and burnt orange - were selected in 1896 because they made a "unique combination" not worn elsewhere at the time.
Wake Forest University was started on Calvin Jones' plantation amid the stately pine forest of Wake County in 1834. The Baptist seminary is still there, but the school was moved to WinstonSalem in 1956 on a site donated by Charles H. and Mary Reynolds Babcock. President Harry S. Truman attended the ground-breaking ceremonies that brought a picturesque campus of Georgian architecture and painted roofs. Wake's colors have been black and gold since 1895, thanks to a badge designed by student John Heck who died before he graduated.

THE ACC TOURNAMENT

TIEBREAKER PROCEDURES:

According to the 2010-11 ACC Manual, the following tie-breaking procedures will be followed for the 2011 ACC Women's Basketball Tournament:

ACC MANUAL

Section V-2 (pg 64)

Seeding for the Basketball Championship will be determined by the regular season Conference standings. In case of a tie, the following formula will be used:

1) When two teams are tied in the standings, regular season head-to-head results are used as the tiebreaker.
2) If the tied teams played each other twice in the regular season and split their games, then each team's record vs. the team occupying the highest position in the final regular season standings (or in case of a tied for first place, the next highest position in the regular season standings) and then continuing down through the standings until one team gains an advantage.
a) When arriving at another pair of tied teams while comparing records, use each team's record against the collective tied teams as a group (prior to their own tie-breaking procedures), rather than the performance against the individual tied teams.
b) When comparing records against a single team or a group of teams, the higher winning percentage shall prevail, even if the number of games played against a team or group is unequal (i.e., 2-0 is better than $3-1$; 1-0 is the same as $2-0 ; 2-0$ is the same as $4-0,2-1$ is the same as $4-2 ; 1-0$ is better than $1-1 ; 0-1$ is the same as $0-2 ; 0-2$ is the same as $0-4$ ). If the winning percentage of the tied teams is equal against a team, or a group of tied teams, continue down through the standings until one team gains an advantage.
3) If three or more teams are tied in the standings, the following procedures will be used:
a) The combined record of conference games between the tied teams involved will be compiled. Ties will be broken and seedings assigned based on the winning percentage of the combined conference records. The higher winning percentage shall prevail, even if the number of games played against the team or group is unequal (i.e., 2-0 is better than 3-1; $1-0$ is the same as $2-0 ; 2-0$ is the same as $4-0 ; 2-1$ is the same as $4-2 ; 1-0$ is better than than $1-1 ; 0-1$ is the same as $0-2 ; 0-2$ is the same as $0-4$ ).
b) If procedure (a) fails to break the tie, then each tied team's record shall be compared to the team occupying the highest position in the final regular season standings, continuing down through the standings until one team gains an advantage by a higher winning percentage.

Sun Sports, NESN (New England Sports Network)
c) If the tie is broken by (a) or (b) regarding one or more teams, but three or more teams remain tied, then procedures (a) and (b) will be re-applied among those tied teams only.
d) If two teams remain tied, procedures (1) and (2) will be followed.
4) If there is more than one tie in the standings, and when utilizing the tie-breaking procedures there are a pair of teams tied, a team's record against the combined tied teams (prior to their own tie-breaking procedures) is used, rather than performance against the individual tied teams.
5) If procedures (2) and/or (3) fail to establish an advantage, a coin flip to break the tie will be conducted by the commissioner after the final regular season game before the Conference Championship.
6) If a coin flip or draw (for a three or more teams tied) is required, the procedure takes place immediately following the conclusion of the last regular season game prior to the Conference Championship. The procedure is administered by the commissioner or a designated assistant. This session is open to the media and to the athletics department representatives from the tied teams.

Now in his 14th year as Commissioner, John Swofford has made a dramatic impact on the Atlantic Coast Conference and college athletics. Swofford has built his career on the appropriate balance of academics, athletic achievement and integrity and is regarded as one of the top administrators in the NCAA.

Swofford assumed his role as the fourth full-time commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference in July of 1997. He follows James H. (Jim) Weaver, the league's first Commissioner from 1954-1970, Robert (Bob) James, who served from 1971-1987 and Eugene F. (Gene) Corrigan, who held the position from 1987 to 1997.
In addition to overseeing one of the nation's largest athletic conferences, Swofford has been pivotal in positioning the Atlantic Coast Conference for the future.
In July of 2010, Swofford's leadership and negotiating skills helped the conference secure a new 12 year multi-media rights agreement with ESPN. The extensive television package begins with the 2011-12 academic year and will more than double television revenue to the 12 member institutions. In addition to reaching new heights financially, ACC content will now be televised more, both regionally and nationally, than at any point in league history, while also best positioning the conference within the continuous, ever-changing world of technology.

Equally as historic, in 2003, on behalf of the nine league institutions and the ACC Council of Presidents, Swofford introduced Miami, Virginia Tech and Boston College as the newest members of the ACC. With the expansion, Swofford helped bring the conference extended and enhanced television contracts in both football and basketball. Highlights included the rights to the inaugural ACC Football Championship Game and significant increases in the number of televised games as well as negotiating an agreement with XM Satellite Radio, to broadcast the league's football, men's and women's basketball games nationally.

In the sport of basketball, Swofford was instrumental in creating the ACC/Big Ten Challenge that began in men's basketball in 1999. Then in 2007, the two conferences hosted the inaugural ACC/Big Ten Women's Basketball Challenge.

