HOKIES IN THE POSTSEASON Tech earns fifth straight bid to postseason play

Virginia Tech's WNIT semifinal appearance last season continued a recent run of postseason success for the Hokies. Tech has participated in the NCAA Tournament three of the past five years and in five of the last nine, advancing as far as the "Sweet 16" in 1999. The WNIT bid marked the Hokies' second venture to the tournament and its most successful to date.

The Hokies had compiled an 18-10 record entering the WNIT after posting a 15-2 record at one point in the season, the second best start to a season in the program's history. The two losses were by a total of three points.

Tech's fifth consecutive postseason appearance began with a tight 51-45 win over UNC Greensboro. Leading only 45-42 with two minutes remaining, Tech hit six of seven free throws down the stretch to ice the game.

The second round contest was a renewal of the rivalry with George Washington from when the Hokies were a member of the Atlantic 10. Trailing 32-27 at the half, Tech played one of its best halves of the year to win 68-52. Ieva Kublina led the way with 21 points, nine rebounds and four blocks.

Vermont was the Hokies' quarterfinal opponent, and the night belonged to senior Sarah Hicks who had 22 points, including four treys. Kublina added 13 points and nine boards as Tech won 76-48.

Tech's run in the tournament ended in a thrilling 77-72 overtime loss to Houston in front of 5,409 Hokie faithful in Cassell Coliseum. Kublina erupted for a career-high 32 points, which was the fourth highest single-game total by a Tech player.

Tech's Postseason Appearances

• In 1994, Virginia Tech, with a 24-5 record, captured the Metro Conference Tournament title and advanced to the Hokies' first NCAA tourney. Tech was seeded eighth in the East Region and played host to Auburn in a first-round game at Cassell Coliseum. Auburn, on the strength of 24 points and 12 rebounds from Danielette Coleman, defeated the Hokies 60-51. Tech guard Christi Osborne led the Hokies with 22 points and seven rebounds.

• Tech kept up its success in 1995 by claiming the Metro Conference regular season championship with a 21-8 record. The Hokies, again seeded eighth in the East Region, faced St. Joseph's in the first round at the University of Connecticut's Gampel Pavilion. The Hokies downed the Hawks, 62-52, behind 18 points from Christi Osborne. The Hokies' second-round opponent, UConn, ended up as the 1995 NCAA National Champion. Guard Jennifer Rizzotti burned the Hokies for 20 points as the Huskies advanced, 91-45.

• With former Tech assistant coach Bonnie Henrickson back in Blacksburg as the head coach, the Hokies posted their third trip to the NCAA Tournament in five years in 1998. Tech traveled to Gainesville, Fla., as the No. 11 seed in the NCAA West Region. The Hokies, behind a record-breaking performance from guard Amy Wetzel, surprised sixth-seeded Wisconsin, which was ranked No. 23 at the time, 75-64. Wetzel set a Tech record and tied an NCAA West Region free throw mark by converting 16 free throws for a career-high 28 points. The Hokies, however, would bow out after round two as host Florida, ranked No. 12, won 89-57. Wetzel again led all scorers with 24 points.

• The Hokies used the 1999 season to establish themselves as one of the nation's elite programs. Henrickson led Tech to a school-record 28-3 finish, including a 15-1 Atlantic 10 mark. Cassell Coliseum was the site for NCAA first and second round games. The Hokies dispatched Saint Peter's, 73-48, before defeating Auburn, 76-61, to earn the program's first "Sweet 16" appearance. Tech traveled to Greensboro, N.C., to face second-ranked Tennessee in the NCAA East Regional. Behind 27 points from national player of the year Chamique Holdsclaw, the Volunteers eliminated Tech, 68-52, to advance.

• Virginia Tech posted its third consecutive 20-win season under Henrickson in 2000. The Hokies posted a 20-11 record and made their first-ever appearence in the Women's National Invitational Tournament. Cassell Coliseum was the site of the first round matchup against Georgia State. The Hokies used a 12-3 run midway through the second half to break open a close contest and went on to win 80-56. Maryland was the WNIT "Sweet Sixteen" opponent two days later and the two teams battled into overtime. The Terrapins used a 10-2 run in the last 3:11 of the extra session to eliminate the Hokies, 68-60.

• In 2001, Tech received an at-large bid to the NCAA Mideast Regional as a No. 7 seed. The Hokies had compiled a 21-8 record entering the tournament in their first season in the BIG EAST Conference. Tech had finished fourth in the league with an 11-5 record and advanced to the tournament semifinals before being eliminated by eventual national champion Notre Dame.

Tech's fourth consecutive postseason appearance and third to the NCAA Tournament in the past four seasons, began with a resounding 77-57 victory over Denver in the first round at Lubbock, Texas. Chrystal Starling led five Hokies in double figures with 20 points as Tech shot 55.3 percent from the field. In the second round, Tech faced Texas Tech on the Lady Raiders' home floor in front of 12,161. The Hokies played a great first half and took a 25-18 lead into the locker room at the intermission. The Lady Raiders exploded in the second half, shooting 63.0 percent and scoring 55 points to defeat the Hokies 73-52.

HENRICKSON'S HOKIES Virginia Tech achieves at the highest level

The Virginia Tech women's basketball program has enjoyed tremendous success in Bonnie Henrickson's five years as head coach, averaging 23 wins a season and playing in the postseason each of those seasons.

Under Henrickson, the Hokies have won 98 of their last 133 games (73.7 percent), dating back to Feb. 14, 1998.

Twenty Wins – No Problem

Reaching the magical 20win mark has become a common occurance for the women's basketball program over the last ten years. Tech has posted eight 20+ win campaigns including the five straight since Bonnie Henrickson became head coach. The 1998-99 squad was the fastest in school history to reach 20 wins, accomplishing the feat in only 21 games. The 1993-94 and 1994-95 teams reached the mark in 25 contests, the 1992-93 and 00-01 squads took 27 games, the 1997-98 team reached 20 wins in 29 games while the 1999-00 and last year's team reached the plateau in 30 outings.

Across the State

Under Coach Bonnie Henrickson, the Hokies have posted a 22-4 overall record against teams that hail from the state of Virginia, 13-0 at home and 9-4 on the road. Since the 1976-77 season, Virginia Tech has posted a 106-87 record overall vs. in-state foes, 61-25 at home, 43-48 on the road and 2-14 in neutral site games.

Hokies History

With the 21-11 record in 2001-2002, Virginia Tech posted the school's 14th winning season. Last year the Hokies registered their fifth straight and eighth 20-plus win season in the past ten years. Henrickson has been part of all eight 20-win squads, three as an assistant and five as head coach. Tech's best-ever season was the 28-3 mark registered by Henrickson's 1999 team.

Tech in the Polls

The Virginia Tech Women's Basketball team was ranked in the coaches poll for seven consecutive weeks and in the AP poll for six straight weeks last season before dropping out of both polls on Feb. 25. Tech received votes in both final polls.

Under Coach Bonnie Henrickson, the Hokies were ranked 20 straight weeks in the nation's Top 25 in both polls, dating from Dec. 7, 1998 to Dec. 20, 1999. Since Henrickson became the head coach in 1997, the Hokies were ranked for the first time in the 1998-99 preseason poll, ranking 22nd in Street & Smith's preseason publication. The Hokies also received 23 votes in the Associated Press Top 25 preseason poll that year and 18 votes in the USA Today/ ESPN poll. Tech continued to receive votes until reaching Top 25 status in both polls, ranking 22nd. The Hokies stayed in both polls that entire season, reaching as high as ninth in the Associated Press Poll and 11th in the USA Today/ESPN Coaches Poll on February 15.

Tech received its first-ever ranking on January 17, 1995, when the Hokies entered the USA Today/CNN/Coaches Poll at No. 24. Tech was ranked 23rd the following week and entered the Associated Press poll at No. 25.

Bonnie Henrickson has coached Virginia Tech teams to NCAA success, including in 2001, when guard Emily Lipton (right) and the Hokies won a first-round tournament game over Denver at Texas Tech.

The BIG EAST Conference

One of the most significant events in Virginia Tech athletic history occurred when the it became the newest member of the BIG EAST Conference in July, 2000. This is the Hokies' third conference affiliation since 1981, when they became affiliated with the old Metro Conference. Tech held membership in the Metro from 1981 to 1995 and was in the Atlantic 10 Conference from 1995 to 2000. The current members of the BIG EAST regarded as perhaps the top women's basketball league in the country - are Boston College, Connecticut, Georgetown, Miami, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Providence, Rutgers, Seton Hall, St. John's, Syracuse, Villanova, Virginia Tech and West Virginia. The BIG EAST has produced the last three national champions.

Hokies Face Tough Schedule

The 2001-02 schedule was loaded with successful women's basketball programs. The Hokies faced eventual national champion Connecticut twice and had tweleve games against NCAA Tournament teams. In fact, Tech's opponents had a .589 winning percentage and 15 of the Hokies 28 opponents advanced to postseason play. Ten of last season's opponents won 20 or more games with 19 teams posting winning records. This year the Hokies again face stiff competition against ten teams (Boston College, Connecticut, Florida International, Liberty, LSU, Notre Dame, Old Dominion, Syracuse, Villanova and Virginia) which made the NCAA Tournament field and five teams (#1 Connecticut, #15 Old Dominion, #21 Boston College, #22 LSU and #23 Florida International) that concluded the year in the Associated Press Top 25.

International Hokies

The Virginia Tech women's basketball program made its first international trip in the Bonnie Henrickson era when the Hokies travelled to Europe in the summer of 2000. The Hokies comfortably won all four games against competition from France and Switzerland, and enjoyed 11 days of touring Europe. Tech is scheduled to make a summer trip to Australia in 2004. Chrystal Starling was a member of the BIG EAST All-Star team which toured Germany the summer of 2001.

OUTSTANDING FACILITIES

From the locker room to the arena, Tech's competition and support areas are second to none

Television cameras and a sell-out crowd of 10,052 watched the Hokies win an NCAA Tournament game at home in 1999. Cassell Coliseum provides a terrific bome-court advantage

Defending the Cassell

Under Coach Bonnie Henrickson, the Hokies have posted a 61-14 record (.813) at Cassell Coliseum. Overall, the program has posted a 229-102 (.692) home record since the addition of women's basketball as a varsity sport in 1976-77. The Hokies were 15-0 at home in 1999 and won 18-straight regular-season home games until the Georgia loss on November 17, 1999. Tech was 15-2 at home last season and the Hokies have won 55 of their last 67 home games.

Love Those Hokies

The play of the Virginia Tech women's basketball program at home has not gone unnoticed by the Hokie faithful. The following has paid huge dividends for the team for its performances at the Cassell, serving as the team's sixth man on the court.

In 1999, Tech set eight of the program's 10 best single-game attendance marks and averaged a record 5,221 fans per game, ranking 13th nationally. In Tech's first round NCAA Tournament win over St. Peter's, the Hokies recorded the program's first sellout crowd with 10,052 on hand.

Last season the Hokies averaged 2,577 in 17 home games which was 33rd best in the nation. The Hokies drew 6,069 against No. 1 Connecticut, which was Tech's eighth-largest crowd, and had 5,370 on hand, good for No. 10 on the list, for the WNIT semifinal contest against Houston.

The Hokies' athletic training needs are taken care of in the brand-new, state-of-the-art Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room.

The women's basketball locker room at Tech has an attractive entrance, including a floor that depicts the coliseum, a large lounge area, and spacious individual lockers with personal vanities.

Tech Athletics On Top

Virginia Tech has a long and proud tradition in athletics, but the Hokies have really seen their success and visibility grow immensely over the past few years. For the ever-growing legion of Tech fans, the most exciting part is that the future looks even brighter.

With a total of 21 varsity sports, 11 for men and 10 for women, Virginia Tech provides generous opportunities for athletes (and fans) to get in the Hokie huddle. Tech competes at the Division I level of the NCAA in the BIG EAST Conference for all sports, except wrestling, which competes as a member of the Eastern Wrestling League.

The winning ways of Coach Bonnie Henrickson's Hokies, averaging 23 wins the past five seasons including five consecutive postseason appearances, and the skyrocketing interest in the women's basketball program are only part of the story.

Tech's nationally-known football team has had unprecedented success over the past decade. The Hokies have played in nine consecutive bowl games, and have enjoyed four years of ten-win seasons. The Tech football team won BIG EAST championships in 1995, 1996 and 1999, and played for the National Championship in the 2000 Nokia Sugar Bowl.

In 2001, the Hokie golf team won a nation's-best six tournaments, including the BIG EAST Golf Championship, and went on to record an eighth-place finish at the 2001 NCAA Golf Championship. Last year, the golf team repeated as BIG EAST champs and again advanced to the NCAAs.

Baseball, tennis and many other Tech sports also enjoy success at the conference and NCAA levels.

Before joining the BIG EAST, Tech competed in the Atlantic 10 Conference, earning over 30 league titles in five years. Tech's move into the BIG EAST Conference as a full member two years ago has further enhanced the quality and visibility of the Hokies' athletic program. Tech athletes perform in some of the finest athletic venues in the nation and have some of the best support facilities and personnel as well.

The Virginia Tech athletics program competes at the highest level — and things are even looking up from there!

Chrystal Starling and her teammates are looking to get the Hokies back to the NCAA Tournament for their sixth-straight postseason bid under Coach Henrickson

2002-2003 OUTLOOK

Experienced returnees and an outstanding recruiting class look to come together to lead Tech to a sixth straight postseason bid

Success is a word that has followed Bonnie Henrickson wherever she has been as both a player and a coach. In her five seasons at Virginia Tech, Henrickson has guided the Hokies to the postseason and 20-plus victories every year.

Tech has averaged 23 wins a season under Henrickson and has appeared in three NCAA Tournaments, had two WNIT appearances and finished high in the tough BIG EAST Conference in each of the Hokies' two years in the league.

Tech won its first-round NCAA Tournament game in 1998, advanced to the NCAA "Sweet 16" in 1999, finished in the WNIT "Sweet 16" in 2000, advanced to the 2001 NCAA second round and made the WNIT semifinals last season. The program also garnered national attention last year, being ranked as high as No. 16 by The Associated Press on January 21 following a 15-2 start to the season. The continued success of the program has enhanced Tech's recruiting efforts, as the Hokies have the best group of newcomers in the program's history. The newcomers and the returning players will form a unique mix as Tech looks to improve on last year's results and reach the postseason once again.

Henrickson will have to replace four seniors, including three starters, as Tech enters the 2002-03 campaign. The Hokies lost Sarah Hicks, the program's career three-point field goals made leader, who was an All-BIG EAST selection and a member of the 1,000point club. Other losses include Nicole Jones, Lisa Guarneri, and Mollie Owings. Jones was fourth on the team in scoring and third in rebounding, while Guarneri handed out 127 assists from the point guard position. Owings provided a spark off the bench and was a crowd favorite.

"Three of the seniors made a tremendous impact on the floor during their final year and Mollie set a great example in the weight room as well as outside of the game," said Henrickson. "We will have to replace Sarah's three-point shooting, defense and rebounding along with Lisa's ability to create off the dribble. We will also have to find a replacement for Nicole who made good decisions and had a tremendous amount of playing experience in her four years."

Two starters along with two reserves who saw considerable playing time return from last year's 21-11 squad. This season's edition of the Hokies will include two seniors, four juniors, one sophomore and six freshmen. Six members of the team are newcomers while two others, Fran Recchia and Amy Lingenfelder, missed last season due to injury.

"We have had an advantage in having all five freshmen in for the second summer session which has given them a head start on getting to know each other, the coaching staff and our system," said Henrickson. "We have a good mix in the newcomers in that they will provide depth throughout the roster. A common thread among the freshmen is that they want to be successful, are committed to winning, and are willing to trust each other to reach the goals we have set for the team."

As with any Henrickson team, defense will play a key role in the success of the squad.

"We have gotten bigger on the perimeter and improved our athleticism," said Henrickson. "Our defensive system has been successful through the years and the challenge, as with all freshmen, is to teach them the proper defensive position. I believe that with our size and athletic ability we will be a good defensive team."

All-America candidate leva Kublina (6-4, Jr., F/C, Riga, Latvia), the 2002 BIG EAST Conference Most Improved

Player and a second-team All-BIG EAST selection, will be counted on to be a force on both the offensive and defensive ends of the floor. Kublina led the BIG EAST in scoring (15.6), and led the Hokies in rebounds (7.8) and field goals made (198) in addition to being named to the WNIT All-Tournament team. Her 86 blocks were the second most in school history and most by a sophomore. Kublina's 121 career blocks in only two years ranks third on the Tech career list while her 498 points last season and 249 rebounds both ranked as the fifth most in a season and most by a sophomore.

Kublina had 10 doubledoubles last year, scored in double figures 25 times and ended the season with 32 points in the WNIT semifinals against Houston.

Chrystal Starling (5-11, Sr., G/F, Syracuse, N.Y.) returns for her senior year after seeing action in all 32 games last year following off-season shoulder surgery. Starling was third on the team in scoring (11.4) and third in the BIG EAST in free throw percentage (.806) after leading the league the previous season. She scored in double figures 21 times and recorded her first career double-double in the season opener against Richmond. Starling scored 13 points in the first round of the BIG EAST tournament to become the 14th member of the Tech 1,000-point club. She was also named to the LSU Crawfish Classic All-Tournament team.