Highly respected by his peers, Swofford was a force in the development and growth of the Bowl Championship Series and is the only person to serve two terms as its Coordinator.
Since becoming Commissioner, Swofford has been responsible for securing increased bowl opportunities for the ACC. The past five seasons, at least seven ACC teams have earned bowl bids and, in 2008, the conference set an NCAA record when 10 of its 12 teams ( $83 \%$ ) participated in bowl play. This year, the ACC has agreements in place with nine bowls including the Orange Bowl, home to the ACC Champion since 2006.

During Swofford's first 13 years as Commissioner, ACC teams have won 50 national team titles and 1,337 ACC teams have participated in various NCAA championships - an average of over 100 NCAA teams per year.

A long-time advocate of the importance of academics and student-athlete welfare, Swofford stimulated the formation of the league's first-ever ACC Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. This group of current ACC student-athletes gives the conference direct feedback on their experiences participating at the highest level of college athletics.

In 2006, the prestigious ACC Men's Basketball Tournament was awarded out to 2015. Throughout Swofford's tenure, the iconic event will have traveled to many dynamic cities within the footprint of the league including Atlanta, Ga., Washington D.C. and Tampa, Fla., in addition to the traditional stops in Greensboro and Charlotte. The 2001 ACC Tournament in Atlanta set NCAA attendance records for single session $(40,083)$, per session average $(36,505)$ and total attendance $(182,525)$.

Swofford placed an added emphasis on the development of women's basketball in the ACC with the hiring of an Associate Commissioner for Women's Basketball to oversee all aspects of the sport on both a conference and national level.

The Director of Athletics at the University of North Carolina from 1980 to 1997, Swofford was instrumental in building North Carolina's athletics department into one of the country's most respected programs. He became the school's athletic director on May 1, 1980 and at the age of 31, he was the youngest major college Athletics Director in the nation at the time.

During his tenure, Tar Heel athletic teams claimed 123 ACC championships and 24 national collegiate titles, including two in men's basketball and one in women's basketball. During the 199394 year, the Tar Heels captured the inaugural Sears Directors' Cup, emblematic of the collegiate all-sports champion and finished in the Top Six of the Sears Cup standings in each year of Swofford's tenure that the award was given.

Under his leadership, North Carolina enjoyed tremendous growth in its athletic facilities, including the construction of the Smith Center, a complex which includes a 21,572 -seat basketball arena, the Koury Natatorium and the Frank H. Kenan Football Center. He initiated the idea and provided the impetus for the founding of North Carolina's trademark licensing program.

The University chose to recognize his many accomplishments by establishing the John D. Swofford women's athletics scholarship and naming an auditorium in the school's football complex in his honor.

John and his wife Nora reside in Greensboro, N.C. and together they have three children, Amie, Chad and Autumn, who is married to Sherman Wooden. Autumn and Sherman welcomed Maya, their first child, to the family in April of 2010.

HISTORY & RECORDS

Virginia Tech has a long, proud tradition of success, including 19 winning seasons, 12 postseason appearances and nine trips to the NCAA Tournament.

HOKIE HOOPS HISTORY

FROM A HUMBLE BEGINNING MORE THAN 30 YEARS AGO, VIRGINIA TECH WOMEN'S BASKETBALL HAS DEVELOPED INTO ONE OF THE NATION'S TOP COLLEGE PROGRAMS

THE BEGINNINGS

Women's basketball at Virginia Tech began in 1970 as a club sport under the direction of coach Ganna Roberts. John Ristroph coached the squad during the 1972-73 season. In 1973, Joe Sgro, a professor at Tech, took over the team until 1976 when John Wetzel was named head coach. The team gained full varsity status beginning with the 1976-77 season.

TECH'S VARSITY COACHES

The Hokies' first varsity coach was former Tech player and former assistant coach of the NBA's Portland Trail Blazers, John Wetzel. He played on the men's team from 1963-66 and then went on to play pro ball with the Lakers, Suns and Hawks before coming back to Tech to finish his education and coach the women's squad. In his first and only season, his team recorded a 7-9 record.

Taking over for Wetzel in 1977 was Carolyn Owen, whose team registered an 8-16 mark. In 1978, Carol Alfano came on the scene and, in just her second season, guided the Tech women to their first winning record. Bonnie Henrickson became the Hokies' fourth head coach in 1997, taking over for Alfano, who served as Tech's coach for 19 seasons.

Beth Dunkenberger became head coach in 2004 and has guided Tech to the postseason three times while at the helm. The Hokies received bids to the NCAA Tournament in 2005 and 2006 and advanced to the WNIT Third Round in 2007.

FIRST SCHOLARSHIP PLAYERS

The first women's basketball player to earn any kind of scholarship was Helena Flannagan in 1977, when she received partial aid. Kim Albany (197882), who was recruited by Owen, was Tech's first full scholarship player. Also in 1978, Sis Spriggs received a full grant, and partials went to Donna Cooper, Pauline Landis and Sandy Berry.

RETIRED JERSEY

Renee Dennis' No. 44 jersey was retired at the conclusion of her career in 1987. Dennis, from Bridgeport, Conn., is one of only 14 athletes in Tech athletic history to have his or her jersey retired. She was the first female athlete to receive that honor and one of only three so far in Hokie history.

The others to have their jerseys retired are head football coach Frank Beamer, football players Cornell Brown, Carroll Dale, Jake Grove, Frank Loria, Jim Pyne, Bruce Smith and Michael Vick, men's basketball stars Dell Curry, Vernell "Bimbo" Coles, Allan Bristow and Ace Custis, baseball coach Chuck Hartman, baseball player Johnny Oates and volleyball standout Lisa Pikalek.

Dennis played professionally in Australia, where she was her division's Player of the Year in 1989-90. Wendy Sanders played professionally in Belgium.