After splitting time for the past two seasons with Guarneri, Emily Lipton (5-7, Sr., G, Crofton, Md.) takes over the point for her senior season. Lipton started 31 games last year and handed out 105 assists. She opened the season with a season-high ten points along with seven assists against Richmond.

Other returning players include Erin Gibson (6-2, So., C, Galax, Va.), Davina Simmons (6-0, Jr., F, Winston-Salem, N.C.), Fran Recchia (5-7, r-Fr., G, Flower Mound, Tex.) and Amy Lingenfelder (5-8, Jr., G, Fairfax, Va.). Gibson saw action in all 32 games as a freshman and provided support for Jones and Kublina on both ends of the floor. She averaged 6.3 points and 4.6 rebounds and set career highs with 18 points and 14 rebounds at Georgetown. Gibson had six double-figure scoring games and pulled down five or more rebounds 15 times. Simmons saw action in 17 games after missing most of her freshman year with a knee injury. She scored a career-high 11 points at Radford and had seven points in the Hokies' WNIT firstround win over UNC Greensboro. Recchia played in only three games due to a stress fracture in her right foot while Lingenfelder, a transfer from Georgia Tech, was lost for the year after tearing the ACL in her left knee during preseason practice.

Six newcomers will join the Tech roster for the upcoming season. Dawn Chriss (6-1, Fr., G, Hillcrest Heights, Md.), Megan Finnerty (6-3, Fr., C, Atlanta, Ga.), Brandy Fowler (6-1, Jr., C, Cary, N.C.), Kerri Gardin (6-1, Fr., F, Morganton, N.C.), Maggie Griesser (6-0, Fr., G, Springfield, Pa.) and Carrie Mason (5-7, Fr., G, Seneca, Pa.) form a recruiting class that has been rated in the top 20 by several publications.

The 2001-02 schedule was perhaps the toughest in school history — featuring ten NCAA Tournament teams, including national champion Connecticut, along with five WNIT participants. The 2002-03 schedule may be even tougher, as the Hokies face some of the best programs in the nation. The non-conference schedule will feature a blend of old and new opponents including home dates against UNC Greensboro (WNIT participant), arch-rival and NCAA participant Virginia, James Madison and New River Valley rival Radford. Tech will once again host the Lady Luck Continued on next page

The non-conference away schedule sends the Hokies to Maryland, Liberty (six-straight NCAA appearances) and Old Dominion (NCAA "Sweet 16"). Tech will travel to Miami, Fla., to participate in the Florida International Thanksgiving Classic hosted by the Panthers who advanced to the NCAA second round. LSU (NCAA participant), a Tech opponent from last year, and Washington State round out the field.

"The non-conference schedule prepares us for the BIG EAST season and gives us some national exposure," said Henrickson. "These games will give our young players a chance to get some playing time against quality opponents that are similiar to what they will face in the BIG EAST."

The BIG EAST Conference. home of the last three national champions, will once again present the Hokies with a challenging schedule. Defending national champion Connecticut, 2001 champ Notre Dame, along with nationally-ranked programs including Boston College and Villanova comprise just a small portion of the demanding 16game conference slate. Tech will have home and away games against Rutgers, Villanova and West Virginia next season with additional conference home contests against Georgetown, Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Providence and Syracuse. The Hokies' away conference schedule includes Boston College, Connecticut, Miami, St. John's and Seton Hall.

"The BIG EAST is a great league that continues to get better from top to bottom," Henrickson said. "Everyone in the league continues to improve and there is not a night when you can just show up and walk off with a victory. The balance and overall strength of the league continues to get better, which enhances the conference's reputation around the nation."

The coaching staff has only one change this year. Alayne Ingram comes to Tech from the University of Michigan to take over the administrative assistant position which became vacant when Kyra Elzy accepted an assistant coaching position at Western Kentucky. Angie Lee begins her second season with the program as recruiting coordinator along with fellow assistants Karen Lange and Katie O'Connor.

"Our staff not only does a great job of bringing in quality student-athletes to our program, but also working with them once they are here to become better players and students," said Henrickson. "The continuity and consistency we have had with the staff is important to our success. Our administration has done a great job in keeping the staff together."

Point Guard

Emily Lipton was thrust into the position during her freshman season three years ago due to injuries and she shared point guard duties the last two seasons with Lisa Guarneri. This year, Lipton will enter preseason practice as the leader at the position. She started 31 games last year and handed out 105 assists while averaging just over 28 minutes a game. Lipton was credited with five or more assists in seven contests including a career-high eight against St. John's. She tossed in a season-high ten points in the opener against Richmond and will be asked to increase her assist production in addition to directing the offense.

"Emily's junior year was her best year at Virginia Tech and she will have to be even better this year," said Henrickson. "I believe that she will continue to improve and help our young point guards with their development."

Depth at the position is a major concern due to a lack of an experienced back-up. Fran Recchia saw her freshman season come to an abrupt end due to a stress fracture in her right foot after appearing in only three games. Recchia averaged 15.8 points and 4.8 steals in high school and once hit nine treys in a game. She scored eight points, including one three-pointer, in only ten minutes during her collegiate debut against Northwestern State (La.) in the LSU Crawfish Classic. "Even though she didn't play much last year due to the injury, Fran learned a tremendous amount from the sideline," Henrickson said. "Physically, she is getting back to where she needs to be and with the knowledge she gained last year we expect her to contribute both at the point and the shooting guard positions."

Carrie Mason is expected to see time after a stellar high school career. Mason, a McDonald's All-American nominee, averaged 25.8 points and 8.4 assists in leading Cranberry (Pa.) High School to the Elite Eight in the state playoffs. She led her conference in scoring and was named the league's MVP four times and holds the school career record for assists (757) and steals (425). Mason tallied 2,336 career points and shot 89 percent from the free throw line.

"We will bring Carrie along slowly and increase her playing time when she is ready," Henrickson said. "The transition from high school to college for point guards is the most difficult of all of the positions but I believe she will handle it and give us some depth at the point."

Shooting Guard

Chrystal Starling will again receive the bulk of playing time at the shooting guard position after starting 18 games last season following off-season shoulder surgery. Starling was third in scoring last year averaging 11.4 points and was second on the team with 22 three-point baskets. She scored in double figures 21 times and became the 14th member of Tech's 1,000-point club. Starling was third in the conference in free throw percentage last year after leading the league the previous season. She recorded the first double-double of her career in the season opener against Richmond with 22 points and 10 rebounds.

"Chrystal had a disappointing year in both her mind and in my mind," said Henrickson. "She needs to be consistent from game to game, but she is very capable of having a good senior season."

As with the point guard position, there is a lack of experienced depth at shooting guard. Amy Lingenfelder, a transfer from Georgia Tech, missed all of last season after tearing the ACL in her left knee during preseason practice. Two years ago, she played in all 31 games for the Yellow Jackets averaging 7.9 points as a freshman. Lingenfelder, a definite three-point threat, started 11 of the last 12 games Continued on next page for Georgia Tech in 2000 and scored 18 points against N.C. State in the ACC Tournament.

"Amy has seen some action over the summer and like Fran, learned a lot while sitting on the sideline," Henrickson said. "She will give us some depth and help our perimeter offense."

Freshmen Dawn Chriss and Maggie Griesser should also see action at shooting guard.

"Dawn is a great rebounder on both ends of the floor with the potential to be a great defender," said Henrickson. "She has the ability to help us at both ends of the floor in the transition game."

Griesser will bring size to the position and is a good shooter off the pass. She averaged 11.3 points and 4.2 rebounds during her high school senior season and was twice selected as an AAU All-American. Griesser led her team to a 26-2 record and the Catholic League championship as well as a No. 8 national ranking by USA Today.

"Maggie has a tremendous basketball I.Q., and is great in the weight room," said Henrickson. "She gives us another quality three-point shooter."

Small Forward

The Hokies will have to replace Sarah Hicks, a thirdteam All-BIG EAST selection, who is not only Tech's career three-point field goals made leader but also was second on the team last year in rebounding. While Starling may also see some playing time at small forward, the Hokies will look to freshman Kerri Gardin for depth at the position.

Gardin can score in a variety of ways and has exceptional speed and quickness. She was named the Associated Press North Carolina Girls Player of the Year after leading her team to the state championship. Gardin averaged 18.4 points and 13.1 rebounds and was selected as the MVP of the state title game following a 25-point, 19rebound performance.

"Kerri is a great rebounder who is explosive at both ends of the floor," Henrickson said. "She will play bigger than she looks due to her reach and she has the potential to help us with perimeter depth."

Power Forward

All-America candidate leva Kublina returns after an outstanding sophomore season. Kublina was named the BIG EAST Most Improved Player last year and was selected to the All-BIG EAST second team. Kublina led Tech and the BIG EAST in scoring, averaging 15.6 points with 7.8 rebounds and 2.7 blocks. She scored in double figures 25 times and had nine doubledoubles last season. Kublina blocked three or more shots 16 times and already ranks third in career blocks at Tech with 121 in only two seasons. She was voted to the WNIT All-Tournament team and tallied a career-high 32 points in the WNIT semifinal against Houston.

"leva can do many things offensively and is a candidate leva Kublina, the BIG EAST Most Improved Player, is both an inside and outside scoring threat.

for conference player of the year and All-America honors this season," said Henrickson. "Defensively, she has improved greatly and has great timing in blocking shots without fouling. She is tremendously talented and is only going to get better."

Erin Gibson had a solid freshman season, seeing significant playing time for the Hokies. Gibson played in all 32 games and had five or more rebounds in 15 contests. She tallied double-figure scoring six times and had career highs of 18 points and 14 rebounds at Georgetown. Gibson led the team in field goal percentage, connecting on 50 percent of her attempts.

"Erin gives us a great inside combination with leva," Henrickson said. "She is a fantastic rebounder and I cannot give her enough credit for what she has done to get in shape physically for the upcoming season."

Junior college transfer Brandy Fowler is an outstanding offensive rebounder who will provide depth on the inside. Fowler averaged 15 points and 10 boards for Louisburg (N.C.) College in leading the team to a 29-5 record and a berth in the national tournament. She was named to the NJCAA All-America first team and was a Kodak Jr. College All-American.

"Brandy is a low post threat who will help us on the offensive glass," said Henrickson. "She is very strong and will help leva on the inside."

Center

In addition to the power forwards who may also see time in the post, junior Davina Simmons and freshman Megan Finnerty will help add depth in the paint. Simmons appeared in 17 games last season after missing most of her freshman year due to a knee injury. She has the ability to penetrate off the dribble and can be effective on the boards when healthy. Simmons came off the bench to score seven points against UNC Greensboro in the WNIT first round.

"Davina made the transition to playing more inside in the middle of last year," said Henrickson. "She rebounds the ball very well and is strong, unselfish and just wants to unselfish, and just wants to play and help the team."

Finnerty was a 2001 AAU All-American and averaged 12 points and eight rebounds during her senior season in high school. She led her team to a 27-4 season and to the final eight of the Georgia Class 4A state playoffs.

"Megan has been a pleasant surprise this summer in demonstrating her speed getting up and down the floor," said Henrickson. "She will give us some skill from the high post where she can knock down a shot, and her personality is that of a leader which helps with the other freshmen."

Summary

The loss of four seniors will leave the Hokies with several questions as they enter the 2002-03 campaign. How well the returning four experienced players jell with one of the best recruiting classes in the program's history will determine the success of this year's squad. A foundation built on five consecutive postseason appearances along with five straight 20-plus win seasons provides this year's group with the winning tradition necessary to continue the program's success.

"We have some questions that need to be answered, but I'm excited about the season with so many new faces," said Henrickson. "I think our quality of depth is as good as it ever has been and we will be able to compete and challenge each other in practice which will help us get better. I believe all of the components will come together as the season progresses and we will have another good year."

Virginia Tech women's basketball players benefit from the care and concern shown by their coaches in all aspects of their lives

TLD

One of the nation's top college coaches, Henrickson has guided her team to at least 20 wins and postseason play in each of her five years as a bead coach

Bonnie Henrickson is no stranger to success, and she continues to establish herself as one of the nation's brightest young coaches.

In her sixth year as the head mentor at Virginia Tech, Henrickson has led the Hokies to a 113-43 record, three trips to the NCAA Tournament and two WNIT appearances. Henrickson's 2001-02 team became the eighth 20-plus win team in Hokie history and her fifth straight as the Virginia Tech head coach.

Henrickson may have given her best performance as a head coach during the 2000-01 season, leading the Hokies to a 22-9 overall record. The Hokies posted an 11-5 record and a fourth-place finish in Tech's inaugural season in the BIG EAST Conference.

In July 2000, she was the head coach of the women's USA Basketball R. William Jones Cup team that traveled to Taiwan for the Jones Cup competition. This appointment marked her second stint working with a USA Basketball team, but first as the head coach.

In 1999, after losing one of the best senior classes to graduation and battling injuries all year long, Henrickson did an outstanding job keeping the squad together and focused on its goals. Her squad advanced to the second round of the WNIT with a 20-11 record overall, marking the thirdstraight winning season in as many years, third trip to postseason play and third 20-win season for Tech.

Her 1998-99 Hokies posted a school-best 28-3 record, including a trip to the NCAA Sweet 16. For her efforts, Henrickson was singled out as Atlantic 10 Coach of the Year after the Hokies finished 15-1 in conference play. She also was a finalist for national coach of the year honors. She was selected to be an assistant coach on Team USA that won the silver medal in Spain in the summer of 1999, competing in the World University games.

Entering the Tech position in 1997-98 with 10 years of collegiate coaching experience, Henrickson led the Hokies to a 22-10 mark, the second round of the NCAAs and the biggest turnaround in school history.

Her first season in Blacksburg also brought the school's first Atlantic 10 Championship, its 300th win and two All-Americans. Under Coach Bonnie Henrickson, Tech has averaged 23 wins per season.

Head Coach

Henrickson's success didn't just begin with the 1997-98 season. Her previous four years as an assistant coach produced four trips to the NCAA Tournament and four conference titles — two each with Tech and the University of lowa. Henrickson's stint at Iowa also produced a Sweet 16 appearance by the Hawkeyes in 1996 and two Big 10 Conference Championships. In her two years, Iowa was a combined 45-14, 27-4 in 1996 and 18-10 in 1997. Her final contribution to Iowa before leaving for Tech was the signing of a recruiting class that ranked 18th in the nation.

Prior to taking the Iowa position, Henrickson helped the Hokies enjoy their greatest success to that point in her seven years as Carol Alfano's top assistant. Tech registered three consecutive 20-win seasons from 1993-95 and earned the school's first NCAA appearances in 1994 and 1995 while Henrickson served as associate head coach.

While she served as Tech's recruiting coordinator during her stay in Blacksburg, Henrickson was credited with signing some of the Hokies' biggest stars. Included in her list of impressive signees are former Hokies Christi Osborne and Jenny Root. Osborne was a three-time GTE Academic All-American while Root finished her career as the Hokies' alltime leading rebounder and earned Kodak Honorable Mention All-America honors. Root also was tabbed 1995 Metro Conference Player of the Year.

Henrickson recruited All-American Lisa Witherspoon as well as such career statistical leaders as Michelle Houseright and Katie O'Connor. She was also the first Tech coach to evaluate former Tech standout Tere Williams.

SCSU compile a 97-25 overall record including a 31-4 mark in her sophomore season. She still ranks among the school leaders in points (4th - 1,731), rebounds (3rd - 995), free throws (1st - 507) and free throw percentage (4th -.790). She later earned her master's in physical education from Western Illinois University in 1988 while serving as a graduate assistant coach with the women's basketball team.

What are the strengths of this year's squad?

We have improved our athleticism, team speed, size on the perimeter and depth which are all things that we need to compete not only in the BIG EAST Confernece but nationally as well. I believe we have addressed several needs with our last couple of recruiting classes. Now we just need time for everything to come together. Defensively, we will have to create offensive opportunties and have our defense generate offensive transition baskets, which is something we have not done as much lately as we did in our first two years.

This year's recruiting class is one of the most highly touted in the program's history. How much playing time will this group see and what are your early impressions of them?

This recruiting class will play a lot out of both ability and necessity since some of them have as much experience as a few of the returnees because of injury. How much they play will be determined by how they handle the transition to college both on and off the court. There is so much new for them to handle other than just the increased level of competition such as the stress of being away from home, the academics, and everything being new each day. Our upper classmen and coaching staff have to be sure we commit the proper amount of time with them each day to help with their transition. The type of season we have will be determined by how quickly the newcomers are ready to play. They need to progress rather quickly, and the fact that they were here this summer is a huge advantage for us.

leva Kublina had a tremendous second half of the season and is an All-America candidate. To what do you attribute her rapid improvement and how will she handle the pressure of being the offensive leader of the team?

I think she felt the pressure last year when we lost Tere

Williams and Amy Wetzel and we talked about her being prepared to be our best player with the added pressure that comes with that role. She struggled in the first few games last year offensively, but by Christmas she handled the role and became our offensive and defensive leader. Basketball is a year-round commitment for leva in that she goes home to Latvia each summer and plays in a couple of major tournaments, with her teams practicing three times a day. She basically plays all year for both us and for her national teams. She is tremendously coachable and has a great amount of pride, which sometimes has led to her being too hard on herself. The results she had in the second half of last season is a direct result of her improved self-confidence.

Chrystal Starling and Emily Lipton are the lone seniors and both had upand-down seasons last year. How important are they to the success of the team?

We need Chrystal to be consistent on both ends of the floor and for Emily to continue to improve. Both of them need to have their best years this season, and Emily has the added responsibility of helping bring our young point guards along. As with any team, senior leadership is important, and especially for a young team such as this one.

Last year's team struggled at the end of the year after a great start but finished strong in the WNIT. How much of an effect will the late season success have on this year's returning players?

I think there will be some carry-over from last season. We had some problems late in the season on the road, but I thought we played with tremendous pride. And it was fantastic to play in front of such enthusiastic crowds in the WNIT. We ended the season on a high note but with the understanding that our goal is to make the NCAA Tournament. It was also good to get the returning players more game experience by playing in the WNIT.

As you prepare to enter the season, how has the illness of Rayna DuBose and her continued recovery affected the team?

A situation like what happened to Rayna makes everyone take a step back and appreciate even more of what you have, what your able to do and make the most out of every day. Our players look at their own situation and feel fortunate to be able to play and compete every day. She is a source of inspiration to all of us with how hard she continues to fight and work to get better. The situation has changed all of us, but we can still turn this into a positive. Although we are sad she will not be on the floor with us, we know we will get her back here in time. We all grow stronger through adversity, and the players have relied on each other to provide some stability through all that has happened. I'm sure some of their relationships with each other have changed and all our relationships with Rayna have changed. You can never underestimate the sense of family we have within the team and how much we lean on each other through both the good and bad times. Each one of us has our own story to tell on how we have changed in the past year.

Describe the tremendous amount of support Rayna received from around the country.

We received an amazing amount of cards. letters. phone calls and emails in our office as did Rayna's family. During the July recruiting period, not a day passed that several people would come up to me and ask how she was doing and offer their support. Everyone wanted to know if her rehab was going okay and if she was home, so people do care. Even though this is an extremely competitive business, this was personal for coaches all over the country. We all just want what is best for Rayna and her family. I felt this across the country in many different forms of communication. Those actions have meant a tremendous amount to both Rayna and her family.

What does this year's team have to do to post a sixth consecutive 20-win season and another trip to the postseason?

The foundation for this vear's success started the day after our season ended last year. I have been happy with our spring and summer workout programs, and our fall conditioning is always an important time for the team. As a staff, we have to prepare and instruct the freshmen as best we can to enhance their improvement while still working with the upper classmen. We will have to come together as a team during the non-conference schedule to prepare for the league schedule. It all starts with practice each day where we are not in the situation where we can walk away from too many practices and say that we have not improved from the previous day.

Once again you face a tough schedule in addition to playing in a conference that has produced the last three national champions. How do you think this relatively young team will react to such a challenging schedule?

I believe this team is loaded with competitors who have known nothing but success. I like our combination of talent and competitiveness and think we will meet the challenge that the schedule presents us. While the schedule may be challenging for a young team, it also provides us with the opportunity to be successful on the national level which is our goal every season.

Given your success as a head coach, you have been mentioned every offseason for various head coaching vacancies. What is it about Virginia Tech that keeps you in Blacksburg? I came here as an assistant in 1988, and I always go back to when I first walked around the campus. There are so many things here that you don't have at other institutions. The academic reputation, the facilities, the commitment from the administration and the fan support are things that few other programs can offer. The people in the community and the fans who come to our games really gives me a sense of family. This is a great place to live and a great place for students to go to college. Also, our conference affiliation gives us the opportunity to compete at the very highest level. This is a special place that you can't understand until you actually visit the campus and the town — which is why we try to get as many recruits to campus as possible.

BONNIE'S PHILOSOPHY

"When I was hired in the spring of 1997, I communicated very clearly to our team that we would compete in the classroom just as we do on the basketball court. In our first team meeting in the fall we established goals for the year. The first goal was to achieve the highest GPA of any team in our program's history. Upon researching the numbers, we achieved the goal after our first academic semester. The quality of education at Virginia Tech is and has been nationally recognized for years. Our student athletes have the opportunity to use the resources on campus and we believe our best resources are our faculty. Over 90% of our classes are taught by full-time faculty who are attracted to Virginia Tech because of its commitment to research. Last spring over 60% of our team was recognized by the Athletic Department at a spring luncheon after having achieved a GPA of 3.0 or better. They were then named to the Athletic Director's Honor Roll.

"As we recruit student athletes, not only is the quality of play a priority but the quality of the person. We have firstclass citizens who are tremendous role models to the young children in this community. The qualities we look for are honesty, integrity and self-discipline. We select people who are overachievers and who won't settle for less from themselves or those around them. Our student athletes are outstanding representatives of Virginia Tech.

"On the court, we look for young women who possess qualities that are the backbone of every great team. Communication, trust, collective responsibility, caring and pride. We want players who are unselfish; who expect to work hard; who play with a huge heart and who are willing to pay the price for our team to be successful. These young women realize they are part of something bigger than themselves.

"Our family here in Blacksburg is a unique makeup of people from very diverse backgrounds. The common thread that runs through every family member is loyalty to each other. The people in our program are caring, giving, respectful and committed to each other not just as teammates and coaches but as sisters, brothers, dads and moms. The life skills we learn everyday on the basketball court, in lockerrooms, airports and hotels will forever be a part of how we react to employers, employees, husbands and children. We are learning and creating habits that last a lifetime.

"There isn't a day that goes by that I don't get an email, note, phone call or stopped for a conversation by an individual about the impact one of my players has had on them or someone in their life. I am proud to have my players as daughters for the rest of my life."

Lee was a member of the University of Iowa women's basketball staff for 11 years as both an assistant and head coach. After serving as assistant coach from 1989-1995, Lee was named as the head coach and quickly made her presence felt throughout the Big Ten Conference.

In the first three seasons under Lee, the Hawkeyes captured the Big Ten regular season championship in '96 and '98 and won the Big Ten tournament in 1997. Lee was named the 1996 Associated Press Division I Coach of the Year after guiding Iowa to a 27-4 season and an appearance in the NCAA "Sweet 16."

Lee served as an assistant coach for the 1998 USA Basketball Jones Cup team which posted a 5-0 record in Taipai, Taiwan. In her career, Lee has coached four WNBA and ABL players.

A few moments with Angie Lee:

Describe your primary responsibilities as recruiting coordinator?

I am responsible for the coordination and implementation of an organized and efficient system for recruiting future high school and junior college student-athletes to Virginia Tech. My primary areas of emphasis include coaches travel, planning of official and unofficial campus visits, assigning calling and writing rotations of recruits.

What makes Virgina Tech attractive to a recruit?

Number one Virginia Tech is a highly respected academic institution with a variety of majors offered. Number two is Bonnie Henrickson who not only has established a winning tradition here at Virginia Tech, but is a coach who genuinely cares about her players far beyond the court itself. Number three is the beautiful campus and state of the art facilities that are set in a town that supports and loves their HOKIES!

What are some of the non-athletically related attributes you look for in a recruit?

Self respect and respect or others! Academically motivated. Honesty. Integrity.

Since joining the Tech staff, Karen Lange has been a part of five of the Hokies' most memorable seasons including the 2000-01year which included the Hokies' entrance into the BIG EAST Conference.

Lange, formerly Clayton, underwent a name change in June 2000 when she was married to Cory Lange.

Lange, now in her fifth season on the Hokies' bench, came to Tech after a standout career at the University of lowa. In her time as the Hawkeyes' point guard, Lange received All-Big Ten Conference and academic all-conference nods, in addition to leading lowa to an appearance in the NCAA Final Four in 1993.

As a player at lowa, when Bonnie Henrickson was an assistant coach there, Lange led the 1995-96 Hawkeyes to the NCAA "Sweet 16". She dished out a team-leading 136 assists, while committing only 60 turnovers in 31 games.

Lange helped lead the Hawkeyes to the 1993 and 1996 Big Ten Championships in addition to Iowa's impressive NCAA runs. Lange and the Hawkeyes were honored as the NCAA's top defensive unit in 1993.

A few moments with Karen Lange:

What was the biggest challenge you faced in your new position last year?

I think the biggest challenge was learning and understanding that to those who are given more, more is expected. It was a challenge for me to learn and understand how to be a good recruiter for our program. Along with the new position came the pressure of knowing that to reach our goals as a basketball program we would need to recruit high caliber athletes to Virginia Tech every year and that responsibility is a large part of my position now.

How has your playing experience assisted you as a coach?

I was very fortunate to have a great college experience and to learn from three of the best-Vivian Stringer, Angie Lee, and Bonnie. I learned as much about life's experiences as I did basketball and have taken a little something from each of them to mold myself into the coach I am today. I try to be as much a mentor of life now to our players as I do just a basketball coach. My experiences as a player both good and bad allow me to relate to what our players are going through on a daily basis. The level of play that I was fortunate enough to compete at has allowed me to fully understand what it takes to be successful at the Big East level and beyond.

Katie O'Connor is in her second season as assistant coach for the Hokies after serving for two years as administrative assistant.

As the program's administrative assistant, O'Connor helped the Hokies to two NCAA Tournament berths. She previously served as a student assistant for one year following her playing career at Virginia Tech.

As administrative assistant, O'Connor was responsible for the daily operation of the basketball office as well as the coordination of Tech's booster club, the Hokie Hardwood Club.

O'Connor, a native of Chapel Hill, N.C., was a fouryear starter for the Hokies from 1995-99. She helped lead Tech to an Atlantic 10 Conference tournament title in 1998, an A-10 regularseason title in 1999 and to two NCAA Tournament appearances.

In her senior season, the program enjoyed its most successful year, posting a 28-3 record, a "Sweet 16" appearance and the program's highest ranking of No. 9. As a senior, she was also named the Atlantic 10 Conference's most improved player.

In her position, O'Connor has oncourt coaching responsibilities working with the Tech guards and also serves as director of women's basketball summer camps.

A few moments with Katie O'Connor:

How are summer camps beneficial to the women's basketball program?

We run six different camps throughout June and July and in those camps we have a great opportunity to teach the fundamentals and technique that have made our program successful to aspiring young players. Many of these campers will come to see us play at some point during our season and they are able to get to know the players as many of them work as counselors at camp. We are also able to observe some of the talented high school teams from the area at either of our two team camps.

What was the most difficult aspect of your new position as assistant coach?

I felt as if my transition from administrative assistant to assistant coach went well. As a staff, we do a lot of game preparation in terms of scouting the opponent. One thing that I had to get used to was the amount time and detail involved in that process. Our thoroughness, however, helps us to be successful.

A few moments with Alayne Ingram:

What has the transition been like from a player to the position of administrative assistant?

This transition has been one of the most challenging that I've faced in my life. Unlike the transition from high school to college basketball, this presents a change in everything. A change in the way I think about things, react to things, and do things. With this transition also brings more responsibility. It also gives me the opportunity to learn from people who are well respected and have been in the business a long time.

How has your experience as a player prepared you for this position?

I think that coming from a successful program I know what it takes to be successful. I know the amount of hard work that goes into being a good team. Also having the amount of playing experience that I have will help me be able to communicate to other guards the mentality they need to have. I also feel that the fact that I am only just removed from college will help me to speak to the players and relate to them on their level.

What attracted you to Virginia Tech?

It is a great place for college sports. The people are very accepting. Most of all, the program is rooted in hard work. I wanted to be in a place where people worked hard and had a passion for the game; I was fortunate enough to have been given the opportunity to be a part of that at Virginia Tech. ing community service events and working with the women's basketball summer camps.

As a member of the Michigan women's basketball team, she became the program's career three-point field goals made leader with 182 and also holds the school record for most treys made in a season (54). An All-Big Ten second-team selection her senior season, Ingram is sixth on the Michigan career scoring list (1,461), third in career free throw percentage (.828) and fourth in career assists (377).

Rayna DuBose was hospitalized at Montgomery Regional Hospital with meningococcal meningitis on April 2, 2002, just over a week after the Hokies had completed the basketball season. This rare disease is a bacterial infection that leads to inflammation of fluids surrounding the brain and spinal cord. The next day she was airlifted in critical condition to the University of Virginia Medical Center where she would remain for the next 97 days. She spent three weeks in intensive care before being upgraded to fair condition.

In early May, she underwent a series of surgeries in which doctors amputated parts of all four limbs due to tissue damage caused by the infection. On July 8, DuBose was transferred to Good Samaritan Hospital, a Baltimore rehabilitation facility near her home in Columbia, Md. Soon after, she returned to her home and began regular visits to the rehab facility where she later would be fitted for prosthesis for her arms and legs.

DuBose made her first visit back to Virginia Tech on Oct. 19, for the Hokies' homecoming football game against Rutgers. She continues her rehabilitation and plans on returning to school in the Fall of 2003.

2001-2002 REVIEW

Hokies advance to postseason play for the fifth straight year, end their rollercoaster season on a high note in the WNIT

The Virginia Tech women's basketball team concluded another successful season with a 21-11 record and advanced to the WNIT semifinals. The season marked the fifth consecutive 20-plus win season for the Hokies under Coach Bonnie Henrickson and the fifth straight postseason appearance.

There were many highlights during the season, including Sarah Hicks and Chrystal Starling becoming the 13th and 14th members of the 1,000point club, Henrickson reaching the 100-victory milestone, Hicks becoming Tech's all-time three-point field goals made leader, wins over nationallyranked Old Dominion and Boston College, a 12-game winning streak and a great effort at home against eventual national champion Connecticut as the Hokies battled the Huskies to the final buzzer. Also, sophomore leva Kublina was named the BIG EAST Conference Most Improved Player and, along with Hicks, was selected to the All-BIG EAST team. Kublina was also named to the WNIT All-Tournament team.

Tech's success at home continued last season with a 15-2 record and the Hokies posted a 6-1 mark versus instate opponents. In the Bonnie Henrickson era, Tech has a dominating 22-4 record vs. Virginia opponents, including a 13-0 mark in the friendly confines of Cassell Coliseum.

The Hokies tipped off the season at home against the Richmond Spiders. The bench played a key role in the 76-62 victory by outscoring Richmond 33-14 and outrebounding the Spiders 22-14. Starling led the way with 22 points followed by Sarah Hicks' 21-point effort, including four treys. Nicole Jones recorded her third career double-double with 12 points and 11 rebounds.

The combination of a tough defense down the stretch and timely free throw shooting proved to be enough to defeat 16th-ranked Old Dominion, 68-62. Hicks and Starling connected on two free throws each in the final seconds to seal the victory. Starling again led the team with 20 points including an 11-of-12 performance from the free throw line.

Tech traveled to the "Bayou State" for the LSU Crawfish Classic over the Thanksgiving break for the first of seven consecutive games away from the Cassell. The Hokies connected on their first 10 shots from the field and never looked back in crushing Northwestern State 71-46 in the first round. Tech led 34-17 at intermission and wrapped up the contest with a 20-0 run early in the second half.

Next up on the schedule was 19th-ranked LSU in the Crawfish Classic title game. Tech took what appeared to be a commanding 61-54 lead with seven minutes remaining but was outscored 12-4 the rest of the way in the 66-65 loss. Hicks, selected as a member of the all-tournament team along with Starling, paced the Hokies with a career-high 28 points. Kublina came out of an early season slump to post her third career double-double with 15 points and 12 rebounds while Jones added 10 points and eight boards.

University Hall in Charlottesville, Va., was the site for the annual battle with arch-rival Virginia. The Hokies trailed by as many as 11 points in the second half but stormed back to take a 55-52 lead with iust a couple of minutes left in the contest. For the second consecutive game, however, the offense stalled in the waning moments as the Cavaliers pulled out a 60-58 win. Kublina led all scorers with 18 points, followed by Hicks with 12 and Jones' 11 points.

Tech managed to get back on the winning track with a second half eruption to win 83-64 at Pittsburgh in the BIG EAST opener for both teams. Leading only 34-31 at the half, the Hokies tossed in 49 points in the second frame to win going away. Jones led the way with 21 points followed by Starling's 18 points, along with 16 points, 10 rebounds and four blocks from Kublina and 11 points by Hicks.

A suffocating defense in the second half was the key to a 56-40 win at Liberty. Tech held the Flames to only 17 points after halftime and to only 25.5 percent from the field for the game. The win was the eighth straight in the series for the Hokies, who have never lost to the Flames. Starling led Tech with 13 points, including three treys, while Jones and freshman Fran Recchia tossed in 10 each.

The road swing continued with a trip to face New River Valley rival Radford. Kublina dominated the Highlanders with 22 points to lead Hokies in the 80-46 victory. The defense again proved to be key as Tech held Radford to 27 percent from the field. Davina Simmons came off the bench to toss in 11 points while Jones, Starling and freshman Erin Gibson added 10 points each.

The road trip ended on a high note as Tech disposed of James Madison 70-47 behind 18 points and four blocks from Kublina. The Hokies broke the game open with a 17-2 run in the last seven minutes of the first half and never looked back. Hicks had 18 points, including four treys while Emily Lipton added ten points. The win marked the third consecutive game and fourth of the season that Tech had held an opponent under 50 points.

Bonnie Henrickson registered win No. 100 in the opening round of the Lady Luck Classic with a 76-39 win over Gardner-Webb. After leading by only eight at the break, Tech went on a tear, outscoring the Bulldogs 38-6 in the first 16 minutes of the second half. Starling led the scoring with 15 points while Hicks contributed eight points, eight rebounds and handed out seven assists.