Tere Williams became the first Hokie to be selected in the WNBA Draft, when she was picked in the third round by the Phoenix Mercury. Ieva Kublina was drafted in the third round (31st overall) in the 2004 draft by the Indiana Fever.

At the conclusion of the 2005-06 season, the Hokies' Kerri Gardin was selected in the third round (34th overall) of the WNBA Draft by the Chicago Sky.

Nare Diawara was drafted in the third round (30th overall) of the 2007 WNBA Draft by the San Antonio Silver Stars.

Gardin, who played overseas following her collegiate career, became the first Tech player to play and start in a WNBA regular season game in 2008 as a member of the Connecticut Sun.

Kublina is playing in Hungary, Gardin in Israel and Lindsay Biggs Utahya Drye are currently playing professionally in Europe. Kublina competed in the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing, China, and Diawara led her Malian National Team to the 20th African Nations Championship in Dakar, Senegal. However, Diawara missed the Olympics due to injury.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Christi Osborne was named to the CoSIDA Academic All-America first team in 1994-95 and was a second-team member in 199394. Brittany Cook was selected to the third team in 2008 as was Laura Haskins in 2009. Several Hokies have been named to the CoSIDA District III Academic All-America team, including Amy Byrne (1988-89), Christi Osborne (1992-93, 1993-94, 1994-95), Maria Albertsson (1997-98, 1998-99), Amy Wetzel (1998-99, 1999-00), Sarah Hicks (2001-02), Erin Gibson (2003-04, 2004-05), Ieva Kublina (2003-04), Carrie Mason (2004-05, 200506), Brittany Cook (2007-08) and Laura Haskins (2007-08, 2008-09). Osborne also was a recipient of the Rawlings Scholarship Award (1994-95). Haskins was selected as the first winner of the Kay Yow Award as the ACC Women's Basketball Scholar Athlete of the Year.

BEST OF THE METRO

The Virginia Tech women's basketball team won two championships as a member of the Metro Conference. Tech won the 1994 Metro Conference Tournament by knocking off Virginia Commonwealth, UNC Charlotte and Southern Miss in succession. The Hokies captured the 1995 Metro regular-season championship with a 10-2 league record.

ATLANTIC 10 CHAMPS

The Hokies captured the Atlantic-10 Conference Tournament championship in 1998 with a thrilling 66-64 overtime win over host Massachusetts. Virginia Tech won the Atlantic-10 regular-season title in 1998-99 with a 15-1 league record.

NATIONAL HONORS

Williams and Lisa Witherspoon were named as honorable mentions to the 1999 Associated Press All-America teams. In 1995, Jenny Root was an honorable mention selection to the Kodak All-America team. The Women's Basketball News Service named Tere Williams to the 1998 Freshman

All-America third team. In 2008, Brittany Cook was a third-team selection to the ESPN The Magazine All-America team.

ALL-ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

Utahya Drye was a 2010 honorable mention AllACC selection after leading the Hokies in scoring. Kerri Gardin represented Virginia Tech on the AllAtlantic Coast Conference team, earning honorable mention honors during the 2004-05 season. Gardin averaged a double-double against the rest of the league, with 12.2 points per game during ACC play, while pulling down 10.1 rebounds a contest. Both were team-highs during the conference slate.

Gardin again earned all-conference honors during the 2005-06 season. She was second on the team in scoring with 12.4 points per game, and she led the league in rebounds per contest, pulling down 10.0 per game.

Kirby Copeland was an honorable mention selection for the 2006-07 season. Copeland led the team in scoring (15.0), assists (146) and steals (68).

Brittany Cook, after leading the ACC in scoring, was named to the 2007-08 all-conference second team.

ALL-BIG EAST CONFERENCE

Williams was the first Hokie to be selected for All-BIG EAST honors after being named to the allconference second team following the 2000-01 season. Ieva Kublina was selected as the 2001-02 BIG EAST Most Improved Player and was named to the all-conference second team. Sarah Hicks was a member of the 2001-02 all-conference third team. Kublina became the first Tech player to be named to the All-BIG EAST first team in 2002-03, and Carrie Mason was named to the 2003 BIG EAST All-Rookie team. Kublina was selected to the 2004 All-BIG EAST second team.

ALL-ATLANTIC 10 CONFERENCE

The Hokies were well represented on the AllAtlantic 10 Conference teams during their five years in the league. Michelle Houseright was the first Virginia Tech player named to the All-Atlantic 10 team in 1996 as a second-team selection and Lisa Witherspoon was a second-team pick in 1999. Other Hokies named to the team include Tere Williams, a first-team selection in 1999 and 2000 and a second-team member in 1998; Wetzel, a second-team choice in 1999 and 2000; and Chrystal Starling, a member of the third team in 2000.

ALL-METRO CONFERENCE

In 14 seasons as a Metro Conference member, Virginia Tech placed 12 players on the allconference team, including Jenny Root, who was honored as the 1994-95 Metro Player of the Year. Hokies named to the first team include Taiqua Brittingham (1984), Renee Dennis (1986, 87), Susan Walvius (1986), Amy Byrne (1989) and Root (1994, 95). Second-team selections include Angie Kelly (1986), Maureen Donovan (1987), Michelle Bain (1988), Amy Byrne (1989), Missy Sallade (1989, '90), Jeni Garber (1991), Lisa Griffith (1992), Christi Osborne (1993, '94, '95) and Root (1993).

TOURNAMENT STARS

Virginia Tech players have left their mark in postseason play through the years. Ieva Kublina was named to the 2003 BIG EAST All-Tournament team and to the 2002 WNIT All-Tournament team. Tere Williams (1998) and Amy Wetzel (1999) were named to the All-Atlantic 10 Tournament team, as was Michelle Houseright (1998). Christi Osborne was a three-time member of the All-Metro Tournament team $(1992,93,94)$ and was selected as the 1994 Most Valuable Player. Two-time All-Metro tournament members include Taiqua Brittingham (1983-84), Renee Dennis (198687), Jeni Garber (1988-89) and Sue Logsdon (1993-94).

FRESHMAN PHENOMS

Freshmen have made an immediate impact on the women's basketball program through the years. Andrea Barbour was a member of the 200708 ACC All-Freshman team, and Carrie Mason was named as a 2002-03 honorable mention selection to the WomensCollegeHoops.com All-American Freshman team and was a member of the BIG EAST All-Rookie Team. Williams was named to the 1998 Women's Basketball News Service Freshman All-American third team as well as being named Atlantic 10 Co-Rookie of the Year. Virginia Tech placed one player on the Atlantic 10 All-Rookie team in each of its five seasons in the league. Three Hokies, Garber (1988-89), Logsdon (199091) and Osborne (1991-92), were named to the Metro Conference All-Rookie team.

1,000-POINT CLUB

Twenty-two Virginia Tech women's basketball players have reached the 1,000-point plateau, with the most recent being Utahya Drye, who joined the club during the 2009-10 season. Renee Dennis, Tech's all-time leading scorer, totaled 1,791 points during her Tech career. Other Hokies who have reached the 1,000 -point plateau are: Tere Williams $(1,750)$, Ieva Kublina ( 1,647 ), Jenny Root $(1,582)$, Christi Osborne ( 1,500 ), Amy Wetzel $(1,444)$, Carrie Mason $(1,369)$, Chrystal Starling $(1,340)$, Amy Byrne $(1,291)$, Utahya Drye $(1,166)$, Susan Walvius $(1,161)$, Robin Lee $(1,147)$, Dawn Chriss $(1,121)$, Erin Gibson $(1,117)$, Michelle Houseright (1,112), Kirby Copeland $(1,094)$, Sarah Hicks (1,092), Angie Kelly (1,092), Michelle Bain $(1,068)$, Kerri Gardin $(1,061)$, Lisa Griffith $(1,033)$ and Brittany Cook $(1,006)$.

POSTSEASON APPEARANCES

1994 NCAA

- Virginia Tech had a 24-5 record and captured the Metro Conference Tournament title and advanced to the Hokies' first NCAA Tournament. Tech was seeded eighth in the East Region and played host to Auburn in a first-round game at Cassell Coliseum. Auburn, on the strength of 24 points and 12 rebounds from Danielette Coleman, defeated the Hokies, 60-51. Tech guard Christi Osborne led the Hokies with 22 points and seven rebounds.

1995 NCAA

- Tech kept up its success by claiming the Metro Conference regular-season championship with a 21-8 record. The Hokies, again seeded eighth in the East Region, faced St. Joseph's in the first round at the University of Connecticut's Gampel Pavilion. The Hokies downed the Hawks, 62-52, behind 18 points from Christi 0sborne. The Hokies' second-round opponent, UConn, ended up as the 1995 NCAA champion. Guard Jennifer Rizzotti burned the Hokies for 20 points as the Huskies advanced, 91-45.

1998 NCAA

- With former Tech assistant coach Bonnie Henrickson back in Blacksburg as the head coach, the Hokies posted their third trip to the NCAA Tournament in five years. Tech traveled to Gainesville, Fla., as the No. 11 seed in the NCAA West Region. The Hokies, behind a record-breaking performance from guard Amy Wetzel, surprised sixth-seeded Wisconsin, which was ranked No. 23 at the time, 75-64. Wetzel set a Tech record and tied an NCAA West Region free throw mark by converting 16 free throws for a career-high 28 points. The Hokies, however, would bow out after round two as host Florida, ranked No. 12, won 89-57. Wetzel again led all scorers with 24 points.

1999 NCAA

- The Hokies used the 1999 season to establish themselves as one of the nation's elite programs. Henrickson led Tech to a school-record 28-3 finish, including a 15-1 Atlantic 10 mark. Cassell Coliseum was the site for NCAA First- and Second- Round games. The Hokies dispatched Saint Peter's, 73-48, before defeating Auburn, 76-61, to earn the program's first Sweet 16 appearance. Tech traveled to Greensboro, N.C., to face second-ranked Tennessee in the NCAA East Regional. Behind 27 points from National Player of the Year Chamique Holdsclaw, the Volunteers eliminated Tech, 68-52, to advance.

2000 WNIT

- Virginia Tech posted its third consecutive 20win season under Henrickson. The Hokies posted a 20-11 record and made their first appearence in the Women's National Invitational Tournament. Cassell Coliseum was the site of the first-round matchup against Georgia State. The Hokies used a 12-3 run midway through the second half to break open a close contest and went on to win, 80-56. Maryland was the WNIT Sweet 16 opponent two days later, and the two teams battled into overtime. The Terrapins used a 10-2 run in the last 3:11 of the extra session to eliminate the Hokies, 68-60.

2001 NCAA

- Tech received an at-large bid to the NCAA Mideast Regional as a No. 7 seed. The Hokies had compiled a 21-8 record entering the tournament in their first season in the BIG EAST Conference. Tech finished fourth in the league with an 11-5 record and advanced to the tournament semifinals before being eliminated by eventual national champion, Notre Dame.