Tech won the Lady Luck for the fourth consecutive year

Following her 100th Tech win, Coach Bonnie Henrickson is presented a game ball at the Lady Luck Classic by Associate A.D. Tom Gabbard.

Erin Gibson had a solid freshman year, including a career-high 18 points and 14 rebounds at Georgetown.

with a dominating 83-43 win against Hampton. The defense allowed only 13 field goals from the Pirates, who shot a meager 23 percent for the game. Hicks, the tournament's Most Valuable Player, had eight points coupled with nine assists. Jones tossed in 17 points followed by 14 from Gibson and 12 by Kublina.

The new year opened with a grudge match against Clemson. The Tigers had defeated the Hokies 80-59 the previous season but Tech got its revenge as the defense held Clemson at bay in a 68-58 victory. Kublina was the key to the victory with 17 points, 10 rebounds and six blocks while Starling and Hicks added 16 and 15 points, respectively. The Hokies used a 17-2 run late in the first half to lead 36-22 and the Tigers could get no closer than five points the rest of the game. The win was the sixth straight for the Hokies.

Kublina again came up big for Tech in its' 62-56 home win against Syracuse. The sophomore center tossed in 24 points with 10 rebounds and six blocks to lead Tech while Hicks added 14. The Hokies held a 33-24 lead at the half only to see the determined Orangewomen close to within three in the final two minutes. Kublina blocked a shot in the waning moments and the Hokies converted at the free throw line for the win.

Tech's 11-2 record earned the Hokies a spot in the national rankings for the first time during the season with a No. 24 ranking in the coaches' poll. Boston College, ranked 24th in the Associated Press Poll. was next on the schedule and the Hokies responded with one of their best efforts of the year in a 73-52 rout of the Eagles. Tech shot a blistering 59 percent from the field while limiting BC to only 31 percent. Kublina continued her torrid play with 19 points, 11 rebounds and five blocks and Starling added 19 points in the win.

The 24th-ranked Hokies escaped with their tenth straight victory in a 71-64 come-from-behind win at Georgetown. Tech trailed 53-45 midway through the second half before putting together a 15-7 run to tie the game at 60 with three minutes remaining in the contest. The Hokies then delivered the knockout punch, outscoring the Hoyas 9-0 in the final minute. Gibson keyed the win with a career-high 18 points and 14 rebounds.

Tech moved up to No. 20 in the rankings but needed a late surge to defeat much-improved West Virginia 67-62. The Hokies built a 38-27 halftime advantage only to see the Mountaineers use an 11-0 run late to take a 60-59 lead at the two minute mark. For the third consecutive game, Tech outplayed the opposition in the final minutes with an 8-2 run, including six straight free throws. Starling led the way with 19 points followed by Kublina's 16 points and a career-high seven blocks.

The winning streak reached 12 games, the second longest in the program's history, with a 69-50 home win over St. John's. Tech shot a sizzling 64 percent in the first half to jump to a 39-20 halftime lead and then clamped down defensively, allowing the Red Storm to get no closer than 12 points. Starling again led all scorers with 16 points while Kublina pulled down 12 boards in the victory.

A No. 16 national ranking, a 12-game winning streak and a 6-0 conference record all came to an end at Manley Fieldhouse, where Syracuse knocked off Tech, 75-59. The Hokies had entered the game as one of the top field goal shooting teams in the nation, but shot only 35 percent in the loss. Hicks led Tech with 18 points followed by Kublina with 17 points and seven rebounds.

The Hokies next traveled to Notre Dame to face the defending national champion Irish and their 46-game home court winning streak. Tech battled Notre Dame fiercely into the second half but a six minute scoring drought sealed the Hokies' fate. The Irish connected on eight straight free throws in the final minute to win 64-57. The contest was decided at the free throw line where Notre Dame outscored the Hokies 16-4. Kublina scored 20 points and Hicks nailed three treys to become Tech's career leader in threepoint field goals made.

The biggest challenge of the season awaited the Hokies upon their return to Blacksburg as they faced the first of two meetings with eventual national champion Connecticut. The game was played before 6,069 fans, the eighth largest crowd to see a women's contest at the Cassell. Tech — playing its third game in six days — took the Huskies down to the wire, actually tying the game with three minutes remaining before UConn connected on 9-of-10 free throws in the final minute to win 59-50. The game would be the closest contest for the Huskies all season. Kublina was the lone Hokie in double figures with 17 points.

Hicks scored a game-high 20 points and Gibson tallied 12 points off the bench as the Hokies snapped a three-game losing streak with a 72-60 win over Miami. Trailing 34-30 at the half, Tech found its shooting touch in the second frame, connecting on 68 percent, while limiting the Hurricanes to 29 percent.

The second contest with Connecticut in ten days was next on the schedule and unlike the first encounter, Tech was no match for the Huskies losing 77-42 in front of over 10,000 Huskie faithful. After trailing early, the Hokies managed to tie the game at 17-17 with just under nine minutes to play before UConn exploded on a 20-2 run to lead 37-19 at the half.

Despite shooting 50 percent from the field, the trip to Providence saw the Hokies come up short in a 67-61 loss to the Friars. Gibson led Tech with 15 points followed by Jones and Kublina with 12 each.

Back in Cassell Coliseum, the 21st-ranked Hokies dominated Seton Hall 74-52 in a game which saw Hicks score her 1,000th career point. Kublina played only two minutes in the first half due to foul trouble but erupted with 18 second-half points to finish with a game-high 24.

The road-weary Hokies headed to Miami for their third road game in ten days and lost a heartbreaking 55-53 decision to the Hurricanes. Kublina was the whole story for Tech with 29 points, 16 rebounds, and five blocks, but her follow-up shot fell off the rim as the buzzer sounded.

Tech remained on the road for a key BIG EAST contest at Villanova, where the hot-shooting Wildcats shot 56 percent in the first #### half to build a 39-25

advantage. The Hokies fought back and pulled to within 53-47 with nine minutes left only to see Villanova connect on 16-of-17 free throws to seal the win. Kublina tallied 24 points and pulled down eight rebounds to lead Tech.

It may have been Senior Night for the Hokies but an underclassman stole the show. Kublina tossed in 26 points and grabbed 11 rebounds as Tech completed the regular season on a positive note with a 70-63 win over Rutgers. The Hokies trailed by as many as 11 points in the first half before putting together an 18-4 run to lead 34-29 at intermission. The Scarlet Knights were able to close to within two late in the game but Starling hit six free throws down the stretch to seal the win.

Tech entered the BIG EAST Tournament as the No. 6 seed but had to play Rutgers for the second time in four days. This time, however, the game was on the Scarlet Knights' home floor. The lowscoring, defensive affair came down to the final minute as the Hokies took a 40-38 lead on a Kublina layup only to see Rutgers end the game on a 6-0 run for the victory. Kublina led the way with 14 while Starling added 13 including her 1,000th career point.

The disappointment of the BIG EAST Tournament turned into excitement as the Hokies were selected to play in the Women's National Invitation Tournament. Tech hosted a first round game against UNC Greensboro and struggled before putting away the Spartans 51-45.

Henrickson had promised that her Hokies would be better in the second round when they hosted George Washington and Tech made good on that claim with a 68-52 victory. After trailing 32-27 at the half, Tech exploded in the second frame outscoring the Colonials 41-20. Kublina paced the scoring attack with 21 points while Lisa Guarneri had a great all-around game with nine points, eight rebounds, seven steals and five assists.

Vermont was the quarterfinal opponent in Cassell Coliseum and Tech put the Catamounts away early then cruised to a 76-48 win. Hicks scored 17 of her game-high 22 points in the first half, including four treys. Kublina contributed 13 points, nine rebounds and three blocks while freshman Rayna DuBose added a career-high 13 points in only ten minutes.

The Hokies WNIT run came to an end in the semifinals with a tough 77-72 overtime loss to Houston in front of 5,409 Hokie faithful in the Cassell. Guarneri hit a driving layup with five seconds remaining in regulation to tie the game at 63-63. In the overtime. Houston built a lead but Tech had the ball trailing 75-72 when Kublina's threepoint shot rimmed out in the final seconds. Kublina, a member of the WNIT All-Tournament team, scored a career-high 32 points while Guarneri, in her final game as a Hokie, was credited with a career-high 12 assists.

Five consecutive postseason appearances and five straight 20-win seasons have the Hokies' sights set on even greater accomplishments as the 2002-03 season approaches. With Kublina, Starling and Gibson returning, along with a highly-touted recruiting class, the Virginia Tech women's basketball team will have high expectations for success both in the BIG EAST Conference and on the national level.

The Hokies' 2002 senior class — Mollie Owings, Nicole Jones, Lisa Guarneri and Sarah Hicks — made huge contributions on and off the court in helping to raise the Virginia Tech women's basketball program to a new level.

THE BIG EAST CONFERENCE

As The BIG EAST

Conference enters the 2002-03 season, only the 24th in its history, it takes pride in its long list of accomplishments. Providing opportunities to excel amongst the nation's best, both athletically and academically, continues to be its mission.

There was plenty of evidence of that mission being accomplished during the 2001-02 season. The BIG EAST had undefeated national champions in football and women's basketball, 32 student-athletes who earned Academic All-America honors, and two student- athletes who were named the national player of the year in their sports.

Miami won the Rose Bowl to cap a perfect 12-0 season for its fifth national title and second for the league. The Connecticut women's basketball team garnered its third national title with a recordsetting 39-0 mark. That national championship gave the Conference a three-peat in women's basketball following the Huskies' second title in 2000 and Notre Dame's crown in 2001. BIG EAST teams have won 10 national championships since 1995 in six different sports.

UConn's Sue Bird was the consensus women's basketball player of the year and Erin Elbe of Georgetown was honored with the women's lacrosse Athlete of the Year, was honored as the Verizon/ CoSIDA Academic All-American Team Member of the Year in addition to earning All-America honors for her accomplishments on the diamond.

player of the year award. The Notre Dame baseball team became the first conference team to play in the College World Series. The BIG EAST was the only conference to have eight teams compete in the NCAA Women's Soccer Championship.

The BIG EAST has always been able to boast that some of its best students are also some of its best athletes. Notre Dame softball standout Jarrah Myers, the 2001-02 BIG EAST/ Aéropostale Female Scholar-

Associate Commissioner for Communications: John Paquette Assistant Commissioner for Communications: Tammy Donovan Director of Communications: Rob Carolla Communications Assistant: Jeff Mead Communications Assistant: Angela Rioux For three of the last eight years, a BIG EAST studentathlete has won the Honda-Broderick Cup as Collegiate Woman of the Year. Notre Dame soccer player Cindy Daws won in 1997-98. She followed Connecticut basketball players Rebecca Lobo ('94-95) and Jennifer Rizzotti ('95-96).

BIG EAST studentathletes have continued their success after leaving the classrooms and playing fields. Former Connecticut women's basketball standout Dr. Leigh Curl was inducted into the Verizon Academic All-America Hall of Fame in 1999. Former Georgetown men's basketball star Dikembe Mutumbo was named a winner of the President's Service Award, the highest honor in the U.S. for volunteer service.

Whether it's the studentathletes or the league as a whole, moving forward successfully and exploring new horizons have been the norm rather than the exception for the conference that opened its doors in 1979.

Most recently the league welcomed Virginia Tech as its 14th full member in 2000-01.

In the spring of 2001, the BIG EAST added women's lacrosse to its growing list of sports and the inaugural women's golf championship will be held in the spring of 2003.

When the 1990s began, The BIG EAST Conference had just completed its eighth season with nine members. The league was arguably as healthy as a conference could be. The BIG EAST was a headline-grabber immediately, especially in men's basketball, its signature sport. The BIG EAST Football Conference did not exist.

The 1990s was a decade of enormous change in college athletics with conferences adding new members and new leagues beginning. The BIG EAST was no different than most groups. The league has had four separate expansions in the past 11 years. The BIG EAST Football Conference, with eight members, became a major player in college football immediately after its inception in 1991.

The BIG EAST became a reality on May 31, 1979, following a meeting of athletic directors from Providence College, St. John's, Georgetown and Syracuse Universities. Seton Hall, Connecticut and Boston College completed the original seven school alliance. After one season, Villanova was added and began play in 1980-81. Two seasons later, Pittsburgh joined the group and started competition in '82-83.

Miami was admitted in 1990 and began BIG EAST competition in"91-92. Rutgers, West Virginia and Notre Dame joined in '94 in two separate expansions and began play in 1995-96.

80 VIRGINIA TECH BASKETBALL 2002-2003

While the membership has increased, the focus of the BIG EAST remains unchanged. It is a group that reflects a tradition of broad based programs, led by administrators and coaches who place a constant emphasis on academic integrity. The BIG EAST Conference has enjoyed a leadership role nationally. Its student athletes own significantly high graduation rates and their record of scholastic achievement notably reflect a balance between intercollegiate athletics and academics.

Any successful consortium enjoys outstanding leadership. Michael Tranghese, the league's first full-time employee, and for 11 years the associate of Dave Gavitt, took over the Commissioner's reins in June 1990. The expansion in membership is only a portion of Tranghese's achievements. In his first year at the helm, he administered the formation of The BIG EAST Football Conference in addition to coordinating the four expansions.

BIG EAST sports attract the interest of followers in the nation's largest media markets including New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, D.C., Miami, Pittsburgh and Hartford. The league has long been considered a leader in innovative concepts in promotion and publicity, particularly regarding television. Those efforts have resulted in unparalleled visibility for BIG EAST student athletes. Exclusive long range television contracts with CBS, ESPN, Inc. and ABC provide BIG EAST basketball and football with more television exposure.

While BIG EAST basketball games are regular sellouts at campus and major public arenas, including the annual BIG EAST Championship in Madison Square Garden, attendance figures also are significant at BIG EAST soccer, women's basketball and baseball games. More than 475 BIG EAST athletes have earned All-America recognition and dozens have won individual NCAA national championships. The BIG EAST has been well represented in U.S. or foreign national and Olympic teams, with several athletes earning gold medals in the summer Olympiads in Sydney in 2000, Atlanta in 1996, Barcelona in 1992, Seoul in 1988 and Los Angeles in 1984. The BIG EAST has its headquarters in Providence, R.I., where the conference administers to more than 5,500 athletes in 23 sports.

2003 BIG EAST CHAMPIONSHIP

Rutgers University will host the 21st BIG EAST Women's Basketball Championship Saturday through Tuesday, March 8-11, at the Louis Brown Athletic Center in Piscataway, N.J. The Scarlet Knights hosted the 1998, '99 and 2002 tournaments. For the third consecutive season, not all teams will play in the conference tournament. The top 12 institutions will participate, with seeding based on regular season finish. The top four seeds will earn byes into the quarterfinal round. The BIG EAST Tournament champion earns the league's automatic bid to the 64-team NCAA Tournament field.

BIG EAST CONFERENCE NOTES

NCAA Three-Peat

The BIG EAST has claimed the last three NCAA Championships. Connecticut won its second title in 2000, followed by Notre Dame's first in 2001 and UConn's third in 2002. The BIG EAST is the only Division I Conference to have more than one team win the national women's title in three consecutive years.

Dominating the Draft Again

On April 19, the WNBA drafted four Connecticut players in the first six selections. Consensus national Player of the Year Sue Bird, became the league's first No. 1 pick, going to the Seattle Storm. The Detroit Shock chose Swin Cash with the second pick, Asjha Jones went fourth to the Washington Mystics and Tamika Williams was the sixth overall pick by the Minnesota Lynx.

Davalyn Cunningham of Rutgers was selected in the second round by the Orlando Miracle and Notre Dame's Ericka Haney went in the third round to the Shock. Virginia Tech's Sarah Hicks was undrafted but was invited to the Utah Starzz preseason camp.

Last year the WNBA drafted a record 11 BIG EAST players including Tech's Tere Williams who was selected in the second round by the Phoenix Mercury.

"It has been very exciting to see the tremendous growth of women's basketball during my 19 years with the Tech athletics department. We have made incredible progress and have truly upgraded through numerous levels. Coach Bonnie Henrickson's program is now among the top programs in the nation, and is poised to climb the ladder even higher." — Senior Associate A.D. Sharon McCloskey

HOKIE HOOPS HISTORY

From a bumble beginning more than 30 years ago, Virginia Tech bas made continuous improvements that bave made the program a regular in postseason play

The Beginnings

Women's basketball at Virginia Tech began in 1970 as a club sport under the direction of coach Ganna Roberts. John Ristroph coached the squad during the 1972-73 season. In 1973, Joe Sgro, a professor at Tech, took over the team until 1976 when John Wetzel was named head coach. The women's basketball team gained full varsity status beginning with the 1976-77 season.

Tech's Varsity Coaches

The Hokies' first varsity coach was former Tech player and former assistant coach of the Portland Trail Blazers, John Wetzel. He played on the men's team from 1963-66 then went on to play pro ball with the Lakers, Suns and Hawks before coming back to Tech to finish his education and coach the women's squad. In his first and only season his team recorded a 7-9 record.