Tech's fourth consecutive postseason appearance, and third invitation to the NCAA Tournament in the past four seasons, began with a resounding 77-57 victory over Denver in the first round at Lubbock, Texas. Chrystal Starling led five Hokies in double figures with 20 points as Tech shot 55.3 percent from the field. In the second round, Tech faced Texas Tech on the Lady Raiders' home floor in front of 12,161 . The Hokies played a great first half and took a $25-18$ lead into the locker room at the intermission. The Lady Raiders, however, exploded in the second half, shooting 63.0 percent and scoring 55 points to defeat the Hokies, 73-52.

2002 WNIT

- Virginia Tech received an invitation to the WNIT, which marked the Hokies' second venture to the tournament and their most successful to date.

The Hokies compiled an 18-10 record entering the WNIT after posting a 15-2 record at one point in the season, the second-best start to a season in the program's history. The two losses were by a total of three points.

Tech's four-game WNIT run, all in the Cassell, opened with a tight 51-45 win over UNC Greensboro. The second-round contest was a renewal of the rivalry with former A-10 opponent George Washington. Trailing 32-27 at the half, Tech played one of its best halves of the year to win, 68-52.

Vermont was the Hokies' quarterfinal opponent, with the night belonging to senior Sarah Hicks who had 22 points, including four treys. Kublina added 13 points and nine boards as Tech won, 76-48.

Tech's run in the tournament ended in a thrilling 77-72 overtime loss to Houston in front of 5,409 Hokie faithful. Kublina erupted for a career-high 32 points, which was the fourth-highest single-game total by a Tech player. For her efforts, Kublina was named to the all-tournament team.

2003 NCAA

- Tech made its sixth consecutive postseason appearance following a 21-9 regular season. The Hokies, who lost in the BIG EAST Tournament semifinals to eventual national champion Connecticut, were seeded seventh in the East Regional at West Lafayette, Ind. Freshman Carrie Mason hit a running layup with 1.1 seconds remaining to give Tech a 61-59 win over Georgia Tech. Ieva Kublina led the way with 18 points, followed by Chrystal Starling's 15 -point effort. In the second round, the Hokies faced No. 10 Purdue on the Boilermakers home floor. Despite shooting 54.9 percent from the field, Tech fell, $80-62$, as the Boilermakers nailed eight three-point shots and forced 20 turnovers.

2004 NCAA

- Tech made its seventh consecutive postseason appearance and seventh NCAA Tournament appearance in the past 11 seasons following a 22-8 regular season in its final season as a member of the BIG EAST Conference. The Hokies, who lost in the BIG EAST Tournament quarterfinals to eventual national champion Connecticut, were seeded eighth in the East Regional and hosted the first two rounds in Cassell Coliseum. Ieva Kublina scored 26 points to lead the hot-shooting Hokies to an 89-76 first-round win over Iowa. Tech built a 40-27 halftime lead by connecting on 51.7 percent from the field and shot a sizzling 67 percent (20-30) in the second half. In addition to Kublina's outburst, Carrie Mason followed with 19 points, including two treys.

The Hokies matched up with the region's top seed and fifth-ranked Penn State in the second round. After leading, 28-25, at the half, Tech saw the Lady Lions put together a $27-5$ outburst in the second half to eliminate the Hokies, 61-48, before 7,128 fans, the eighth-largest crowd for a women's contest in Blacksbsurg. Mason and Kublina again led the way with 16 and 15 points, respectively.

2005 NCAA

- Virginia Tech made its eighth consecutive postseason appearance and eighth NCAA Tournament in the past 12 seasons, following a 17-10 regular season. The Hokies, who lost to Wake Forest in the ACC Tournament, received an at-large bid as the No. 12 seed in the College Park, Md., Regional. Dawn Chriss netted 20 points, but Tech could not overcome a 17-point first-half deficit, falling, 79-78, in front of 3,745 fans to No. 16 DePaul. In addition to Chriss' 20 , Kirby Copeland, Erin Gibson and Kerri Garden all reached double figures.

2006 NCAA

- Virginia Tech made its ninth consecutive postseason appearance and ninth NCAA Tournament appearance in the past 13 seasons following a 19-10 regular season. The Hokies posted their first-ever ACC Tournament win, defeating Wake Forest, before falling to Duke in the quarterfinals. Tech earned an at-large bid as the No. 7 seed in the University Park, Pa., Regional.

The Hokies had five players in double figures in the opening round, helping them knock off No. 10 seed Missouri, 82-51. Tech then fell to the No. 2 seed, Connecticut Huskies, 79-56. Dawn Chriss and Kerri Gardin each posted a team-high 16 points while Carrie Mason chipped in 13.

2007 WNIT

- Virginia Tech made it 10 in a row in the postseason with a bid to the WNIT following an 18-15 regular season. After receiving a first-round bye, Tech hosted Western Carolina and used a strong defensive performance in the second half to pull away to a 74-64 victory. A career-high 24 points from Britney Anderson proved not to be enough as the Hokies fell at home to Auburn, 81-74, in the third round.