Taking over for Wetzel in 1977 was Carolyn Owen, whose team registered an 8-16 mark. In 1978, Carol Alfano came on the scene and in just her second season she guided the Tech ladies to their first winning record. Bonnie Henrickson became the Hokies' fourth head coach in 1997, taking over for Alfano, who had served as Tech's coach for 19 seasons.

First Scholarship Players

The first women's basketball player to earn any kind of scholarship was Helena Flannagan in 1977 when she received partial aid. Kim Albany (1978-82), who was recruited by Carolyn Owen, was Tech's first full scholarship player. Also in 1978, Sis Spriggs received a full grant, and partials went to Donna Cooper, Pauline Landis and Sandy Berry.

Retired Jersey

Renee Dennis' No. 44 jersey was retired at the conclusion of her career in 1987. Dennis, from Bridgeport, Conn., is one of only 14 athletes in Tech athletic history to have his or her jersey number retired. She was the first female athlete to receive that honor. The others to have their jerseys retired are footballers Coach Frank Beamer, Cornell Brown, Carroll Dale, Frank Loria, Corey Moore, Jim Pyne, Bruce Smith and Michael Vick, men's basketball stars Dell Curry, Vernell "Bimbo" Coles, Allan Bristow and Ace Custis, and volleyball standout Lisa Pikalek.

Earlier standouts such as Renee Dennis (44) helped set the stage for Tech's current crop of talented players, such as leva Kublina (14), to take the Hokies to the next level.

Professional Players

Řenee Dennis played professionally in Australia where she was her division's Player of the Year in 1989-90. Wendy Sanders played professionally in Belgium.

Tere Williams became the first Hokie to be selected in the WNBA Draft when she was selected in the third round by the Phoenix Mercury.

Best of the Metro

The Virginia Tech women's basketball team won two championships while a member of the Metro Conference. Tech won the 1994 Metro Conference Tournament by knocking off Virginia Commonwealth, UNC Charlotte and Southern Mississippi in succession. The Hokies captured the 1995 Metro regular season championship with a 10-2 league record.

Atlantic 10 Champs

The Hokies captured the Atlantic 10 Tournament championship in 1998 with a thrilling 66-64 overtime win over host Massachusetts. Virginia Tech won the Atlantic 10 regular season title in 1998-99 with a 15-1 league record.

The 1,000-Point Club

Fourteen Virginia Tech women's basketball players have reached the 1,000-point plateau, with the two most recent players being Sarah Hicks and Chrystal Starling, who joined the club during the 2001-02 season. Tech's all-time leading scorer is Renee Dennis. Dennis totalled 1,791 points during her Tech career. Other Hokies who have reached the 1,000 point plateau are, Tere Williams (1,750), Jenny Root (1,572), Christi Osborne (1,500), Amy Wetzel (1,444), Amy Byrne (1,291), Susan Walvius (1,161), Robin Lee (1,147), Michelle Houseright (1,112), Sarah Hicks (1,092), Angie Kelly (1,092), Michelle Bain (1,068), Lisa Griffith (1,033) and Chrystal Starling (1,031).

National Honors

Tere Williams and Lisa Witherspoon were named as honorable mentions to the 1999 Associated Press All-America teams. In 1995 Jenny Root was a honorable mention selection to the Kodak All-America team. The Women's Basketball News Service named Tere Williams to the 1998 Freshman All-America third team.

Academic Excellence Christi Osborne was named to the GTE Academic All-America first team in 1994-95 and was a secondteam member in 1993-94. Several Hokies have been named to the GTE District III Academic All-America team, including Amy Byrne (1988-89), Christi Osborne (1992-93, 1993-94, 1994-95), Maria Albertsson (1997-98, 1998-99), Amy Wetzel (1998-99, 1999-00) and Sarah Hicks (2001-02). Osborne was also a recipient of the Rawlings Scholarship Award (1994-95).

VIRGINIA TECH'S WINS OVER NATIONALLY-RANKED TEAMS

• In 1984, Tech shocked No. 20 North Carolina, 74-73, behind Renee Dennis' 17 points.

• In 1984, the Hokies defeated No. 16 Louisiana State, 86-77, in the Marriott-Converse Christmas Classic at Blacksburg.

• One of the biggest wins in Tech women's basketball history came in 1985 when Tech upset No. 5 Old Dominion, 73-72. It was the first win over the Lady Monarchs in 11 games.

• In 1987, the Hokies upended 16th-ranked James Madison, 63-61, behind a 16point, 13-rebound performance from freshman Amy Byrne.

• In the middle of what was then the longest winning streak in school history, the Hokies upset No. 13 South Carolina in 1987 in Blacksburg, 63-59. Amy Byrne led the Lady Hokies with 16 points and 12 rebounds.

Virginia Tech upset
 No. 18 Southern Mississippi,

60-59, in a Cassell Coliseum barn-burner Feb. 28, 1994. Guard Lisa Leftwich, who led Tech with 18 points, hit a key finger roll with 42 seconds remaining.

• In one of the biggest games in the program's history, Tech defeated No. 19 Southern Mississippi in the final of the 1994 Metro Conference Tournament, 83-76. The win gave Tech its firstever Metro Tournament title and sent the Hokies to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in their history.

• The Hokies knocked off No. 9 Virginia, 69-62, in Cassell Coliseum Jan. 13, 1995. The win propelled Virginia Tech into the national rankings for the first time. Christi Osborne, Angela Donnell, Jenny Root and Terri Garland all scored in double figures for the Hokies.

• Tech downed No. 24 Wisconsin, 75-64, in the first round of the 1998 NCAA regional in Gainesville. Guard Amy Wetzel converted a school record 16-17 free throw attempts and scored 28 points to pace the Hokies. • The Hokies travelled to "Tobacco Road" on Nov. 17, 1998 to knock off sixth-ranked and eventual national runnerup Duke, 72-70, at Cameron Indoor Stadium. An injured Kim Seaver came off the bench to lead Tech with 14 points and nine rebounds.

• Tech defeated in-state rival and 17th-ranked Virginia, 81-65, on Nov. 30, 1998 at Cassell Coliseum. Tere Williams recorded her second straight double-double of the season with 21 points and 10 rebounds.

• On Nov. 30, 2000 Amy Wetzel hit a running 10-footer off the glass with 3.7 seconds remaining to give the Hokies a 57-56 win over 17th-ranked Virginia. The win marked the second consecutive time the Hokies had beaten the Cavaliers in Cassell Coliseum.

• Virginia Tech used a 13-0 run over the final five minutes to pick up a comefrom-behind 65-59 over No. 24 Villanova on Jan. 23, 2001. Tere Williams led Tech with 22 points followed by Amy Wetzel with 18. • The Hokies made an impressive debut in the BIG EAST Tournament on Mar. 4, 2001 as they knocked off 23rd-ranked Villanova for the second time during the 2000-01 season with a 73-67 win in the Tournament quarterfinals in Storrs, Conn. Chrystal Starling came off the bench to lead Tech with 21 points while Williams chipped in with 20.

• On Nov. 19, 2001, Tech used a stingy defense and clutch free throw shooting in the closing seconds to defeat No. 16 Old Dominion 68-62. The Hokies held the Monarchs to only 37.7 percent from the field. Chrystal Starling led Tech with 20 points while Sarah Hicks added 14.

• The Hokies put together one of their best performances of the season on Jan. 9, 2002 with a 72-53 win over 24th-ranked Boston College. Tech shot a sizzling 59.1 percent from the field while holding the Eagles to only 31.1 percent. leva Kublina led the way with 19 points, 11 rebounds and five blocks while Chrystal Starling also contributed 19 points.

All-BIG EAST Conference

Tere Williams was the first Hokie to be selected for All-BIG EAST honors after being named to the all-conference second team following the 2000-01 season. leva Kublina was selected the 2001-02 BIG EAST Conference Most Improved Player and was named to the allconference second team. Sarah Hicks was a member of the 2001-02 allconference third team

Tere Williams

All-Atlantic 10 Conference

The Hokies were well represented on the All-Atlantic 10 Conference teams during their five years in the league. Michelle Houseright was the first Virgina Tech player named to All-Atlantic 10 team in 1996 as a second-team selection and Lisa Witherspoon was a second-team pick in 1999. Other Hokies named to the team include Tere Williams, a first-team selection in 1999 and 2000 and a second team member in 1998, Amy Wetzel, a second-team choice in 1999 and 2000, and Chrystal Starling, a member of the third team in 2000.

All-Metro Conference

In 14 seasons as a Metro Conference member, Virginia Tech placed 12 players on the all-conference team, including Jenny Root being honored as the 1994-95 Player of the Year. Hokies named to the first team include Taiqua Brittingham (1984), Renee Dennis (1986, 87), Susan Walvius (1986), Amy Byrne (1989), and Jenny Root (1994, 95). Second-team selections include Angie Kelly (1986), Maureen Donovan (1987), Michelle Bain (1988), Amy Byrne (1989), Missy Sallade (1989, 90), Jeni Garber (1991), Lisa Griffith (1992), Christi Osborne (1993, 94, 95) and Jenny Root (1993).

Tournament Stars

Virgina Tech players have left their mark in postseason play through the years. leva Kublina (2002) was named to the WNIT All-tournament team. Tere Williams (1998) and Amy Wetzel (1999) were named to the All-Atlantic 10 Tournament team as was former Tech standout Michelle Houseright (1998). Christi Osborne was a three-time member of the All-Metro Tournament team (1992, 93, 94) and was selected as the 1994 Most Valuable Player. Two-time All-Metro tournament members include Taiqua Brittingham (1983-84), Renee Dennis (1986-87), Jeni Garber (1988-89) and Sue Logsdon (1993-94).

Freshman Phenoms

Freshmen have made an immediate impact on the women's basketball program through the years. Tere Williams was named to the 1998 Women's Basketball News Service Freshman All-American Third Team as well as being named Atlantic 10 Co-Rookie of the Year. Virginia Tech placed one player on the Atlantic 10 All-Rookie team in each of its five seasons in the league. Three Hokies, Jeni Garber (1988-89), Sue Logsdon (1990-91) and Christi Osborne (1991-92), were named to the Metro Conference All-Rookie team.

THE HOKIES' MILESTONE WINS

First Varsity Win — The Virginia Tech women's basketball team earned its first win as a varsity sport by defeating Bridgewater College, 59-55, in 1976. The Hokies, who overcame a five-point deficit, outscored the Eagles by nine points down the stretch to clinch the win. Sophomore Gail Kelley led the way with 17 points, followed by Karen Garbis' 13.

50th Win — Tech's 50th win as a varsity sport came on Jan. 28, 1981 against James Madison. Sis Spriggs was one of three Hokies in double figures with 15 points as Tech downed the Dukes, 66-58. Also in double figures were Tammie Edwards with 13 and Maureen Corrigan, who had 10 points to go with 10 rebounds.

100th Win — The Hokies picked up their century win by upsetting nationally ranked North Carolina, 74-73, in a thriller at Roanoke Va., on Dec. 1, 1984. Tech was paced by Renee Dennis' 17-point performance, but a number of players shined in the upset victory. Susan Walvius, a 6-2 center, added 16 points and five rebounds, guard Angie Kelly chipped in 15 points, and guard Maureen Donovan contributed seven points and six rebounds.

150th Win — Tech registered win No. 150 on January 16, 1988 when it squeaked past Louisville in Blacksburg, 68-67. Keying the victory was center Michelle Bain, who tallied 19 points and nine rebounds, while forward Wendy Sanders pumped in 16 points. Point guard Denise Kayajian had a careerhigh (at the time) eight assists to go along with nine points against the Lady Cardinals.

200th Win — Tech won its 200th game in the final of the 1991 Diamond Club Classic when it downed UNC Greensboro 84-65 in Cassell Coliseum. Phyllis Tonkin scored 20 points and grabbed nine rebounds to lead the Tech women. Lisa Griffith kicked in 17 points while Dayna Sonovick had nine rebounds and six assists.

250th Win — The Hokies won their 250th career game by knocking off 19th-ranked, Southern Mississippi, 83-76, in the final of the 1994 Metro Conference Tournament in Biloxi, Miss. Southern Miss was the tournament's top seed. Christi Osborne led the way with 19 points while Sue Logsdon had 18, Lisa Leftwich pitched in with 17 and Jenny Root contributed 14 points.

300th Win — Tech posted its 300th win in the program's history in a 84-60 win over Rhode Island in the Hokies' 1997-98 conference opener. The Cassell Coliseum crowd witnessed an outstanding performance from guard Amy Wetzel, who finished with 14 points and three steals. The win also marked Bonnie Henrickson's first Atlantic 10 Conference win as a head coach.

350th Win — Tech picked up win No. 350 on January 6, 2000 when it coasted to a 81-38 win over Rhode Island. The victory was also Tech's 200th in Cassell Coliseum. The Hokies opened the game on a 12-0 run and cruised to a 42-16 halftime lead. The Hokies placed five players in double figures led by Nicole Jones, Kim Seaver, Chrystal Starling and Tere Williams with 12 points each. Tech outrebounded the Rams 44-24 and blocked seven shots in the victory.

400th Win — The Hokies recorded win No. 400 on January 19, 2002 with a 69-50 win over St. John's. Tech jumped out to a 39-20 halftime lead and cruised to the victory behind 16 points from Chrystal Starling along with Nicole Jones' 12 points and Sarah Hicks with 11. The Hokies held the Red Storm to only 30.8 percent from the field while Tech shot a sizzling 64.0 percent in the first half.

CONFERENCE HISTORY Virginia Tech Now a Member of the Prestigious BIG EAST

The 2001-2002 academic year was Virginia Tech's second in the BIG EAST Conference as an all-sports member.

The BIG EAST has long been recognized as one of the strongest women's basketball conferences in the nation. Virginia Tech's women's basketball program has made an immediate impact on the league, with a combined 20-12 regular season record. Tech advanced to the postseason for the fifth consecutive time last year by advancing to the semifinals of the WNIT. The BIG EAST has posted a 82-48 record (.631) in the NCAA Tournament since 1991, including national championships in 1995, 2000 and 2002 by Connecticut and in 2001 by Notre Dame. The last two seasons the conference has received five bids to the NCAA Tournament and a league member has won the last three national championships. The conference also has had five teams with 20 or more wins the last two years.

Virginia Tech, a charter member of the BIG EAST football conference which was formed in 1991, became the 14th member of the conference, which conducts 20 championships in 16 men's and women's sports. Virginia Tech conducts varsity programs in 15 BIG EAST sports.

"Our directors of athletics strongly believe Virginia Tech's full membership will enhance our championship programs," BIG EAST Commissioner Michael Tranghese said.

Tech's conference membership has been an evolving process since Feb. 13, 1872, when Tech was founded. Tech didn't compete in an intercollegiate sporting event for 20 years. In the spring of 1892, the Tech baseball team took on Newport, winning 18-8 in the first sporting event ever at Tech.

On Feb. 25-26, 1921, Tech, under the leadership of athletics director C.P. "Sally" Miles, joined the Southern Intercollegiate Conference as a charter member. Other members included Alabama, Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn), Clemson, Georgia, Georgia School of Technology (Georgia Tech), Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College (Mississippi State), North Carolina, North Carolina State, Tennessee, Virginia and Washington & Lee. In 1922, Louisiana State, Mississippi, South Carolina, Vanderbilt and Tulane joined the conference.

In December, 1923, the name of the conference was officially changed to the Southern Conference. Also, conference officials added the University of the South to the conference. The following year, VMI joined the conference, and in 1929, Duke joined.

In 1932, it was agreed that the 13 southernmost members should form a separate conference, starting a domino effect that would eventually lead to Tech becoming an independent. The Southeastern Conference, thus, was formed with Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Kentucky, LSU, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Sewanee, Tennessee, Tulane and Vanderbilt as the members.

Twenty-one years later, in 1953, Clemson, Duke, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Maryland, South Carolina and Wake Forest College all withdrew to form the Atlantic Coast Conference.

In June, 1965, Virginia Tech withdrew from the Southern Conference and competed as an independent in virtually every sport until 1978.

In May, 1978, Tech ended its 13-year status as a major independent by accepting a bid to join the Metropolitan Collegiate Athletic Conference, also known as "the Metro," for all sports except football. The Hokies joined Cincinnati, Florida State, Louisville, Memphis State, St. Louis and Tulane in the Metro, which was founded in 1975.

On Feb. 5, 1991, after 26 years as a football independent, Tech officially accepted a bid to join the newly-created BIG EAST Football Conference. Tech joined Miami, Syracuse, Boston College, Pittsburgh, West Virginia, Temple and Rutgers as charter members of the conference.

In January, 1995, five Metro members — UNC Charlotte, Tulane, Louisville, Southern Miss and South Florida voted Tech and Virginia Commonwealth out of the league. At the time, those schools were planning on a merger with other Midwestern schools (hence, the birth of Conference USA) and the Hokies and Rams were not interested in such a merger. A month later, on Feb. 3, Tech, VCU and the Metro agreed to a $2.27 million settlement in which the Hokies and Rams split.

Tech wasted little time in moving on, as just two weeks later it joined the Atlantic 10 for all sports except football, which is in the BIG EAST, and wrestling, which was in the Colonial.

During the summer of 1999, Virginia Tech received a proposal from the BIG EAST to join the conference as an all-sports member except for wrestling, which will remain in the prestigious Eastern Wrestling League. And finally on Aug. 24, 1999, Tech and the BIG EAST announced that the Hokies would join the conference for all sports.