BIG VICTORIES FOR TECH

VIRGINIA TECH'S WINS OVER NATIONALLY RANKED TEAMS

- In 1984, Tech shocked No. 20 North Carolina, 74-73, behind Renee Dennis' 17 points.
- In 1984, the Hokies defeated No. 16 Louisiana State, 86-77, in the Marriott-Converse Christmas Classic in Blacksburg.
- One of the biggest wins in Tech women's basketball history came in 1985 when Tech upset No. 5 Old Dominion, 73-72. It was the first win over the Lady Monarchs in 11 games.
- In 1987, the Hokies upended 16th-ranked James Madison, 63-61, behind a 16-point, 13 -rebound performance from freshman Amy Byrne.
- In the middle of what was then the longest winning streak in school history, the Hokies upset No. 13 South Carolina in 1987 in Blacksburg, 6359. Amy Byrne led the Hokies with 16 points and 12 rebounds.
- Virginia Tech upset No. 18 Southern Mississippi, 60-59, in a Cassell Coliseum barn-burner on Feb. 28,1994 . Guard Lisa Leftwich, who led Tech with 18 points, hit a key finger roll with 42 seconds remaining.
- In one of the biggest games in the program's history, Tech defeated No. 19 Southern Mississippi in the final of the 1994 Metro Conference Tournament, 83-76. The win gave Tech its first Metro Tournament title and sent the Hokies to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in their history.

- The Hokies knocked off No. 9 Virginia, 69-62, in Cassell Coliseum on Jan. 13, 1995. The win propelled Virginia Tech into the national rankings for the first time. Christi Osborne, Angela Donnell, Jenny Root and Terri Garland all scored in double figures for the Hokies.
- Tech downed No. 24 Wisconsin, 75-64, in the first round of the 1998 NCAA Regional in Gainesville, Fla. Guard Amy Wetzel converted a school-record 16-of-17 free-throw attempts and scored 28 points to pace the Hokies.
- The Hokies traveled to "Tobacco Road" on Nov. 17, 1998, to knock off sixth-ranked and eventual national runner-up Duke, 72-70, at Cameron Indoor Stadium. An injured Kim Seaver came off the bench to lead Tech with 14 points and nine rebounds.
- Tech defeated in-state rival and 17th-ranked Virginia, 81-65, on Nov. 30, 1998, at Cassell Coliseum. Tere Williams recorded her second straight double-double of the season with 21 points and 10 rebounds.
- On Nov. 30, 2000, Amy Wetzel hit a running 10 -footer off the glass with 3.7 seconds remaining to give the Hokies a 57-56 win over 17th-ranked Virginia. The win marked the second consecutive time the Hokies had beaten the Cavaliers in Cassell Coliseum.
- Virginia Tech used a $13-0$ run over the final five minutes to pick up a come-from-behind 65-59 win over No. 24 Villanova on Jan. 23, 2001. Tere Williams led Tech with 22 points followed by Amy Wetzel with 18.

- The Hokies made an impressive debut in the BIG EAST Tournament on March 4, 2001, as they knocked off 23rd-ranked Villanova for the second time during the 2000-01 season with a 73-67 win in the tournament quarterfinals in Storrs, Conn. Chrystal Starling came off the bench to lead Tech with 21 points, while Williams chipped in with 20.
- On Nov. 19, 2001, Tech used a stingy defense and clutch free-throw shooting in the closing seconds to defeat No. 16 Old Dominion, 68-62. The Hokies held the Monarchs to only 37.7 percent from the field. Chrystal Starling led Tech with 20 points, while Sarah Hicks added 14.
- The Hokies put together one of their best performances of the season on Jan. 9, 2002, with a 72-53 win over 24th-ranked Boston College. Tech shot a sizzling 59.1 percent from the field while holding the Eagles to only 31.1 percent. Ieva Kublina led the way with 19 points, 11 rebounds and five blocks, while Chrystal Starling also contributed 19 points.
- Chrystal Starling, second in career free-throw and field-goal percentage, came through in the clutch on Jan. 22, 2003, in Tech's 66-64 overtime win over No. 23 Rutgers. She was fouled with 1.2 seconds remaining in overtime, and the senior calmly drained both free throws for the victory. Starling led Tech with 21 points, 16 of which came in the second half and overtime.
- The Hokies used long-range shooting to pull off a 74-70 overtime victory against 23rd-ranked Boston College on March 9, 2003, in the BIG EAST quarterfinals. After forcing the extra period with some clutch free-throw shooting, Tech nailed three treys in the extra session to seal the win. Kublina registered 20 points, including two three-point baskets, while Starling added 18, and Dawn Chriss chipped in with 14 points.
- Tech proved there is a first time for everything as the Hokies defeated 24th-ranked Virginia, 63-62, on Nov. 23, 2003, for their first win in Charlottesville as a varsity team. The Hokies survived a furious Cavalier rally in the second half after leading by as many as 14 points. UVa had two game-winning attempts in the final five seconds that missed their mark and gave Tech its historic win. Carrie Mason led the way with 18 points, including three treys.
- Virginia Tech jumped out to an early 27-9 lead and never looked back in a 63-50 win over No. 19/24 Villanova on Jan. 14, 2004. Tech dominated the boards, holding a commanding 39-24 advantage, and shot 51.1 percent from the field. Kerri Gardin and Dawn Chriss led a balanced attack with 14 and 12 points, respectively.
- Tech placed five players in double figures in cruising to a 80-64 win over 24th-ranked Boston College on Jan. 24, 2004. After trailing, 33-31, at the half, the Hokies exploded for 49 second-half points, securing the win. Ieva Kublina led the way with 17 points, followed by Carrie Mason with 16. Erin Gibson and sophomore Dawn Chriss had 14 each, and Kerri Gardin added 13.
- The Hokies stunned No. 12 Texas Tech in Las Vegas, 71-70, in overtime on Dec. 19, 2004. After trailing by eight in the first half, Tech tallied 41 points in the second half and shot 60 percent in overtime for the victory. Carrie Mason had 12 points, while Erin Gibson and Nare Diawara each hit for 11.
- Tech closed out its final regular-season away game with an 87-79 upset of No. 22/23 Maryland on Feb. 24, 2005. The Hokies connected on 54 percent of their attempts in the game, while holding the Terps to 46 percent from the floor. Tech netted 48 points in the first half en route to a nine-point halftime lead. Kerri Gardin posted a double-double with 19 points and 12 rebounds, while Dawn Chriss also tallied a team-high 19 points in the win.
- On Jan. 8, 2006, the 25th-ranked Virginia Tech Hokies upended No. 19 Boston College, $67-62$, in Blacksburg, Va. The Hokies rallied in the second half, outscoring their counterparts by 11 in the final 20 minutes for the win. Tech's defense stymied the Eagles, forcing them into 30 turnovers in the first ACC match-up of former BIG EAST foes.
- The 79-64 upset win on Jan. 14, 2010, over No. 10 North Carolina was an evening full of highlights for the Virginia Tech women's basketball program. The victory was Tech's first win over a nationally-ranked opponent since a Jan. 8, 2006, home victory over No. 19 Boston College. The win also marked the first triumph over a top-10 opponent since Tech pulled off a 72-70 win on Nov. 15, 1998 at No. 6 Duke. Additionally, the victory was only the second-ever in Cassell Coliseum against at top-10 team with the other occurring on Jan. 13, 1995, in a 69-62 win over No. 9 Virginia.

FIRST VARSITY WIN

The Virginia Tech women's basketball team earned its first win as a varsity sport by defeating Bridgewater College, 59-55, on Dec. 14, 1976. The Hokies, who overcame a five-point deficit, outscored the Eagles by nine points down the stretch to clinch the win. Sophomore Gail Kelley led the way with 17 points, followed by Karen Garbis' 13.

50TH WIN

Tech's 50th win came on Jan. 28, 1981, against James Madison. Sis Spriggs was one of three Hokies in double figures with 15 points as Tech downed the Dukes, 66-58. Also in double figures were Tammie Edwards with 13 and Maureen Corrigan, who had 10 points as well as 10 rebounds.

100TH WIN

The Hokies hit the century mark by upsetting nationally ranked North Carolina, 74-73, in a thriller at Roanoke, Va., on Dec. 1, 1984. Tech was paced by Renee Dennis' 17-point performance, but a number of players shined in the upset victory. Susan Walvius, a 6-2 center, added 16 points and five rebounds, guard Angie Kelly chipped in 15 points and guard Maureen Donovan contributed seven points and six rebounds.

150TH WIN

Tech registered win No. 150 on Jan. 16, 1988, when it squeaked past Louisville in Blacksburg, 68-67. Keying the victory was center Michelle Bain, who tallied 19 points and nine rebounds, while forward Wendy Sanders pumped in 16 points. Point guard Denise Kayajian had a career-high (at the time) eight assists to go along with nine points against the Lady Cardinals.

200TH WIN

Tech won its 200th game on Dec. 30, 1991, in the final of the 1991 Diamond Club Classic when it downed UNC Greensboro, 84-65, in Cassell

Coliseum. Phyllis Tonkin scored 20 points and grabbed nine rebounds to lead the Tech women. Lisa Griffith kicked in 17 points, while Dayna Sonovick had nine rebounds and six assists.

250TH WIN

The Hokies won their 250th career game on March 9, 1994, by knocking off 19th-ranked Southern Mississippi, 83-76, in the final of the 1994 Metro Conference Tournament in Biloxi, Miss. Southern Miss was the tournament's top seed. Christi Osborne led the way with 19 points, while Sue Logsdon had 18. Lisa Leftwich pitched in with 17, and Jenny Root contributed 14.

300TH WIN

Tech posted its 300th win in the program's history on Jan. 2, 1998, in an 84-60 win over Rhode Island in the Hokies' 1997-98 conference opener. The Cassell Coliseum crowd witnessed an outstanding performance from guard Amy Wetzel, who finished with 14 points and three steals. The win also marked Bonnie Henrickson's first Atlantic-10 Conference win as a head coach.

350TH WIN

Tech picked up win No. 350 on Jan. 6, 2000, when it coasted to an 81-38 win over Rhode Island. The victory also was Tech's 200th in Cassell Coliseum. The Hokies opened the game on a 12-0 run and cruised to a 42-16 halftime lead. The Hokies placed five players in double figures led by Nicole Jones, Kim Seaver, Chrystal Starling and Tere Williams with 12 points each. Tech outrebounded the Rams, 44-24, and blocked seven shots in the victory.

400TH WIN

The Hokies recorded win No. 400 on Jan. 19, 2002, with a 69-50 win over St. John's. Tech jumped out to a 39-20 halftime lead and cruised to the victory behind 16 points from Chrystal Starling along with Nicole Jones' 12 points and Sarah Hicks'
11. The Hokies held the Red Storm to only 30.8 percent from the field, while shooting a sizzling 64.0 percent in the first half.

450TH WIN

Win No. 450 on March 6, 2004, did not come easy as Tech found itself trailing Georgetown, 4028, early in the second half of the 2004 BIG EAST Championship first-round contest. The Hokies cut the deficit to six points, 43-37, then ripped off 17 unanswered points and went on to a 56-47 victory. Tech outscored Georgetown, 28-7, over the final 14 minutes of the contest. Carrie Mason and Kerri Gardin led the comeback with 14 points each.

500TH WIN

The Hokies received strong performances from center Nare Diawara and forward Brittany Cook to defeat UNC Greensboro, 56-45, and record the 500th victory in the program's history on Jan. 10, 2007. Diawara recorded a double-double with 18 points and 12 rebounds, while Cook contributed 12 points and seven rebounds.