"Virginia Tech is thrilled to become a full member of the BIG EAST Conference and looks forward to its academic and athletic associations with the entire membership," Tech president Paul Torgersen said.

"Joining the BIG EAST was tremendous not just for our women's program but for the entire athletic department. In particular for our program it means competing at the highest level and on a national level. The affiliation provides us with the opportunity to recruit players who want to compete at that high level which is something that we felt very talented players want to do. They want to play with great players, which we have in our program, and to play against great players, which we certainly have in our league. In the long run, this is the best thing to happen in our program's history."

— Bonnie Henrickson

LADY LUCK CLASSIC

Once again this season, Virginia Tech will host a holiday tournament. The Lady Luck Classic will be held Dec. 28-29 in Cassell Coliseum featuring Duquesne, Loyola (Md.), Tennesse-Martin and the Hokies. This will mark the 13th consecutive year for the tournament, which began in 1990 as the Diamond Club Classic and was changed to its current name when the Virginia Lottery became the title sponsor.

VIRGINIA TECH SPORTS HALL OF FAME

Renee Dennis (1983-87) and Amy Byrne (1986-90) are the first women's basketball players to be enshrined in the Virginia Tech Sports Hall of Fame. Dennis, pictured during a ceremony in which her jersey was retired, was inducted in 1997. Byrne, pictured being honored in front of more that 53,000 fans at a football game in Lane Stadium, became a member in 2001.

Virginia Tech is a public institution with a worldrenowned reputation in hightechnology fields, such as engineering, architecture, and the sciences. The university teaches more than 26,000 students, including 1,500 international students representing 110 countries. Virginia Tech offers over 70 undergraduate and nearly 150 master's and doctoral degree programs taught by nationally and internationally recognized scholars.

Many Virginia Tech women's basketball players have gone on to have successful careers with both large and small companies. The following are just a few examples of the success obtained by Virginia Tech women's basketball alumni. These former players demonstrate on a daily basis the results of Virginia Tech's commitment to excellence for all student-athletes.

THIS IS VIRGINIA TECH

One of the nation's best universities adapts to the challenges of the future

Since its founding in 1872, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, popularly known as Virginia Tech, has grown from a small college of 132 students into Virginia's largest university and its top research institution. During its 130 years of existence, Virginia's premiere land-grant institution has grown into a comprehensive university of national and international prominence.

Recognizing that higher education is a key force behind the quality of American life, our economic competitiveness, and our democratic form of government, President Charles W. Steger has challenged the university to become one of the country's top 30 research institutions by the end of the decade. Even before Steger's challenge, Tech had begun moving in that direction and is now ranked 51st in the nation.

Among recent research innovations, Tech teamed with Wake Forest University to establish the Virginia Tech-Wake Forest University School of Biomedical Engineering and Sciences to offer M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in biomedical engineering (BME) and to be the focus of collaborative research. The university's Virginia Bioinformatics Institute is leading the way in helping scientists merge computers and biotechnology to sort through complicated genetic material to speed research. And the university's partnership with the University of Virginia and Carilion Health System to form the Carilion Biomedical Institute is improving health care worldwide and increasing economic development opportunities in Southwest Virginia.

In other areas, Virginia Tech has one of the most comprehensive and successful programs to support state and local economic development, according to a study conducted by the Southern Growth Policies Board and funded in part by the National Science Foundation. The study report, Innovation U: New University Roles in a Knowledge Economy, named the nation's 12 most successful universities in terms of outreach, economic development, and technology transfer practices.

Virginia Tech was established as an all-male military school dedicated to the original landgrant mission of teaching agriculture and engineering. Today, the co-educational institution, which operates a European studies center based in Switzerland and educational, research, and outreach/ extension facilities throughout Virginia, has recognized programs in music, business, architecture, and the humanities, as well as its traditional strengths in the sciences, engineering, and technology.

While participation in the Virginia Tech Corps of Cadets is now voluntary, the corps, which has approximately 700 cadets, remains a proud tradition of the university. Virginia Tech is one of only two universities in the nation with a military component inside a larger civilian population.

Although Virginia Tech is currently organized into eight colleges - Agriculture and Life Sciences, Architecture and Urban Studies, Arts and Sciences, Pamplin College of Business, Engineering, Human Resources and Education, Natural Resources, and Virginia-Maryland Regional College of Veterinary Medicine - plans are under way to restructure the university and add a College of Biological, Mathematical, and Physical Sciences. Together, the colleges offer about 175 bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degree programs to approximately 26,000 students, who hail from countries throughout the world.

The university's 2,600-acre main campus is home to more than 100 buildings, hundreds of research laboratories, the Donaldson Brown Hotel and Conference Center, and an airport. Adjoining the campus is the 120-acre Corporate Research Center, home to more than 100 companies that take advantage of the university's research and faculty expertise. Within five miles of campus is a 1,700acre research farm.

Virginia Tech follows the dictates of its motto, Ut Prosim ("That I May Serve"), focusing on its land-grant missions of instruction, research, and solving the problems of society through outreach and Extension activities. Through the generation of new knowledge and the outreach mandate, the university disseminates practical knowledge through the classroom and to society as a whole. It is a university that puts knowledge to work.

Instruction

Eight colleges offer more degree programs than any other university in the state, with 61 undergraduate and 115 graduate programs. In addition, the university is one of the nation's leaders in integrating instructional technology into the curriculum, requiring all entering students to have a computer. The university's Math Emporium has been hailed as an innovative way to break the credit-for-contact model of classroom instruction.

Research

With annual research expenditures of about $216 million, Virginia Tech consistently ranks about 50th among research universities in the United States. With more than 100 research centers, the university also consistently ranks among the top institutions in industry-supported research and in the top 10 in the number of patents issued each year.

The university's faculty and students are involved in more than 3,700 research projects in fields ranging from biotechnology to nanotechnology, from the environment and energy to food and health, and from transportation to computing information.

Outreach

Virginia Tech is involved in a multitude of projects as part of its outreach mission. For example, it spawns economic development, helps global marketing efforts, investigates better uses for strip-mined land, helps clean the Chesapeake Bay and other state waterways, provides design and planning assistance to communities, and directs reforestation in Senegal. University scientists developed the vaccine that is the standard for preventing brucellosis in cattle around the world.

Outreach efforts also focus on education and distance learning techniques – satellite videoconferencing, multimedia, interactive video, interactive computer conferencing, and web-based courses, for example – to meet the various needs of working adults and other nontraditional students. Professionals, organizations, and communities also tap Virginia Tech's vast resources, expertise, and research results through the Division of Continuing Education, which offers hundreds of programs annually.

With 107 city/county offices and more than 44,000 volunteers and 160 programs, the Cooperative Extension Service, operated jointly in the commonwealth by Virginia Tech and Virginia State University, serves more than 4.6 million people annually, helping them improve their economic, cultural, and social well-being.

A UNIVERSITY ON THE LEADING EDGE

Attracting talented faculty members and students; creating partnerships and alliances; and leading the world in communications, information, and instructional technology has enabled Virginia Tech to put knowledge to work in a variety of ways. The following are several examples:

Nanotechnology

Nanotechnology assembles atoms and molecules to create materials, microscopic engineered systems, and molecular devices that have novel physical, chemical, and biological properties with potential for great economic impact. Researchers at Virginia Tech have created a new family of molecules by filling the carbon cages known as fullerenes, or buckyballs, with metal atoms. A spin-off company is using the new molecules for improved MRI material and exploring other applications. Another group of Tech researchers has perfected a new molecular selfassembly process, known as the modified electrostatic selfassembly and is beginning to manufacture ultra-thin films with electrical resistance that is 100 times better than that of bulk materials like copper and aluminum. Some of the researchers have joined with Virginia's Center for Innovative Technology and researchers at the University of Virginia and Virginia Commonwealth University to form the Initiative for Nanotechnology in Virginia (INanoVA) to help focus resources to build stronger connections with industry for technology transfer at an accelerated pace.

e-Corridors

An economic development and outreach program, eCorridors is based on a long-term vision of developing next-generation network infrastructure in interested communities in Virginia. "eCorridors" are electronic Internet routes that, when fully completed, will resemble a grid of network connectivity into and out of these communities, providing them with high-speed, highbandwidth network access. This next-generation connectivity will help these communities leapfrog existing network technologies and sustain a competitive advantage through economic development, quality of life, education, and workforce training.

Fiber and Electro-Optics Research Center

Home to the nation's largest educational fiber-optics, Tech's Fiber and Electro-Optics Research Center is supported by more than 30 research sponsors and has received significant grants, including a $9.6-million grant from the Naval Research Laboratory. Projects involve fiber devices, materials, and sensors, with an emphasis on high-speed data transmission.

Virginia Bioinformatics Institute

Bioinformatics is emerging as the key to making usable the vast amounts of information available to scientists concerning the genetics of living organisms, including humans. It brings together mathematics and computer science to understand and manage the mountains of information generated by scientists unraveling the secrets of DNA. In July 2000, Virginia Tech created an institute based on this newly emerging science-the Virginia Bioinformatics Institute (VBI)-to advance information and communication technologies for advancing the field of biotechnology, to become the Internet portal for research in plant sciences, to serve as the hub for collaborative Virginia efforts in bioinformatics, to pursue technology transfer and commercialization of applications, and to expand the use of plant science in applications related to human health, expanding and improving the food supply and creating jobs. Less than two years after its formation, the institute was selected by Sun Microsystems Inc. as a Sun Center of Excellence in Bioinformatics as a result of VBI's research programs, vision, and staff. The designation brought over $1 million in computational resources and support for post-doctoral research in a three-year partnership.

Transportation

Virginia Tech and the Commonwealth of Virginia are building the nation's first "Smart Road" from the ground up. The six-mile highway, located in Montgomery County, is a test bed for new transportation technology and, in time, will be a special corridor route for public transportation in Southwest Virginia. Sensing devices are being implanted in the highway, and roadside equipment will be able to generate snow, sleet, rain, and fog on demand for testing purposes. The Virginia Tech Transportation Institute, the largest research center at the university, manages the "Smart Road."

CAMPUS LANDMARKS

Col. William B. Preston established the Smithfield estate – named for his wife, Susanna Smith – in 1772 after an earlier settlement known as Draper's Meadow was wiped out in an Indian massacre. The oldest part of the existing house was built in 1790. A state historic landmark, Smithfield is open for tours April through November. Call 540/951-2060 for details.

The 350-seat War Memorial Chapel was completed in 1960. The open upper level contains eight pylons sculpted from Indiana limestone and representing Brotherhood, Honor, Leadership, Sacrifice, Service, Loyalty, Duty, and Ut Prosim, which is the university's motto, "That I May Serve."

The Duck Pond provides a peaceful respite for students, faculty, staff, and visitors – as well as for flocks of ducks and geese. The pond was created in 1937. A smaller lake, just north of the Duck Pond, is known as the Ice Pond – so called because it was the source of ice for the campus until a refrigeration plant opened in 1898-99.

Constructed in 1902, The Grove serves as the residence for Virginia Tech presidents and their families. Today, besides fulfilling its original function, it also is the guest residence for visiting dignitaries and serves as a reception facility.

The focus of student campus activity and the hub of much of the performing and visual arts at the university, Squires Student Center contains theatres, the Perspective Art Gallery, the Black Cultural Center, pool tables, bowling lanes, restaurants, ballrooms, and administrative offices for many student organizations. The original student center, built in 1937, has undergone several major renovations, but the facade of the original building is visible in the second-floor lobby area.

The cornerstone for Virginia Tech's main administration building, which was named for the university's eighth president, Julian Ashby Burruss (1919-1945) was laid at the 1935 commencement. The building, which includes a 3,000-seat auditorium, has been expanded twice over the years.

Throughout its history, the Drillfield (located in front of Burruss Hall) has been used for a variety of purposes, including horticulture gardens and playing fields. It was known by various names until 1926 when it officially became the Drillfield. Strouble's Creek, which once ran open through the southern portion of the field, was covered in 1934.

CHARLES STEGER

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT

When Charles W. Steger became Virginia Tech's 15th president in January 2000, it did not take long for this three-time Hokie alum to turn it up a notch. Setting his sights on joining the nation's truly elite universities, President Steger has challenged the university community to become ranked among the top 30 research universities.

"If you're not moving quickly forward, you might as well be standing still," he said upon his installation more than two years ago.

Current state funding cuts of historic proportions have not slowed the speed nor dampened his resolve. "Virginia Tech intends to make progress despite the budget reductions and we will be well positioned to move quickly once the crisis passes," he noted in a letter to the university community in May.

The signature initiative of his administration likely will be the Virginia Bioinformatics Institute, a new interdisciplinary research center formed by the convergence of computer science and biological research. Populated by world class researchers, the VBI already has built a contract base of more than $20 million. Harnessing and manipulating huge arrays of data the VBI studies molecular, cellular, and environmental interactions that affect human health, agricultural systems, and the environment.

Saying that future growth will come only through strategic partnerships, Steger led the formation of the World Institute for Disaster Risk Management (DRM). DRM is a partnership with the Swiss Federal Institutes of Technology (ETH) and Virginia Tech, in conjunction with the World Bank Disaster Management Facility.

Within the past year the university has joined hands to form the Virginia Tech Wake Forest School of Biomedical Engineering. Rising out of the ground now at the Virginia Tech Corporate Research Center is the Via College of Osteopathic Medicine. The nation's newest medical school is an affiliate of the university and will cooperate on joint research projects in human health.

A registered architect and former dean of Tech's college of architecture and urban studies, Steger was the architect of a different sort as the leader of the university's successful fund raising campaign. Under his leadership as vice president for development and university relations, the Campaign for Virginia Tech raised $337 million.

Steger's ties to Virginia Tech span four decades as a student, professor, dean, vice president, and now president. While on the faculty, he twice won teaching excellence awards. When he became dean of the college in 1981, he was the youngest architecture dean in the nation at 33 years of age.

Steger received his Bachelor and Master of Architecture and a Ph.D. in Environmental Science and Engineering from Virginia Tech.

James C. Weaver, whose innovative ideas and work as a reformer have made him one of college athletics' most popular administrators, is the director of athletics at Virginia Tech.

Weaver, 57, was appointed on September 24, 1997 and has been a tireless leader in behalf of Tech athletics. In his five years on the job at Tech, Weaver has taken steps to place increased emphasis on projects benefiting studentathletes. He created a comprehensive awards program for letterwinners and has initiated and funded an annual awards banquet.

Among Weaver's biggest accomplishments thus far has been getting Tech admitted into an all-sports conference. Tech entered competition in the BIG EAST Conference for most sports during the 2000-2001 season.

A top personal priority for Weaver is the continuing improvement of Tech's facilities, where major plans for the expansion of Lane Stadium/ Worsham Field are underway. When it comes to athletic facilities, Weaver has a simple philosophy. "As soon as you sit still in terms of facilities, you have taken a step backward," he says.

Weaver was the key figure in reaching a four-year agreement with Virginia in bringing the men's basketball games back to campuses for the first time since 1976. He also realigned the senior administrative staff to further promote the development of a broad-based athletics department. A dormant

Monogram Club was revitalized under his direction, providing Hokie letterwinners of all eras a renewed link to Tech athletics. He also toughened the Hokies' non-conference football schedules, a move that gained real favor from Tech fans.

Weaver renegotiated Tech's multimedia rights contract with ISP Sports, creating a new business relationship and enhanced revenue for the athletics department.

In the Fall of 2000, Weaver arranged a joint venture with ISP to commit $2 million to purchase new scoreboards, upgraded sound systems, a 21x28 L.E.D. video display screen at Lane Stadium and two 9x12 wall mount L.E.D. video screens in Cassell Coliseum. A state-of-the-art television control studio provides in-house production and operations for the video screens.

Weaver came to Tech from Western Michigan University where he was director of athletics from January, 1996 until he came to Blacksburg. Prior to that, he was AD for three and a half years at UNLV, where he reconstructed a troubled athletic department.

"Jim Weaver was the unanimous choice of our search committee," retired Tech President Paul Torgersen said at a Blacksburg news conference when the new AD was introduced. "The committee was searching for someone with extensive Division I experience, a commitment to compliance, a commitment to gender equity, a commitment to all 21 varsity sports and a vision for conference alignment."

Weaver brings a "Penn State mentality" to the position. He says that various schools' interest in him as a reformer through the years can be traced to Penn State and its reputation for how it conducts business in intercollegiate athletics.

It was with the Nittany Lions' football team that Weaver first made a name for himself in athletics. He was a center and linebacker on Penn State teams coached by the legendary Rip Engle and Joe Paterno.

A native of Harrisburg, Pa., Weaver was recruited to Penn State by Engle. He played three seasons under Engle and one under Paterno, who is still the coach of the Nittany Lions.

"I learned a lot from Joe Paterno," Weaver says. "One thing he said certainly has stuck with me. 'You either get better or you get worse. You never stay the same.""

Weaver graduated from Penn State in 1967 with a bachelor's in psychology and rehabilitation education. He received a master's in college counselor education, also from Penn State, in 1968.

Weaver started a coaching career as an assistant at Penn State for six seasons. During that time, the Lions played in five bowl games – the Cotton, Gator, Sugar and Orange (twice).

He later was the offensive coordinator at Iowa State and head coach for one season at Villanova in 1974. He also spent five years as an assistant professor at Clarion State and three years as director of franchise sales at Athletic Attic.

Prior to landing the athletic director's job at UNLV, Weaver spent nine years at the University of Florida, which was sanctioned by the NCAA in 1983. He was a strong force at Florida in the field of compliance and concluded his time there as associate athletic director.

Weaver was hired at UNLV after a series of NCAA infractions were made public. He implemented a compliance and monitoring program, produced a departmental policy manual and initiated a Life Skills program. He also oversaw the construction of an $8.5 million athletic complex and a $1.4 million baseball stadium at UNLV.

He drew rave reviews at UNLV for his fund-raising expertise. He generated nearly $15 million in his time there.

While at Western Michigan, Weaver announced creation of a $7 million football center, stabilized fluctuating revenues and installed a CHAMPS Life Skills program.

Weaver and his wife Traci have four sons – Josh, Paul, Cole and Craig.

SENIOR ASSOCIATE A.D. and SENIOR WOMEN'S ADMINISTRATOR

Sharon McCloskey, a senior associate athletic director and Virginia Tech's senior women's administrator, is somewhat of a fixture in the Athletics Department. In 18 years she has risen from a job as a football office receptionist to the second highest ranking administrative position in Virginia Tech athletics.

McCloskey was promoted in July, 1995 to senior associate athletic director and is the administrator for football and men's and women's basketball. She also oversees strength and conditioning, sport medicine and the equipment room.

McCloskey, a native of Falls Church, Va., has come a long way from her undergraduate days at Virginia Tech when she was a member of the grounds crew, helping to re-sod the turf at Lane Stadium. She also was a manager of the women's basketball team.

After graduating with a biology degree, she worked for a time at a Blacksburg bank before joining the athletic department in 1984 in the football office. She was promoted to recruiting secretary and later was named recruiting coordinator, the first woman in college athletics to hold that position.

As recruiting coordinator, McCloskey proved to be one of the most innovative people in the field. She completely reorganized the schedule for official recruiting visits by making academics the highlight of the visit. All aspects of university life were included in the visit for the prospective student-athlete. She lined up various meetings with professors and department heads and key figures on campus. In 1992, McCloskey was named an assistant athletic director. McCloskey may also be one of the few women in college athletics who has been an advance person for away football games. It is her responsibility to arrange for hotel rooms, meals, meeting rooms, police escorts and air and ground transportation for the team.

As Tech's liaison for NCAA certification, a process the NCAA uses to ensure integrity in collegiate athletics, McCloskey coordinates periodic department self-study and review teams.

STUDENT ATHLETE ACADEMIC SUPPORT SERVICES

The success of Virginia Tech's women's basketball program rests largely on the academic progress of each student-athlete. The academic performance of Tech student-athletes has improved each year due in part to the Student Athlete Academic Support Services (SAASS).

Last spring, the Athletic Director's Honors Breakfast paid tribute to a record 347 student-athletes, student trainers, student managers, cheerleaders and HighTechs who posted 3.0 or greater QCAs in the 2001 calendar year.

Student-athletes are the most visible student component of a university. They entertain thousands of fans, students and alumni. Their athletic ability and achievement is the primary focus for national media attention. Athletic events bring back not only faithful alumni, but are a welcome mat for potential new students.

Student-athletes devote many hours to practice, conditioning and training that are not required of all students. Due to their time commitment and their high visibility, it is an obligation and in the best interest of the university to supply these students with services which will allow them to maximize their academic potential.

To accommodate the many facets of assistance needed for student-athletes, Virginia Tech's mission is eight fold: Katie Ammons works with Davina Simmons and Fran Recchia.

1. To provide services to all student-athletes, including any student participating in any varsity sport, managers, trainers, cheerleaders and HighTechs.

2. To provide academic support through tutoring programs, computer facilities and software which are necessary for the individual needs of each student.

3. To require a mandatory study hall for students below expected GPA levels in order that the staff might better assist the atrisk student-athletes.

4. To provide adequate study facilities and a computer lab which are conveniently located near the training areas and coaching areas.

5. To provide mentoring, counseling, academic assistance, advising and to work closely with other academic offices on campus for the welfare of the students. 6. To work closely with the athletic department for the academic welfare of each student-athlete and to help in the development of an effective student life program.

7. To closely monitor the academic success of each student to help ensure academic progress toward a degree and maintenance of academic and athletic eligibility.

8. To encourage former athletes to be actively involved with our present athletes and to provide our services to former athletes who did not graduate and assist them in their academic planning toward a degree. The ultimate goal is for all student-athletes to successfully complete their degree.

The expectations of the Virginia Tech community are that each student-athlete achieves their maximum academic and athletic potential. With the proper assistance, facilities and encouragement, these potentials can become a reality.

Student Athlete Academic Support Services provides programming for studentathletes from their freshman year through graduation. This includes a comprehensive orientation to Tech, study hall, mentoring, tutoring, academic monitoring, academic recognition, and eligibility education. Additionally, student-athletes are referred to and encouraged to take advantage of other campus agencies charged with helping students in their academic pursuits.

Academic facilities for student-athletes include the Monogram Room, a large room used as a study hall area adjacent to the SAASS office in Cassell Coliseum. The HEAT (Hokies Engaging in Advanced Technology) Lab and its satellite sites house over 40 computers on the second floor and third floors of Cassell Coliseum. Laptop computers are also available for Tech athletes to use when travelling to away contests. The athletic department also provides areas for private, quiet study for the athletes' convenience.

Together, these spaces provide the student-athlete with a variety of study environments conducive to their success. Athletes can use these facilities between classes, after practice, or in the evenings, with flexible hours tailored to make the most of a student-athlete's limited time.

Chris Helms, in his fourth year at Tech, is the director and is responsible for the development and leadership of the Student Athlete Academic Support Services office.

Lois Berg, associate director, begins her 14th year at Tech. She is primarily in charge of developing the freshman orientation program, which ensures the studentathlete a smooth transition from high school to the university.

She is also responsible for providing programming to assigned student-athletes from the sports of baseball, softball, men's and women's swimming, men's and women's tennis, managers, trainers, cheerleaders and HighTechs.

Colin Howlett begins his sixth year with Virginia Tech and serves as an associate director in the Student Athlete Academic Support Services office.

In addition to assisting the director in all facets of the program, Howlett oversees the advisement of football studentathletes with regard to satisfactory progress, eligibility and degree completion as set forth by the NCAA, BIG EAST and Virginia Tech.

He also helps coordinate support services for the football program, including tutorial support, mentoring, organized study table and major and career counseling. In addition to these responsibilities, Howlett assists in the recruitment, academic evaluation and admissions of prospective student-athletes.

Howlett came to Tech from the University of Maine, where he served for a year and a half as an academic advisor for the athletic department.

Some of his other experience includes academic advisement for student-athletes at Austin Peay State University and the University of Southern Mississippi.

Howlett earned his bachelor's degree in business administration at Susquehanna University and received his master's in athletic administration from Southern Miss. A native of Allentown, Pa., he and his wife, Lisa, have two daughters, Natalie and Erica.

Katie Ammons is an assistant director who begins her fourth year and works with the men's and women's basketball, men's and women's cross country, and men's and women's track programs.

Ammons is also in charge of the operation of the HEAT lab and other computing resources available for studentathletes. Ammons is a former standout Hokie student-athlete.

Renia Edwards is in her second year as assistant director and provides academic support for student-athletes in women's lacrosse, volleyball, men's and women's soccer and wrestling. She also is

Chris Helms

Director of Student Athlete Academic Support Services

In his fourth year at Virginia Tech, Chris Helms is the director and is responsible for the development and leadership of the Student Athlete

Academic Support Services office. Helms oversees an office comprised of two associate directors, three assistant directors, and a secretary forming a group of professionals serving the needs of all student-athletes.

In addition to his duties directing SAASS, Helms serves as a liaison between the academic and athletic communities and is an ad hoc member of the University Athletic Committee.

Helms came to Tech from Michigan State University, where he served as the assistant director of the Student Athlete Support Services office.

Prior to MSU, Helms served as the coordinator of academic affairs for the Florida State University football program. Some of his other experience includes academic advisement for student-athletes at Central Connecticut State University.

Helms earned his bachelor's degree in psychology at Wake Forest University and received his master's in athletic counseling from Springfield College.

A native of Frederick, Md., he and his wife, Renee, have a son, Walker, and a daughter, Meigs.

responsible for the administration of the tutorial program.

Becky Kolenbrander begins her second year with Student-Athlete Academic Support Services as an assistant director. Her primary responsibilities are providing academic support for the freshman student athletes in the sport of football.

The Holland, Mich., native received her bachelor's degree in psychology from Austin Peay State University in 1996. She then went on to earn her master's in social psychology of sport from Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Ill. She served a six-month internship at Indiana State University before being named assistant academic coordinator for athletics. During her tenure at Indiana State, Kolenbrander advised student-athletes from various athletic teams and assisted in the coordination of Life Skills Programming.

Terrie Repass begins her 28th year of service at Virginia Tech. She serves as the office secretary and "first contact" person for the SAASS. She is responsible for organizing special events and meetings for the office. Repass prepares all accounting, purchasing and travel transactions for the office.

OFFICE OF STUDENT LIFE

The Office of Student Life at Virginia Tech helps in providing assistance to student-athletes in a number of areas. This office, under the direction of Jermaine Holmes, director of student life, is dedicated to enhancing the quality of the student-athlete experience through the many programs that it implements.

One program that the office sponsors is the HiTOPS CHAMPS/Life Skills Program (Hokies Turning Opportunities Into Personal Success), which provides a well-rounded program for student-athletes to develop the individual skills necessary to lead successful and productive lives. The goal of this program is to enhance five areas of commitment that are vital to personal growth of student-athletes. Those areas are service, academic excellence, career development, athletic excellence and personal development. This program attempts to build individual confidence, promote respect for diversity, enhance interpersonal relationships, develop leadership skills, and enable each one to make a valuable contribution to the community.

Hokies With Heart Hokies With Heart is a program developed by the Office of Student Life, which promotes the involvement of student-athletes in community service activities. In the past year, Virginia Tech athletes participated in nearly 50 community service projects. This program has a major local impact because the different service projects help to build a positive relationship between student-athletes and the surrounding community.

The Virginia Tech women's basketball program takes great pride in the many projects to which it contributes, including the Hokie Readers program, the Special Olympics, hospital visits, and a canned food drive.

"The Virginia Tech women's basketball program has been significantly involved in a wide variety of community service projects and numerous charitable organizations in the New River Valley," Holmes says. "The players really take pleasure in giving their time and effort to a community that is so supportive of all of the athletic teams at Virginia Tech."

VT-SAAC

The Virginia Tech Student Athlete Advisory Committee (VT-SAAC) promotes effective communication between athletics administration and student-athletes to better serve their needs. The program is completely run by studentathletes and each team has two representatives. The representatives for the women's basketball team are

This program also encourages involvement of student-athletes on campus and in the community. The student-athletes help to design and provide programs that encourage academic success, health promotion, social responsibility, and general awareness. SAAC also attempts to enhance the overall image of studentathletes to those outside of the Virginia Tech athletic family by serving as positive role models.

VT-SAAC participates in a community service activity called Winning Choices. This program sends athletes to local elementary, middle, and high schools to talk about the importance of citizenship, work ethic, and working with others.

athletics, academics, social life and being a part of the community.

> Each month, the Office of Student Life awards recognition to a student-athlete for participation in community service projects and dedication to the Hokies With Heart program.

The student-athletes of the month are chosen based on their willingness to be involved with the community. "If a student-athlete comes to us wanting to do community service without us having to approach them first, we think it's great and want to commend the athletes for doing so," said Holmes, who is in charge of the program. "We also look at the sheer number of times that the athlete goes out in the community to do service activities and their willingness to go out when they are asked to do so."

Jermaine Holmes

Director of Student Life

Jermaine Holmes is in his fourth year as the director of student life for Virginia Tech and fifth year working in the athletics department. Holmes oversees the day-to-day operation of the office of student life, directs the HiTOPS CHAMPS/Life Skills Program, and serves on various studentrelated committees on campus.

He serves as a member on the advisory councils for multicultural affairs and committee for campus climate. He also provides lectures as a member of SAFE (Sexual Assault Facts and Education).

While pursuing his undergraduate degree at Virginia Tech, Holmes was a star wide receiver for the Hokies. He earned his bachelor's degree in marketing management in 1996 and received his master's in consumer studies in 1998, both from Virginia Tech.

Born in St. Petersburg, Fla., Holmes is single and currently resides in Blacksburg. In his spare time, he enjoys weight training and playing basketball.

ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

There's much more to athletic performance than weight training. Always striving to stay on the cutting edge, Virginia Tech has added two more services for its student-athletes in the past couple of years. At Tech, nutrition and sports psychology are also a part of the student-athlete's preparation – not just for game day, but also for life after college. Virginia Tech tries to provide the best services, facilities and support staff for all of its student-athletes, to make them better athletes and better people.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

These days, college basketball is as much about strength and conditioning as it is about having outstanding athletes on your team. If you have both, your team will likely be very successful.

Thanks to the direction of Assistant Athletic Director for Athletic Performance Dr. Mike Gentry, the Virginia Tech strength and conditioning program is among the best in the nation, thus helping to make the women's basketball program one of the best as well.

One of the main support centers of Tech women's basketball is the strength and conditioning program. The results of hard work by not only the staff but the student-athletes have paid huge dividends as the Hokies have continued their streak of five-straight postseason appearances.

The women's basketball team trains in the beautiful 17,000-square foot training center on the first level of the Merryman Athletic Center. The weight room facility features new free-weight equipment, a full line of Hammer Strength equipment, 12 platforms and a 6,000-square foot state-of-theart speed and agility room.

Assisting Gentry in the weight room this year are three full-time assistant strength and conditioning coaches: Jay Johnson, assistant director of strength and conditioning, Terry Mitchell, strength and conditioning coordinator of men's Olympic sports and Emily Chones, strength and conditioning coordinator for women's Olympic sports who handles women's basketball. Gentry will also have the services of three graduate assistants — former women's basketball player Lisa Guarneri, Erin O'Neil, Keith Short and Gabe Tecple.

"Strength and conditioning here at Tech is the foundation of our team," says Coach Bonnie Henrickson. "We need our players to be physically able to compete with the nation's elite teams and Coach Gentry and his staff have accomplished just that."

Freshman Megan Finnerty works out in the weight room.

Mike Gentry

Assistant Athletics Director For Athletic Perfromance

Dr. Mike Gentry is in his 15th season as the Hokies' director of strength and conditioning. As assistant athletics director for athletic performance, his duties include overseeing the strength and conditioning training of athletes in all 21 varsity sports at Virginia Tech. He is directly involved in the training of the football and women's basketball teams and manages programs for nutrition.

A native of Durham, N.C., Gentry received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Western Carolina University in 1979 and received his master's from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1981. He received his doctorate in curriculum and instruction, with an emphasis in motor behavior, from Virginia Tech in 1999.

Gentry worked as an assistant strength coach at UNC and as the head strength coach at East Carolina University prior to coming to Virginia Tech in 1987.

In 1995 and 1996, Gentry was recognized by the National Strength and Conditioning Association as a finalist for the National Strength and Conditioning Professional of the Year. Gentry has a son, Roy Christopher, who is 12.

SPORTS NUTRITION

A new program was added to the athletics department in July 2000 — sports nutrition. The department is continually evolving to best serve the student-athlete.

In July 2002, Amy Freel, former coordinator of student life, became the full-time sports nutritionist in the Athletics Department.

Freel graduated from Ball State University with her bachelor's degree in dietetics in 1996 and received her master's in dietetics from Ball State in 1998.

Freel works one-on-one with student-athletes to provide them with information that they need on their diet. She also provides individual players with diet counseling on issues such as gaining lean muscle mass, losing body fat, and how to eat to improve performance.

She also designs preseason menus, snacks and training table menus for the football team.

"It is extremely beneficial for our student-athletes to have nutrition education and counseling available to them in order for them to remain successful in their sports and outside of athletics," Freel said. "The individualized nutrition educations allow me and the athletes to get very specific on their nutritional, personal and sport specific goals." The sports nutritionist works with the "Training Edge," a

A new addition to the athletics department as of August 2000 is sports psychology. The licensed psychologists, Dr. Gary Bennett and Dr. Robert Miller, associate director of the Thomas E. Cook Counseling Center, counsel student-athletes either individually or as a team.

The psychologists meet with student-athletes on an individual basis for personal counseling, performance enhancement and to discuss the mental aspects of the game. As a team, the sports psychologists work on team building, communication and performance enhancement.

Mike Gentry, assistant AD for athletic performance, says, "I've always felt that (sports psychology) was an important element. We want to be a holistic model of an athletics department and we wanted to and needed to include sports psychology in that model."

SPORTS PSYCHOLOGY

"One of the dangers of sports psychology is that it can be totally about sports and there is that perception," Miller says. "We try to be more holistic and talk about a variety of issues, such as nutrition or academics. We want to be broader and help the person as a whole, not just with performance."

"We see those other outside things as interfering with an athletes' ability to perform," Bennett says. "We feel we can help athletes perform better by addressing those concerns."

The psychologists also offer an injury group to afford injured athletes the opportunity to meet with other injured athletes and talk about their recovery process. Injured athletes may also meet individually with the sports psychologists if they do not feel comfortable in the group or cannot make the sessions. On average, the psychologists conduct 20 individual sessions per week.