CONFERENCE TIMELINE

- Feb. 25-26, 1921 - Tech, under the leadership of athletics director C.P. "Sally" Miles, joined the Southern Intercollegiate Conference as a charter member. Other members included Alabama, Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn), Clemson, Georgia, Georgia School of Technology (Georgia Tech), Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College (Mississippi State), North Carolina, North Carolina State, Tennessee, Virginia and Washington and Lee. In 1922, Louisiana State, Mississippi, South Carolina, Vanderbilt and Tulane joined the conference.
- December 1923 - The name of the conference was officially changed to the Southern Conference. Also, conference officials added the University of the South to the conference. The following year, VMI joined the conference, and in 1929, Duke joined.
- 1932 - It was agreed that the 13 southernmost members should form a separate conference. The Southeastern Conference, thus, was formed with Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, LSU, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Sewanee, Tennessee, Tulane and Vanderbilt as the members.
- 1953 - Seven colleges withdrew to form the Atlantic Coast Conference: Clemson, Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Maryland, South Carolina and Wake Forest College.
- June 1965 - Tech withdrew from the Southern Conference.
- July 1965-May 1978 - Tech competed as an independent in virtually every varsity sport.
- May 1978 - Tech ended its 13-year status as a major independent by accepting a bid to join the Metropolitan Collegiate Athletic Conference (a.k.a. the Metro) for all sports except football.

The Hokies joined Cincinnati, Florida State, Louisville, Memphis State, St. Louis and Tulane in the Metro, which was founded in 1975.
"Affiliation with the Metro Conference is beneficial from the standpoint of scheduling, national identity and postseason activity," Tech president William Lavery said. "It will provide us with national exposure and television coverage, as well as improve the basketball schedule and bring good teams to Blacksburg."

- Feb. 5, 1991 - After 26 years as a football independent, Tech officially accepted a bid to join the newly-created BIG EAST Football Conference. Tech joined Miami, Syracuse, Boston College, Pittsburgh, West Virginia, Temple and Rutgers as charter members of the conference.
- January 1995 - Five Metro members - UNC Charlotte, Tulane, Louisville, Southern Miss and South Florida - voted Tech and Virginia Commonwealth out of the league. At the time, those schools were planning a merger with other Midwestern schools (hence, the birth of Conference USA), and the Hokies and Rams were not interested in such a merger. As a result, those five league members decided to vote them out of the league.
- Feb. 3, 1995 - Tech, VCU and the Metro agreed to a $$ 2.27$ million settlement which the Hokies and Rams split. A portion of conference revenue was going to be withheld from the two schools, but this settlement put an end to the issue.
- Two weeks later, 1995 - Tech joined the Atlantic 10 Conference for all sports except football, which was in the BIG EAST, and wrestling, which was in the Colonial. (Tech wrestling later began competition in the Eastern Wrestling League in 1997).

Tech AD Dave Braine picked the Atlantic 10 over the Colonial because of three factors.
"No. 1 was Northeast exposure," Braine told Bill Roth in the Feb. 17 issue of The Hokie Huddler. "No. 2 were the basketball rankings of the Atlantic 10 and the high level of play in the league. And No. 3, most of our out-of-state students are from the Northeast."

- June 24, 1999 - Tech received a proposal from the BIG EAST Conference, inviting the school to join the conference for all sports.
- July 20, 1999 - Tech submitted a counterproposal, addressing financial issues that the school had with the original proposal. BIG EAST athletic directors addressed those concerns at the athletics directors' meetings in mid-July and submitted the proposal to each school's respective president for a vote.
- Aug. 24, 1999 - Tech and the BIG EAST announced that the Hokies would join the conference for all sports beginning in 2001-02.
"Virginia Tech is thrilled to become a full member of the BIG EAST Conference and looks forward to its academic and athletic associations with the entire conference membership," Tech president Paul Torgersen said.
- November 2, 1999 - BIG EAST Conference presidents voted to advance Virginia Tech's participation as a full member to July 1, 2000.
- June 18, 2003 - In a surprise move, presidents of Atlantic Coast Conference schools privately dropped a plan to invite Miami, Boston College and Syracuse and instead voted on inviting Virginia Tech and Miami. This came after five weeks of negotiations with the other three schools for ACC invitations.
- June 19, 2003 - Responding to speculation that Virginia Tech had been invited to join the ACC, the university issued a release stating that no offer had been extended officially or unofficially.
- June 24, 2003 - Presidents of Atlantic Coast Conference schools held a teleconference and voted to begin the official process of offering invitations to Virginia Tech and Miami.
- June 25, 2003 - Atlantic Coast Conference officials made an official site visit to Virginia Tech, which the Hokies passed with flying colors. This was the final step before an official invitation could be extended.
- June 27, 2003 - Virginia Tech President Charles Steger announced that the Hokies had officially accepted the ACC's invitation to join the conference.
"Today we have received the formal offer of membership, which we will accept," Steger said. "We know that this affiliation will be good for our students, athletes, fans and communities for many years to come."
- July 1, 2003 - Virginia Tech and Miami were officially introduced as the 10th and 11th members of the Atlantic Coast Conference at a press conference in Greensboro, N.C.
"I'm excited for our fans and our constituency," athletics director Jim Weaver said. "This membership is something that the fan base and alumni and friends of Virginia Tech have wanted for a long time. It's home for us. We've had prior relationships with these institutions for many years and this is something our fans are excited about. I'm happy for them, for our coaches and for our student-athletes."
- July 1, 2004 - The Hokies officially joined the ACC on July 1, 2004, and began play in the 2004-05 academic year in all sports.