One injured player who took advantage of the sports psychologists after he tore the anterior cruciate ligament of his knee was glad to have the services of the sports psychology program. The student-athlete met with Dr. Miller several times before and after surgery. "When I first got hurt, I thought I needed to talk to someone," the player said. "As the weeks go by, you learn to deal and cope with it. But I think it helps to talk to someone."

The response to the sports psychology program has been very positive. The studentathletes are very receptive to the services offered by the doctors. The sports psychology office reaches out to athletes who may not have considered going to the counseling service that is offered to all students at Virginia Tech.

"It is a great resource for our coaches and our athletes," Gentry says. "We've improved a lot in areas of strength and conditioning, nutrition and in sports psychology. It's all about becoming a well-rounded athletic program and helping student-athletes. We want to give them all the resources we can to put them in a position to be successful." SPORTS MEDICINE

The Virginia Tech Sports Medicine Department is an ever-changing and developing unit that strives to provide the most current and comprehensive care to all student-athletes.

The department, under the leadership of Dr. Gunnar Brolinson, Dr. Delmas Bolin, Dr. Duane Lagan and Mike Goforth, director of athletic training, is constantly evolving to incorporate new ideas and state-of-the-art resources for the betterment of studentathletes. A staff including general practitioners, orthopedic surgeons, certified athletic trainers, physical therapists, chiropractors, massage therapists, sports psychologists, nutritionists and orthotists, are available to manage the health care of athletes.

Athletic Trainer Ron Esteban primarily handles the needs of the Tech women's basketball team. Four other Certified Athletic Trainers assisted by a staff of seven graduate assistants and 15 student trainers work with Tech's 20 other varsity sports.

As part of the athletic training evolution, Tech recently completed the 4,300 square foot Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room. This area consolidated the training rooms that existed in the Merryman Center and Cassell Coliseum. The new facility gives the training staff a centralized area to care for the needs of all Virginia Tech student-athletes. There is stateof-the-art equipment and a unique style of architecture, developed by Glenn Reynolds, AIA. Larry Perry was the consulting engineer.

The new room, which nearly doubles the size of the former Merryman Center facility, also allows the staff to utilize that room for physical therapy, chiropractic care and massage therapy. With its completion, Virginia Tech now has more than 10,000 square feet dedicated to sports medicine, placing Tech in the top five percent nationally.

In addition, the $10 million Merryman Center, a state-ofthe-art facility which includes 2,400 square feet of medical space, will supplement the new training room. This treatment room has numerous treatment modalities including electric stimulation, ultrasound, hot packs and interferential current. It also has an office for the staff, dozens of training tables, whirlpools, rehabilitation equipment and two cold tubs. In addition, a new training room has been constructed in Rector Field House to serve the football team when it practices indoors.

"We, as a staff, are very excited about our new facility and the opportunity for all of us to come together for the benefit of our athletes," Goforth said.

Research is also considered to be instrumental to the sports medicine department. The department is completing the third year of development and data collection for a strategic health care planning grant. This grant, titled "The Center for Performance and Sports Medicine Excellence," was initiated by Dr. Charles Baffi, Dr. Kerry Redican, Dr. Mike Gentry and Goforth and was awarded to develop a multidisciplinary model for Division I health care.

Athletic trainer Ron Esteban treats members of the women's basketball team in the new Eddie Ferrell Memorial Training Room.

"Our goal with this program is to formally provide our athletes with the most effective and efficient health care delivery system possible," Goforth said. "This grant will serve as a framework for universities across the country to provide high-level health care services for their athletes, and at the same time, creates the first collaboration between academic research and athletics here at Virginia Tech."

The philosophy of the program involves large volumes of research that shows that a properly maintained overall fitness program reduces the chance of injury.

After the sports medicine staff diagnoses and treats an ill or injured athlete, the strength and conditioning staff works to give the best injury prevention and performance enhancing programs possible.

The training, medical and strength and conditioning staffs each have a role in bringing the athlete back quickly and ready to play. After an injury, an athlete will go through rehabilitation and physical therapy. Athletes are then moved to weight training as they become able. The strength and conditioning staff uses specific programs for each injury in an effort to get the athlete back quickly.

The range of benefits athletes have access to include custom orthotics, custom mouth guards, specialized DonJoy prophylactic bracing and many other options to help prevent or protect them from injuries. The sports medicine staff also takes great pride in treating the athlete year-round. Special attention is paid to off-season activity. During this time, the staff will analyze past injury data from each participant and construct a preventative program.

"If our strength and conditioning is so important, and it is, then we owe it to our athletes to provide them with the necessary resources to keep them actively participating," Goforth said. "We basically adopt the attitude that during the season, our mission is to keep them participating on the court and during the other times of the year it is our job to keep them participating in our strength and conditioning programs."

Their programs consist of strengthening, stretching and most importantly movement pattern analysis and training to help prevent the re-occurrence of injuries.

"We value the off-season greatly within our department," Goforth said. "We have adopted the same mindset as our strength and conditioning staff and look at our off-season time as an opportunity to get our athletes better."

Most of the off-season activity is based on a program called the functional movement screen, developed by Gray Cook of the Athletic Testing Services. This screening device is used to assess an athlete's potential for performance improvements as well as other pre-disposition for certain injuries.

"The beauty of this program is that it is a multi-disciplinary tool that is designed to show the athlete where their deficiencies lie," Goforth said. "It will also provide them with the necessary resources to improve their screening scores which will in turn increase their performance and decrease their potential for injury."

A vital part of student-athletes services is the access to the Schiffert Student Health Center in McComas Hall. A health center and counseling services are available on one side of McComas Hall, while recreation sports and fitness programs are available on the other. The

Athletic Trainer

Ron Esteban begins his third year as the athletic trainer for the Hokies but he is no stranger to the Virginia Tech athletic program. He earned a both a bachelor's degree in Sports Medicine in 1991 and a Master's degree in Athletic Administration in 1993 from Tech. Esteban works directly with the women's basketball, men's and women's tennis, women's lacrosse and volleyball teams.

Prior to returning to Blacksburg, Esteban spent three years in Orlando, Fla., working at Florida Hospital as Manager of Community and Sports Medicine. While in Florida he worked with many elite athletes from the NBA, WNBA and collegiate athletics. Esteban also served as the medical coordinator for the Disney World Marathon for three years as well as serving as the medical coordinator for the 1999 and 2000 All-Star Gridiron Classic, a college senior all-star football game held in Orlando. He also was a co-host of a weekly radio show, "The Sports Medicine Specialists." Esteban was an Associate Board Member with Florida Citrus Sports and was a Board Member with The Orlando Downtown Athletic Club.

Esteban served as marketing director for HealthSouth in North Carolina for two years before moving to Florida. During this period he also worked at the Centennial Olympic Games in Atlanta.

GASSELL GOLISEI

A great arena with tremendous fan support gives Tech a decided home-court advantage

Cassell Coliseum has always proven to be a tough arena for opponents especially in the past five seasons where the Hokies are 61-14 (.813) under coach Bonnie Henrickson.

The 1998-99 home season gave Hokie fans plenty of drama and excitement as Tech roared to a 15-0 mark in the friendly confines of the Cassell. Going back two games into the 1997-98 season and extending through the 1999-00 opener, Tech won 18 straight at home.

This past season, the Hokies were 15-2 in Cassell. The losses were to eventual national champion Connecticut, a game which was tied with three minutes remaining, and in overtime to Houston in the WNIT semifinals.

Equally as impressive as the Hokies' play at home has been the tremendous numbers of people that have come to watch them play. Averaging 5,221 fans per game in 1998-99 and having a sell-out at the 10.052-seat arena, Tech shattered it's women's basketball attendance marks. In the Bonnie Henrickson era Tech has played before 180,047 fans at home, an average of 3,104.

Cassell Coliseum was the site of a sub-regional in the 1999 NCAA Tournament. In that marguee event, the Hokies played in front of packed houses and got wins over St. Peter's and Auburn to advance to the NCAA Sweet 16.

In the past ten years, Virginia Tech has posted a 114-31 (.786) mark in home games. Overall, the Hokies have compiled a 229-102 record in Cassell Coliseum for a winning percentage of 69.2 in the 26 years they have played in the campus arena. The Tech houses the basketball arena, locker rooms, two auxiliary gymnasiums, offices and other athletic facilities.

Newly-refisnished seats were only the first stage in major renovations that are being completed in Cassell Coliseum this fall.

The Jamerson Athletic Center, connected to the rear of Cassell Coliseum, was completed in 1982 and dedicated in the fall of 1983. It is named in honor of J.E. Jamerson and his son, William E. Jamerson, owners of the firm that built the building.

The complex contains administrative and coaching offices, athletic department accounting and business offices, team and coaches' meeting rooms, a weight room and the Gordon D. Bowman Memorial Club Room on the top floor for Hokie Club members.

Prior to the 1988-89 season, a modern, new spring-loaded playing floor was installed in the Coliseum. During 1996-97, the facility was upgraded with a new roof and paint application. During the 2000-01 season, new video boards were added at both ends of the coliseum which are used for live action and video replays during all games. A seating renovation project was undertaken following the 2001-02. All of the seats were dismantled and shipped to a plant in Michigan where the old paint was stripped off and refinished with elm wood. Through new projects, renovations and maintenance reserve projects, Cassell Coliseum has undergone approximately $2.5 million in improvements over the past two years.

THE HOKIES' LOCKER ROOM

The video/scoreboards at each end of the arena are a big plus to the thousands of loyal fans who support the Hokies in Cassell Coliseum.

When the final whistle blows after a game or practice, the Hokie basketball team retires to one of the finest locker room facilities in the nation. The entire locker room underwent a major renovation in the summer of 2000 and now features all of the comforts of home and then some. The facility features a new entrance on to the playing floor, a team meeting room, a trophy case, a shower room, a training area and a new video system. The locker room also includes new floors, ceiling and lights. The entrance to the area has a wooden floor painted to match the crowd as a backdrop. Another nice touch in the state-of-the art facility are the vanities located between The cost of the renovation project was approximately $225,000 and would not have been possible without a generous gift from the Roanoke Valley Hokie Club.

The Hokies' spacious locker room includes a dressing area (right) with individual vanities, outlets and mirrors at each locker; an entrance (left) that has a floor that is a replica of the Coliseum surface; and a lounge (above) where the players can watch TV together or relax in their spare time.

Virginia Tech is very proud of the Merryman Center, a $10.6 million all-purpose building that ranks as one of the finest facilities of its kind in college athletics.

The beautiful facility is the home of the Hokie women's basketball program.

Located directly behind Cassell Coliseum and the Jamerson Athletic Center, Merryman opened its doors to athletes in the fall of 1997 and officially was dedicated Sept. 26, 1998 in a university ceremony.

The facility is named for the F.W. (Sonny) Merryman family of Rustburg, Va., which presented the university with a major gift, kicking off a fund-raising campaign that saw Tech supporters dig deep into their pockets.

The result is a streamlined 40,000-square-foot facility that includes:

On the first floor: A sports medicine complex including a large area dedicated to rehabilitation and doctors offices; a strength and conditioning complex that is magnificent; and a speed and agility gym.

And on the second floor: The women's basketball offices, a 130-seat auditorium; a video department; football meeting rooms; offices; and a new entrance way to the athletic department which provides visitors with a brilliant display of Tech football memorabilia.

The exterior of the building is streamlined, too, and has a definite Hokie motif. Even the roof, the only maroon one on the Virginia Tech campus, adds a touch of school spirit. The outside of the Merryman Center is a combination of Hokie stone and a more simplified stone that matches that on Cassell Coliseum, the building next door.

"This is a facility that is really special in every way," says Tech Director of Athletics Jim Weaver. "There is no doubt in my mind that the Merryman Center ranks right at the very top among the great buildings in college athletics." The building represents a commitment on behalf of the university. The construction of Merryman clearly demonstrates the university's determination to maintain a top athletic program year in and year out.

Weaver expressed appreciation to the Merryman family on behalf of Tech athletes, staff members and fans everywhere. The Tech AD also thanked the hundreds of others whose contributions have made possible this great building.

THE HOKIE CLUB

The 2001-2002 year was a great success with another record-setting performance for the Virginia Tech Athletic Fund. Enthusiastic and supportive Hokie fans gave in excess of $12 million to support the scholarship and capital needs of the Athletics Department.

The Hokie Club is charged with raising funds to support the scholarship, capital and programmatic needs of the Athletics Department. Donors make gifts in outright forms such as cash, real estate, securities, gifts in kind, corporate matching programs, or through planned or deferred gifts such as a will, living trust, life income trust, retirement plans, life insurance or charitable lead trusts.

"The ongoing national success of the football program has continued to motivate our fans to increase their financial support," said Lu Merritt, director of development for intercollegiate athletics. "They fully understand that for Virginia Tech to maintain its upward momentum, additional funds need to be raised. They are proud of the fact that their

THE HOKIE HARDWOOD CLUB

The Hokie Hardwood Club, formerly known as The Diamond Club, has been in existence for over 20 years. The mission of the Hokie Hardwood Club is to increase public awareness of the Virginia Tech Women's Basketball Program, to raise the level of community support for all aspects of the program, and to provide the level of spirit and resources required for a program of national prominence. The club conducts fundraisers during the year in support of the women's basketball program. Fundraising efforts helped with some of the team's expenses on its summer of 2000 trip to Europe. Members of the Hokie Hardwood Club travel to several away games each season and a few members accompained the team to Europe.

football team has been to bowl games each of the last nine years. Tech fans know that the Hokies can compete for national championships and they want to do their part to provide the needed resources for scholarships and facilities."

A 1968 graduate of Virginia Tech and a letterman on the Hokies' tennis team during his undergraduate years, Merritt currently serves on the Executive Committee of the National Association of Athletic Development Directors (NAADD).

John Moody, associate director, serves the North Carolina area and focuses on major gift fundraising and special projects. A former football player at Tech, Moody has worked in the Hokie Club for 30 years.

David Everett serves as director of major gifts for the Hokie Club. A member of the Hokies' 1986 Peach Bowl team, Everett currently serves the Richmond, Lynchburg, and Staunton areas in addition to his major gift responsibilities.

Terry Bolt, also an associate director and director of the annual fund for athletics, serves the Tidewater and Southside areas of Virginia, as well as South Carolina and Georgia, while also overseeing the planning and direction of the Annual Fund. Brian Thornburg, an assistant director who joined the staff in September of 2002, serves the Hokie Clubs in central, southside and southwestern Virginia, as well as North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee.

Another assistant director, Tommy Graham, a former Tech golfer, also recently joined the staff. He serves the Northern Virginia area, the New River Valley, West Virginia and Maryland.

Sharon Linkous and Vicky Moore handle all aspects of gift entry and membership records. Diana Fain manages the budget process and produces all meeting notices for the Hokie Clubs. Jane Broadwater serves as executive secretary for the office. Johnnie Hoehn and Nancy Gabbard work part time in the office and bring over 20 years of experience to the team.

The Athletic Fund is proud of its volunteers who help ensure that 58 Hokie Clubs throughout Virginia and the surrounding states continue in their active efforts to support and promote athletics at Tech.

Bill Stover of Fairfax, Va., is the current president of the Athletic Fund, and John Clary of Lawrenceville, Va., is the vice president.

A beautiful setting for one of the nation's best universities

One of America's best college towns, Blacksburg is a perfect setting for Virginia Tech.

Located in Southwest Virginia on a plateau between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains, Blacksburg combines the laid-back lifestyle of a small town with the amenities one would expect to find around a major center of higher education. Together, the town and university have worked hard to create a progressive community that ranks among the nation's elite living environments. Blacksburg was named one of the Top 10 places to live by Outside magazine.

BLACKSBURG, VA.

Virginia Tech and the Town of Blacksburg gained national and international attention by creating the world's first "electronic village." Businesses and industries have been drawn by the potential of the quaint town.

Established in 1798 by John and William Black, the town is surrounded by scenic mountain views that accentuate the area. Since its founding, Blacksburg has grown to become the largest town in Virginia.

From its quaint downtown to the beauty of the nearby Cascades, the Blacksburg area is charming and pleasant.

The nearly 36,000 residents (including students) enjoy a close proximity to a variety of recreation areas such as the Blue Ridge Parkway, Appalachian Trail, Claytor Lake and the New River. The region features a moderate climate and four distinct seasons.

Blacksburg's location (adjacent to major interstate highways) provides convenient access to most points in the southern and eastern parts of the country.

More information on Blacksburg can be found on the Web site of the Blacksburg Electronic Village, www.bev.net or the town's Web site, www.blacksburg.va.us.

College Town U.S.A.

Homecoming always brings together the traditional and the new in Blackburg. This year's weekend got off to an unusual start with MTV's "I Bet You Will" taping a show in front of Burruss Hall on Friday. On Saturday, the parade featured the proud traditions of the Corps of Cadets, and of course Virginia Tech's nationally ranked football team getting a win at 65,115-seat Lane Stadium/Worsham Field.

Blacksburg is a special place throughout the year. In the spring and summer, the town bustles with festivals and activity. During the winter, decorations and lights transform main street into a postcard scene. With 26,000 students, plus the full-time residents, there is always plenty going on in this great college town.
